Visit Ti Region Aids Committee

The Select Committee of the Legislature on fisheries headed by chairman Jean-Maurice Simard returned from a visit of North Eastern New Brunswick last weekend where it spent three days of exchange with fishermen, processors and workers representatives.

This visit, the first of a series of three was extremely useful, Mr Simard said, as it helped the committee to familiarize itself with the nature of the industry and its problems prior to holding public hearings.

It also provided an excellent way of explaining the mandate and the role of the committee, and how the consultation would be carried out, the chairman said.

Major highlights of this visit were informal discussions with oyster fishermen concerned with pollution at Maisonnette, the visit of the Bas-Caraquet Marine Industrial Park, the visit of modern fish plants at the Caraquet, Lameque and Shippegan harbours and most useful exchange about the situation of groundfish stocks in the Gulf and its management. Aspects of plant workers employment were also discussed.

Because of the situation of the fish stocks in the Gulf of Saint-Lawrence the committee members unanimously agreed to send a telegram to the federal fisheries minister Romeo LeBlanc. The following is the text of the telegram.

"The Select Committee of the New Brunswick Legislature on Fisheries endorses the concern of the fishermen both inshore and offshore and processors in North Eastern New Brunswick with respect to fish stocks in the gulf and supports their recommendations for the continued ban of 100 foot trawlers during the next season from operation in the gulf."

Heavy Rains Hinder Traffic

Traffic along Highway 11 in the Burnt Church area had to be rerouted Sunday night as heavy rains made the crossing along Jersey Bridge impossible.

A spokesman for Tracadie RCMP said five or six vehicles had become trapped in deep mud after 14 hours of steady downpour. Construction had been ongoing to enlarge the bridge and eliminate sharp curves.

Traffic was redirected along the Legaceville area on to Route 8 and back to Route 11 at Newcastle.

Private Bills: Change Needed

By STEWART MacLEOD
Ottawa Bureau
Thomson News Service

If there is one area of parliamentary procedure just begging for reform it's the present method of dealing with legislation from individual MPs.

Hopefully, before the current session of Parliament ends, something will be done about it. The Commons' committee on procedure is ready to recommend major changes.

The way the system now operates, a private MP who wants to introduce a bill must submit it to a draw - it's like a bingo game - to see where it will stand on the order paper. If his bill is drawn first, it will be the first to be called during the four hours a week devoted to the business of private members. If it is drawn near the tail-end of the lineup, it probably will not be heard from again.

Last week, 139 such bills were placed on the order paper after being processed through the draw. It is quite possible that none of them will ever come to a vote. And if some did, it's virtually certain that none would ever become law.

Even if every participant in the debate likes a private bill, it seldom passes. It is merely praised to death, and when the hourly debating time limit is reached, the bill goes back to the bottom of the lineup.

That's the way it is with private members' legislation. The most you can say for it is that it gives the government some clues about the attitude of MPs toward certain issues. There have been several cases of government bills being introduced following the defeat of similar private legislation.

POOR SYSTEM

It's obviously an inefficient system. Individual MPs spend a good deal of time drafting legislation, preparing for debate and wheeling and dealing in hopes that it may just sneak through the House.

Stanley Knowles, the New Democratic Party House leader and perhaps our foremost authority on parliamentary procedure, says that since he entered the Commons in 1943 "I can count on the fingers of one hand the private bills that have been passed."

One of those bills, incidentally, changed the name of Trans-Canada Air Lines to Air Canada.

Mr. Knowles, who introduces a bill in every session for the abolition of the Senate, hopes a solution will be found when the procedure committee makes its final recommendations. It is likely to suggest that at least 10 private bills come to a vote in each session, and that a more efficient procedure be worked out for processing the others.

Mr. Knowles would like to see the changes go further, and instead of placing the bills in a draw, the name of the sponsoring MP should be drawn, and that MP could then prepare the legislation he considers most important.

Some MPs might submit half a dozen bills and, under the current system, the least important of them might be given top priority in the draw.

In the latest draw, the No. 1 bill certainly doesn't appear the most important. It would force the justice department to change its annual reports.

GOOD IDEAS

But when you go down the list there are all sorts of fascinating ideas that should be aired. Some deal with major national concerns, such as bilingualism and the economy, but others involve day-to-day problems that bother many of us.

There is a bill to prohibit the sale of firecrackers to minors. Another would protect non-smokers from tobacco fumes on public vehicles. There is a bill to bar inhumane animal traps. And the killing of polar bears would be prohibited under another one.

A universal emergency telephone number would be established if one bill were approved. And if two other bills get through there would be both a Canadian Flag Day and a Sir John A. Macdonald Day. Those battles would be fought to carry warning labels on cigarette packages now, and there are several bills offering additional protection to consumers.

But how will all over the board from "Occasionally one will get through on a fluke," says Mr. Knowles. "But the chances are slim."

If one does get through, he hopes it will be his 12th legislative attempt to abolish the Senate. "But somehow," he says, "I doubt it."

Battalion To Be Recognized

The colours of one of New Brunswick's most distinguished wartime units, the 26th Battalion of World War I will be "laid up" in the New Brunswick Museum on Sunday, November 7, at 2:00 p.m.

"The Fighting 26th" was authorized as New Brunswick's infantry battalion in the 1914-1918 war on October 26, 1914. After eight months of recruiting and training, the battalion sailed for Europe on June 13, 1915, on the Anchor Line steamer "Caledonia". Newspaper accounts of the sailing record that nearly 20,000 people watched the 1250 men of the battalion parade through the streets of Saint John. They also say that whistles throughout the city rang for half an hour as the "Caledonia" sailed.

The 26th entered the front line of battle in September 1915, and for the rest of the war was always in the forefront of the Canadian troops. Their names can be found in the rolls of units which took part in most of the great and terrible battles of that most terrible of wars - Messines, St. Eloi, and Somme, Courcellette, Vimy Ridge, Hill 70, Passchendaele, Lens, Arras and the pursuit to Mons. The 26th was and is a body of men for New Brunswick to be proud of.

At the ceremony at the museum, the units' colours will be received on behalf of the museum by Brigadier, the Honourable Milton Gregg, V.C. The Last Post and Revelle will be played by the band of 3 Field Regiment. The band will present a concert following the ceremony.

Although the First World War has been over for fifty-eight years, there are still many men who remember it well. All members of the public are cordially invited to attend the laying-up of the colours of the 26th Battalion.

CHSJ SERVICE NOW SPANS PROVINCE

The New Brunswick Broadcasting Company Limited, in conjunction with the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, has initiated a new North Shore television service. At 7:30 a.m. Monday, November 1 two new television channels went on the air to serve the Counties of Restigouche, Gloucester and Northumberland.

From Carleton, Quebec, on Channel 4, CBCR TV will beam CHSJ and CBC programs to Restigouche and Gloucester, and from Newcastle on Channel 6 to Northumberland County. Affiliated with the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, CHSJ-TV will bring to the North Shore viewer an expanded CBC service and all of the programs of CHSJ, previously seen in the remainder of the province.

In 1954, the New Brunswick Broadcasting Company pioneered television in Atlantic Canada with the installation of a television station to serve Southern New Brunswick at Saint John. CHSJ Three years later in 1957, Canada was linked from coast to coast by the CBC micro wave network and CHSJ joined the national system.

IN 1961, CHSJ-TV began to expand its service. First to the Northwestern counties of New Brunswick - a rebroadcasting station was constructed at Bon Accord to serve the area from Woodstock and Edmundston.

In 1969, further expansion took place when CHMT TV, rebroadcasting the programs of CHSJ and the CBC, was established in Moncton to serve the Southeastern countries of the province.

There remained but one area of the province which was not adequately served by television, an area which did not enjoy a wide choice of CBC programs and the programs of CHSJ viewed in other areas. Perhaps the most frustrating of all was the fact that North Shore viewers did not have a choice of second channel viewing.

Now, through the combined efforts of CHSJ-TV and the CBC, Channel 4 is on the air to serve the Campbellton-Dalhousie-Bathurst regions, and Channel 6, the Newcastle-Chatham area.

CHSJ has established a news bureau in the area, with resident news reporters, thus making it possible for CHSJ-News to report the activities and concerns of the North Shore area. North Shore News now becomes a regular addition to CHSJ's Evening News at 6 p.m. and 11:15 daily.

When additional equipment has been fully installed, CHSJ-TV plans to inaugurate a number of programs specifically designed and produced for the North Shore statinns. It is expected this phase of the service will be inaugurated in early 1977.

To Appear Nov. 22

Eight men from the Miramichi area charged with rape of a 17-year-old Bathurst girl will appear in New Brunswick Supreme Court in Newcastle Nov. 22.

The accused, Wayne Malley of Douglastown, Carl Savoy, Kevin Knowles and Michael Larocque of Chatham Head, and Glenwood Doran, Eldon Savoy, Joseph LeBlanc and Brian Ramsay, all of Newcastle, appeared in court in Newcastle last week before Supreme Court Judge Mr. Justice J. Paul Barry.

At their next court appearance, a decision is expected to be reached as to the manner of proceeding with the charges against the accused.

Both Savoys, Knowles, Larocque, LeBlanc and Doran also face similar charges in connection with the rape of a 15-year-old Bathurst girl. Ramsay is charged with the rape of the second girl, but with consent arrived at through threats of bodily harm.

Lawyers for the accused indicated they would ask to have the joint charges withdrawn on Nov. 22 in favor of individual charges against the eight.

Charges arose out of an incident Aug. 19 at Blind Lake, Northumberland County.

Mrs. A. Mallet Dies, Aged 85

SHIPPEGAN — The death of Mrs. Alphonse Mallet occurred Oct. 21 at her home in Shippegan at the age of 85.

She was the former Angeline Duguay, a daughter of Thaddee and Marguerite (Poirier) Duguay.

Surviving are five daughters, Mrs. Leandre Robichaud (Leda) of Shippegan, Mrs. Anita Tremblay, Mrs. Theo Desjardins (Delanda), Mrs. Paul Trepanier (Angeline) and Mrs. Alphonse Chenard (Kate), all of Montreal; and two sons, Albert of Shippegan and Hermenegilde of Montreal.

Three sisters, Mrs. Georges Larocque (Marianne) of St. Sauveur, Mrs. Fabien Paulin (Diana) of Rang-St-Georges and Miss Louise Duguay of Montreal; 11 grandchildren, nine great-grandchildren and seven great-great-grandchildren also survive.

Mrs. Mallet rested at Bulger's Funeral Home, Shippegan.

The funeral was held 2:30 Oct. 24 Sunday at St. Jerome Church. Burial was in the parish cemetery at Shippegan.

Increased Bond Sales Expected

An accelerated surge of Canada savings bond buying is expected soon by Bank of Canada officials.

Branch banks in all sections of New Brunswick have reported substantial backlogs of savings bonds orders placed by customers this month to take effect November 1, the reason being they want to make sure of receiving interest on their savings accounts to the end of October.

With this impetus, plus continued normal purchasing, the officials assert, the 1976 campaign should keep up its record-setting pace right through to the closing date.

The "Payroll savings" drive will definitely continue until Nov. 15, but the general sales may be terminated by the minister of finance any time after Nov. 5 if he considers it advisable.

Organizers of the payroll savings canvass in places of employment have been highly encouraged by the workers' investment uptrend this autumn. After three weeks the total was nearly $6 million, about $1 million ahead of last year.

And - even more significant - the average purchase has been $72, compared with $60 last year.

Busy Month At House Of Prayer

The month of October proved to be a very active month in the service of Jesus for all members of the Peace Joy and Love Prayer Community.

On the weekend of the 1st of October seven corps members from Bathurst attended a leadership conference at Mount St. Vincent in Halifax. This conference was the first function held through the efforts of the newly formed Atlantic Service Committee. (This service committee serves as a liaison between the bishops in the Atlantic Provinces and those involved in the Charismatic Renewal.)

Father Tingley, who is on the Atlantic services Committee and Matt Tierney of Rhode Island were jointly responsible for the direction and spiritual guidance given to the leaders of individual prayer groups at this conference.

It is felt that through prayer and teachings received in Halifax by the leaders that all members here at the House of Prayer will benefit from this experience. A three day seminar for priests was held in conjunction with this convention and a number of clergy from Bathurst were present.

During the week of October fifth to the tenth, Andrea Richard, Cecile Boivin and a team of four persons from "Alliance," Three Rivers Quebec, held a week of teaching at the House of Prayer. Among the outstanding lectures given was one on the Lord's Prayer. Sister Marguerite of the "Alliance" team gave an informative talk on prayer experiences as the use of body gestures in prayer, and a talk on contemplative prayer. Another meaningful prayer experience was Saturday's evening prayer of reconciliation.

Five priests, were present for different parts of the weekend.

Rev. Paul Sauve of Montreal and Rick Bartlett of Amherst, were guest lecturers of a weekend seminar held at the House of Prayer. Father Sauve, who is author of the book "Petals of Prayer" and "Led by the Spirit" gave comprehensive teachings on methods of prayer, as illustrated in Petals of Prayer, and Rick Bartlett spoke on our mission as "Witness for Christ".

Both speakers deeply touched all those present and we all feel that our weekend of prayer and meditation was one which aided us as Christians in developing a deeper relationship with God. A number of priests from Bathurst, along with many people from Saint John, Amherst, Dalhousie, Chatham, Campbellton, were able to attend this wonderful conference.

Sister Christine, provincial superior of the Sisters of the Blessed Sacrament, was happy once again to spend a few days at the House of Prayer where she enjoys the atmosphere of the peace and prayerfulness.

Ministers Discuss Fishing Problems

New Brunswick Fisheries Minister Omer Leger met with the Federal Fisheries Minister Romeo LeBlanc Oct. 22 to discuss problems closely related to the province's fishermen.

The meeting, which Mr. Leger branded as very positive and which might allow shared responsibilities in related fishing fields, dealt with the management system of groundfish in the St. Lawrence Gulf.

The concern of the province, the provincial minister said, led Mr. LeBlanc to indicate that a meeting with government officials of the five Eastern provinces and delegates from the fishing industry will be held in Moncton in November to discuss the management policy of groundfish in the Gulf.

The industrial and aquaculture development cost-shared program was also on the agenda of the two ministers meeting.

"Even if the Federal Department of Fisheries is not particularly enthusiastic about aquaculture, New Brunswick is seriously studying the development of aquaculture in relation to the establishment of thermal plants as the one in Lamèque", said Mr. Leger.

"It has been agreed to prepare projections on fishing activities in order to save and improve our present position," the minister added. "We have drawn the Federal Minister of Fisheries' attention to the question of grants for fishing vessels, because a lot of work and planning is involved in the establishment of a new fishing project."

"The development of a new fishing vessel requires between three to five years," said Mr. Leger. We are especially interested to know the intentions of the Federal Fisheries Department."

Branch No. 18 and the Royal Canadian Legion.

All ordinary, associate, Ladies Auxiliary members along with their wives or husbands are urged to attend.

A social evening will follow the presentations.

Legionaire Robert Knowles is chairman of the Honors and Awards Committee. Legionaires and Ladies Auxiliary members will wear their campaign and award medals.

Mr. And Mrs. E. J. Lavigne Observe 50th Anniversary

Fiftieth wedding anniversary celebrations for Mr. and Mrs. Edmund J. Lavigne of 228 Lavigne St., were held Oct. 9 when their 10 children, 28 grandchildren and four great grandchildren all were present.

Celebrations began with a special anniversary mass at St. Theresa Church at four o'clock. The celebrant was Rev. Yvon Boudreau who was assisted by Jamie Hachey, Michael Martin and Ricky Lavigne grandsons of the couple, as altar boys.

Mary Ann Lavigne, a granddaughter, read the epistle. Frank Lavigne, brother of the groom, and Ray Aube, the bride's brother, were the attendants. Gerard Malley, a son-in-law, was master of ceremonies.

During the service, Mr and Mrs Lavigne's wedding bands were blessed by Father Boudreau, as well as a family ring belonging to Mrs. Lavigne, a gift from the children presented on an earlier occasion.

Following the mass, a reception a buffet dinner was held at Danny's Colonial House. Present besides the family were brothers and sisters of both Mr. and Mrs Lavigne.

Many congratulatory messages were received, among them a Papal Blessing from Pope Paul VI, congratulatory messages from Prime Minister P. E. Trudeau, Premier Richard Hatfield, M.P. Herb Breau and MLA Frank Branch. Included also were telegrams from Miss Jennie Aube and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Aube, Winnipeg.

Included in a wide array of gifts were a china tea-pot set from the family, china, glassware, mirrors and souvenirs of the occasion.

Raymond Lavigne, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. Lavigne, and Gerrida Aube, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. Aube were married at Sacred Heart Cathedral on Oct. 27, 1926, by the late Msgr. John Whelan. The attendants were the groom's brother Frank Lavigne of Bathurst who officiated in the same capacity 50 years later, and the Late Joseph Aube, brother of the bride.

Mr and Mrs Lavigne have six sons and four daughters. They are: Cletus, Bernie, Eddie and Jerry, all of Montreal, Cleo and Clarence of Bathurst, Mrs. Gerard Malley (Dorothy) of Red Rock, Ont., Mrs. John Martin (Rita) of Toronto, Mrs. Gilbert Lavigne (Vina) and Mrs. Leon Hachey (Bernice) of Bathurst.

A Consolidated-Bathurst Ltd. employee for 33 years, Mr Lavigne retired 11 years ago.

They are both active and enjoy good health. Mrs. Lavigne is kept busy with crotcheting, quilting and knitting.

Present besides the children were a granddaughter, Mrs. Frank Mannix, Mr Mannix and children from Moncton.

Contribution To UNICEF From Canada

A place, a face, a touching moment - nothing is wasted by freelance photographer, B.A. King, one of many distinguished photographers to enhance UNICEF's new desk calendar with his special vision of the child. His placid, black and white reflection of a privileged child's undisturbed moment, portrays one of the many rights of the world's children – the calendar theme.

Born in Toronto in 1934, Mr. King has been influenced by Canada's rich culture and vivid landscapes. He made photographs go with words by James Houston in "Ojibway Summer" and has completed his third book, pictures of the Great Lakes with words by Jonathan Ela to be published next year.

This season Mr. King will hold a one man exhibit at the Carl Siembab Gallery in Boston and the Fitchburg Art Museum, and the Museum of Modern Art will reproduce one of his photographs as a Christmas card; yet, "the most exciting thing that's ever happened to me is an exhibition I held at the Worcester Art Museum a few years ago which combined my photographs with the drawings of my four children.

Mr. King, who refers to his art as "simply sharing and appreciating," is currently working on two projects. One is a photographic study on compatability and the magic that can exist between a male and female, such as father and daughter, the other as a study of working and living styles of New England artists, museum curators, gallery operators and critics.

His philosophy for life is like his philosophy for pictures. "The chance of a life time is to be yourself. If you are given the ability to do something, then you have a responsibility to yourself to do your best."

POETRY CORNER

A comforting and warming message to the family of the late Mrs. Willard Lindsay was delivered by Rev. Ray Francis during his eulogy at her funeral. Coincidentally, the minister quoted a favorite poem she had recited to her children on many occasions during their growing up years.

God hath not promised skies always blue
Flower strewn pathways all our lives through God hath not promised sun without rain
joy without sorrow
Peace without pain.
But God hath not promised we shall not toil alone
We can be tempted, trouble and know
Of needs but rest us we shall not fear
Have a burden, many a care
But hath not promised smooth roads and fair
We will have travel needing to divide
When a river turbulent and deep
But God hath promised strength for the day
Rest for the labour
Light for the way
Grace for the trials
Help from above
Unfailing sympathy
Undying love.

MR. AND MRS. DONALD J. McKAY

Candlelight Ceremony Held At First United Church

The marriage of Nancy Elaine MacLaggan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Coburn MacLaggan, and Donald Joseph McKay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred L. McKay, all of Bathurst, was solemnized recently at First United Church in Bathurst.

Performing the double-ring ceremony was Rev. Roy A. Francis, church pastor, assisted by Rev. Gregory Sampson of Holy Family Church.

The bridal couple and other members of the two families participated in a symbolic candlelighting during the evening ceremony. The seven-tiered brass candelabra stood at the altar where baskets of white gladioli and yellow chrysanthemums were also arranged. The pew markers were lilies-of-the-valley with bows of white satin ribbon.

Carol Arseneau, as organist, played the nuptial music and joined the vocal soloist, Wanda Blackey, a cousin of the groom, in singing several of the selections.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents, wore a traditional floor-length gown of white peau-de-charm featuring a round neckline, elbow-length sleeves and a sweeping train, all accented by wide Spanish lace and seed pearls.

Her shoulder-length veil of tulle illusion fell from a matching headpiece and she carried a cascade of yellow roses entwined by baby's-breath.

Debbie McKay, sister of the groom, was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Heather MacLaggan, sister of the bride, Janet Mann McCormack and Brenda Parent, friends of the bride.

They were identically-styled floor-length gowns of dusty-flocked nylon sheer, the maid of honor in blue and the bridesmaids in yellow. As flower girl, Alison Bunker of Moncton, the bride's cousin, wore a blue, floor-length gown of flocked nylon sheer. They carried nosegays of matching shasta daisies and wore a tiny sole cluster of daisies in their hair.

The groom and groomsmen, Donald MacLaggan, brother of the bride, were both attired in pale blue tuxedo jackets with dark blue trousers. The ushers, in midnight blue tuxedos, were Brock Sumners of Saint John, Jack Delaney of Fredericton and Alfred Arseneau, friends of the groom, and Sandy Burley, cousin of the bride.

The groom's boutonniere was a yellow rose and his attendants were boutonnieres of white carnations. As ring-bearer, Marty Gordon of Moncton, nephew of the groom, wore a pale blue tuxedo jacket with navy trousers and a white boutonniere. He carried a white satin pillow trimmed with lace and satin streamers.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. MacLaggan chose a floor-length gown of pale yellow [illegible] were black accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses.

Mrs. McKay, mother of the groom, wore a floor-length gown of mint green sheer over taffeta with matching jacket. Her accessories were rust and her corsage was of yellow rosebuds.

RECEPTION

Following the ceremony, a reception and dance were held at Denny's Colonial House. The bride's table was centered by a three-tier wedding cake accented by pale yellow and blue rosebuds, topped by a miniature bride and groom and flanked by tall yellow tapers. Multi-colored asters in bud vases adorned the individual tables.

The toast to the bride proposed by her brother, Donald MacLaggan, was responded to by the groom. Roger Cloutier proposed a toast to the groom to which the bride replied. Master of ceremonies was Lloyd Starkie of Peterborough, Ont., a friend of the bride and her family. Dr. F. B. Woodside asked the blessing.

The guest book was attended by Miss Nora Lee Hills, cousin of the bride, and Shelley Gordon of Moncton, the groom's niece.

Later, the bride and groom left on a wedding trip to the Laurentians and Niagara Falls. For travelling, the bride chose a two-piece brown ensemble, the short, diagonally striped with autumn colors. She wore matching accessories and her corsage was of bronze and white baby chrysanthemums.

The bride attended Mount Allison University in Sackville and is a graduate of Dalhousie University School of Physiotherapy and has joined the staff of Carleton Memorial Hospital in Woodstock.

The groom is a graduate of St. Thomas University and University of New Brunswick in Fredericton and has commenced duties as a physical education instructor at Richard High School.

Mr. and Mrs. McKay have taken up residence in Bagdad.

Among those at the wedding were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Archibald, Bathurst; the groom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Cormier, Barryville and other out-of-town guests from Winnipeg, Manitoba; St. Catharines and Peterborough, Ontario; New Richmond and Drummondville, Quebec; Charlottetown, P.E.I.; Halifax and New Glasgow, N.S.; Baron and Marysdown, Nfld., and from many New Brunswick centres.

Five Are Welcomed To Chi Chapter Roll

President Nancy Hanscom chaired the Oct. 13 semi-monthly meeting of Chi Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, held at the home of Phyllis Ray. It was a "social" meeting for new members.

Membership Chairman Madeline Sirois welcomed five new ladies into the chapter: Rose-Yves McGrath, Sandra Portland, Calvin MacDonald, Madonna McManus and Sharon MacDonald.

Diane Powers, social chairman, reported all was in readiness for the chapter's Halloween "Hobo Party" to be held at the home of Mary Dawes.

Mrs. Hanscom presented the chapter with a questionnaire received by her from Design Workshop Ltd., in regards to "Revamped Plan Review". The chapter voted to discuss and complete the questionnaire.

The evening's cultural program was presented by Clara Goguen and her topic was "natural sciences". Mrs. Goguen had previously asked each member to participate by bringing an exhibit to the meeting.

In accordance with this request, exhibits were explained as follows:

Exhibit 1, Tropical Shells: Mrs. Goguen explained the names and characteristics of each shell.

Ex. 2, Herbs: Diane Powers explained the use of herbs and from what country they had originated.

Ex. 3, Wine-making: Morgan Atkinson displayed a hand-drawn booklet on the process.

Ex. 4, Weed-pamphlet: Sandra Mercer showed pieces of common weed varieties used in New Brunswick and explained different uses and characteristics of each.

Ex. 5, Spices: Phyllis Ray had a collection of pieces of rock common throughout the world. She displayed an agate in its original form and then the polished agates set in a bracelet.

Ex. 6, Soil: Mary Davies explained the difference in seed growth when seeds are grown in gravel and top soil.

Ex. 7, Antique books: Dorothy Brockenridge discussed stories written on natural disasters in different world countries. These books were written in the late 18th and early 19th century.

Ex. 8, Rocks: Nancy Hanscom spoke on the collecting of rocks common to the Atlantic Provinces and explained where each of her samples were found.

Prize for the best exhibit was awarded to Mrs. Atkinson.

It was learned the next meeting will be held at the home of Nancy Hanscom, 1954 Craig Ave., at 8:15 p.m.

Mrs. Roy and Mrs. Mercer were hostesses for the evening.

Following adjournment, lunch was served by Mrs. Goguen and Mrs. Hanscom.

Omission

A highlight of the Oct. 20 meeting of the South Tetagouche United Church Women, inadvertently omitted from last week's edition of this newspaper, under the heading "UCW Meeting Ends With A Hymn Sing," is as follows:

Mrs. Ervine Good introduced Mr. and Mrs. Joe MacDonald who joined in a hymn sing which was enjoyed by all present, after which lunch was served by the ladies in charge.

BUYING CHILDREN'S SNOWSUITS

Canadian winters being what they are, a suitable snowsuit is a major item in a child's wardrobe.

With the variety of snowsuits on the market, style and good appearance can be combined with durability and comfort.

FACTORS TO CONSIDER:

Age and Mobility of the Child:

The convertible snowsuit is a great idea for infants and toddlers. Buy one to use as a bunting bag for an infant, and the next year it converts to a snow suit by zipping together to form legs. The convertible snowsuit comes in one size only.

As the child grows older and plays outside more, durability is important.

Comfort and Convenience:

Warmth is of course, the main concern. For young children, a one-piece snowsuit may be the best choice because there is no gloves for cold air or snow to get in. Ribbed storm cuffs at wrists and ankles seem to be standard features, but check for them anyway. A zipper extending down one leg makes dressing easy.

A one-piece snowsuit may be outgrown faster than a two piece because no adjustments can be made for growth.

As the child gets older a two piece snow suit is probably a better buy because it allows more freedom of movement, and it has adjustable straps for growth.

The style of pants can vary. Some have built-up straps at both front and back, (like a jumper) which offers maximum warmth and protection from wet snow. However, this style may be too warm for wear indoors such as in stores, and the straps may make dressing difficult.

A built-up waistband with bib front and straps make dressing easier than the jumper style but still provides warmth.

Elasticized waistbands on waistbands on snow suits may be with or without straps. This style doesn't give added warmth across the back, and the elastic has a nasty habit of stretching or coming unstitched. The advantage of straps is obvious!

Jackets with pile linings or quilted linings both contribute to warmth. Pile linings have a softer, warmer feel especially if the child does not wear a long sleeved sweater under the jacket.

Hoods provide warmth and keep the child dry. However, in the larger sizes it is sometimes difficult to find a jacket with all the features you want including a hood.

(To be continued next week when size, durability, water repellency, care and durability will be discussed.

ANN LANDERS

Asks If Relationship Should Be Revealed

By ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is not a run-of-the-mill inquiry. It concerns a very unique relationship.

My wife, a wonderful and remarkable person, died of cancer seven years ago. We had no children of our own but she left in my charge a 19-year-old daughter by a former marriage.

As the years passed, a deep friendship slowly blossomed into love. Recently we moved to a state which recognizes marriage between a man and his deceased wife's daughter. The question facing us now is whether or not to tell new friends that we were once stepfather and stepdaughter. I feel it is better for them to hear it from us than from another source. Yet I hesitate because I fear they might not understand that ours was a beautiful seven-year friendship that became a marriage. It was not a tawdry relationship preceded by premarital sex.

My wife and I are very happy. Because of the many years together as close friends, I know our marriage will last. My only concern now is whether to reveal to our friends that the woman is my wife was once my stepdaughter. – Hesitant

DEAR HESITANT: Beat the gossips to it. Better that your friends hear it from you than from another source. And you can bet your life they WILL hear it sooner or later. People just love "unusual" background information.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I've read many letters in your column from malcontents who want to sound off. They always say it makes them feel better. Now it's MY turn.

My husband and I gave our daughter a beautiful wedding. We invited 250 people and 277 showed up. But that's another story. What I'm writing about is the cheapness of some guests. We had an open bar from 8:00 p.m. till 1:00 a.m. and served a gourmet sit-down dinner.

How can a couple who own their own business put a $5 bill in an envelope and call it a wedding gift? And what about a check for $20 from a family of six? And an $18 gift from FOUR couples?

What a shocking experience! As long as I live I will never get over the chintziness of certain people. Can you tell me please what makes them that way? – Buffalo Reader

DEAR BUFF: I have no explanation. You must simply assume that they don't know any better, or perhaps they cannot afford to give more.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Can't help but comment on the letter from the clod who told you "not to rack your brain for an answer."

It seems he bowled a "few more frames that he'd planned," and his wife was not sexually responsive when he got home – two hours late.

Why couldn't the moron figure out that if he bowled less, MAYBE his wife would be friendlier and every aspect of their marriage might improve?

I was told by a so-called intelligent counselor that at my age (45) I should be glad my hockey, golf, squash, football, pool (you name it) husband comes home to eat and sleep.

Outside influences can affect grown-ups as well as children. Husbands who prefer to entertain themselves solo had better not wait for a better response from the little woman who was left at home. I'm signing myself – Known Better Days

DEAR BETTER: You said a mouthful, honey. That so-called intelligent counselor sounds like a male chauvinist you-know-what.

How to – and how much? Find out with Ann Landers's new booklet, "How, What, and When to Tell Your Child About Sex." For your copy, send 50 cents in coin along with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1441, Elgin, Illinois 60120.

CAR and DRIVER

APRIL 1975

"Whole populations of drivers will live for years with this car, strongly impressed by its generally nimble disposition and its sensitive feel of the road through the steering wheel and brake pedal. It slips through city traffic like a bicycle and thrives on the parking-space remnants most cars pass by. You can stuff enough groceries for a football team through the rear hatch while the back seat folds and pivots forward out of the way. The only thing you'll need a trailer for is objects too heavy to boost across the high lift-over."

PROVINCIAL VON GROUP MEETS IN CITY

The board of managers for VON N.B., met Saturday November 6 at Donald Eddy Memorial Hall.

The meeting was a regularly scheduled administration meeting, however, because of the following release of the Pickering Report, dealing with the future role of VON in Canada, the bulk of the meeting was devoted to the discussion of this report.

Previous to the meeting, branch presidents from throughout N.B. were asked to scheduled discussions on the Pickering Report recommendations. The results of these discussions were the basis of Saturday's meeting.

Nine out of ten areas serviced by the VON were represented at the meeting. The ten areas are: Bathurst, Campbellton, Miramichi (Chatham - Newcastle), Moncton, Sackville, Fredericton, Oromocto, Saint John, Woodstock and Edmundston.

THE PICKERING REPORT

A study initiated by the Victorian Order of Nurses for Canada to examine the voluntary agency's future role in home nursing care, urges that the VON "publicly state its case for being recognized as the agency for delivering the nursing component in Home Care programs".

The report was prepared by Edward A. Pickering, a Toronto business consultant, and chairman of the Ontario Health Disciplines Board.

Mr. Pickering says that with the development of government controlled Home Care programs, the VON "stands in grave danger of being displaced as the vehicle for delivering nursing care".

He notes that "this has already happened in British Columbia where VON programs and personnel have been taken over on Vancouver Island, and where plans are far advanced for a similar take-over on the lower mainland. The situation in Quebec is obscure, but the future is difficult and doubtful. In Manitoba, the Brandon branch was recently forced to close because of encroachment by the government's own service".

On the other hand, Mr. Pickering says that other provincial governments exhibit a quite different approach and reach much more positively to VON's participation in Home Care programs. Ontario, Saskatchewan, New Brunswick and Newfoundland, he says, foresee a continuing and possibly an expanding role for VON "if it can develop adequate management capacity to deal with the programs contemplated".

In most provinces VON is providing, in whole or in part, the nursing component of Home Care under agreement with the provincial government and in some cases with local municipalities. More than 40 per cent of 1,600,000 visits made by VON nurses in the Order's 78 branches across Canada in 1975 were paid from government funds.

Mr. Pickering says that with taxpayer's money available, governments are apt to take the position that the service can only be provided through government bureaucracy itself, and that some of the public officials he interviewed argue that government funding requires government delivery of service. But this is just not so according to Mr. Pickering who, listing examples to the contrary, points to the blood transfusion service entirely financed from government sources but administered by the Canadian Red Cross, most hospitals which are under the direction of boards made up of both professionals and laymen, and legal aid programs.

Noting that "VON has a superlative record as an integrated service with trained personnel, high standards and good supervision", Mr. Pickering describes the VON nurse as "an instinctive advocate of the patients and their needs" and asks "Which offers the better chance of concern for the individual, a government - employed nursing staff or a voluntary institution long dedicated to the care of the ill in their own homes?"

The report says that if VON expects to serve as the agency of government in home care nursing, the Order will have to recognize government requirements relating to cost control, budgeting, accounting, cost effectiveness and patient record systems. To improve its relations with governments in these and other areas, Mr. Pickering recommends that a "competent business executive" be added to the staff of the VON national office in Ottawa on a fulltime basis, and that "it should be possible to secure from a small group of sympathetic business corporations the funds needed to support a position of this kind for a five-year period, thus avoiding any drain on general revenues".

The Board of Management of the VON for Canada has accepted the report and is considering plans for its implementation.

NOV. 11 FEATURE

A special Remembrance Day feature over CKBC-Radio tomorrow, Thursday, is an interview with Mrs. Betty Gammon, a Bathurst woman who served in her native Great Britain during the Second World War.

Taped by Ross Ingram of the CBC during the Royal Visit to N.B. last July, the rebroadcast has a 6.30 p.m. time slot.

CHIEF DAVE CAMP

Bathurst City Council has appointed a new police chief to fill a vacancy created in August by the resignation of former chief Mark Albert.

William David Camp, a native of Nova Scotia, will commence duties on November 29 at an annual salary of $22,000. His appointment was approved at a special meeting of City Council Tuesday night.

Chief Camp was born in Halifax, and was employed with the Police Department for the City of Dartmouth from 1962 to 1972, having attained the rank of sergeant. From 1972 to the present, he has been chief instructor at the Atlantic Police Academy in Charlottetown. Prior to his appointment to the post, he served in all areas of instruction at the academy.

The new chief, who is 38, has experience in the patrol and investigation divisions, as well as in the personnel, training and discipline branches of police work.

Chief Camp is a life member of the Dartmouth City Police Association, the Police Association of Nova Scotia, and has been a director of the Canadian Police Association. However, his appointment to chief will necessitate his resignation from the director's post.

His hobbies include sports of all kinds, hockey and softball in particular, as well as travel and collecting police insignias - a pastime which he claims makes a large world a little smaller through contacts all over the world.

Mr. Camp speaks English only at present, but is involved in a conversational French class with a view of becoming fluent in that language as well.

Chief Camp and his wife Colleen, also a native Nova Scotian, have four daughters. They are Janice 15, Vickie 14, Christine 12, and Diane 8.

Loss of Bus Service Looms

The future of fifteen young men and women who attend the CAMR-affiliated workshop in Bass River is uncertain because of rumours that bus service to and from the school may be withdrawn.

Mrs. Geraldine Harris, an instructor at the school, told The Northern Light today (Wed.) that the local School Board is already refusing to authorize stops for four of the adults who attend the school regularly.

"The reasons given for the withdrawal of service have been that the buses are backtracking for these students", said Mrs. Harris. "The workshop bus run is made following the regular school run in the morning, and prior to the regular run in the afternoon. Presumably, it involves too much mileage and time."

She pointed out, however, that the run from the school to the last stop off on Demerescque Street takes about 20 minutes, while it takes no more than six minutes return to pick up the one student who lives below the school.

The local School Board has been approached in regard to the problem, but so far, no solution has been found. Meanwhile, parents of those who are no longer permitted to ride the

Hot Blitz Time Is Here Again

The sixteenth annual nut blitz by the United Church AOTS (As One That Serves) Men's Club will be carried out on Tuesday evening, November 16.

Proceeds from the sale above the net cost of the product since its inception has been equally divided between the CAMR (Canadian Association for the Mentally Retarded) Bathurst Branch, and youth work of the church. The latter centres around the extensive use of the Donald Eddy Memorial Hall by boys' organizations of all denominations.

In addition, the Men's Club have sponsored the Elmtree Youth Camp since 1945 when this project was inaugurated under the direction of Hubert Morris, R.A. Archibald and the late A. E. "Ted" Power.

The local CAMR has benefited over the years from the nut sale to the extent of $80,776.00. It is anticipated that this year's contribution will bring the total to over $5,200.

The Blitz has always been generously supported by the entire population of Bathurst and volunteer canvassers have been overwhelmed by the ready purchase of the mostly-packaged mixed assortment.

Again this time the club would appreciate extra salesmen and persons able to devote two hours to the cause next Tuesday night are asked to call the Donald Eddy Memorial Hall, 546-1552, leaving their names and phone numbers.

Same Sentiments, Different Century

(The following poem, written by Ethel Lynn, was taken from the July 30, 1864 edition of The New York Ledger and is reprinted through the courtesy of Phil Humphreys.)

VET

"V-e-t. Vet." What does it mean
Upon yon soldier's faded coat?
His hand is hard and rough and brown,
I see a scar along his throat,
His eyes seem looking far off still,
His close-shut mouth is grim.
"Mother, what means that little word,
Upon a sleeve so worn and dim?"

It means, my child, that rugged hand
Has wielded musket long and well;
Has sent the iron thunder hume,
And tuned the song of screeching shell.
It means - that steady, staunch and true
He fairly won that ragged scar,
While you and I sat safe at home,
And read the news about the war.

What wonder if the mouth is grim,
That said so many swift "good-bye's",
Life's common words are idle breath,
Beside those earnest battle cries,
What wonder if the gaze is dim,
And yonder strangely lingers yet;
The eye that has looked straight at Death,
His image may not soon forget.

And this is what it means, to earn
The title "veteran", on a coat:
To march through flood and field, or lie
Where rebel rifles sweep the moat;
To serve the guns in rifle pits;
To sleep beneath the silent sky;
To dream of home and wake to war;
To see a comrade drop and die.

To hear and heed the fearful song,
Which whistling Minie bullets sing;
To faint and fall, and longing lie
For one cool draught from rocky spring.
And this, my child, is what it says,
That little word of letters three;
Go clasp his hand, and give him thanks,
For battles fought for you and me.

(Last November the Legion in Elliot Lake, held a poetry and essay contest for Ontario schools. Kim Richard, granddaughter of Mrs. Conrad MacDonald, Little Brook Subdivision, Bathurst, composed a poem for Remembrance Day and her principal entered the poem in the district competitions. She placed first for Zone H-4, which extends from Parry Sound in the east to White River in the west, and second for the whole of Ontario.)

FREEDOM

One sad morn in month of May
A soldier brave died that day,
His eyes forever closed to sleep
In ground away from home, so deep.

They came to lay the poppies down,
Upon his grave, fresh and brown
The guns were silent, now in death
War had claimed his final breath.

His mother, sad and grieved with pain,
Had gone to see his last remains
She kissed him one last time around
They put him deep beneath the ground.

I'm only twelve, I've known no war
Freedom is the only score.
They fought and died that we may be Safe, secure, forever free.

Small But Determined Group Backs Fight For Air Service

The fight to reinstate air service to Bathurst and surrounding area was intensified in the city Monday night with a demonstration at City Hall.

Between 60 and 70 persons, carrying placards and voicing strong disappointment and disgust with the loss of the regular Atlantic Central Airlines runs, stood for an hour in front of the municipal building.

They were responding to a plea from a newly-formed citizens' group headed by Harold Kenny which is co-ordinating efforts to bring air service back to Bathurst.

Atlantic Central withdrew service about two weeks ago when it could wait no longer for a Canadian Transport Commission decision on an application to serve more points in the Maritimes. Daily service was initiated by the airline some 18 months ago and was utilized regularly by local residents and businessmen.

In addressing the gathering, Bathurst Mayor John A. Duffy said he felt all citizens would be affected either directly or indirectly by the interruption in service.

"I hope citizens will take their protest far beyond the reaches of City Hall", declared the mayor who later suggested Premier Richard Hatfield should send the government plane to supply air service to the area.

Both Mayor Duffy and John Hazen, another member of the citizen's committee, were critical of the seeming lack of concern and response on the part of both federal and provincial politicians. It was suggested there were few if any places in Canada the size of Gloucester County with its 90,000 people, which did not have regular air service.

Councillor Joe MacNeil, who is also a member of the Chaleur Regional Industrial Commission, said there is no hope of attracting industry from other parts of New Brunswick unless air service is available. He said the commission was willing to go as far as subsidizing the cost of sending a delegate to Ottawa should this be the direction taken in future proceeding.

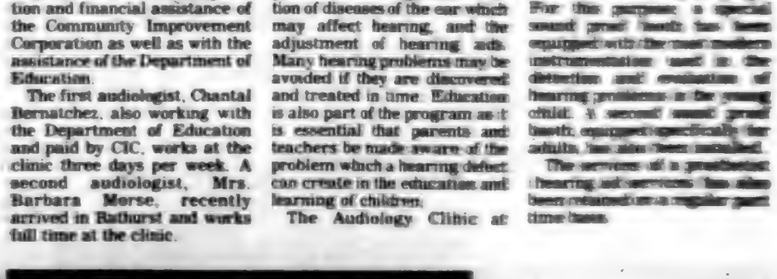
Another city councillor and commissioner member, Terry Lenihan, described the airline as one of the community's greatest assets as it "Saves time and saves money."

Several businessmen from the city spoke of their dependency on air service for the servicing of equipment in order to remain competitive.

In closing the demonstration, Mr. Hazen pointed out that Bathurst is rapidly growing isolated.

"Take a look at other parts of Canada. The CNR is spending three-quarters of a million dollars for a rail link between Montreal and Quebec. CN Telecommunications is pulling out of Bathurst. We get little co-operation from the Harbors Board. We've had no success trying to contact the government. We're becoming completely isolated."

"Let's pepper Premier Hatfield and Prime Minister Trudeau with letters and telegrams and other communications to show them we're tired of being neglected!", concluded Mr. Hazen.



Mrs. Therese Ton That, hospital administrator, learns workings of children's equipment from Mrs. Morse.

Clinic Aids Hearing Handicapped

An Audiology Clinic for hearing problems was opened at Chaleur General Hospital on May 10, 1976 with the cooperation and financial assistance of the Community Improvement Corporation as well as with the assistance of the Department of Education.

The first audiologist, Chantal Bernatchez, also working with the Department of Education and paid by CIC, works at the clinic three days per week. A second audiologist, Mrs. Barbara Morse, recently arrived in Bathurst and works full time at the clinic.

The main purposes of the Audiology Clinic are: the evaluation of audiology problems (hearing), the detection of diseases of the ear which may affect hearing, and the adjustment of hearing aids. Many hearing problems may be avoided if they are discovered and treated in time. Education is also part of the program as it is essential that parents and teachers be made aware of the problem which a hearing defect can create in the education and learning of children.

Chaleur General Hospital recognizes the importance of discovering hearing problems in children at a very early age. For this purpose, a special sound proof booth has been equipped with the most modern instrumentation used in the detection and evaluation of hearing problems in the young child. A second sound proof booth, equipped specifically for adults, has also been instituted.

The services of a prosthetist (hearing aid services) has also been retained on a regular part time basis.

SUBSTANTIAL AMOUNT COLLECTED IN UNICEF CAMPAIGN

Grade 5 students of South Bathurst School collected $59.46 for UNICEF during the last week of October.

The money will be used in helping children in the underdeveloped nations of the world. A little goes a long way for - six cents can save a child from blindness, twelve cents can buy exercise books for two children, thirty cents can buy Vitamin A and D capsules and one dollar immunizes twenty children against disease.

The school's student council executive organized the campaign and was responsible for counting and depositing the money.

...are finding it quite difficult ...explain the change in policy.

"The students sincerely haggle ...the school environment, and do not understand that, because they are adults, are not eligible for the service.

"They have as much right to ...an education as others do, so why deprive them? Why should we have to fight every step of the way to get a fair shake for this group? Their parents pay taxes too."

The situation was discussed at a regular meeting of the local CAMR Tuesday night, and it was suggested that a local church group be approached with a view of using their bus. It was also pointed out that help might be forthcoming from one or all of the many service clubs in the community.

"We have received much help in the past from some of these groups", said Mrs. Harris, "but there are others who have not been approached or volunteered their service. If we could get their co-operation as well as that of the public, we might end up with a second-hand van, or perhaps even a new one, thus enabling these adults to continue the excellent progress they have shown thus far."

Mrs. Harris added that any club or organization interested in the project and wishing to inspect the school and its operation is welcome to visit the workshop between the hours of 8:30 and 3:30, Monday to Friday. It is located directly across from the Annual Shelter on the former Bass River School.

At approximately 2:45 a.m. Thursday, November 4, an employee at the site (who prefers to remain anonymous) caught sight of a large, conical shaped object hovering about 100 feet above the street light which marks the turnoff to the mill from the Brunswick Mines Road.

He described the object as having many different-coloured lights on its base, and equipped with antennae. It remained in the area for about 12 seconds.

Although the observer himself finds the phenomenon quite hard to believe, he maintains that it did indeed take place.

FOR BETTER VIEWING

Local television viewers, plagued with snow on the new Channel 4, are again reminded that it's possibly a matter of only a slight adjustment to their sets.

Or, if new equipment is needed, it is procurable locally at a reasonable cost, not necessarily $200, as quoted in a letter to the editor in this week's edition. It must be remembered, however, that neighbouring Channel 5 is four times more powerful than the new outlet.

And, for those having doubts or problems regarding reception, advice is readily available just for the asking from the Dept. of Communications, located in the Unemployment Insurance Commission Bldg., 786 King Ave., not the Federal Bldg., as stated here in error last week. S.L.A. Hughes is district manager, and the number to dial is 548-9848.

It should be emphasized, however, that guidance on what to do is the only offer. Repairs or adjustments are not included in the service but must be procured from trained technicians or tradesmen associated with the electronics field.

OBSTACLE COURSE

Downtown merchants and shoppers are irked these days by the condition of the free parking area on Harbourview Blvd.

Piles of dirt, apparently the aftermath of recent hydrant installations have created an objectionable mire-like situation.

Rather than an encouragement, it's a deterrent to early Christmas shopping.

Those attending the session were impressed with the displays of equipment arrangedby local merchants.

"The Daughter-in-Law" Powerful And Vital Play

"A son is your son 'till he takes him a wife"

All of D.H. Lawrence's early writing explored the mother-son-wife theme. The Daughter-in-Law was written just at the end of Lawrence's first period when he was recovering from the death and destruction of his mother.

Like Lawrence's great novel, Sons and Lovers, completed at the same time, The Daughter-in-Law has the richness of characters Lawrence knew intimately from his Nottingham mining town boyhood. In the Theatre New Brunswick production at Nepisiguit High School Auditorium November 4, the Daughter-in-Law was a powerful, vital play.

Sheila Dyer's sets reflected imaginatively the dreary company houses of the turn-of-the-century in Northern England.

The back screen, visible above and beyond the actual set, showed the mine that controlled the town completely.

By cutting away the sidewalls of the sets the designer revealed the monotony of row housing, each family connected as intimately to the others in their physical dwellings as they were in their emotional lives.

There were two actual sets, the mother's plain kitchen of Act I, and the daughter-in-law's more pretentious kitchen for the rest of the play. There was authenticity in both. The rooms looked warm and comfortable, the centre of the miner's family life.

The audience was uncomfortable with the first act. The rhythms and dialect of north-country speech demanded such close attention. Rose Ferguson established her role as the passionate, dominating mother, to everyone's admiration. The intensity of her dark brooding, the sharpness of her anger, produce comments rang true.

By the end of Act I it was clear that this was a play that gripped you, whether you understood all the dialogue or not.

John Peters as young Joe won the audience by his mixture of humor and sensitivity. He made them believe the mother controlled her boys and much by love as by her domineering ways. Between Joe and the whining wee bodie, Mrs. Purdy, there were actually some comic overtones to the violent first act.

Doris Petrie made Mrs. Purdy something special, a wisp of a woman, as helpless and simple as any poor soul could be. Under her sighs there gleamed a metallic snap, which Joe revealed neatly, whenever money and rights were in question.

The second act balanced a passionate, young woman against the remembered power of her mother-in-law.

Nadia FitzGerald as Minnie had no dialect obstacles for those down front. She projected a beautiful woman, desperate and disappointed, goading her husband to turn into a man.

The tender longing that Minnie can only express when she respects her husband, glimmered beautifully through her lurid fascination with the strange, wild man he seemed in the street.

The closing scene suggested she had won her fight for possession from his mother.

Nadia was the ideal Laurentian young woman, intelligent, fiery, fine.

Director Ted Fellows reflected Lawrence's real feeling about such women by having Minnie cradle her husband's head in motherly protectiveness in the last tableau of the play. It was the right, closing comment.

Paur Luther, the weak, simple man both women want, was a vivid character role for Dan MacDonald, familiar to and popular with CBC Television playbill watchers.

Luther's verbal and emotional in-coherence was pathetic. His self-centred whining made us despise him. He seemed to deserve his wife's scolding tongue and his mother's sharp anger.

Dan gave Luther one flash of manhood, not too much, just a glimpse or inkling, in the final scene. It helped justify Minnie's obsession with him.

The Daughter-in-Law was good drama. TNB can be proud of its final production of the season.

30 Years Later Troupe Still Going Concern

When the Miramichi Sanatoria Club received a citation for its charity service from Prime Minister Trudeau during Newcastle Canada Days last summer, it was evident to thousands of people that the honor was long overdue.

The letter of commendation from Ottawa pointed to the selfless dedication of the group and only reaffirmed what many New Brunswick residents had known and felt for the past 28 years.

It is because they are performing at Nepisiguit High School in Bathurst on Sunday, November 21, under the auspices of the North Shore Shrine Club, that the history of the gallant group is reviewed here.

Spawned by a short note dispatched hurriedly to a young Chatham girl who was a patient suffering from tuberculosis in Vallee Lourdes Sanatorium in Bathurst, none of the original entertainers had any idea what this initial contract would lead to back in 1948.

Former Chatham postmaster Vince Moar who has emceed the group for nearly all of its 28 years recalls the incident very vividly.

"I went to Jerry Duplessis who ran a variety store across from the post office in Chatham and who also ran the telegraph office," recollects Vince. "He was sending a parcel to his cousin, Mary Duplessis. It was a box of chocolates for Easter".

"I decided to put a note in the parcel", he recalls. "I wrote 'Mary, how would you like some good old Miramichi talent?'"

"That was on a Wednesday", says Vince. "Friday night Sister Superior called to ask if we could come on Sunday?"

"On Sunday, there was a rotten storm", the former postmaster recalls, but that didn't deter his group as they set out for Bathurst with five cars.

Because of the quarantine of TB patients the first program was presented on a stage and piped into the various wards through the hospital P.A. system.

In 1948, because of the lack of travel accommodations and probably the lack of affluence as found today, the only accompaniment was a piano for the entire group.

"Viola McKendy from Chatham was the pianist", recalls Vince, "and she was some good".

Trying to recall all the members of the original group who took part in that show, especially in light of the several entertainers who have come and gone with the club through nearly three decades can be a very difficult and dangerous game. Nobody should be forgotten.

Besides Viola, however, there was the late Joe Currie as music director recalls Mr. Moar, along with the comedy team of Charlie Whitty and Willie Farrah, Jerry Duplessis as a tap dancer, another comedian, Joe Moar, vocalist Danny Murphy, the singing brothers Ben O'Reilly and the late Joe O'Reilly, and just as important as the entertainers, the drivers Joe Keoughan and the late Joe Walsh.

After the success of the Bathurst performance which was rewarded with a "lovely dinner" and "many, many thanks" says Vince, "we had an idea we should go back home and form a Miramichi group."

This is just exactly what took place with entertainers being recruited from Newcastle, Nelson, Loggieville, Bayside and Douglastown besides Chatham and several places up and down the river almost too numerous to mention.

"We decided to cover all sanatoriums in New Brunswick", says Vince, and so we agreed upon a name using the plural of sanatorium.

"Lest We Forget"!

Fifty-eight years ago, on November 11th, 1918, a long war - the first truly world war - came to an end. The cost of this war - to both sides - was immeasurable in loss of life, physical injury, misery, degradation and material resources. Millions of lives had been affected and never would be the same again.

Yet, that same first Armistice Day was welcomed by many as the herald of a bright new era - an era of peace and justice for all mankind when war should be nevermore. Popular belief during the war had been that it was the war to end all wars. Never again would the world be allowed to fall into such a state where people would be called upon to make such sacrifices - to pay such a price.

Canadians - in gratitude for the sacrifices of those Canadians who had served in the armed forces of their nation - set aside this day in their honor and as a memorial to those thousands of Canadians - from every walk of life - who had made the supreme sacrifice. "Lest We Forget"!

Out of all this misery and at a tremendous price the League of Nations was born. It shone as a beacon of hope in a world of misery and fear. The peoples of the world took new courage for they believed that at last the world would be governed by men of goodwill and intelligence. Alas! These high hopes were not to be realized. Man had not purged from high hopes were not to be realized. Man had not purged from his soul the demons of greed and hatred! "Lest We Forget"!

Twenty-one short years later the world found itself again confronted by a major war of even greater dimensions than anything known in the history of mankind. Evil had crept into our midst on a scale perhaps unprecedented in the annals of man. The only cure lay in the major surgery of actual warfare. This nauseous cancer had to be excised!

Canadians found themselves in a position where - if they would maintain their honor and our peculiar Canadian morality - they must fight this evil which had decended on the world and threatened all mankind. The stench of the concentration camps was too nauseating for Canadian nostrils - the sufferings of millions of people under totalitarian aggressors was too much to be borne by the Canadian conscience!

Again, the price was high - the misery untold and untellable but after long dreary years of war it finally came to an end in 1945. We still cannot assess the final cost! How do you assess the value of a life lost - a maimed body or soul? It has truly been said that war is hell! "Lest We Forget"!

The peoples of the world again dared hope. They believed that the day of sanity and the day of the common man had dawned. Their eyes were fixed - with hope and expectation - on the United Nations, the organization which at war's end replaced the old League of Nations.

"Surely" - they thought - "we have learned from past experience and we know the price is so high that never again dare we allow the world to get into such a mess that there will be another war. Surely, we are intelligent enough to make war impossible and to usher in an age of peace, plenty and justice for all mankind."

Canadians now consecrated November 11th as a day of remembrance for the sacrifices of all wars - a memorial to all those Canadians, civilians and service people alike, who made the supreme sacrifice. "Lest We Forget"!

It would give us great pleasure to be able to say that at long last we have banished war for all time. Unfortunately, this is not the case! So far, we have avoided global warfare, but limited wars have been a way of life ever since the end of the Second World War. Any of these could very well have exploded into a world war. We have been - and still are - sitting on a powder keg!

Our way of life is changing. Many of the values which we prized in the 40's and 50's have been derided. Even the concept of Remembrance Day - once held sacred by all Canadians - is being questioned by some of our so-called "idealistic youth". They claim to see in it a glorification of militarism. Such of course is simply not the case. Nothing could be further from the truth! "Lest We Forget"!

Tomorrow, Thursday, we celebrate Remembrance Day. Perhaps it is fitting at this time - we think so at any rate - to pass on a message to the young people. It is this:

Idealism is to be commended, yours - as you so loudly proclaim - is an idealistic generation. No one can in verity gainsay this! You are against war. So are all intelligent people - you are not unique in this respect! Such has ever been the history of mankind! There are no winners in a war - only losers - again, this has been the experience of the centuries! No particular generation has a monopoly on truth!

However, in your misguided zeal, do not lose sight of the fact that your generation has no patent on idealism. The men - whose sacrifices we remember this week - were every bit as idealistic as your generation. Moreover, they sanctified their beliefs - their idealism - by their blood! They firmly believed that dignity, honor, freedom and justice were the birthright of all men and freely laid down their lives in this cause. "Lest We Forget"!

Let us keep their memory bright by rededicating our lives to the pursuit of lasting peace and the highest good of all mankind. It is a worthwhile goal! Experience tells us it will be hard to attain but nothing says it is unattainable. Can an idealistic youth find a loftier challenge? "Lest We Forget"!

Too Much Government

The unseemly bickering that goes on between the various levels of government in Canada for greater shares of the taxpayers' pie has reached a point where few of us know how much we pay to whom for what purposes.

Three levels of government compete for the taxpayers' allegiance, control and regulate his life and tax his personal wealth. Yet the overlapping bureaucracies of federal, provincial and municipal administrations have so blurred the responsibilities of each that the taxpaper – who is also the voter – has little idea for what each level is responsible.

Worse, the citizen-taxpayer no longer has any standard by which to judge priorities, or measure the effective use of his money. We are over-governed to use a cliche.

Granted that most of our money goes to provide services which the politicians would argue we have voted for, it would be refreshing if the various levels of government would try to tackle their problems on a basis of need and efficiency. Instead we too often are treated to the tiresome display of each trying to grab the biggest share of the communal pot.

For instance we have federal and provincial ministries of labor, natural resources, health, social security, environment, consumer protection and business regulation. Add to this municipal involvement in water and sewage, police and fire protection, snow removal etc. and you find how the taxpayer supports enormous bureaucracies which overlap in a dreadfully wasteful manner.

How does the beleaguered taxpayer-citizen choose within three jurisdictions? Surely the time has come for governments to co-operate rather than compete for the privilege of spending tax dollars and free the financial resources needed for one level to do things well.

Nature's Gifts Not Appreciated

Bathurst, N.B.
November 2, 1976

When a province, county, city or town is blessed by nature in having within its bounds one of the most beautiful natural scenic areas created by the hand of God, it would be reasonable to expect that local residents would take advantage of such an area and all it has to offer within the bounds of the law governing the recreation fishing, picknicking, sight seeing aspects which are there for all to use.

Such an area exists near Bathurst, New Brunswick, known by local people, as Pabineau Falls, on the Nepisiguit River. Here a gorge exists which cuts down through a maze of large boulders churning and twirling the water with a loud crescendo and flying spray. A short time ago a beautiful picnic site existed at this spot, spread under the shade of a number of tall graceful white pine trees. A lovely scenic spot for a family picnic.

Two years ago, some local character decided he did not like the trees and consequently sawed many of them down, in essence removing much of the scenic value by so doing.

During the salmon migration, up the river, in late summer and early fall, the fish stop and rest below the falls waiting for a rise in water levels so they can work their way up over the waterfall and eventually reach the spawning areas above.

During this period, the poacher makes his presence felt as he arrives on the scene with his jiggers, spears, rocks and nets doing immeasurable damage to the salmon population. This is done in spite of the fact that legal fishing with rod and fly is permitted until September 15th of each year.

Were it a case of one or two people illegally removing fish it would be serious enough. With numbers of 15, 20 or even 30 people doing this, harm actual results.

Recently an organized patrol comprising Federal Fishery Officer, RCMP and New Brunswick Forest Rangers, took place whereby seizures were made of several motor vehicles under the Fisheries Act, several motor vehicles under the New Brunswick Game Act, along with a number of salmon, a moose, firearms and a substantial quantity of fishing jiggers and lines. As a result, approximately 18 charges will be laid against those apprehended.

Normal protection work as in most cases was not a sufficient deterrent in this situation. Such organized patrols will be carried out in future when the situation demands it.

Increased salmon population in most of our rivers speak well for the legal sports minded fishermen. It is a fact that most salmon on the way upstream to spawn is not choice eating. Fish in most cases are soft and full of spawn and milk. How much better it would be to let sufficient fish reach the spawning area, attain maturity and provide adequate populations from year to year so that all citizens of the area derive benefits for years to come.

Unhappy With TV Reception

Bathurst, N.B.
November 3, 1976

After trying to see our new TV Channel 4 for three days, I am very disgusted to say the least.

For years everyone in Bathurst waited eagerly for a second TV station. Now we have it, and for what? For those people who already have an outside aerial, or those who can afford to buy one. The poor people who make the minimum wage of $2.80 an hour and the pensioners still do not have a second station to turn to if they want to.

If someone would tell me where the small wage earner or the pensioner can come up with approximately $200 to buy an aerial, I'd be very happy about it. Besides this, the pensioner would have to hire someone to install it for him. This soon amounts to a lot of money he hasn't got.

What I can't understand is if Moncton can give us Channel 12 very, very clear and the French Channel 5 can do the same, I can't see any reason why Channel 4 can't do the same unless they do not have enough power to bring it this far. That would be the fault of the station itself as far as I can see.

As far as I can see, the majority of people in Bathurst are no better off than they were before they got the second station. But then, this is like everything else - the rich get what they want and the poor can go without.

Cites Importance Of Being Just

P.O. Box 1527
Innisfail, Alta.
November 1, 1976

Are we not indignant or angered when someone does injustice to us? Indeed, injustice seems to strike at the very foundation of any co-operative relationship, whether this is between man and wife, business partners, labour and management, the governed and those governing, or between nations. If the one party is continually doing injustice to the other party, a co-operative relationship will break down and often end in violence.

Our Western industrialized society, and the benefits that we derive from it, will not be possible when the general population no longer believes in or understands the importance of being just to the persons that we deal with.

Not only will marriages break down and many children become mentally disturbed misfits, but industrial enterprises cannot function when no one feels an obligation to perform the duties for which he is being paid.

Communal and government systems will no longer function to give us the necessary services of water, roads, electricity, etc. when officials steal the money entrusted to them by the public.

This is the reason that millions of people live in misery and some starve to death in India, Africa, South America, and many other places. Their private and public systems cannot function because of theft and corruption. A sense of justice is missing.

Then we should expect that the leaders of our society were anxious to inculcate a sense of justice in the next generation. It may be true that the Christian Church has performed that function in the past, but the Church is rapidly losing its influence as a moral teacher of the young.

Our secular governments have not shown much interest in teaching morals. As a matter of fact, it is interesting to note that the laws enforced in a democracy, like Canada, do not have to pass any test to make sure that they will not do injustice to some part of the population. All they need is the support of a majority of the politicians in power.

We will be in serious difficulties the day that majority is crooked. Our judges commit themselves to judge by the law and are not obligated to do justice at all. Our public system of education does not seem to be aware of the need for teaching justice, either. They just repair their vandalized schools and call for more police.

If there are persons still who like justice, and who think that justice should be taught to the next generation, please drop me a line.

Says Rhodesia Out Of Bounds

Bathurst, N.B.
Nov. 8, 1976

About two or three years ago I wrote you about not sending Canadians to Vietnam because they would either get killed or be taken prisoners and they would not do any good there. Well they did you know what happened. Now I say don't send Canadians to Rhodesia because they will not do any good there and I say a lot of them will get killed.

I don't see why we should take care of Ian Smith and his clique when he thought he could run this country by breaking away from England. If he wanted to run it his way, well let him.

We have enough to take care of now with soldiers in two countries when we can hardly furnish them with modern arms. They are the laughing stock of the rest of the soldiers of other countries working with them. Now remember they are not laughing about the Canadian soldiers, but about their arms.

I was ready to fight for my country twice, in 1914 and 1939, but if I'd be damned if I would go and fight for another country that said a while back to hell with Canada and England.

Bond Issue Is Sold Out

A Brunswick Mining and Smelting Corporation Ltd. $35-million issue of 11 per cent 20-year Series B general mortgage sinking fund bonds were sold out recently after reaching the Canadian market at a price of $100.

The sale was handled by Wood Gundy Ltd. and Burns Fry Ltd.

The company, 66 per cent owned by Noranda Mines, plans to use the money for an expansion program at its Bathurst facility.

Sawmill Operators Say Jobs In Danger

Private sawmill operators claim continued government involvement in Brunswick Mills will jeopardize hundreds of jobs in the industry and only result in the loss of taxpayers' money.

A delegation told the Legislature's Select Committee on Renewable Resources in Bathurst Nov. 3 that Brunswick Mills is making it impossible for smaller companies to compete in the marketing of pulpwood and finished lumber.

The operators, numbering about 15 from as far away as Moncton and Fredericton, contend Brunswick Mills is not economically viable and is already too heavily subsidized because of its link to the government-supervised forest management project.

They also consider it unjust that the government plans to purchase the mill while existing sawmill operations receive virtually no financial support from the province.

George Fawcett of Petitcodiac, president of H. A. Fawcett and Sons Ltd., said Brunswick Mills lumber is being sold at lower prices than other firms can afford.

"Even if the mill is going to be kept running, it should be owned by private business that would either have to operate on the same level with us or go out of business", he said. "We just want equal treatment."

Arthur Doucet of Bathurst, vice-president of Chaleur Pulpwood Ltd., said the entire economic balance of small sawmills in northern New Brunswick is affected by the large volume of wood chips sold by Brunswick Mills to the Consolidated-Bathurst pulpmill.

"If Brunswick Mills floods Consolidated-Bathurst with chips, there won't be any business left for us", he said, adding that the small companies are already receiving $10 less per dry ton for chips than in Quebec because of the increased supply generated by Brunswick Mills.

He also said Consolidated-Bathurst has curtailed its woodcutting operations because of the chip supply from Brunswick Mills, threatening the jobs of as many as 100 private jobbers and wood-cutters.

Mr. Doucet said he supports the concept of the government pilot project area - one million acres of forest previously leased to Consolidated - Bathurst - but cannot understand why the government wants to maintain another mill as part of the project.

"Why didn't they (the government) ask us what we thought before going ahead with Brunswick Mills in the first place?

"This meeting should have been held in 1971. Now we've got a white elephant on our hands."

Some of the operators, who toured Brunswick Mills earlier in the day, also said they doubted if could ever be a profit-making venture because of the poor quality of wood in the area.

Bob Love of Fredericton, vice-president of Dead River Ltd., said the mill is designed for the larger, high-quality logs of British Columbia and is not capable of handling logs subject to rot or tapering without losing money.

"If the government doesn't close it now, they will have to in two or three years anyway", he said.

Mr. Fawcett added that the lumber produced at the mill is "not that good and I'd never be afraid to compete with them if government subsidies were not involved."

Though the province has not yet invested directly in Brunswick Mills, he said, the building of roads in the pilot project area by the New Brunswick Forest Authority amounted to a "tremendous subsidization" of the operation considering private woodlot operators must build their own roads without government subsidy.

Jim Pike of Fredericton, vice-president of Ashley - Colter Ltd., said he realized the pilot project is an experiment but cannot see why the government is prepared to invest in Brunswick Mills when the same money could be used to upgrade existing sawmills.

Natural Resources Minister Roland Boudreau announced Oct. 25 the province is going to purchase the mill from Clearlake Timber Ltd. of British Columbia and keep it operating until new owners can be found. No purchase price was mentioned but earlier the minister said the mill is worth about $4 or $5 million.

The mill's general manager, A. D. Coombes, told the committee Nov. 2 it might cost about $8 million for a new sorting and chipping plant to make the mill more efficient.

MESSAGE FROM MARYLAND

Nicole Cormier, 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jean-Marie Cormier, 675 Brunswick Ave., holds a balloon which she found in their backyard November 2. The card attached to the balloon and purchased by Mrs. Viersetta Thiess, 1507 O'Dell Ave, Baltimore, Maryland, with a 35 cents donation, carried the following message: "Help us determine which balloon went the greatest distance. Sign your name, address, where found and mail back." Last year, Gerard d'Entremont, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence d'Entremont, 665 Elm Court, found a similar balloon at Youghal which had been sent from Wilmington, Delaware. He carried out the instructions to the letter and was rewarded with a $5.00 cheque. It is a coincidence that both young people reside in the same neighbourhood. The balloon was purchased by Mrs. Thiess from Susanne Myers, a student at Rosedale School, 3330 Old Philadelphia Rd., Baltimore, Md. 21206.

Flu Vaccine In Province

A spokesman for the N.B. Department of Health said Wednesday a first shipment of swine flu vaccine has arrived in the province and will be distributed to the five divisional health offices.

The spokesman said the shipment comprises 10,000 doses of the bivalent variety. It will be administered to people in nursing homes and institutions who are at least 65 years of age, and those who have chronic debilitating diseases such as heart, lung or kidney complications.

The bivalent variety fights the A/New Jersey swine flu and the A/Victoria 1975 flu variety which affected many people in Canada last year.

Lottery Winners Announced

Each year, in order to obtain a favourable sum of money for the treasury, Bathurst High School students carry out a major fund-raising drive.

This year's project was a giant lottery with a thousand-dollar packet of prizes, ranging from a grand prize of $500 to four $25 prizes. The drive revolved around the enthusiasm and interest of the students, who showed a great effort in selling almost 3000 tickets.

On Thursday, Oct. 28, students assembled in the gymnasium to witness the draw of winning tickets, carried out by Mrs. Jay Winton, president of the Bathurst High and J. Gordon Chalmers Home and School Association.

Winners were as follows: Romeo Cormier - $500, Ronald Scott - $200, Eva Jagne - $100, Gordon Mackintosh - $50, Arachel Noel - $50, Aurele Doucet - $25, David Walsh - $25, Evelyn Melanson - $25, and James Hanlon - $25.

Janette Bernatte, who sold the most tickets, was awarded $25 for her efforts while Karen Aubie and Beth Glendenning received the second prize of $15. Jimmy Coles received $10. All students who sold 25 tickets or more were invited to an all-you-can-eat pizza party.

Proceeds from the lottery will be used to subsidize school activities such as sending athletic teams to provincial competitions, paying for the newly acquired van, activity banquet and graduation as well as announcing the Yearbook, Cinema Club and Winter Carnival committees. The Student Council is also hoping to purchase a new projector for the Cinema Club.

Gives Report On Conference

At the regular monthly meeting of the M.S. Society, held at the Medical Clinic on October 27, Jean White gave a report on the recent world conference held in Toronto.

A discussion was held on the recent findings of the AI protein trial. Clair Smith, executive director, was in attendance and was most helpful in answering questions.

The highly experimental treatment for Multiple Sclerosis involving the use of AI protein will begin in Toronto sometime in December. The trial will initially involve only eight persons who fit the rigorous criteria set up by the researchers. These persons must be under the age of 35, have had MS for less than five years, and must be seen within four days of a significant exacerbation (attack).

If the protein injections seem safe and show promise, the treatment will be expanded to a total of 25 patients before the work stops for evaluation. If the first eight people are not helped the experiment will probably stop, and if anyone gets worse, the project will stop at once.

Persons participating in the project will be selected by a neurologist at any of the seven teaching hospitals affiliated with the University of Toronto.

It should be emphasized that the researchers expect to find most of the first of the volunteers in the Toronto area, and that they would not wish anyone to incur a great deal of expense by coming to Toronto for the initial stages of the project.

The annual candy making for the children and patients will again be held in December. The date and place will be made available at the November meeting.

The annual Christmas party for members, patients and guests will be held at Danny's Colonial House on December 18 at 7:00.

The new patients from the Caraquet area attended the October meeting. Mary Jane Landry and Jeannine Paulin. All other patients are urged to come out.

A nominating committee of Ada Barbery, Pearl Sawler and Tilly Landry was made up and asked to bring in a new slate of officers for the annual meeting in January.

The next meeting will be held on November 24 and not November 17 as Parent-Teacher night is on that same date.

Nuclear Group Meets In Camera

The Information Committee on Nuclear Plants of Anse Bleu (Blue Cove) N.B. held an unplanned meeting on Sunday, Nov. 7. For the first time since its formation in August 1975, the meeting was closed to both the public and the news media.

Committee President Ben Theriault, who had earlier made arrangements to attend a Maritime Energy Coalition meeting which was being held in Jolicure (near Sackville) N.B. also on Sunday, cancelled the trip for yet undisclosed reasons and so chaired the meeting being held at his own level.

Although it was held at rather short notice, it was hard to expect all 22 committee members to attend. However, 13 found ways of getting there.

What really brought the meeting to order was an equally unexpected total power breakdown which happened at 1:22 p.m. on Sunday and covered the entire Caraquet - Blue Cove area for nearly two hours.

One of the decisions taken unanimously was the following letter to Premier Hatfield to be mailed and posted by Monday:

"We've reached the day were we judged it preferably to obtain from you, as Premier of our Province, precise answers to the three questions which follows:

"Has the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission abandoned its previous intentions of establishing a nuclear energy site in the Anse Bleu (Blue Cove), N.B. area, which would have been known as the Point Caplin site?

"Has the N.B.E.P.C. now reached a decision level as to whether or not nuclear energy in N.B., will progress beyond the Point Lepreau site?

"Where then, exactly, does the N.B.E.P.C. intend to construct its second nuclear energy site?

"Your answers to these three questions, Sir, are expected within a delay as brief as necessary.

"Rest assured however of our entirely sincere, but most democratic intentions. Thus may we signal to you that each question rates and therefore deserves a specific answer.

Any other committee discussions or decisions are being held from the press until Premier Hatfield has provided answers to the three questions asked.

Club Hopeful Initial Event Becomes Annual

By THERESE LEVASSEUR

Capitol Lanes was the centre of activity Sunday afternoon, Oct. 31, when CCB Club bowlers, partially sighted and totally blind persons competed against their counterparts, CCB Club Chalour comprising members of the Campbellton, Atholville and Dalhousie areas.

The Bathurst club won the North Shore Eddy Hardware Trophy while individual keeper trophies were awarded as follows:

In the totally blind category, trophies for high singles were won by Regina Cormier of Petit Rocher and Rosario Blacquiere, Campbellton.

Partially sighted: Trophies won by Mrs. Therese Le Vasseur and Gerry McLellan, both of Bathurst.

A T.V. television coverage of the event created added interest for the clubs.

The ever-faithful Lions Club members were on hand to coach, along with other volunteers, coaches, score keepers, and the drivers who so generously transport bowlers to the lanes.

The Lions Club, as usual, sponsored the entire tournament.

To top off the event, the Bathurst Legion Ladies Auxiliary served a delicious hot dinner to members, associate members as well as the invited guests.

Sincere thanks was expressed to this devoted group of Legion women as well as the Royal Canadian Legion for the use of their hall and Moosehead Breweries for a donation of beverages.

Awarding of the trophies took place following the dinner.

Local Canadian Council of the Blind Club president John Bolden, as master of ceremonies, called upon several of the guests who included the district representative of the CNIB, Lions Club, president of Chalour Club and others from Campbellton area, all of whom addressed the club briefly.

Entertainment and dancing gave opportunities for the CCB Clubs to socialize with each other and with the guests. All agree to make this an annual event.

Beresford Boes Top North Stars

Beresford Boes gained a share of first place in the North Shore Junior B Hockey League with a 4 - 3 win over Campbellton North Stars in Beresford Monday night. The win gives the Boes six points and a tie with Dalhousie Junior Rangers atop the league.

Jean Marc Fournier gave the winners a 1 - 0 first period lead and the Boes went ahead 4 - 0 after forty minutes as Bernard Mallet, Charlie Vienneau and Marco Doucet counted in the second.

The North Stars came back with three markers in the final period to make it close. Norbert Maltais triggered a pair with his second coming just 30 seconds before the end of the game. Allison Metallic fired the other Campbellton goal.

The game was highlighted by the exploits of three of the Metallic brothers for various infractions. Floyd Metallic was banished for hair-pulling in the first period; Clifford for striking an official in the same period and Lance drew a game misconduct in the second period for pulling a face guard.

BORROWED AND BLUE

We have lived for too long on borrowed time, borrowed money, and even borrowed ideas and we live in too troubled a world to be able in a matter of months, or even in a couple of years, to enter the promised land. The route is long and hard. But I believe that the long march has at last begun: that the Social Contract and our industrial strategy taken together are our guides. - British Prime Minister James Callaghan.

Golden Agers' Day In Moncton

Twenty-seven members of the Golden Age Club in Bathurst journeyed to Moncton on Tuesday, Oct. 26, travelling in their own bus driven by Huntly Ferguson who was assisted by Yvon Gallant.

The group's first stop was the Ponderosa Restaurant for a delicious steak dinner. An tour of the city followed and thence to Highfield Square and then back to the Champlain Place shopping mall to spend the afternoon.

The party boarded bus at five o'clock for the journey north, stopping over at Chatham for supper, before continuing their journey home.

The general conclusion of the members was that the day was very enjoyable, in spite of the inclement weather.

Workshop Days In Retrospect

(A teacher looks at October 12 and 13. Study sessions in District No. 4.)

The Professional Development Committee had drawn up an exciting and complete array of activities that teachers might become involved with. To satisfy the varient needs of all teachers was a task that was undertaken and completed with zest and style.

The activities ranged from the abstract and philosophical to the specific and practical.

Miss Audrey Barss discussed teaching techniques and community resources. This workshop promoted Canada and its study.

Dr Dale T. Hayes concerned himself with "turning on the reluctant reader." This provocative presentation gleaned a spontaneous response from teachers often immune to new methods.

Miss K. Johnston provoked a maximum of interest from District No. 4 Home Economics teachers. Her workshop dealt with value clarification in the area of increasing importance.

One of the most practical workshops was that of Elementary Social Studies Grades 3, 4 and 5. Here teachers at these levels concerned themselves with the presentation of materials and the evaluation of student responses.

An area of vital concern in today's complex and ever changing school system is Testing. Mr R. Elliott of the Department of Education discussed the compilation of teacher-made tests.

Perhaps the most popular of the workshops was that on the uses to be made of the newspaper in the classroom. D. Dorman and B. Goggin graphically demonstrated the effectiveness of this media in providing current interest and maximum student participation in all subject areas.

Marguerite Dow conducted lectures of special education with concentrated emphasis on language and Math.

Elizabeth Owens and Dr. Chapeone met with teachers of Grades One, Two and Three and this group worked with children and learning disabilities.

While some teachers were busy in the city with their own activities — Science teachers were at the Janeville Science Center. During this busy two-day workshop, exciting ideas on the use of locale in the teaching of science were explored.

As this teacher looks back objectively at October 12 and 13, he can but exclaim with pleasure at the productive and exciting ideas that he carried back to his classroom on Thursday, October 14.

Chamber Upset Over ACA Loss

The Bathurst Chamber of Commerce has strongly condemned the parties which brought about the withdrawal of air service to Gloucester County.

"There is absolutely no possible way the local chamber can accept the feeble excuses for delay of the Canadian Transport Commission decision on the air routes", a spokesman for the chamber said. "The air service issue is not new to the Bathurst region or to the CTC, having festered for many years.

"EPA at the July CTC hearings made no effort to service Bathurst air traffic, and the chamber expects no relief from the subsidized airline to their segregated area.

"The lack of concern of the Premiers to the region's air service was well illustrated by the Premier of New Brunswick's endorsement of EPA's proposal at the CTC hearings recently at the Maritime Premiers' Conference, further isolating Atlantic Central Airway's hopes for expansion."

The Chamber of Commerce presently is attempting to arrange a date to meet with the premier to discuss the problem, accompanied by local business men and industrial planning group. However, according to Chamber President John Baum, the group is not optimistic.

"Every time we are amiable to the governments and their agencies about the problems of air service, we seem to make more progress. But once we yell 'foul' their doors are locked shut and their telephones are left off the hook. They just don't give a damn."

Opening Of Institute Said A Special Event

The opening of the Northeast Institute of Technology, following the transfer of the property from Bathurst College to the New Brunswick Community College November 2, was termed a special event for French-speaking citizens of the province by Treasury Board Chairman Jean-Maurice Simard.

"The Northeast Institute of Technology represents the headquarters of technology in education for Francophones in New Brunswick," said Mr. Simard who was representing the provincial government at the opening ceremony.

"These new facilities will allow for the expansion of new technology programs which meet the aspirations and the needs of the French-speaking population" indicated Mr. Simard.

The property, which comprises about 24 acres of land and six buildings valued at approximately $3,000,000, was sold for $350,000. The New Brunswick government, through the provincial higher education commission, contributed several thousand dollars to Bathurst College between 1968-1975 for renovations and the purchase of equipment, added Mr. Simard.

"The first technology courses to be offered in the new facility was business administration in September 1975. Since last September, it has also offered electronic technology and has an enrollment of 72 students, the minister indicated.

So far the New Brunswick Community College has contributed more than $500,000 for renovations and the purchase of new equipment.

Together with the Community Improvement Corporation and the federal department of Regional Economic Expansion, the Community College is presently conducting an important study aimed at offering a more complete list of technological programs to the French-speaking population of New Brunswick.

Under the Department of Health, added Mr. Simard, a two-year course in nursing will also be available from the Bathurst campus. Facilities and services available on the site will be used to ensure savings for New Brunswick taxpayers.

"We live in a rapidly changing technological era. We must prepare qualified workers for a world which requires more and better educated specialists in all sectors," Mr. Simard said.

Local Exchanges Not Paying Higher Price

The New Brunswick Liquor Corporation and the Brewers Association of Canada recently announced an increase both in the price of beer, and in the return rate on empty bottles.

However, according to a spokesman for local bottle buyers, the announcement was premature, and will probably be confusing to the public, especially when the dealers are unable to pay the announced rate of 40 cents a dozen.

The increase in beer prices, which became effective October 25, hiked the cost of beer from $4.25 to $4.80 per dozen pack. The increase covers a bigger deposit on the bottles as well as the increased cost of the beer itself.

Bottle exchange dealers across the province are complaining that they were not consulted when the decision to raise deposits was made. They also say they did not learn of the decision until it was announced to the public.

Dealers did not receive any increase in the profit they receive per dozen when they sell them to the breweries, in fact, they are actually receiving a lower profit rate under the new system if they pay the 40 cents a dozen specified in the announcement. They receive 48 cents per dozen.

The spokesman said he could not quote a flat rate paid by the breweries to the bottle exchanges, as it is complicated by freight rates and the volume of bottles sold in one lot.

However, bottle exchanges are claiming they will be forced to close if they have to pay 40 cents. As there is nothing making it compulsory for them to pay this rate, most are offering a lower price per dozen. Exchanges in Bathurst are currently paying 35 cents a dozen for bottles in boxes, 30 cents a dozen for loose bottles.

One of the main reasons cited by the Liquor Corporation and the brewers Association for increasing the deposit was to encourage people to collect beer bottles currently littering roadsides and ditches.

BREWERS WANT BOTTLES

It is estimated that in excess of 1,825,000 beer bottles are not returned each year. An improvement in the return rate would not only reduce environmental problems, it would save energy and materials used to make new bottles.

The Brewers Association has been running campaign and post notices in liquor stores to encourage people to return used bottles to exchanges. The association will also post lists of the exchanges offering the full 40 cent return rate.

Although most provinces are like New Brunswick in that empty bottles are collected by independent bottle exchanges, others, including Ontario and Quebec refund deposits on beer bottles in liquor stores. New Brunswick does not do this because of increased costs, not only of administration of the system but also of warehouses to store the empty bottles, and shipping costs.

COMMUNITY THEATRE ROCKATHON SUCCESSFUL

After Community Theatre's 12-hour rockathon in the basement of the Sacred Heart Cathedral, members were tired but happy with the knowledge that they raised over $1,000 for future productions. Bright and early Saturday morning, Oct. 30, imately 30 members, many dressed in various Hallowe'en costumes decorated the hall and began rocking at 8:00 a.m. A five minute break every hour allowed rockers to stretch their limbs. Singing, playing cards and talking to visitors also helped to pass the time. Thanks to Keith DeGrace, rockers enjoyed 40 fun-burgers from the Big D Drive-In. Members of Community Theatre thank Reverends Gregory Culligan and J. Emile Fournier of Sacred Heart Parish, Mr. DeGrace for his generosity, visitors who offered moral support and goodies and a special thanks to all citizens who sponsored rockers. With the continued support of the citizens of Bathurst, Community Theatre will continue to function successfully.

Touts Salmon On Nepisiguit

The Nepisiguit Salmon Association held a special meeting on October 28, when the guest speaker was Gary Turner, senior biologist with the Federal Department of Fisheries in Halifax.

Mr. Turner outlined, in his presentation, the work he and his department have carried out on the Nepisiguit River since 1968. He told his audience about the great potential of the Nepisiguit River with a lift station or fishladder overcoming major obstacles of Grand Falls Power Dam for the salmon to migrate to the head waters of the river system.

The Nepisiguit River would rate second in the Maritimes for the production of salmon, he emphasized.

Mr. Turner revealed the sad facts that detrimental pollution to salmon in the Nepisiguit from the mining industry is still being uncontrolled. The recurring seepage into 40 Mile Brook has again killed all life in the stream which is a tributary of the Nepisiguit.

The abandoned Wedge Mine Pond he added, is creating a hazardous situation to all fish in the Nepisiguit River; it should be neutralized and filled in, not, pumped yearly into the river.

Mr. Turner was pleased with the formation of the Nepisiguit Salmon Association. This, he stated, is a milestone for salmon restoration on the Nepisiguit River.

The biologist informed his audience that, due to limited funding, his team has not been able to continue with the necessary research required on the river. Other priorities, however, are looked after.

Mr. Turner's final remarks were to the effect that with departmental expenditure and public pressure, the Nepisiguit River could be built up to a fisheries resource. This whole area could benefit from revenue and the Nepisiguit could rate as second largest producing river in the Maritimes, he stated.

Men who go places charge their bad breakes to profit and loss - and move steadily forward.

Journee d'Information

Malgré les attraits de la belle température et les célébrations de l'Halloween, environ 100 femmes sont venues passer de l'information et échanger des idées dans le cadre d'une journée d'étude organisée par les Dames d'Acadie de Bathurst.

Le groupe s'est divisé pour participer aux ateliers suivants: l'habitat animé par Jean-Claude LeBlanc, les médias d'information par Laetitia Cyr, la nutrition par Gisèle McCann, la planification familiale par Marcel Pitre, Ginette Thériault et Yolande Lanier. A la suite de ce travail, il est fort probable que des résolutions seront formulées.

Pendant la dernière partie de l'après-midi, Jocelyne Lanier de la Commission des Droits de l'Homme a distribué la brochure "La femme et la loi" en portant l'attention des participantes sur les points de loi déjà désuets à cause de changements apportés à la législature.

Lucie LeBouthillier, consultante pour les groupes féminines du Nord-Est a expliqué son travail auprès de ces organisations.

Parmi les participantes, on remarquait la présence de Mme Gemma Caron, présidente de l'association provinciale des Dames d'Acadie.

Dates Set For Phone Hearings

The N.B. Board of Commissioners of Public Utilities announced November 5 that the hearing for the N.B. Telephone Co. application for amended rates and charges will be heard Jan. 24.

In conjunction with this matter a pre-hearing conference is scheduled for Dec. 13 at 2 p.m. in the board rooms at 110 Charlotte St.

Caraquet Town Admin. Confused

It's a tough and confusing situation, as the Town of Caraquet is finding out, when federal law is on one side, provincial statute on the other, and civic employees are caught in the middle.

This was the situation described by Leopold Arseneault, Campbellton-based CUPE representative, involving the Province of New Brunswick, the Anti-Inflation Board, the janitorial staff of the Caraquet museum, and staff of the Caraquet Recreational Department.

In a salary agreement negotiated last December, the town and the employees agreed on a wage increase to $3.40 per hour. As with all wage increases, this agreement was subject to AIB scrutinization.

Caraquet town administrators received a letter from the AIB informing them that the negotiated agreement provided for a 30 per cent increase in salary, 29 per cent beyond that permitted by law.

Eleven months have elapsed and the employees have received no increase at all because of the AIB vote.

As stated by the AIB, the maximum increase of ten per cent per annum would, in this case, raise employees' wages from $2.50 per hour to $2.75.

However, the Province of New Brunswick raised the minimum wage to $2.80 per hour as of November 1st, so the town wasn't sure which way to turn. On one side, the AIB stated that the town would be acting illegally if it granted its employees more than $2.75 per hour; one the other, the province claimed that it was illegal to pay less than $2.80 per hour.

Proper Antenna Insures Good TV Reception

With the introduction of alternate television service to the North Shore region of New Brunswick, the key to good reception will, in most instances, depend on installation of the correct type of television antenna connected to the receiver.

Two new channels will now serve the North Shore and Miramichi areas. Channel 4 the new CHSJ-CBC station "CHCR-TV" Campbellton and Channel 6, "CHCN-TV" serving the Newcastle-Chatham area.

The Channel 4 transmitter is located on Mt. St. Joseph in Carleton, Quebec, 1779 feet above sea level, beaming its signal towards the mainland of New Brunswick. This location has been selected so as to give maximum coverage to the northern section of the province from Campbellton to Miscou and Tracadie to the east and south to Allardville.

Because of the new Channel 4's transmitter location, viewers in the area should not experience any difficulty in receiving an adequate signal from their existing antenna which in most instances, is already oriented towards Carleton, Quebec to receive Channel 5. Channel 5 antennae will adequately receive Channel 4 as well.

It must be pointed out that antennae which have been in service for some time should be checked by a competent TV service man to determine its efficiency. TV antennae are affected by weather, loose connections and worn-out lead-in wires. Old age and normal deterioration degrade incoming TV signals significantly. Symptoms of snowy and fuzzy pictures, poor colour and interference is an indication that the antenna may be at fault. A TV receiver is only as good as its receiving system.

Built-in antennae and rabbit ears are not considered satisfactory, unless the receiver is located within a very few miles of the TV station. As many frustrated TV service men have been heard to observe... "rabbit ears are for rabbits".

Chamberlain Nets Winner As Alpines Edge Rangers 4-3

A goal by Brian Chamberlain at 16:53 of the final period provided defending champion Bathurst Alpines a 4 - 3 come-from-behind victory over Dalhousie Rangers in the opening game of the North Shore Hockey League here last Tuesday.

Rangers seemed to catch Bathurst offstride in the opening period and enjoyed a 2 - 0 first period lead on a pair of goals by newcomer Luc Bonneville. Rangers tested the Alpines' rookie goalie Glenn Seperich with a total of 16 shots in the period. Rangers' Gilles Cloutier turned aside 12 Bathurst drives and blanked the Alpines well into the second period before veteran Kenny Paul Ouellette converted passes from George Willett and Denis Langlais to draw the Alpines even with just 9 seconds left in the penalty-ridden period.

Alpines had lost defenceman John Lunn through a game misconduct in the first 20 minutes, and then lost Jackie Roy and Mike Brophy via game misconducts resulting from fights with Jeff Mullins and Rick Dryer of the Rangers midway through the second period. Mullins and Dryer were also banished. Alpines' Donnie Roy was also forced to retire due to a cut received in the Mullins altercation. The player losses cut the Alpine roster to just nine skaters for the rest of the contest.

Wayne Cameron gave Dalhousie a 3 - 2 lead at 2:31 of the final period but Freddie Venart got that one back for the Alpines at the 7:35 mark on a play with Mike Morton and Michel Hamel.

Brian Chamberlain fired the winner past Cloutier picking up the rebound of Mike Morton's shot after a set-up from Michel Hamel.

Bathurst outshot the Rangers in the final two periods to enjoy a game margin of 39 - 29. Referee Billy Meahan was pretty free with his whistle in handing out 32 penalties in his efforts to keep the game under control.

BRIAN CHAMBERLAIN

Roy finally beat him at the 17:36 mark.

Ron Ing and Jacques Noel...

Paul Basque (front) threw for Tracadie while Claude Robichaud and Paul Ferguson netted the others. Rangers held leads of 4 - 3 and 5 - 4.

The win increased Dalhousie's league lead to 4 points over second place Beresford and Campbellton.

Saturday in Campbellton the North Stars trounced Caraquet Acadians 12 - 1 for their first win of the season.

Donnie LeBlanc and Floyd Melanson led the parade for the winners with three goals each. Mark Richard triggered a pair with the others coming from Kerry Clair, Francois Bouley, Pierre Richard and Cliff Metallic. Rheal Poirier gave the Acadians a short-lived 1 - 0 lead in the first period.

Rejuvenated Tigers Post Wins Over Alpines, Ironmen

Campbellton Tigers made an impressive start in the 1976 - 77 North Shore Hockey League season on home ice last Friday with a solid 7 - 3 triumph over the defending champion Bathurst Alpines.

The Tigers, who failed to make the playoffs last year, followed up with a 5 - 3 win over the Ironmen in Chatham Sunday to take over first place with a 2 - 0 won-loss record.

Friday night, a crowd of 1,156 saw the Tigers take a 3 - 0 lead in the first period and increase it to 5 - 1 after 40 minutes.

Despite a rash of penalties in the final period, which resulted in two Alpine goals, the Tigers also scored twice to run the final count to 7 - 3.

Jean-Marie Bouchard, out most of last season, netted a pair for Campbellton as did centre John Wood. Greg McCullough, Perry Kennedy and Laurie Gregan added the others. Lou Ouellette, Mike Brophy and Donnie Roy counted for the Alpines.

Ouellette's goal came late in the final period after the Tigers had built a lead of 5 - 0.

Five consecutive minor penalties to the Tigers in the third period enabled the Alpines to tally their final two goals. Both goals resulted from a bold move by Alpine coach Hubert Pouliot who pulled his goalie for an extra attacker while the Tigers were short two men. Don Roy rapped in the first with Henderson and Tessier serving time at the 1:56 mark. Brophy scored the other at the 7:52 mark with Sterling Loga and Laurie Gregan in the penalty box. In all, the Tigers were assessed nine of 11 minor penalties plus a misconduct to Laurie Gregan in the final period.

Ironmen Lose

Chatham Ironmen made their home ice debut Sunday before over 1,000 fans, but suffered a 5 - 3 defeat at the hands of the Campbellton Tigers for their second loss in as many starts.

Veteran George Berube scored twice for the Tigers who jumped to a 3 - 0 first period lead on markers by Jean-Marie Bouchard, Brian Forster and Berube.

Paul Findlay and Ken Martin scored a minute apart in the second period to cut the margin to 3 - 2 before Greg McCullough put Campbellton ahead 4 - 2.

Daniel Lessard added Chatham's final goal before the period ended, but Berube's second of the night at the 11:16 mark of the third clinched the win for Campbellton.

Junior Rangers Post Third Win

Dalhousie Junior Rangers recorded their third straight win in the North Shore Junior 'B' Hockey League with an 8 - 5 triumph over Tracadie Save Easy in Dalhousie Sunday night.

Henry Bernard, Kenny Tait and Marc Gauvreau each scored twice to spark the winners with singles coming from

Fredericton To Host Figure Skating Championships

The first Atlantic Canadian Divisional Skating Championships will be held on January 13, 14 and 15, 1977 at the new Aitken University Centre on the campus of the University of New Brunswick in Fredericton, N.B. The Fredericton Figure Skating Club will be hosting this event and has selected Mrs. Margaret Routledge as Chairperson. The OFSA appointed Technical Representative is Mrs. Sally Rehorick.

Figure skating in the Atlantic provinces has progressed to the extent that we now have a sufficient number of high caliber skaters in the four Atlantic provinces to warrant our own semi-national competition. Previous to this the Canadian Figure Skating Association (CFSA) had only three Divisions in Canada and skaters from the Atlantic provinces hoping to gain a birth in the Canadian Championships had to go to the Eastern Divisionals and compete with Ontario and Quebec skaters. The newly formed Atlantic Division will assure us of having competitors in the 1977 national championships.

Each of the four Atlantic provinces (P.E.I., N.B., N.S. and Newfoundland) will hold their own qualifying provincial event (Sectional Championships) early in the winter season. The skaters from each province who qualify in this competition may then be selected by their Section Executive to represent their province at the Atlantic Canadian Divisional Skating Championships. A maximum of four entries per selection may be entered in each of Novice, Junior and Senior events in singles, pairs and dance categories.

Skaters who qualify in this Atlantic semi-national competition may then represent the Atlantic Division at the Canadian Championships in Calgary on January 31 - February 6, 1977 a maximum of four representatives per event from each of the four Canadian Divisions (Atlantic, Eastern, Central and Western) will be entered in the national competition.

The Championship Committee is looking for a full entry in Novice Ladies from NFld., N.S. and N.B., as well as good competition in Novice Men, Novice Dance, Novice Pairs, Junior Ladies and Junior Dance events. It is expected that the quality of skating in this competition will be exceptionally high and those eligible to in Calgary will likely place higher than in previous Canadian Championships.

Tickets can be purchased in advance by writing to Atlantic Canadian Divisional Skating Championships, P. O. Box 1178, Fredericton, N.B. E3B 5C8 or obtained from the executive of your home club.

For further information concerning the competition contact Mrs. Margaret Routledge, 783 Reid Street, Fredericton, N.B. (Phone 454-3552) or Mrs. Sally Rehorick, 347 Saunders St., Fredericton, N.B. (Phone 454-1907).

The N.B. Figure Skating Championship (Sectionals) will be hosted jointly by the Chatham and Newcastle Figure Skating Clubs on November 19, 20 and 21, 1976.

Church Services

In The Bathurst District

The following notices of service are printed as a courtesy of The Northern Light from information supplied by the churches concerned.

BIBLE DIGEST: "He said unto them, Have ye received the Holy Ghost since ye believed? And they said unto him, We have not so much as heard whether there be any Holy Ghost... And when Paul had laid his hands upon them, the Holy Ghost came on them; and they spake with tongues, and prophesied." Acts 19: 2,6

As at Ephesus, many today are receiving the baptism with the Holy Ghost in a manner unknown to them and sometimes preached as unavailable to them. "The promise is unto you."

Defends Decision On Awarding Of Contract

The chairman of the Advisory Committee, Crown Construction Contracts Act, and provincial comptroller Glendon C. Graham, issued a statement Oct. 26 concerning the recent award of contract to A. C. Mallet and Fils of Shippegan for construction of the Francophone School and Community Centre, Phase II in Fredericton.

Mr. Graham's statement follows recent comments in the press by an official of the Mechanical Contractors Association which Mr. Graham said, is misleading because it gives the impression that the government wanted [illegible] in awarding to A. C. Mallet.

The Crown Construction Contracts Act and its regulations do not exercise control over bid depositories which are regulated by the Construction Association itself, Mr. Graham said. What this means in practice, is that a general contractor has the prerogative of choosing his sub-contractors at will and is not obliged to accept the lowest sub-trade bid.

In the present instance, A. C. Mallet chose the second lowest bidder for both the plumbing and ventilation contracts.

Previous press coverage, said Mr. Graham, left the impression that the Government could require A. C. Mallet to engage the lowest sub-trade after the bid depository closing which is simply not the case.

In actual fact, said Mr. Graham, the Minister of Education acted correctly inasmuch as A. C. Mallet was the lowest of eight general contractors who bid the project, the Mallet bid of $[illegible] being some $75,000 lower than the next lowest bidder.

Mits, Sox, etc, For Xmas Gifts

President Mrs. Yvonne Bourque chaired the Nov. 2 monthly meeting of Our Lady of Mount Carmel Council C.W.L. held at the presbytery. Also presiding was the director, Rev. L. Vermeersch.

Bible reading was by Mrs. Lorette Gallagher. It was decided that the per capita fees be paid. The director's message dealt with purgatory.

Treasurer Mrs. Arnold Sim reported. Mrs. Cecile Hachey, Christian family life convener, reported that there were 30 Brownies registered and details of the cost of a Brownie flag were presented.

Church life convener, Mrs. Lorette Gallagher reported that members had recited prayers at the funeral home and had attended mass in a group for the late member Mrs. Toola Boeca.

The usual Christmas gifts of mittens, socks, slippers and cups for school children will be brought to the December meeting. Members will enlist readers for the Epistle at the 7 p.m. mass on Saturdays.

Mrs. Muriel Gallagher and Mrs. Lisa Vienneau reported on visits to the Foyer.

More tickets were distributed on the bicycle lottery to be drawn Dec. 9.

The Christmas party and December meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. L. Gallagher Dec. 7 when an exchange of gifts and buffet supper takes place.

PET NEWS

The Stray

By Marguerite Morrison

The frozen ponds are glistening
Just like a winter's day
Have you checked your pet outside
On such a cold, cold day?

They love the great outdoors,
To sit in the sunshine bright
But when the evening comes, be sure they are
In where it's warm and light.

A bed of their own is the answer
Be it a basement room or their own house
And have warm milk, water and food handy
To make them feel wanted and loved.

We all love a dear little puppy,
Or even a tiny pussy cat,
But do we ever realize
They grow to dogs and cats?

Now if by chance your pet is OK
Warm, loved and clean,
You may see a stray on a cold, cold day
And he looks forsaken and lost

Call your animal shelter,
A friend will be there,
and will know what to do
Don't stop to count the cost.

Animals are dumb, but they feel the cold.
Remember this and say,
"I'll do my best to help a stray,
Should I meet one on a cold, cold day."

Action at the Animal Shelter

Six kittens, four puppies and two dogs found new homes.

Pet Owners: your dog must be in its own yard, either tied or in a run, at all times, winter and summer. If it runs loose, the fine is $10. It could also cause an accident.

Bathurst Pair Adopts Young Bolivian Child

Ines Margarita Saavedra is eleven years of age, and lives with her mother, two sisters and grandmother in a rented room in Villa de la Cruz, Bolivia.

Recently, Ines was "adopted" under the Foster Parents Plan of Canada, by Ms. Carol Blanchard and Mike Hickey of Bathurst.

The child was born in Cochrabamba in 1965, a daughter of Rosario (Meruvia) and Florencio Saavedra. When she was three, her father died, and Ines' mother has supported her family since as a washerwoman.

The family lives on an income of $30 per month, along with $7.50 per month from the maternal grandmother. Monthly expenses include $15 for food, $6 for bread; $5 for firewood; $4 rent and $5 per year, schooling expenses. Their food is very poor in vitamins and protein, being based for the most part on carbohydrates, and clothing is purchased only when finances permit.

The family's rented room consists of abode walks, an earthen floor and tin roof, and one window. Furniture includes a table, suitcase for clothes, a wood stove and necessary kitchen utensils. There is no electricity, running water or bathroom facilities, and water is obtained from a public faucet.

In general, all members of the family are in good health. Ines, Patricia and Sheila have been vaccinated, and in case of sickness, they are treated at a public medical centre.

Ines is described as a shy girl, with brown hair and brown eyes. Her physical and mental development are normal for her age, and she likes to play with toy pots and a doll.

She is in fourth grade at school, and studies reading, writing, grammar, arithmetic, religion, music, gym, social science, natural science and handicrafts.

The $19 provided each month by Ms. Blanchard and Mr. Hickey will enable the family to enjoy a variety of benefits, including medical and dental care, prescriptions, and counselling of social workers, and other special programs.

Foster Parents Plan is currently working in 13 countries in South American, Central America, Asia and Africa. Over 70,000 children are being aided by individuals, groups and families in Canada, Australia, The Netherlands and U.S.A. For more information on this non-profit, non-sectarian and political independent organization, write Foster Parents Plan of Canada, 153 St. Clair Ave. West, Toronto, Ont. M4V 1P8.

The Crownless King

By NANCY HANSCOMB

The form that stands before you,
In gaunt, tousled unkempt old,
And regarded by most as just a vagabond,
You'd find in any town,
But he's much more than that
I'm told,
He's really a King without a crown.

By your expression, you seem amazed,
Just how he makes a title so high,
So, here is where a true story begins,
About Old Sid, when he was in His prime,
He was the very pastimes hardest fairly run,
The war was well underway,
When a handsome young gent,
Enlisted, in his town, near Chaleur Bay.

He knew the dangers war in theirs,
For by now, many King had been taken away,
But he wanted so much to fight for his country,
And the dread must be left back near Chaleur Bay.

Set soon received orders from his superiors right,
The target was spotted, near Germany, by daylight,
The squad of airplanes neared over head,
And at about 'bout 3 was full Dagrees,
Although your twenty three and some months old,
He looked like a veteran an, alert by his guess,

They soon reached the target and all was set,
But the enemy were waiting for Sid and his friends,
Unaware of the intrusion of their mission that day,
all but three planes made it and one was Sid Dagrees.

He was then taken captive for a very long stay,
Bewildered, mistreated but still did not say,
Where his comrades were located and what was their aims,
Dear God, what a hero, some one you'd never resent.

Then the war was over, and all were sent home,
And Sid got his freedom from his hell of torment,
Though no bugles were sounding, no twenty-gun salute,
He returned in silence, to live a life of resent.

Not one person understood him,
Or cared what he felt,
He was very soon forgotten,
For the time he served in hell.

So, today in proud reverence he stands,
With only bitter memories,
And bows his head on Nov. 11,
For the two-minute silent span.

He displays the well-deserved medals,
That are tarnished by the years,
Now are you not proud to call him King,
If you can through your shameful tears?

In City To Attend Annual CRA Session

National president of the 4200-member Canadian Restaurant Association, Donald Cutler, is in Bathurst today (Wednesday) attending the annual meeting and educational sessions of the New Brunswick Branch of the CRA.

Mr. Cutler's election to the post follows a lifelong dedication to excellence in the food and beverage industry. A past president of the Calgary and District Zone 2, and former vice-president of the association's Alberta region, Mr. Cutler comes to the president's office after serving as national first vice-president in 1975-76.

As CRA's membership chairman for 1975-76, Mr. Cutler played an active role in the organization of the association's current 16-month membership campaign. A total of 347 new members have joined the CRA during the 1975-76 year, and the association has recorded a higher membership during this period than ever before.

The membership campaign has been highlighted by a series of five draws for return flights to the 1976 Culinary Olympics staged in Frankfurt, Germany this fall.

Mr. Cutler, 1969 Canadian Chef of the Year, began a 30 year affiliation with Canadian Pacific Hotels in Winnipeg in 1945 after business administration studies. He completed his apprenticeship with Canadian Pacific in 1947 and was promoted to chef in 1952. Mr. Cutler occupied various executive positions with CP before leaving the company in 1975 to become general manager of the St. Charles Country Club in Winnipeg.

His professional accomplishments included the inauguration and management of food and beverage services at Vancouver's $10-million Granville Square Complex. As well, he took an active part in the organization of Palliser Square in Calgary.

Ford of Canada proudly announces

THE FORD DURAGUARD SYSTEM.

Including a new, 36 month, unlimited mileage warranty against rust perforation.

THE FORD DURAGUARD SYSTEM.

Here's what it's all about.

The new DURAGUARD SYSTEM is what goes into every 1977 North American built Ford and Mercury car to give you the most advanced corrosion resistance system we've ever offered.

The DURAGUARD SYSTEM is built in at the factory. And it's standard equipment on every model.

Read how the increased use of anti-rust processes has enabled Ford of Canada to offer an unprecedented 36 month, unlimited mileage warranty against rust perforation.

Then read the warranty. And believe.

Greatly increased use of precoated steel.

The average use per car of precoated steel for the 1977 cars built by Ford is more than doubled over 1976.

Precoated steel is a well-recognized rust inhibiting technique. You'll find it in many key areas of our cars, providing an effective defence against the moisture and other corrosive elements with which every Canadian car must contend.

New protective vinyl coating.

For the first time, all Ford and Mercury cars will feature a newly developed vinyl coating behind the wheel openings. Look for it. It's a special, resilient coating that goes on under the paint to reduce the effect of stone chipping and road abrasives kicked up by the tires.

It's standard equipment. And, of all North American manufacturers, only Ford of Canada has it on all models.

Every car gets vinyl sealer.

On seams between panels. Inside wheel housings. On the underbody. Strong and sealer creates a guaranteed barrier against rust in many important areas on each and every 1977 North American built Ford and Mercury car.

It works.

And asphalt coating.

It's tough. Tough enough to help protect your car. That's why all 1977 models have an asphalt coating brushed on the rear outer wheel house, at the wheel opening, to supplement the sprayed on vinyl sealer.

You can depend on it.

Galvanized steel.

Ford and Mercury cars have this well-known rust inhibitor where it matters most. In rocker panels, critical underbody parts and other extra-vulnerable spots.

Zinc Rich Primer.

Think of Zinc Rich Primer as an undercoat of protection. It gets hand-sprayed onto key surfaces of all North American Ford and Mercury cars during assembly to assist in rust prevention with its well known protective qualities.

Aluminized wax.

Aluminized wax is a protective compound that goes into places where moisture may accumulate, such as inside the lower portions of doors and tailgates.

It goes on thick and stays on to isolate the steel from corrosive elements in the moisture.

The finishing touch.

The finish of Ford and Mercury cars plays an important part in the total corrosion control system. But it starts long before the final coat is baked on. The bare sheet metal of each car body is dipped in a phosphate bath that cleans it and leaves a treatment that enhances paint adhesion. Then the body is covered with a strong epoxy primer, either by dipping or spraying.

Three full coats of acrylic enamel are then sprayed and baked into a tough, durable, weather-resistant and glossy finish.

And there's testing. Tough testing.

The effectiveness of these rust resistance processes is determined at Ford's leading North American proving ground. Typically, the car to be tested is sprayed with a salt solution, driven through salt baths and muddy roads such as the one you see here, and placed in a heated humidity chamber for 22 hours. This grueling process is repeated 60 times to simulate prolonged exposure to the kinds of conditions we experience in Canada.

In addition, car bodies are selected at random from every North American plant, including Oakville and St. Thomas, and subjected to other rigorous salt tests.

Only Ford of Canada offers a warranty like this.

To reflect our pride and confidence in the quality, durability and anti-corrosion measures that are built into every 1977 Ford or Mercury automobile, we are proud to present this no-charge warranty. It goes along with every 1977 car we build, including taxis and police cars. And it goes to show just how good the DURAGUARD SYSTEM really is.

WARRANTY
36-month, unlimited mileage warranty against rust perforation on 1977 cars.

This warranty, transferable to succeeding owners, covers the cost of both labour and materials for repair of perforation of parts caused by corrosion. The basic 12 month/12,000 mile warranty covers corrosion, other than perforations, that is due to defective factory materials or workmanship. Ask your Ford or Mercury dealer for details.

THE FORD DURAGUARD SYSTEM

See your Ford or Mercury dealer for the cars with the DURAGUARD SYSTEM.

All Ford North American built 1977 carlines receive all of these processes in the DURAGUARD SYSTEM. Every car receives a combination of anti-corrosion processes which is appropriate to its design, although not all carlines receive the same processes in corresponding areas. Every car has the DURAGUARD SYSTEM.

Ford

Quality. Reliability. Durability.
At Ford of Canada, it's a lasting commitment.

Little Flower Council Plans Christmas Projects

The monthly meeting of Little Flower Council, Catholic Women's League held Nov. 1 was chaired by the president, Mrs. Aloysius Lavigne. Opening prayer for the sick and special intentions were recited.

In the absence of the secretary and the treasurer, Mrs. Connie Doucet read the minutes and Miss Helen Thibodeau gave the financial report.

Mrs. William Smith, organization convener, continued with a series of study on convenership, including for this meeting, Christian Family Life covering the subjects of vocations, family life, Girl Guides and youth. This was followed by an informative question and answer period.

Mrs. George Hussey, convener, gave a brief on communications and public relations, stressing more communication between conveners and members.

Mrs. Hussey said members who were too busy to get involved in convenership could make a contribution by just talking to non-members about the good work of the league.

The message, was put in poetic form as follows:

Once there was a member who had so much work to do,
She couldn't take a convener ship but would do something new.
She had a gift for talking,
she didn't criticize or knock,
but encouraged all non-members with her talk and talk' and talk'.
She said she'd build an image that would stand firm as rock.
Go out and find new members, with her talk' and talk' and talk'
God gives us each a talent
We sometimes think it's small
But the smallest one we work at is the biggest after all.
Let us use God's gift to us,
don't keep it under lock CWL will thrive and live if we just talk' and talk' and talk'.

Community life convener Mrs. Elmer Lavigne reported on hospital visits, food given to benefit families and services of transportation and baby-sitting.

Mrs. Doran Melanson and Mrs. John Cormier made the monthly visits to the sick and shut-ins at home.

The president read a brief from the provincial president, Mrs. C. O. Morris, Riverview, concerning reports from four workshops and an outline of the panel from social services.

The president also gave highlights of the provincial semi-annual meeting held at Dieppe Oct. 2.

Plans were made for the Christmas social to take place following the December meeting. Members are to be contacted later by the telephone committee.

Tickets for the turkey and fruit cake draw were distributed to members by Mrs. William L. Lavigne, ways and means convener.

Hostesses for lunch were Mrs. Danny DeGrace and Mrs. Emily Boudreau.

Volunteers for the November visiting committee are Mrs. William T. Lavigne and Mrs. Elmer Lavigne.

"Mission Is..." Program Topic

Seven members attended the regular monthly meeting of the R.E.D. branch of Anglican Church Women on Oct. 27.

The treasurer's report given by Mrs. Ed Carroll showed a balance on hand of $69.70.

During the business session, it was decided the R.E.D. branch would be unable to extend an invitation to the Diocesan executive to hold the 1977 A.C.W. Diocesan annual here at St. George's.

A committee under the leadership of Mrs. Kenneth Knowles was formed to coordinate plans for the rummage sale on Nov. 6.

A short discussion on the "municipal plan review" to be answered by the group took place.

Nov. 17 was set as tentative date for the annual meeting of the R.E.D. branch.

Mrs. Homer Hills gave a brief report on the anniversary committee which is in charge of planning events for St. George's anniversary year.

Following adjournment, a mini session program on "Mission Is..." as arranged by Mrs. Brown was enjoyed by those present, after which refreshments provided by Mrs. Ellen Knowles and Mrs. Richard Lethbridge were served.

TNB Season Tickets On Sale In City

Carol Knowles was hostess for the Oct. 27 meeting of Xi Delta Chapter Beta Sigma Phi.

Information on plays scheduled for the 1977 season of Theatre New Brunswick was given by Jill White. Members were asked to prepare for the selling campaign of season tickets which will take place during November.

Compliments were extended to all members regarding a luncheon served by Margo Greenough on Oct. 20.

Marna Stothart and Cheryl Brewster discussed language and its styles as part of the chapter's new evening program centre in debating.

Mrs. Stothart explained that modern English involves a shift in emphasis from traditional composition and grammar.

Some outstanding authors are heralded today as great literary writers because of their departure from the normal organized style of the past to a new stream of consciousness style, the speaker said.

Should our children be interested in their creative efforts by the formal grammatically precise styles as taught in previous years, Mrs. Stothart asked? Maybe the new approach to English in our schools will help to show students that the reading process does not have to be a drudgery, and something to be shunned and suffered through, but that one can learn and enjoy at the same time, it was noted.

What is more important, the grammer form we use or the content, Mrs. Stothart concluded.

Mrs. Brewster, in speaking for the basics in education, went on to describe the detrimental effects this trend away from the teaching of grammar, spelling, communication skills, etc., has caused in the past decade.

The decline is based on several misunderstandings: that memorization is conditioning and therefore bad; that freedom is a matter of doing whatever you want when you want, rather than being free to know; and that leisure is the antithesis of work, rather than its complement.

Mrs. Brewster felt that the basic subject matter should have been retained with emphasis on a change of method to make it appealing.

Accurate communication comes with the ways of proper grammar, good vocabulary and confidence in one's language expression and use.

Breakdown in communication is blamed for several problems and misunderstanding between husband and wife, parents and children, employer and employee, etc.

Mrs. Brewster concluded with the thought that literacy begins at home, of course, we all know that, but do we do it all the time. It is of vital importance to your children and their future, she stated.

Cheryl was voted the winner of the program, and will go on the podium early in 1977 with Jane Hachard, winner of the debate of the previous meeting. This process of elimination will determine the outstanding presentation, and the "program of the year award."

It was at the Oct. 13 meeting that lunch was served by Judy Lanser and Mary Gavin.

The next meeting will be held Nov. 10 at the home of Mrs. Brewster.

Following adjournment, lunch was served by Carol Knowles and Gwen MacKenzie.

HONORED AT CURLERS' OPENING

The Bathurst Ladies Curling Club honored Mrs. Gordon Gammon during the official opening activities of both the men's and ladies' divisions on Oct. 30. Ladies' club president, Mrs. David Mason, right, presents Mrs. Gammon with an honorary club membership during the dinner and dance which opened the 1976-77 curling season. The honorary certificate is in recognition of Mrs. Gammon's 25 years as an active curling member. The recipient has served on different committees and held various offices in the club including that of president during the 1961-62 season.

Club Plans Xmas Party

The annual Christmas party of the Bathurst Duplicate Bridge Club will be held at Danny's Colonial House Nov. 28.

The party will include a two-session bridge event with the "Christmas Pairs Trophy" up for grabs. Defending champions are Lauretta Wedge and Ronnie Bass, the latter now being a member of the Newcastle club.

During regular weekly play Nov. 1 held at the club's new quarters, the library of the J. Gordon Chalmers School, Dr. and Mrs. K. S. Rezek were top scorers and Mrs. James Hobbs and Mrs. Yvette Kenny placed second.

Tied for third and fourth spot were Mrs. Helen Ferguson and Mrs. Martin C. Hachey, and Mrs. Ray Dube and Ray Poirier.

In the above-average bracket were Mrs. Vince Doucet and Mrs. Larry Aube, Mrs. Robert Maher and Mrs. Jean Cooper.

Social & Personal

The many friends of Miss Ellen Knowles, Clifton, are pleased to learn she is convalescing nicely after undergoing eye surgery last Thursday at Chaleur General Hospital. All extend speedy recovery wishes.

Mrs. Robert Chamberlain has returned to the city after spending two weeks at Nackawic with her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. K. (Butch) Leger.

ROAD & TRACK
MAY 1975

"The winner, and not by a hare (sorry, couldn't resist). This car does it all: it's small, light, roomy and fast, with nimble and responsive steering, ride and handling. A modern and sophisticated car with a handsome Giugiaro-designed hatchback body. The Rabbit offers one of the most space-saving mechanical layouts we've seen yet: front-wheel drive, transverse engine and a unique, independent rear suspension featuring an integral anti-roll bar and using so little space it's remarkable. The Rabbit has a solid feel and an ultramodern look to it.
Best of all it is almost sinfully enjoyable to drive."

MRS. HICKEY, FATHER HACHEY

Service To Church Is Acknowledged

Mrs. Katherine Hickey (nee LaPointe), was honored with a special presentation on Sunday, Aug. 29, at a pleasant event which took place in St. Joseph's Church at Youth Creek. This was the anniversary of church work done by Mrs. Hickey who always participates, too, in the services of neighbouring parishes.

Sixty years is a long time to be connected with choirs, parties, funerals and other church functions. Many times Mrs. Hickey walked five miles to help out a neighboring parish.

Rev. Alphonse Hachey, parish priest, on the occasion, presented Mrs. Hickey with a certificate from Pope Paul VI, a rare gift in these troubled times. This certificate contained the Pope's Blessing and good wishes for her dedication to the work of the church during the past 60 years.

At the age of 75, Mrs. Hickey is very active in knitting, crocheting, cooking, and still attends the choir. She is very punctual and she oversees the cleanliness of the church before mass begins. To the best of her knowledge, she never has missed mass on Sunday.

At this special function, Mrs. Hickey was presented also with a charm bracelet showing the esteem that her co-workers thought of her many duties willingly done with indicates what a faithful adherent to a church can accomplish.

St. Joseph's is the oldest church of wooden structure on the North Shore. The little vestry was begun in 1826 to which needed parts were added as years passed. It was completed in 1868. As seen today, the building is over 110 years old.

The structure of the church is artistic and admired by strangers as well as the parishioners of many years.

Mrs. Hickey is a descendant of the pioneer who owned the land on which the church was built.

Silver Anniversary Observed At Clifton

A pleasant evening was enjoyed recently at Centre-Ludlow Hall, Clifton, when about 60 relatives and friends gathered to honor Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Wise upon the occasion of their silver wedding anniversary.

Irvin Wiseman, son of Mrs. Edward Wiseman and the late Mr. Wiseman, and Emily Scott, the daughter of Mrs. Mabel M. Scott and the late Mr. Scott, were married on Oct. 6, 1951 at the United Church Manse. Rev. R. P. Thompson officiated.

Their attendants, 25 years ago, were Phyllis (now Mrs. Gordon Ellis) and the late Earl Daley.

Attendants for anniversary function were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Ellis.

Emily wore a beige, long-sleeved dress and a corsage of pink roses which were pinned by her daughter, Isabel Irvin's boutonniere was pinned by their son, Owen.

The attendant, Norma Ellis, wore a green suit and a corsage of yellow roses. Boutonnieres worn by Irvin and Gordon were white carnations.

The hall was beautifully decorated with yellow and white streamers and white bells. The bride's cake was three-tiered and decorated with yellow rosebuds, yellow and white flowers and net around the base, and topped with a silver "25" and yellow flowers.

Rev. R. G. MacKenzie was master of ceremonies for the evening. A sing-song was held with Mrs. George Ellis as organist.

During the singing of "My Old Brown Coat", Keith Wiseman entered the hall wearing an old brown coat and top hat. He was followed by Emily's brother Francis and wife Peggy, the former dressing in a black suit and the latter in the wedding dress worn by the bride 25 years ago, a gown of royal blue with black velvet overlay.

On their appearance, William Wiseman presented Mr. and Mrs. Scott with a gift of tin to mark the occasion of their own 10th wedding anniversary.

Elmer Scott, brother of the bride, rendered "How Great Thou Art."

The guest book was circulated by Isabel Wiseman.

Many beautiful gifts were received by the honored couple and included a bowl of money which was presented by Emily's sister Mrs. Byron Wiseman (Fern).

A delicious lunch was served by the ladies later in the evening.

Those attending from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. Garney Wiseman and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Scott and son Keith all of Moncton.

Project Plans Are Completed

Mrs. W. N. Taylor was hostess at her home, 1286 St. Joseph Ave., for the Nov. 2 meeting of Nicolas Denys Chapter, I.O.D.E. Assisting her were Mrs. Carl Hills and Mrs. W. C. Barbery.

Regular business was dealt with and plans were completed for the annual sale of knitting, sewing, food, and other items to be held at Loomobury's Motor Division Fri., Nov. 26, beginning at 11 a.m. Members will also be selling tickets on a ceramic Christmas tree to be drawn Dec. 10.

Four members, Mrs. G. P. Milton, Mrs. R. B. Sullivan, Mrs. S. E. Peterson and Miss E. V. Ellis attended the provincial annual meeting at Oromocto Oct. 19-20.

A letter of thanks for a donation of pillows and jams sent to Clark House was received.

Members were reminded of the Remembrance Day service and that the flags would be carried.

A provincial paper on the progress of the work in New Brunswick concerning children with learning disabilities, a program which the IODE supports, was read by Mrs. Fred Comeau.

Miss Jean McKie won the mystery box donated by Mrs. Jean Coffyn.

Members of the December committee are Mrs. Ian Tower, Miss Jean McKie and Mrs. R. B. Sullivan.

Following adjournment with the prayer for the Queen and Canada, lunch was served by the hostesses.

Mrs. Bert Wallace was appointed second vice-president of the provincial organization at the annual meeting of officers and delegates held in Fredericton earlier this year. With this office, Mrs. Wallace is automatically provincial zone chairman for high school curling.

A former president of Bathurst Ladies Curling Club, Mrs. Wallace has served on many committees including that of mixed curling events. She has also chaired the local family banspiels held during the Christmas and Easter seasons for a number of years.

Kinettes Plan "Fur Dinner"

The 1976-77 Kinette year now is well underway having begun with the Oct. 23 rummage sale. This was a successful affair once again, due to the great public support which this annual project always receives.

As in the past, all proceeds evolving from this sale will be going towards community service work.

The club again this year is providing transportation service to the members of the Canadian Council of the Blind Bathurst Club. The Kinettes assure cars are available for weekly bowling events as well as monthly meetings whenever such services are required.

November undoubtedly will prove to be one of the busiest months for the Kinettes, mainly because of the necessary preliminary preparations for a "Fur Dinner" to be held Nov. 18.

It is hoped all those in attendance will find the evening highly entertaining, thus allowing the Kinettes to consider this a first, but certainly not the last, dinner of this kind.

CWL Group Will Distribute Envelopes To Parish Homes

The Ladies of Holy Rosary Council Catholic Women's League have undertaken to distribute the 1977 church envelopes throughout Our Lady of the Rosary parish during the month of November.

The decision was made at the monthly meeting of the council held in the church hall Nov. 4. Members will deliver the boxes of envelopes to the homes.

The meeting opened, following a mass celebrated by the pastor, Rev. J. W. Hunter, with the League prayer and scripture reading. The minutes were approved and treasurer's report adopted.

Convenors' reports included plans for the special Christmas Eve family mass.

Holy Family Council members have been invited to attend the December meeting which will include a special guest speaker.

Mrs. Pat Meehan, newly appointed Girl Guide District Commissioner, was the evening's special guest. She spoke about the Guide Movement, explaining the new program, Discovery, which is divided into four categories, world, community, home and outdoors.

Mrs. Meehan said a resource committee is needed for the area and requested help from the council. Especially needed was a committee to obtain a list of willing resource people to assist Guiders and Cubbies in their badge work as related to the above listed categories. She also mentioned she will be approaching other organizations for assistance.

The meeting adjourned with a prayer, followed by lunch.

Girls Entertain Senior Citizens

The C.G.I.T. of Central United Church in Clifton is in full swing again for another year with 30 girls in the group. The three leaders are Mrs. Margaret Sealy, Mrs. Peggy Augee and Mrs. Ennis Wiseman.

The annual tea for senior citizens was held Jan. 30 when about 70 guests attended.

For the occasion, the church hall was decorated with orange and brown streamers, also the head table for guests over the 80-year mark. There were nine seated at this table.

Centrepieces were mainly cattails in vases sprayed with orange and brown paint.

Mrs. Sealy extended warm words of welcome and read a story entitled The Little Red School House.

Mrs. Wiseman served as emcee for the program which included the CGIT theme and purpose. Other hymns, skits and piano accordion and ukulele music was prepared by the girls.

Bonnie Hulbert, one of the seniors, was organist for the girls. For requested hymns from the guests, Mrs. Vera Wood played the organ and Brenda Chapman was accordionist.

Mrs. Russell Buttimer asked the blessing, after which a lovely lunch was served by the CGIT, assisted by Mrs. Mildred Sealy, Mrs. Eileen Augee and Vera and Brenda.

On behalf of all the guests, Cecil Daley thanked the leaders and girls for the delightful program, for giving of their time and the lunch all of which was enjoyed.

The function concluded with singing God Be With You Till We Meet Again.

From the CGIT rock-a-thon proceeds which was held in May, donations of $20 were made to each of the following: Cystic Fibrosis, Heart Fund, Cancer Society and C.N.I.B.

The CGIT now are in the process of adopting a "foster child."

City Salutes Fallen Soldiers

Bathurst paid tribute to war dead November 11 with a parade through downtown streets and a 15-minute service at the St. Patrick Street Cenotaph.

Veterans were joined by a large group of youths and other citizens in the march from Harbourview Boulevard to the war monument. Parade marshall was Stewart Pettigrew and master of ceremonies was Patrick McLaughlin.

The wreaths laid were from the City of Bathurst by Mayor John Duffy with Deputy Police Chief Maurice Hursley as bearer; Herman J. Gould V.C. Branch No. 18 Royal Canadian Legion by President Wilbur Elliston with Sgt.-at-Arms George Smith as bearer; Legion Ladies Auxiliary by President Mildred Taylor with Ina Pettigrew as bearer.

Second Battalion Royal New Brunswick Regiment North Shore militia by Major Norman Branch with Lieut. M.T. Gosselin as bearer; No. 256 Wing RCAF Association by Vincent Wheldon with George MacKenzie as bearer; RCAF's Ladies Auxiliary by Dona MacKenzie with Gloria McGrath as bearer.

All groups represented in the wreath laying marched in the parade as did members of No. 649 Chaleur Air Cadet squadron. Also participating were members of the Air Cadet Band, Bathurst Citizens Band and the color party of Nicholas Denys Chapter IODE.

The wreaths were placed at the cross-laden cenotaph to the skirl of bagpipes provided for the second consecutive year. Piper was John Hume and uniformed members of Bathurst City Police and Bathurst RCMP led the parade and formed a guard of honor at the war monument.

In battledress and forming the four-corner sentinel were Cpl. Kevin Jennings and Pres. Gilbert Bay, Peter Chisholm and Michael Willett of the militia. Bugler for the last post and reveille was Air Cadet Flight Sgt. Michael Turcotte.

Legion padre Rev. Ray A. Francis of First United Church led in prayer and the church choir sang O Valiant Hearts.

The ecumenical service held earlier in the morning at the local Legion branch was well attended. Mr. Francis conducted the service and passages of scripture were read by Rev. Basil Cooke of Bayview Baptist Church and Mr. Elliston, branch president.

In a brief meditation, Rev. Gregory Sampson of Holy Family Roman Catholic Church asked if death in war of the "young, the purposeful and the essential" had been worth it. He said it was comforting to think that Jesus Christ was young when he died. He, too, had finished the work given him to do.

"Yes, we went to war for man's good. We saw the excitement but we also went because freedom was threatened. We wanted to prevent the flowering of a super race whose God was themselves and whose Bible was their own ambitions," Father Sampson reminded his listeners.

He said we cannot expect evil to be thrown out of the world until we, as individuals free ourselves of evil.

Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church choir, directed by Alban Landry, led in the worship of song and the Legion color party carried out the marching on and off of the colors.

Vandalism

Curfew No Help Says City Council

Bathurst City Council once again rejected the possibility of imposing a curfew on local youth as a means of curbing increasing vandalism in the downtown area.

The matter was brought to the council table in the form of a letter from District No. 4 School Board. It described recent vandalism as a shameful waste of money and voiced support for a curfew, drawing council's attention to "a lack of patrolling of city schools by the police department." The board asked that council do its utmost to rectify the situation immediately, pointed out the district schools had suffered $33,500 in wilful damage last year.

Deputy Mayor Patrick McLaughlin began the discussion by taking exception to the board's letter. He pointed out that the police do not have time to patrol schools regularly, and strongly objected to the trustees' statements.

Councillor Jean Paul Lavoie said he could not see punishing all children in the city because of the actions of "five or ten". He wanted to know how much of the damage done to the schools had been to buildings within the city itself.

Ryan Ward Councillor Henry Murphy, however, wondered when the destruction would end. "I'm beginning to think the police are scared of the people who are kicking out doors and windows every night. Where are our policemen when these things are happening, and why can't they catch them?"

Coun. Murphy later retracted his statements, though, saying he had been "a bit carried away. It's getting hard to face people on the street, and I'm just echoing the thoughts of others."

Coun. Terry Lenihan pointed out that some of the recent "ridiculous and stupid" acts were being carried out, not by teens or young adults, but by people in the 45-50 age group... "working adults with families."

Voicing his support for a curfew for the second time around was Coun. Douglas Williamson. "The money spent by the School Board to repair damages could have been used to employ two teachers for a year. This vandalism must stop. A curfew should be enforced."

Council then read a memo from Acting Police Chief Maurice Hursley regarding vandalism on Hallowe'en night and describing measures taken to patrol city streets effectively. In all, 20 policeman, five auxiliary men and 18 members of the local Citizens Band Club worked together until midnight, and seven policemen plus the C.B. volunteers were on duty from midnight to 6 a.m.

A total of ten businesses, all in the downtown core, received broken windows during the course of the night. No arrests had been made and questioning is continuing.

Commenting on the problem, Coun. Joe MacNeil felt a curfew would be "self-defeating. We would have to have 60 men enforcing the curfew alone. How would we handle nights when the kids come home late from skating?"

Mr. MacNeil was also concerned that a curfew would allow police to stop and search for no reason other than that a youngster was out past the designated hour. "We must ask ourselves whether we want our children subjected to this. It may have been okay years ago when children and policemen had a better relationship, but not now."

Coun. MacNeil did say, however, that the policemen were not afraid of their duties, and he congratulated Deputy Chief Hursley for his work in the department.

Coun. James MacLaggan agreed, saying a curfew must be well-planned and involve parents as well.

He moved that council find out the extent of damage to schools within the city to determine whether the lack of patrols is responsible for high repair costs.

Councillors unanimously supported the motion, and also endorsed the suggestion that foot patrols be re-introduced in the city.

GAIL THE GREATEST

She didn't get the title, nor did she even place among the eight finalists, but the hundreds of Bathurst television viewers who followed the Miss Canada Pageant Tuesday night were mighty proud of their candidate, Gail Knowles.

Maybe we're prejudiced, but to us Gail looked as good, if not better, and performed as well as any of the 27 entrants. She was indeed a worthy representative of her home city and province.

The outcome of the contest would have been even more disappointing to Gail, of course, than to her backers. But it did have some compensations, plus memories to come after. These include a scholarship and other gifts and making the front page of the Toronto dailies, which doesn't happen to everyone.

She and her colleagues were shown as they braved the near-freezing temperatures to parade around the outdoor pool at the Prince Hotel where they were staying. Gail and Miss Saskatoon, Yvonne Foster, who turned out to be Miss Canada 1976, actually took a dip.

The Northern Light joins the many friends and admirers of our girl in Toronto in saying: "Good show, Gail, you can't win 'em all, and better luck next time!"

Move Said Pre-Mature; Drive To Remain Open

Bathurst City Council has decided not to go ahead with plans to close a section of Burns Drive between St. John and Munro Streets to traffic.

At Monday night's regular meeting of council, a total of five objections from private citizens as well as a petition signed by 81 residents of the area in question were heard.

All objections voiced concern for increased traffic congestion of King Avenue, and predicted severe problems because of icy streets during winter months.

Councillors agreed that the passing of the amendment should be put off in light of the strong opposition to the move.

However, Coun. Robert Hodgins pointed out that the section is destined to be closed anyway when construction begins on the extension to Bathurst High School. "Obviously, these residents are not aware of that."

Coun. Joe MacNeil pointed out that the city had already agreed to the closing of that section when the extension is built, and he expressed fear that any reluctance on the part of the city to do so might result in the loss of the project altogether. "One of the reasons we agreed to close it at this time was to determine traffic patterns for the future", he remarked.

Coun. James MacLaggan felt that the buses themselves were the cause of traffic problems. "We should look further into the possibility of having a holding area for buses near the Exhibition Building. Buses could use Demeresque Street as an entrance, and only a limited number of vehicles would be permitted to load and unload at one time." He felt the decision to close the street was premature.

Coun. MacNeil finally moved to take the matter to committee-of-the-whole for further discussion before any concrete decision is made.

Population Down By 612

According to figures tabulated in the June 1 Canada-wide census, the population of Bathurst had decreased by 612 people over the past five years.

City Council was told Monday night that while census figures showed the city with a population of 16,062, the number of houses in the municipality increased by 678.

It was pointed out that the decrease in population will make it even tougher to obtain government grants in the future.

Council has decided to support Gloucester MP Herb Breau in his objections to the closing of the CN Telecommunications office in Bathurst.

The subject was broached in a letter from regional CN manager P. Lamarche who gave increased operating costs and a decline in telegram traffic as the reasons for closure. He pointed out that toll-free telephone service in both French and English will be extended on a 24-hour basis to the Bathurst population.

However, Mayor John A. Duffy felt that the volume of traffic had not decreased enough to warrant elimination of the service, and stated it would be missed.

Councillors decided to back Mr. Breau in his attempts to retain the service.

The city will not award a contract for snow removal at the Bathurst Municipal Airport in view of the termination of air service by Atlantic Central Airlines. If another service is introduced in the coming months, it was noted, the contract will be re-negotiated.

Decision On Road Pending

A request from Brunswick Mining and Smelting Corp. Ltd. and Local 5385, United Steelworkers of America for City Council's support for a new road between the city and No. 12 mineshe was tabled Monday night pending more information on the project.

Mine manager John Moerman in letter to council advised that the project had already been turned down by the provincial government because of the unavailability of funds. However, he said, the two parties are attempting to gain public support in order to have the government reconsider its position.

He noted the travel distance to the mineshe would be reduced 10.4 miles per round trip, the chance of accidents would be reduced as the new road would bypass built-up areas, and spring load restrictions would no longer be a problem.

Coun. Joe MacNeil wanted to know where the highway would be located, and whether or not such a project would take funds away from the city's five-year program for designated highways.

City Manager Pierre Marquis said while he wasn't sure where the road would be situated, he felt the city could not support the idea until designated highways within city boundaries are taken care of first.

Coun. Terry Lenihan remarked that the province was to blame for the build-up of houses to the south of the city. "It is through lack of restraint that we have the existing situation. Soon, because there are no rules governing development, there will be houses all the way to the mineshe.

"It is not the highway but the houses that are the problem. The growth should be directed inside the city, not outside."

Coun. Jean Paul Lavoie regarded the idea of a new road as a good one, and suggested the industries utilizing the highway apply pressure to the highways department.

Council agreed to hold back on a decision of support until more information as to location is received.

Contract Talks, Arena Irk City Councillors

A draft resolution introduced at the Monday night meeting of Bathurst City Council by which the city would participate in the Labour Relations Bureau funded by the Six Cities of New Brunswick Association and the province has been tabled pending receipt of more information.

Councillor Robert Hodgins pointed out that the city would be entering into negotiations soon with the civic unions, and he wanted to know if a negotiator from the bureau would handle the talks.

City Manager Pierre Marquis explained, however, that the purpose of the bureau was to gather data and assist with information. It could provide a negotiating team in the future, he said, but not at the present time.

Coun. Hodgins, along with Councillors Jean Paul Lavoie and Valmond Saulnier, said they had been under the impression the bureau would provide negotiators to handle bargaining.

Coun. Jim MacLaggan said he could not support the resolution until more information about the labor bureau is forthcoming, and councillors voted to table the matter.

Coun. Joe MacNeil abstained from voting as he had already rejected the idea in committee-of-the-whole.

PROBLEMS BEGIN

With the skating season little more than a month old, City Council is already experiencing difficulty at Bathurst Arena.

City Manager Marquis was asked Monday to look into the possibility of having two skating periods of one-and-one-half hours each on Friday nights rather than one period of three hours. This would be to eliminate having very large crowds of children using the arena at one time, such as last weekend when as many as 1000 children were said to be on the ice together.

Problems at the arena were brought to light by Coun. Hodgins who reported complaints that approximately 500 children attended Wednesday night adult skating last week. Several other councillors told of similar complaints.

Mr. Marquis explained the situation was because of the Remembrance Day holiday on Thursday, at the same time informing council that it was very difficult to hire staff who would provide adequate supervision for the rink.

North Getting Unfair Deal?

A move by the N.B. Transportation Department to increase lane mile rates for maintenance on designated highways was criticized by Bathurst City Council Monday.

The increases, from $250 to $280 per lane mile for summer maintenance and $1250 to $1432 in winter, were announced in a letter from Deputy Minister E. G. Allen.

City Manager Pierre Marquis noted that the old rates had been established in 1974, and were uniform across the province. He said the province justified equal rates by saying Southern N.B. received much more rain than did the north.

However, Coun. Jean Paul Lavoie felt the policy was unfair. "Winters are more severe in this region than in the south and the province is aware of that." He suggested the problem be discussed with the other northern cities of Edmundston and Campbellton to determine what can be done.

In other business, council will meet in special session within the next few weeks to discuss the H.R.T. application to the province for stimulation grants.

In a letter from Municipal Affairs Minister Horace B. Smith, council was informed that application for assistance must be submitted prior to December 31, and water and sewage system projects would

The general feeling was that youths under the age of 19 should not be permitted in the arena on designated adult nights.

San Club In City Sunday

Fresh from a highly successful performance in their home base of Chatham, the Miramichi Sanatoria Entertainment Club comes to Bathurst next Sunday, November 21.

The two-hour variety show by amateur artists with professional ability is slated for Negaunee High School Auditorium. Curtain time is 8:00 p.m.

Pioneer performers with the troupe since it was organized in 1948 will be joined on stage by newer and younger musicians, singers, dancers, comedians and what have you. Veteran Emcee Vince Muise again will be handling the mike.

A quick perusal of the program reveals that Joe MacDonald directs the back-up band with Ernie Taylor as country vocalist. Ian Muise provides at the Hammond organ. Jimmy Lawlor is a Lawrence Welk stylist.

There is also young Wayne Carter, who was with Jim Ringo early during the school holidays and who will be gunning the new Ring Osborne television show; Al McLaughlin, violinist; Lil Murdoch, pianist; Patty Michaud and Toby Lamkey, soloists with special appeal for the younger generation; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Walsh, who were voted the best waltz team during this year's "Pioneer Days" at Chatham.

Eaton gets a generous slice of the limelight time, with four acts presented by classes from both the Miramichi and Bathurst areas. Headlining this series are Joanne Trahan and Jeanette Arseneau of the Karsavik School of Dancing and Baton.

An undisputed star of the show is Roger Comeau, who presents a tap-dance number on roller skates which even Arthur Duncan of the Lawrence Welk Show has been able to accomplish.

Among original Sanatoria Club favourites who are sure of a great ovation are Billy Savoy and Bob Currie.

It's the North Shore Shrine Club which is bringing the Miramichi folks to Bathurst. Proceeds go to the Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children. Tickets are available from club members or at the door.

Residential Rental Hikes Are Explained

The prescribed permissible residential rent increases for the period Oct. 24, 1976 to Oct. 23, 1977 have been explained by Justice Minister Paul S. Creaghan.

The maximum increase in rent which will be approved by the rent review officer without requiring an investigation will be 6 per cent in instances where the tenant assumes cost of heating the premises. In residential premises where the cost of heating is undertaken by the landlord and is included in the rental payment an increase in rent of 7 per cent will be permitted without further investigation by the rent review officer.

However, Mr. Creaghan pointed that all rental increases are subject to the provision that the landlord must give the tenant and rent review officer three months notice prior to the effective date of the proposed increase and at least twelve months must have passed since the effective date of the last rental increase.

"Providing that the rate of inflation stabilizes or diminishes somewhat over the next twelve months these increases should adequately ensure that the landlord can continue to maintain the present level of services and adequately compensate for cost increases that have occurred and will continue to occur over the upcoming year," Mr. Creaghan said.

"This year, because of the impending reassessment of the cities, towns and villages the unknown cost increase, if there is one, will be real property taxes. As a result the landlord, upon consultation with the rent review officer, may, upon terms and conditions specified by the rent review officer, pass through the increase in property taxes for the year 1977 over 1976, in addition to the permissible rent increases. The actual taxes for individual properties will not be known until March 1, 1977."

Any residential rent increase that occurs without the written approval of a rent review officer is illegal and subject to roll back or other penalty under the Act.

"It is expected that both landlords and tenants are aware of the rationale for such controls and conduct their affairs within the spirit and intent of the Act," Mr. Creaghan said.

Home-School Hears History Of Superior

Superior School — past and present — highlighted the first meeting of the Superior Home and School Association.

The presentation, prepared by program chairman Mrs. Alma Lagace, offered a very interesting and informative history of Superior School. One interesting fact brought to light was the reason for the name Superior School. In earlier days, a school designated "superior" got more operating money from the government because it was graded one to eleven and allowed students from other areas to attend without tuition. It was also noted the school has been in existence for over 100 years.

Mrs. Lagace acknowledge the help received from Dr. Ralph C. Chalmers, retired United Church minister, author and former Superior School student from 1904 - 1912. Dr. Chalmers, who was present at the meeting, related many fond memories of both teachers and students.

Assistance was also forthcoming from Dr. J. E. Furst, a retired educator, principal and superintendent of schools, and from Angus Branch. These men provided information and pictures used in the presentation.

A very large turnout was on hand for the meeting. The association's first executive was installed in a moving program by Mrs. Isabel MacLaggan, a past director of the New Brunswick Home and School Federation, who expressed satisfaction at the operation of the group in the city.

General business then followed, with reports from the treasurer and membership committee. Jim Pickard, co-chairman of the ways and means committee, mentioned plans for a Christmas tree cutting and selling operation to raise money for the association.

The Ways and Means committee would also like to inform its members that Dominion Store sales slips are now being saved by students, and could be sent via the children or brought directly to the school.

President Hugh Campbell presented to the meeting the activities of the executive since formation of the association, and asked for a motion from the membership to make a presentation at the next School Board meeting. The motion was passed, and a brief will be presented at the Nov. 25 meeting.

The school's Student Council was introduced to the meeting by Mr. Campbell, who chaired the meeting. They were asked to prepare their views on what they wanted for Superior for the next meeting.

Volunteers were requested to help membership chairman Vam Radhakrishna, and Francis Goguen and Mrs. Mark Chiasson offered their services. Anyone wishing to join the association is asked to come to the next meeting on December 14 at 7:30 p.m. or to contact Mr. Radhakrishna at 548-3394.

Mrs. J. L. Plewes and Mrs. Kathy Brown volunteered to form a library committee to pick up and transport donated books to the school library. Arrangements to have books picked up can be made by calling 548-9812.

Following adjournment of the meeting, coffee was served by the students.

Transportation Crisis Concerns Local Chamber

With the recent air transportation crisis in the North Shore, the Bathurst Chamber of Commerce feels that a policy conference of municipal provincial and government representatives must be initiated soon before a crisis situation turns into chaos. Following is a news release on transportation issued by the chamber this week.

"Recent reports of the Air Transport Association by the president of Air Canada indicated that only small air lines would have a collective profit in 1975. E.P.A. is presently receiving 1.7 million dollars in subsidy from the Federal Government out of a $2 million available to similar airline yet they are in financial straits according to their recent financial statements.

"The Minister of Transport has been trying to implement rail passenger service. The heavy federal subsidies are expected to rise as much as $400 million by 1980 without their changes. There is a $30 million three year program afoot to place a high speed train service between Montreal and Quebec City. In the Atlantic region, C.N.'s operation loses 13 cents per passenger mile, about the same as its transcontinental with a loss of $22 million, taking up 57 percent of the total federal subsidy. With the "user pay" policy presently being instigated by the federal government, C.N. may very well do away with the sleeping car, meaning all-coach transcontinental, and any budget-cutting or improvement of services in rail transportation will undoubtedly hurt the Atlantic Provinces.

Furthermore, the new post administration policy announced by the Minister of Transport will have a beneficial effect on Saint John and Halifax but unfortunately the port of Belledune will have to continue to cope with the National Port Commission which means no local input in running the ports. Undoubtedly, complaints will continue as to bureaucratic slowness.

The highway system in New Brunswick is slowly catching up to the industrial requirement, but there must be a long term federal-provincial agreement before this problem can be considered settled. However, highways, as other forms of Atlantic transportation, have always been regulated to the lowest part of the totem pole in northeastern New Brunswick.

Commercial transportation costs on the highways is finding itself being forced to rise more and more not only for the rising fuel prices, lack of sufferance warehouses, the highway conditions and the 25 percent provincial surtax on transportation throughout New Brunswick. In addition the spending restraint program announced by the government almost a year ago approximated 25 percent of the reduction in transportation spending was in respect of the Atlantic region. The railways and the ferries announced substantial increase. This increases the price of products, the delivered cost, thereby losing the competitiveness of a product in the market place compared to Central Canada.

The North Shore region is definitely taking a backwards step in the transportation policy. The C.N.R. telegraph office is to be closed at the end of the year, announced freight increases of 10 percent on local metal commodities for our mines brings less profit; air transportation has been garrotted by all level of government the only North Shore bus transport run exists between Newcastle and Campbellton at inconvenient times.

Historically, the above remarks are not surprising but the federal government's "user pay" policy will strangle economic development, especially in the North Shore. This was never the federal policy when it built the C.N. railway out West, the St. Lawrence Seaway, Mirabel Airport, or Charlo Airport, yet political reasons, not economic changes ruled the day.

The Bathurst Chamber of Commerce urges the government to stop the continuing isolation of the North Shore in all transportation sectors. Otherwise, sound business decisions in the growth of the area will continually be lost in the political arenas of Ottawa and Fredericton.

be given priority.

Coun. Terry Lenihan pointed out that since amalgamated cities receive the most help under the grant structure, the municipality should stress the suffering experienced through growing pains since the 1966 amalgamation.

A letter was received from G. W. Robinson of the Department of Education advising the final draft of an agreement between the province and the city regarding the proposed extension to Bathurst High will be forwarded to Bathurst for review as soon as possible. Arrangements will then be made for obtaining the required signatures.

Cancer Campaign Well-Supported

The Bathurst Unit of the Canadian Cancer Society would like to thank the citizens of the City of Bathurst and residents of the outlying areas, including Big River, Rough Waters, Downshore, North and South Teteagouche, all of whom helped in reaching the objective set for the 1976 Campaign.

The business and professional communities were also generous contributors.

The set quota was $2,800 and the campaign raised [illegible]. Receipts from memorials reached $2,237.00 for a grand total of $6,408.47.

Thanks are also extended to the canvassers and members of the executive who worked so hard to reach this record, and to Mrs. Noel Cormier for the use of rooms in Holy Family Parish.

The local unit is seeking new members and workers for the next campaign and persons to fill vacancies on the executive. Those interested are kindly asked to contact James De Wolfe, treasurer, 345 Hennessy St., phone 548-4803, or Douglas Williamson, president, 390 Hennessy St., phone 548-6502.

He is a Presbyterian, she belongs to the United Church, and both attended Baptist services while enrolled at university in Guelph, Ont. Furthermore, their 3-year stint abroad is sponsored by the Mennonite Central Committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Sutherland, who recently wound up a farewell visit with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Walsh, of South Tetagouche, are at present in Akron, Pa. visiting for their working visas.

On reaching their destination, before settling down to actual work for a 'client-stipend' among the people there, the adventuresome pair will have to learn the language of the particular area in which they will be located.

The whole thing is a challenge, they do admit, but they are looking forward with keen anticipation to the new experiences facing them.

ALL IN THE FAMILY

Gilles Wasse, until now best known in Bathurst as a golf pro, is back in the city in an entirely different capacity. He is joining his in-laws, Hunt and Dave Ferguson in the insurance business.

Until recently, Mr. and Mrs. Wasse (the former Linda Ferguson) have been residing in Laval, P.Q.

Gilles is fluently bilingual, and it was a mutual decision among him and his new associates that he should return to Bathurst. In this way, the group's French - speaking clients can be more adequately served.

Named To Posts In Sports Hall

Three new members have been named to the board of the New Brunswick Sports Hall of Fame to replace three others whose two-year terms of office have expired. It was announced November 12 by Jean-Pierre Ouellet, minister of Youth, Recreation and Cultural Resources.

The new members are Mrs. Jeanne Thurrott, Moncton; Roger Nadeau, Edmundston and James MacLaggan, Bathurst. They are replacing Earl Rose of Saint John who has been serving as the board's chairman, Dr. Don Vautour, Dalhousie and Tim Rose of Fredericton.

One of the first orders of business for the re-constituted board when it meets in early December will be the selection of a new chairman from among its members.

Mr. Ouellet paid tribute to the retiring members by saying that the department and all New Brunswickers with an interest in sports and recreation owe them a debt of gratitude for their contributions to the continued operation of the Hall of Fame.

Among other items of business facing the new board at its first meeting will be the selection of two of its members to sit on the selection committee for Hall of Fame inductees. The new members will be replacing Peter Keilty, formerly of Saint John and now of Montreal, and Huntly Ferguson of Bathurst.

The board will also be considering a schedule for the nomination, review and selection of the 1977 Hall of Fame inductees, the date for the 1977 induction ceremony, and preparations to hold an official opening for a permanent home for the Sports Hall of Fame.

The three new members of the board will join Elwood Greenough, St. Stephen and Bill Ritchie and Douglas Brewer, both of Fredericton. Dr. Brewer is chairman of the New Brunswick Sports Federation.

War Veterans' Problems Aired

The Northeast N.B. Veterans Association meeting held at Edmundston Legion Hall Sunday Nov. 14, expressed its appreciation to the executive and the directors of their association for their efforts on behalf of veterans.

A special thanks was also expressed to those members, and widows, of veterans, who after having obtained or upgraded their disability pension or war veterans allowances, have continued their membership in the association and continue to join their fellow members towards helping other needed veterans.

The meeting discussed at length the problems and difficulties experienced by veterans living in North eastern N.B. mainly due to high cost of living and inflation, especially the high cost of heating for those depending on W.V.A. and pension.

It was noted that W.V.A. recipients who are presently permitted to earn $4,800 single or $7200 married in all well and good, but, the incapacitated veteran or a veteran's widow who is not able to earn any kind of income, are confronted with a very serious problem and should therefore deserve special consideration.

It was moved and unanimously adopted that for persons in this situation, a request be sent to the minister and departments concerned to replace the W.V.A. with all its ramifications by the introduction of a pilot project incorporating a guaranteed annual income.

It was discovered at the meeting that several veterans on disability pensions had not received their Blue Cross cards for treatment benefits because a veteran's wife shares in the responsibilities and benefits of a veteran.

The meeting decided to formulate a request to be sent to the minister, seeking to incorporate a veterans wife for the Blue Cross treatment service.

Le député fédéral du Comté de Restigouche, M. Maurice Harquail ainsi que le maire du Village de Petit Rocher M. Pierre Godin constatent les travaux de construction de l'usine Les Engrais Chaleurs Ltée.

Selon M. Ligouri Roy, contremaître de la construction, l'édifice sera complété comme prévue. Par la suite, M. Albert Doucet, président de cette compagnie nous informe que tout l'équipement nécessaire au fonctionnement de l'usine sera sur place vers la mi-décembre. La production prendra son cours normal le 1 janvier 1977 poursuivait M. Doucet.

On sait que le Village de Petit Rocher a reçu des octrois du provincial et du fédéral pour développer un site industriel à l'intérieur de la municipalité. Aussi la compagnie Les Engrais Chaleurs Ltée est la première industrie à s'y installer. Cette compagnie a accepté une offre de quelques $$1,000,00 dollars du Ministère de l'Expansion Économique Régionale (MEER).

Le maire a déclaré que d'autres industries ont montrées un vif intérêt à s'installer à l'intérieur du nouveau site.

Rotary Foundation Week Observed Here

The Bathurst Rotary Club through the invitation of Rotary International President Robert A. Manchester is participating in observing Rotary Foundation Week from Nov. 14 - 20. This was the theme of Monday's luncheon meeting at Danny's Colonial House.

The Rotary Foundation began in Atlanta, Georgia, U.S.A. in the year 1917. At that time there were 221 Rotary Clubs in eight countries. International president at that time was Arch Klumph, a member of the Cleveland, Ohio Rotary Club.

The Foundation grew very slowly in the beginning, but in January 1947 an event occurred which was to have far-reaching and important significance in the development of the Foundation. Paul Harris, its beloved founder passed away.

Rotary Clubs around the world were immediately seized with a spontaneous desire to do something in honor of their founder. Just as spontaneously the president of Rotary International and the chairman of the Rotary Foundation Committee suggested to the clubs that a living memorial in the form of contributions to the Foundation would come closest to gratifying the wishes of Paul Harris which the expressed prior to his death, that the clubs aggressively undertake to promote world understanding through Rotary Foundation. One of these Paul Harris Awards made by the local club several years ago in honor of Ilses White.

In 1947 - 48, Rotarians and Rotary clubs contributed to the Foundation in excess of U.S. $1,235,000.00.

In 1947 another significant event in the history of the Rotary Foundation Fellowships took place. For the first time carefully selected college graduates started moving from their own country to another country for the purpose not alone of advancing their scholastic achievements, but also for the purpose of serving as ambassadors of understanding under the auspices of Rotary Foundation. In more recent years, Ross Gammon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gammon, of Bathurst, was among this group.

The Foundation this year will disburse more than six million dollars for its programs. The number of awardees who first studied abroad have increased from 18 in 1947 to some 1400 who are abroad this year.

Since the inception of the Graduate Fellowship in 1947, the following programs have been initiated:

In 1964, Technical Training Awards, Group Study Exchange, Special Grants; in 1967, Undergraduate Scholarships; in 1971, Award to Teachers of the Handicapped.

The programs have attained significant stature throughout the world - not only in the eyes of the recipients and the colleges and universities with which they are associated - but also, to the many communities abroad where students have by personal example and talks before Rotary Clubs, performed such effective services in aquainting their fellowmen with their respective countries.

Association To Present Brief

Special Guest speakers at the November 8 meeting of the Bathurst Fish and Game Association were Ted Owens and Edgar Aube, deputy and executive assistants respectively to the Minister of Natural Resources Roland Boudreau.

Mr. Owens addressed the meeting on the Bathurst Pilot Project, and the effect it would have on campsite owners in the area. He noted that the formation of clusters (subdivisions) and the possible abolition of certain campsites were designed to protect salmon pools, control certain fishing spots, better protect deer and moose yards, and protect as well camp owners.

However, several lodge members indicated a preference for a campsite in a secluded and private location which, at the same time, would not hamper the protection of wildlife.

Mr. Aube agreed to bring the association's argument, in the form of a brief, to his department for closer study.

In other business, President Harold Imough gave a report on the directors' meeting held in Fredericton October 28. He also elaborated on the importance of a full-time secretary-manager being hired for the federation.

A report on membership showed a total of 104 paid-up members and 37 shareholders.

The meeting concluded with the presentation of two films, one on salmon angling on the Miramichi and the second on safe snowmobiling.

Conferences Bring Teachers Up To Date

(By FRANCES GOGUEN)

Twelve o'clock, November 3, 1976. English Schools in District No. 6 closed for students after a morning session only. Happy students enjoyed a holiday while their teachers returned to the job in the afternoon for a variety of activities determined by the individual school.

Salmon Beach teachers met with Bob Breard, school supervisor for an informal discussion on the Grades 4, 5 and 6 social studies program and the carry over from the Grades 1, 2 and 3 teaching. This vital and profitable three-hour 'work period' will be further assessed on December 1, when school will be closed for another half day.

Mary Gaswell School began the afternoon with a staff meeting to discuss learning difficulties. Out of this came a specialized discussion on the Gem 100 Reading Program. During this time period, teachers attempted to establish criteria for judging advancement of students within this program.

A follow-up on this program will take place on December 1.

Bathurst High School teachers went technical on November 3. Teachers were divided into three rotating groups who concerned themselves with the use and usage of machines that are loosely called "aids". Staff members demonstrated the usage of each machine available. More importantly, teachers became fully aware of the use that might be made of these machines to promote student awareness. Special attention was given to the video-tape machine that was owned by B.H.S.

Teachers of Chalmers attended a staff meeting where self-evaluation procedures were discussed. Later they worked on individual course and or program development.

Sacred Heart teachers shared a discussion on discipline - its implementation and enforcement. Later divided groups discussed that universal of concern - reading. The discussion ranged from the diagnosing of reading problems to remedial work. Again, the Gem 100 Program was a focus of time and attention.

Superior School dissolved into two groups - elementary and junior high. Yet the meetings were concerned with common goals for their school. One area of concern was discipline. The discussion covered definition, application and results. Later the groups met in general session to co-ordinate efforts. After these meetings, teachers at Superior used the little time left to re-acquaint themselves with the programs offered and their application on a local level.

South Bathurst teachers concerned themselves with a variety of exciting subjects.

Grades 1 - 4 teachers worked in the areas of art. Individual teachers prepared a project in different mediums. Each project was then presented to the general group. This pooling of abilities and talents will do much to promote art and the newly set-up "Art Room" at South. Junior High English teachers set up a Grammar Resource Centre, while math, French, and social science teachers worked on program development and adaptation.

Occasionally, like other workers, teachers may embrace conference days headed by outside experts. But when it comes to a half day at their own school - involvement and co-operation reach a near perfect level. To borrow a phrase from today's youth - "that's where the action is". Students may look forward to another half holiday on December 1, but teachers too, will be looking forward to another day of grass - roots professionalism.

Sister's Death Occurs In U.S.

The death of Mrs. Gertrude H. Bubin, R.N., wife of Scott Bubin who is formerly from Bathurst, occurred Nov. 14 at Boston Hospital after a lengthy illness. She was 46.

Born in Chatham, she was a daughter of Mrs. Blanche Maher and the late Arthur M. Maher and a daughter-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Bubin of Bathurst.

Mr. Bubin attended St. Michael's Academy in Chatham and graduated from St. Mary's Hospital in Montreal, receiving her RN.

Surviving besides her husband are three sons, Michael of Portland, Maine, and Keith and Greg, both at home; one daughter, Stephanie, of St. Francis Xavier University, Antigonish, N.S.; her mother, one brother, Edward J. Maher of Chatham; and two sisters, Mrs. David Marquis (Margaret) of Ottawa and Mrs. Hugh Elhatter (Bunny) of Bathurst.

Steps Down From Cabinet

HON. EDISON STAIRS

Hon. A. Edison Stairs announced today that he has asked Premier Hatfield to relieve him of his duties as a member of the provincial Cabinet.

The chairman of the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission and minister of finance indicated that this decision was taken for personal reasons.

Mr. Stairs had asked the Premier to consider his resignation from the Cabinet some time ago, while indicating that he was prepared to serve in the Cabinet until such time as other changes of portfolios were to be considered.

He will continue to represent his area of Carleton South in the New Brunswick Legislature.

Mr. Stairs has been a member of the New Brunswick Legislature for sixteen years, having been first elected in 1960. Following the Progressive Conservative election victory in 1970, he was appointed to the dual portfolio of economic growth and agriculture by Premier Richard Hatfield.

In 1972, Mr. Stairs became the minister of natural resources. Following the November 1974 general election, he was appointed to the two portfolios he currently holds.

Premier Hatfield said, "Mr. Stairs' contribution to the Government of New Brunswick has been a great one, his advice will be sorely missed, however, I can fully understand and appreciate his desire to leave Cabinet at this time".

Another Viewpoint

(a guest editorial)

On Monday, Nov. 8, a demonstration was held protesting the loss of air service to our community.

It was interesting to note the meager response. We say meager for a number of reasons, one of which is the "populo", the masses, the man on the street gut reaction is a negative one, or barring that, one of complete indifference.

Depending on the political stripe of the various speakers who addressed the assembly, Trudeau, the Liberal or Hatfield, the Conservative, got it in the ear.

If one were to reflect on the lengthy conception of the Bathurst Airport and the related politics which embroiled Restigouche and Gloucester Counties over a decade; the involvement over that same period of former cabinet ministers Don Jamieson and Jean-Eudes Dube; the unified voice of the Campbellton-Dalhousie Region as opposed to the Bathurst voice in the wilderness, and last but not least, the effective lobbying by EPA and the Atlantic Premiers Conference stand on Atlantic Central Airway's application for expanded routes; all these in retrospect doomed Atlantic Central Airways to an early abortion.

Montrealers now must travel 65 miles to reach Mirabel. Halifax natives motor 24 miles to reach its airport. Fredericton travellers by no stretch of the imagination require at least 20 minutes to reach its airport.

Let's face it, EPA is heavily subsidized by federal monies to provide service to this region.

In heaven's name why doesn't somebody of the 70 demonstrators begin pushing in the right direction? Insist on the immediate completion of the Beresford-Dalhousie By-Pass and air service will be a 20-minute drive away.

Let's face it, we'll never commit the federal (forget the provincial) government to subsidize 2 airlines in the Atlantic Region. It (the feds) has already committed extra millions to resurface and extend Charlo airstrip in addition to refurbishing and updating approach and electronic landing systems.

Face the facts, we lost the battle years ago. The Bathurst case then, as it is now, is being fought by our forces armed with a jawbone, while the opposing forces possess quasi-nuclear clout.

But back to the guy on the street gut reaction. He's not interested in an airport in his back yard. He's not interested, in a residential area, in having DC-9's flying over his head; real estate values decrease. He's not interested in an airport, period, because he rarely or seldom has the capital, the financial wherewithal to fly on an irregular basis, let alone a regular one. He may admire an aircraft in flight, he looks in childlike bewilderment at man's ability and achievement in conquering flight. But he's just not turned on or tuned in to Atlantic Central's and Bathurst Airport's fulminations.

We are willing to wager you will strike a vibrant chord from the guy on the street if you solicit his support for the completion of the Beresford-Dalhousie By-pass. It won't only get you to your airport more quickly (Charlo) but it will assist the working smelter fellow to and from work, and the shopping public to get to and from Bathurst quickly and economically.

Finally, consider realistically the Atlantic Central Airways' financial position. As a private company, it sunk a considerable amount of capital into this venture. In Mr. Bird's words, it lost "several hundred thousand dollars" during the initial 18 months operation. This gentleman further stated the only condition under which Atlantic Central would continue future operations would be to have a guarantee that someone or something (a government?) would underwrite future losses. In other words the company has operated on a deficit for 18 months, and predicts continued operational deficits. Nobody in his right mind would continue such a venture under such adverse financial conditions.

What do you say? Do we press for completion of the Beresford-Dalhousie By-Pass? or do you continue flogging a dead air line?

Grist For The Mill

Jack Riley, a pioneer and although now semi-retired, still a landmark at The Fredericton Gleaner, is one of New Brunswick's best-known newsmen. He is also noted for pounding a lot of common sense out of his typewriter, probably with only two fingers, too.

In last Saturday's edition of The Gleaner, in his regular weekly column, "Riley Outdoors", Jack took a whack at a current controversy affecting, principally, the Bathurst area. He was referring to the recent arguments in government and other circles over the Brunswick Mills project which have been confusing the people who work there as well as the others who live in these parts.

Whether or not you or we entirely agree with his analysis, this is what the wily Riley had to say about the situation and it does have a great deal of common sense.

"From where I sit and looking into the background of the mill, it is apparent someone blundered along the way, for the mill, when suggested and planned, was to be a showpiece and the centerpiece of the lumbering industry in the province.

"Erected and financed by British Columbia interests, the mill was built along the designs of British Columbia lumber mills where the method of lumbering is entirely different than that carried out in this province.

"The mill, as originally designed, was to use practically every part of a tree and was to draw lumber from an area adjacent to Bathurst. But it was found that this area did not have the trees to support the mill. If I am not mistaken, much of this area had been lumbered by at least three different companies over the past many years.

"Why this mill was needed in the first place has not been satisfactorily answered. Sawmills in the province have been around for a great many years and scattered about the country. Looking back, the number of sawmills in 1833 was estimated at 230. By 1851, they had increased to 580.

"Of course, back in those days, the operation of many of these mills was by water power, until steam gradually took over. Because of the lack of transportation, most of the mills produced for local consumption.

"The people of my generation can well remember the various sawmills that dotted the country and the annual log drives on the rivers to supply these mills. Lumbering has long been a backbone industry in this province and will likely continue.

"How the British Columbia interests got mixed up in this mill will be hard to find out. For instance, the debarker that was established in the mill had higher costs during the winter months and it was found that the machinery configuration used in the mill was not correct for new Brunswick's climate.

"The question should be asked: how did this piece of machinery ever get installed in the first place? Was it left over from a B.C. mill with no place to go but to Bathurst?

"All this puts me in mind of some of my Canadian Army days when stationed with the Forestry Corps in Scotland. The majority of the men in our company had been recruited in New Brunswick and had been brought up in N.B. and worked in the woods before going into the Army.

"On arriving in Scotland, one could feel and see some of the B.C. method of lumbering, especially in mechanized equipment, which really was needed for the trees in Scotland which had been planted following the First World War and much like the tree growth in N.B. But, of course, back in those war days the crosscut, the swede saw and the axe were still the basic tools for lumbering.

"I guess things have changed.

"The province has Brunswick Mills. It is an investment that so far has fallen sour and the government is attempting to keep the operation going and pliable. The committee on renewable resources should be able to get to the root of the trouble and get advice from New Brunswick lumbermen people who know the province.

"Political feelings should not interfere in the working of the mill or how to get it to be a profitable undertaking. It is a joint effort of the committee to come up with a suitable answer."

Wanted; Device For Mine Safety

Bathurst, N.B.
November 11, 1976

It was interesting to read about a new sample taking device for Brunswick Mines.

I am looking forward to the day when someone will come up with an idea to protect the rock bolters from falling rock.

It should be fairly simple to fabricate a heavy steel protective cage which could be put into place above the rock bolter before he starts his work.

Missing Widow

Offers Comments On Pollution

Bathurst, N.B.
November 15, 1976

Pollution in the City of Bathurst. There is no such thing. Not after our city fathers have noticed the problem and have decided to spend millions of dollars of taxpayers' money in order to build a lift station control plant in order to process raw sewage.

So our children will not know what pollution is.

Our rivers and brooks? Of course, we don't have to think about them. Our big industries have taken care of that even though they did not have to pay anything towards pollution or control. Of course we have to take into consideration that they employ a few thousand men. The only thing is our salmon and other fish that used to come up our rivers don't know anything about that.

It is very sad that our children will not know the joy of fishing in these rivers that our forefathers enjoyed so much. But, of course, that is the price we have to pay for big industry.

Some mining outfits have done something about it. They have built big dams where all their waste is going. Now there is nothing to worry about. It only kills a few thousand trees and the dams are holding. They will not flow in Middle River yet," which is our means of water supply for the City of Bathurst."

Of course, if it happens we can probably sue the company if we can find them. Or we will go out and spend another million to find other means of finding water to supply the City of Bathurst at the taxpayers' cost. I feel that the Bathurst area as far as industry is concerned, they come, take, and go.

One who has to pay for controls.

Sees Changed Life Pattern

Bathurst, N.B.
November 16, 1976

Now that Quebec has elected the Parti Quebecois to power, it is time we New Brunswickers take a close look at our future.

It won't be too long before King Rene takes the throne of the New Country of Quebec with Montreal as its capital city and we will be completely cut off from the rest of Canada.

We will have to choose between joining Quebec or the USA or possibly Pierre will negotiate a demilitarized zone along the Quebec-USA border so that we can travel freely to the rest of Canada.

Any way we look at it we will be faced with endless problems, like the flood of English Quebec refugees to N.B. should we decide not to join or a mass exodus of English New Brunswickers to Maine and other Maritime Provinces should we decide to join Quebec.

Imagine how simple a Sunday drive was to Quebec via Campbellton. In the future we may need a passport and foreign currency before we are allowed to pass over the Van-Horne Bridge to Cross Point, Que.

It is mind boggling to say the least all the problems we will encounter. I can even imagine the Quebec Army taking us by force should we resist joining them.

The only solution I can see is for all of Canada to join Quebec after the break.

As for myself I want to get away from it all so I plan to join the Quebec Foreign Legion.

Last Soul

For Smoother Adult Skating

Bathurst, N.B.
November 15, 1976

This letter is a compliment on the Bathurst Arena. Wednesday nights are reserved for adult skating. Last week, November 10, did not seem this way. They let all the kids in and the adults were deprived of their pleasure.

To me adult skating means eighteen and over. It did not seem this way to me and the rest of the adults who were there. We got on the ice for no more than five minutes and then were more or less forced off by all the pushing and shoving that was going on.

When we went to complain and ask for a refund of our money we were refused by a person who seemed no more than fifteen who was supposedly in charge.

Why should we be deprived of our pleasure. The kids have Friday and Saturday nights for their enjoyment and we only have one night, Wednesdays.

It does not seem right that they should be allowed on our nights. All they want to do on the ice is play tag, push and shove when all we ask for is our two hours of relaxing fun.

POLITICAL SCENE

Ex-Skater MP Has Midas Touch

By STEWART MacLEOD
Ottawa Bureau
Thomson News Service

Otto Jelinek, the Conservative MP for High Park-Humber Valley in Toronto, is a former championship figure skater who has since done pretty well for himself in the sporting goods business.

And in politics, that business sense keeps coming through.

A few months ago he came under severe criticism for applying for, and receiving, one of those Ontario government grants for first-time house buyers. The grants are designed to help young couples buy their first home.

What the 36-year-old bachelor MP did was perfectly legal, providing the house or apartment he bought was his primary residence. There was some debate about this particular question, but the grant remained in Mr. Jelinek's hands. And the criticism faded away.

But now I read that Mr. Jelinek's constituency office is nothing more than a screened off area in the kitchen of his secretary's house in Toronto. And, from the taxpayers, she is being paid $300 a month rent for this space, estimated to be five feet by eight feet. This secretary, Irma Pattison, also receives a salary of $7,500 a year - also from the taxpayers - to work for Mr. Jelinek.

I don't mind the salary. It's the rent that I question.

When funds were provided through Parliament a few years ago to establish constituency offices, the whole idea was to have outlets in the ridings where individuals could go with problems. Money was also provided for staff, so there would always be someone on hand to redirect queries to the MP in Ottawa.

DROP-IN CENTRES

The original concept was for store-front operations. And, generally, it has worked this way. People drop in to ask where to apply for pensions, to get details on some legislation, to get the address of a foreign embassy, or just to talk.

In Kingston, Flora MacDonald, the hard working Tory MP who ran for the party leadership in February, has six people running her office, right on the city's main street. There is a constant flow of people during the week and every Saturday there is a lineup as Miss MacDonald spends the day there chatting with interested constituents.

It goes far beyond politics. "Priests even send parishioners in to talk with me," she says. "They seem to think they can benefit from just a conversation."

In this case, Miss MacDonald's personality obviously has a great deal to do with it, but all MPs report an incredible variety of visitors in their constituency offices.

PHONE FIRST

But it is unlikely that Mr. Jelinek has experienced this because there is no sign on the house and the office address is not listed in the telephone directory. All visits must be preceded by a phone call and when interviews do take place, they are usually in the living room of Miss Pattison's home.

Miss Pattison can deduct office expenses, and a percentage of her property tax, from her annual income taxes. I would say offhand that it's not a bad arrangement for her.

And in fact, Mr. Jelinek seems to like it, too. He was quoted as saying "it's the best deal that I possibly could have had, and I wouldn't change it for anything."

Miss Pattison was also quoted as saying she didn't want people coming to her door all the time harassing her.

Sitting around a cafeteria table on Parliament Hill, it was interesting to hear the reaction of some other Conservative MPs as they read about Mr. Jelinek's constituency office.

"Imagine living your constituency office," said one. "I thought they were established for the benefit of MPs."

"Incredible," said another.

A third said the offices were there so constituents could harass their MPs if they felt like it. "You can't get re-elected without a little harassment."

RESTAURATEURS MEET FIRST TIME ON NORTH SHORE

Slated for presentation this week to the Employment Standards Board of the N.B. Department of Labour and Manpower is a brief prepared by the New Brunswick Branch of the Canadian Restaurant Association.

John Forsythe, of Moncton, introduced the brief to members of the association attending the annual meeting and educational sessions at Danny's Colonial House in Bathurst last week. Mr. Forsythe is chairman of the legislative committee of N.B. Branch CRA.

The association will be asking the provincial department to recognize certain groups of restaurant employees. The following representatives also to statutory holidays and employees quitting their jobs without notice will be brought to the government's attention.

The brief, which includes supportive documentation, was prepared for the association's behalf by the Moncton law firm of Trueman, Hoar, Desmarais and Wills.

In other business, Roy Statler, of Moncton was elected president of the branch for the coming year. Mr. Statler of the Community College, succeeds Robert Cunningham of Saint John.

Re-elected for a second term was Audrey Williston of Piper Motor Inn, Moncton, who will serve as vice-president and secretary. Renamed treasurer was George Manuais of the Riviera Restaurant, Saint John.

Bob DeGrace of Bathurst will continue as regional president and as such will be a member on the national executive.

Committee chairmen reporting during the two-day meeting were Mr. Statler, membership; Mr. DeGrace and Mr. Sadler, educational; Saint Rasfat of Saint John and Audrey Williston, publicity; Hectorine LaFargue of Grand Falls, liaison to the N.B. Hotel-Motel Association and Keith DeGrace of Bathurst, liaison to the N.B. Tourism Advisory Council.

Committee chairmen will be named by the new executive.

Close to 100 persons registered for the annual gathering which was held on the North Shore for the first time. The meetings have been rotating among Saint John, Fredericton and Moncton.

At one session Mr. Moniatis and Mrs. Sadler gave a complete breakdown of where the dollar should be spent in a regular restaurant operation.

Mr. Forsyth of Canadian National's marine service and Bob DeGrace of Danny's Ltd. in Bathurst outlined their food service operations to members. Also discussed were ways the industry would be promoted as a career.

Rene Villeneuve of Montreal, often referred to as Canada's top bartender, gave an informative and entertaining display of his capabilities in the art of professional bartending.

Climaxing the two-day annual gathering was the closing dinner prepared by members of the N.B. Chapter, Canadian Federation Chefs de Cuisine during which the chapter made several presentations to CRA members who had helped them become organized in New Brunswick.

Hans Meier of Hotel Beausejour in Moncton, president of the new chapter, presented honorary memberships to Mrs. Williston, Mr. Cunningham, N.B. Tourism Minister Fernande Dube in absentia, Mr. Forsyth, N.B. Fisheries Minister Omer Leger who was among the special guests and Don Cutler of Winnipeg president of the Canadian Restaurant Association, who addressed the dinner guests.

Mr. Cutler, who himself was named Canadian "chef of the year in 1969, complimented the chefs on the fine dinner they prepared. He spoke about the Canadian team of chefs which had brought home 33 gold medals and two silver medals when they placed second at the 16th Culinary Olympics held in Frankfurt, Germany, in late October.

Other guests present included W.B. Thompson, chairman of N.B. Community College, Bathurst Mayor John Duffy, representatives from the provincial departments of health and tourism and from the mobile training unit intended for employers and employees in the hospitality industry. The latter group were Basile Fevor, Miss Bette Mersereau and Georges Cloas.

Mr. Cutler called the training unit, which was on site during the sessions, "a complete new idea in personnel training" which he expected would be copied by other provinces across Canada and perhaps around the world.

Dual Allegiance: A Soldier's Story

By R. C. STEWART

Ben Dunkelman claims that only necessity made him a soldier. But in his autobiography, Dual Allegiance (Macmillan of Canada, $14.95), he reveals he never refused a fight: from the age of 15 when he fought a mortal bout with an Arab in Palestine.

This is a soldier's story. Dunkelman's early life in Canada and his civilian activities pale besides his vivid battlefield reminiscences.

He delights in the camaraderie, courage, discipline, devotion to duty and enthusiasm found in facing the danger and discomfort of war.

He forged a bond with troops, and views combat as an infantryman. Higher politics rarely intrude.

Despite his title, Dunkelman's allegiances lies with Zionism. This flowed from his own Judaism, his mother's Zionist commitment, the stories he heard about Palestine as a boy, and - most important - his own journey there in 1931.

He recalls a compelling sense of "coming home," and about the faithfulness of his grandparents, affluent youths in the demanding physical labor of a Jewish pioneer in a Palestinian orange grove.

The pattern of Dunkelman's life solidified with that pilgrimage. Thereafter, he shuttled between Canada and the Jewish homeland and plunged into work, play, duty, and the Zionist cause with equal fervor.

A JOB TO BE DONE

Dunkelman's views of war is not romantic. World War II was a job to be done. Nazi anti-Semitism and Canadian patriotism called him to the colors.

Eager to fight, he was rebuffed by the Royal Canadian Navy, but enlisted in the Queen's Own Rifles. Rising through the ranks, he proved a capable leader, but did not go overseas until 1943. Even then, he remained in England until the Normandy landings in the summer of 1944.

The test of war found neither Dunkelman nor the First Canadian Army wanting. The narrative is almost impressionistic here as he flies from one scene to the next - D-Day (June 6, 1944), the Falaise Pocket, the siege of Boulogne, the flooded polders in the Low Countries, and freeing Antwerp for Allied use.

His soldier's lessons emerge. Dunkelman saw many comrades die, and he became antipathetic to Mackenzie King's "political game-playing" over conscription, charging that he caused Canadian casualties by keeping front-line battalions' proper reserves and reinforcements.

He rejected a chance to run for Parliament as a "safe" Liberal riding in Ontario, since he "refused to associate with Mackenzie King in any aspect."

A SECOND WAR

Dunkelman returned to Canada when World War II ended in Europe, hoping to resume his civilian career.

But Britain's hostile Jewish policy and her withdrawal from the Middle East created a crisis for Zion that he could not ignore.

At first he raised funds, but volunteer fighters increasingly absorbed his time. About 1,000 Canadians eventually fought for Israel, although never together. Dunkelman believes that part of his self-appointed task is to relate their story, which he states has never been properly told.

In 1948 he travelled secretly to Palestine to fight as a combat officer. He took part in the relief of Jerusalem, and applied his expertise to help weld the units into a regular army.

Towards the close of Israel's war for independence he commanded a brigade, and his "operation Hiram" was a superbly planned and executed military adventure which conquered northern Galilee with trifling losses.

DIVIDED LOYALTY

Dunkelman tried to settle in Israel after the war, partly to keep a promise to David Ben Gurion. He found his business ventures thwarted, however, and began to feel an outsider. So he returned to Canada with his Israeli bride to work in the family firm.

Retired now, his shuttling continues, and he confesses that his dual allegiance creates uncertainty about where he will finally live.

An autobiography can reflect a concern for self-identity and justification. Dunkelman easily establishes both here, presents a readable account of his exploits, and reveals part of Canada's contribution to the birth of Isreal in the process.

Dr. Stuart teaches history at the University of Prince Edward Island.

Airline's Loss To Be Felt Province-Wide

By J. A. Roux
Vice-President for New Brunswick for Atlantic Provinces Economic Council

The decision by Atlantic Central Airlines to close down its routes between Bangor Saint John-Fredericton and Bathurst is a sad blow to the province of New Brunswick. This airline was the first to realize the need for a commuter level air carrier in the province linking the smaller centres with the cities on the national and regional routes and with the neighbouring State of Maine and the U.S. carriers. Its passing will leave a sad gap in our transportation needs.

Atlantic Central cannot be blamed for its decision to close down these routes. It had commenced the operation over a year ago, proved the need for such routes existed, and then had applied to the Air Transport Board of the Canadian Transport Commission for authority to service additional points within New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and parts of Nova Scotia. It realized the one route between Bangor and Bathurst was insufficient equipment utilization for an economic operation; that a larger route structure was needed if it was to survive, and it sought these routes.

Unfortunately, the Air Transport Board dilly-dallied for six months in making its decision. They obviously didn't realize or didn't care that each of those months was increasing the losses being incurred by Atlantic Central. As a result, Bathurst now has no air service and the whole province is the poorer.

But the blame doesn't rest only on the Air Transport Board. It also rests on the Premier and Government of the province, on the Mayor and Council of Fredericton and on the City of Saint John.

I attended the hearing of the ACA application for these additional routes and I presented a brief in support of ACA. But where was the Premier and Government of New Brunswick? Where was the Mayor of Fredericton? Where was the Mayor of Saint John?

The Premier (and Government of New Brunswick) had unwisely committed himself to the Council of Maritime Premiers stand of supporting EPA's counter application. That this stand was detrimental to New Brunswick, that he was opposing a New Brunswick company, that EPA had been authorized for some time to provide such service but had not done so, seemed to be of little concern to the Premier. EPA was a 'jet' airline, a prestige carrier. Indeed I understand they helped carry out the study that recommended themselves as the most suitable carrier? What better proof!

No, our Premier and his government let us down. If he had supported the New Brunswick-owned and based Atlantic Central, we probably would have an expanded air commuter service linking our smaller centres who are in dire need of similar air service now. But neither he nor his government supported ACA and we're now paying for his mistake by loss of 30 jobs in New Brunswick.

Then our Mayor of Fredericton. He appeared at the Fredericton hearings without a brief and at the urging, I got the impression, of EPA. He too failed to support ACA's application. He too had visions of jets, whisking people to and from the smaller centres. Such ludicrous visions! Even a cursory study of the traffic potential would have clearly indicated New Brunswick's smaller centres had only a low traffic potential. But he hadn't done his homework. He should have done a careful assessment of the needs of the city and the province for commuter airline service. If he had he wouldn't have supported EPA. While he may not have supported ACA directly he would definitely have supported the service they were giving.

The Mayor of Saint John wasn't any better. ACA was a Saint John based airline, a local industry, yet he didn't appear, to support ACA and counter the opposition's stands. No because of his inaction he too must carry part of the blame.

Knowing this background, it's rather amusing to read the indignant comments in the papers from these same officials at ACA's action and the Air Transport Board's tardiness. I'm sure Carl Bird, the General Manager of ACA, is saying "Where were you when I needed you most?"

Perhaps all is not lost. ACA still has the expertise and the equipment. Financing alone is the problem. Both the provincial and federal governments have long experience in bailing out financially troubled companies with far less merit than ACA. Let's see them now put this expertise to work and keep ACA services operating. The people of the province will benefit a great deal more from such a move than from many others the government agencies have helped.

Indeed, this tragic situation could well indicate that governments should offer help before such industries reach the breaking point not after.

As in the case with other modes of transportation, possibly a subsidy should have been made available at least in the firm's formative years.

BAY OF CHALEUR LEAGUE OFFICIAL OPENING

League President Joe Comeau prepares to drop the puck at the official opening of the Bay of Chaleur Hockey League last Wednesday at the Beresford Arena. The league consists of four teams - Beresford Beavers, Petit Rocher Rocs, Blue Cove Pirates and Shippegan Eagles. Beresford downed the Petit Rocher team 6 - 3 in Wednesday's opener. Left-to-right, Jean-Claude DeGrace, Beresford captain; league president Joe Comeau; Fernand Berthaume, Petit Rocher team owner; Jean-Guy Doucet, captain of the Rocs.

Alpines Overcome Ironmen 7-6 With Another 3rd Period Surge

Using the same formula that proved successful in their initial meeting here last Tuesday, Bathurst Alpines scored four goals in the final 2½ minutes of the game to edge Chatham Ironmen 7 - 6 in Chatham Sunday afternoon. The Win was the third for the Alpines against one loss while the Ironmen are winless in four starts.

Chatham used the first part of the final period Sunday to build a 6 - 3 lead on three straight tallies. Then Michel Hamel sparked the Alpine comeback with an unassisted marker at 12:24. Brian Chamberlain rifled his second of the game 32 seconds later and Donnie Bay netted the equalizer on a play with Paul Ouellette at 15:27.

Hamel, who had three goals in the contest, tipped in Denis Langlais' drive from the point for the winner at 17:00. Alpines survived a penalty to Len Doucet at 18:57 by limiting the Ironmen to just two shots on goal to preserve the win.

The first period was scoreless, but Bathurst moved to an early lead in the second period on goals by Michel Hamel at the 57 second mark and Brian Chamberlain at 4:00. Ironmen then came back with three in a row as Ray O'Donnell netted his first of three at 4:36. Dan MacGregor tied it at 6:13 and then Gary Wood put the Ironmen in front 27 seconds later. Chatham maintained the one goal margin until Leo Ouellette evened things up by converting brother Paul's pass at the 10:45 mark.

O'Donnell, Gelas Theriault and O'Donnell again, scored in the final period before the Alpines launched their comeback.

Tigers On Top

In other NSHL action last week, Campbellton Tigers took a home-and-home series from Dalhousie Rangers to remain in first place with an unblemished record.

Campbellton topped the Rangers 5 - 3 in Dalhousie last Thursday and then edged them 7 - 6 in overtime Friday in Campbellton. Veteran George Berube fired the winner in the penalty-ridden contest which apparently is being protested by the Dalhousie management.

Hawks Win

Jean-Paul LeBlanc scored three times to spark Moncton Hawks of the Southeastern New Brunswick Hockey League to an 8 - 4 triumph over Bathurst Alpines in a Kiddies' Day exhibition game played in Moncton Saturday night.

Randy Sears and Wayne MacDougall each scored a pair for the winners with the other Hawk marker coming from Allan Power.

The Hawks visit Bathurst for a return engagement on Sunday, November 28 when the Alpines hold their special Kiddies' Day game.

Shippegan Nips Beresford 3-2

Jean-Marc Pinet's third goal of the game at 18:19 of the final period gave Shippegan Merchants a 3 - 2 triumph over Beresford Bees in a North Shore Junior 'B' Hockey League game before 400 fans in Beresford Monday night.

The first period was scoreless but a short-handed goal by Pinet gave the visiting Shippegans a 1 - 0 after forty minutes.

Pinet added his second goal in the final period but Michel DeGrace and Barry Thibodeau then scored for the Bees to draw Beresford even setting the stage for Pinet's game-winner later in the period.

The win moved the Merchants into a tie with Dalhousie Junior Rangers for first place in the league, each with 8 points. Beresford remains in second place, one point back.

Chaleur Wheelers Top Sparks Twice

In Atlantic Wheelchair Basketball Conference play here on the weekend, the Bathurst Chaleur Wheelers won both games from the Fredericton Sparks.

The Wheelers won Saturday's game 31 - 20 after trailing the Fredericton squad 10 - 6 at the half. As usual the local team came on strong in the last half to gain the win.

Michel Arpin led Bathurst with 12 points while Clarence Basterache dropped in 11. Camille McGraw and Leonard Bryar added four points apiece. Bob Cuddihy led the Sparks with 6. Other scorers for Fredericton were Sandy DeVenney with 6, Steve Little, 4 points and Carl Constantine with a pair.

Sunday the Wheelers rolled to a 16 - 12 half time lead and went on to win 30 - 26. Camille McGraw led the way with 12 points while Michel Arseneau and Clarence Basterache each netted 8. Leonard Bryar completed the Wheeler scoring with two points as Lucie Bastien and Raymond Vienneuile played the defensive role.

Steven Little topped the Sparks with 10 points. Carl Constantine bagged six while Sandy DeVenney and Bob Cuddy dropped in four apiece.

Fred Kilney added two.

The Wheelers are still on the lookout for a coach and anyone interested in taking over the team should contact Clarence Basterache.

Kings Open Hoop Season Sunday

Landry's Esso Oil Kings, formerly the Bathurst Bullets, will host Newcastle Baskets Sunday afternoon at 2:00 p.m. in the Bathurst High Gym to officially open the newly formed North Shore Basketball League Season.

The NSBL is comprised of seven basketball clubs, the Kings and six teams from the Miramichi area.

The Oil Kings will play an 18-game regular season schedule as well as a number of exhibition games. The Bullets were defeated last year by Moncton in the New Brunswick Intermediate 'A' playoff semi-finals by a slim margin.

This year's team will feature six returning players and nine newcomers, comprising a well-balanced unit with depth, a virtue last year's club did not have.

Returning players are centre Mike Cahoon, forwards Dave Ross and Stephen Kelly along with guards Jim Cormier, Stephen Ellis and John Farrar. Newcomers include forwards Bob Sullivan, John Nicholson, Robert Ray, John O'Connell, Wade Power, Jeff Miller and Jim Neal as well as guards Mark Fraser and Buzz Greene. Departures from the 75 - 76 team are Craig Whalen, Ron Kelly and Danny Ross.

The major improvement in this year's squad will be rebounding, which will be provided mainly by the 6'5" Cahoon, 6'2" Sullivan, 6'5" Nicholson and 6'4" Ross.

The Kings will travel to CFB Chatham Tuesday evening for their first road game. Fan support here Sunday afternoon would be greatly appreciated.

Beresford Bees Tie North Stars

League-leading Dalhousie Junior Rangers had their hands full with the last-place Tracadie-St. Isidore Save Easy team Sunday in Sheila but managed to squeak through with a 4 - 3 win.

Larry Williams, Jacques Noel, Phil Mazerolle and Brian Bernard scored for the winners who hold down sole possession of first place in the North Shore Junior 'B' Hockey League. Roger Theriault scored all three goals for Tracadie-St. Isidore who held period leaders 2 - 0 and 2 - 1.

Bathurst Curling Club News

By SPORTS ROBERTS

Last week was a very busy week at the curling club with the start of men's bonspiel play on Monday and running through to Thursday along with the running of the Gene Kent Memorial Mixed Bonspiel on the weekend.

Sectional play is again set up to run along the same lines as last year with three sections - A, B and C. Starting next week, the standings in all three sections will be published on a weekly basis.

The Section C winner was made up of skip Pete Samson, mate Elwin Kendall, second Ben Chevalier and lead Rose Veniassa. The runner-up rink consisted of skip Earl Bailey, mate Georgette Assaff, second Karen McDermott and lead Linda Wiseman.

Honorable mention in the Gene Kent Bonspiel goes to Lillian "Big Scoop" Lavigne.

In other curling club news, there will be no mixed curling this coming Saturday night as the ice will be required for the first time this year.

The annual Fall Bondholders meeting has been scheduled for the upstairs lounge at 7:30 p.m. on November 29. All club members are invited to attend.

At an important meeting called last week by the men's match committee, it was decided that men's curling would consist of a mixture of draw and competitive curling. Bonspiels will alternate between the two. Teams wishing to remain together until the Canada playoff will be allowed to do so. It was also decided that after Christmas, one new curler would be placed on each competitive team so that new curlers will get a chance to compete on competitive teams.

The next men's bonspiel will be the Turkey Bonspiel. All members are urged to sign up for this event.

Until next week ... good curling!

Alpines Tame Tabbies 6-2 To Gain Share Of NSHL Lead

Bathurst Alpines produced their best effort of the young season here last night before the top crowd of the year and put an abrupt end to Campbellton tigers' 4 game unbeaten string.

1,066 fans watched the Alpines subdue the Tigers 6 - 2 again using the same successful format of a strong final period surge.

Veteran centre Paul Ouellette was a key factor as the Alpine win last night as he triggered a pair of goals and drew an assist on the winner netted by Denis Langlais in the second period.

Brian Chamberlain also scored twice for the winners and continues to impress on the Bathurst attack. Jackie Roy was the other Alpine marksman.

Sterling Legg as the first period and Brian Forster in the second, scored for the Tigers.

Glen Seperich was outstanding in the Bathurst cage and kept the Alpines in the game in the opening period when he turned aside 16 of 17 Campbellton shots. The only shot to beat him was Legg's powerplay goal at the 6:22 mark. Seperich finished the game with 42 saves.

Chamberlain's first tally evened the count at the 12:35 mark and the teams completed the period all even.

Paul Ouellette converted passes from brother Lou and George Willett just 40 seconds into the second period and Denis Langlais made it 3 - 1 Alpines with the eventual winner at 7:16. Brian Forster counted the tigers' final goal, midway through the period and the Alpines carried their 3 - 2 lead into the final 20 minutes.

Alpines proceeded to wrap up the win with three quick goals before the period was four minutes old.

Brian Chamberlain netted his second on a powerplay at the 30 second mark and Paul Ouellette connected 33 seconds later with his second of the night. Jackie Roy completed the scoring for the night with Bathurst's fourth goal at the 1:46 mark.

Veterans Adopt A Constitution

A regional information meeting in Lameque recently saw the adoption of a new constitution by the Northeastern New Brunswick Veterans Association.

About 85 veterans and many of their wives from Lameque, Inkerman and other communities on Shippegan and Miscou Islands attended the meeting, and a total of 41 new members joined the association.

The bilingual constitution states that wives who share in the life of a veteran and who may become eligible for benefits, including allocations to veterans' widows, have the right to become auxiliary members of the association.

Other articles of the new constitution pertain to the annual meeting, election procedures, general and executive meetings, and confidential nature of files relating to veterans, use of dues, membership objectives and eligibility.

Each member is obliged to help his fellow veteran in all matters concerning his rights with a view to improving his social, economic and cultural standing.

Eligible for membership, apart from auxiliary members, are all persons who have served Canada and her allies in the armed forces.

The Lameque meeting passed a resolution asking that disability pensions be adjusted every three months according to the cost of living index as are other federal pensions.

It was also resolved that Blue Cross benefits for veterans receiving either disability pensions or war veterans allowance be extended to include their wives.

More than 200 pamphlets on various subjects of interest were distributed to those present.

The meeting was chaired by the newly-elected president, J. Leo Hachey of Bathurst, who was accompanied by Romeo Theriault of Bathurst, executive-director of the association. Assisting was Livain David, a director of the association representing Shippegan and the islands.

It was agreed the next meeting should be held at Shippegan.

NEW LOOK FOR OLD BUILDING

A program of major improvements to the Masonic Temple on Main St., home of St. John Lodge No. 27, is nearly completed and gives an impressive new look to an old city landmark.

Bathurst's first Masonic Hall, erected on the same site in 1844, was destroyed in the Great Bathurst Fire of 1914. The Main part of the present building was constructed the same year and an extension added in 1948.

Renovations recently completed include a firm new concrete foundation, steel beams, complete new roof and siding installed, finished basement for which there are future plans, and conversion from oil to electric heating.

The new sign over the lodge quarters was donated by WM Murray Clouston, while the official fraternal emblem has occupied its same lofty perch for over 40 years.

In discussing the repairs to the familiar structure, a spokesman for the hall committee noted that J.P.Furniture will continue to maintain warehouse space there. He also mentioned that the lodge membership was grateful to their next-door neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hay for the patience and forbearance exemplified while the alterations were in progress.

Education Task Force Findings Made Known

The Department of Education's task force on provincial testing and evaluation recently presented its final report to Education Minister Gerald S. Merrithew.

Making the presentation were the task force's co-chairmen, Dr. Barry Fontaine of Saint John and Lionel Brunson, principal of Nepisiguit High School, Bathurst.

Commenting on its purpose, Mr. Merrithew said: "Last spring, New Brunswick ended a four-year contract with Educational Testing Service of Princeton, New Jersey. The tests they provided were voluntary but proved to be of little value to students, teachers, the department, or the general public.

"I believe the recommendations in this report will give us the basis for an effective program of school testing. The end result should be a program that will tell us where we are successful in our education system, and where we have to make changes. A program based on this report should also show whether or not we're getting full value from every education dollar we're spending."

The task force met with representatives of 16 associations or institutions, held five public meetings, distributed questionnaires to New Brunswick teachers and received individual comments and briefs.

The 76-page report contains 16 recommendations. Twelve deal with current provincial testing and evaluation programs, such as the general educational development tests for adults, the second language testing program, and the co-operative school evaluation program. Two deal with the creation of new programs, while recommending the discontinuation of the school achievement program, the report recommends the creation of two programs to provide information to teachers, districts and the department, as the extent to which the major objectives of the public school system are being achieved, especially first language study and mathematics.

In addition, the task force recommends a periodic assessment of writing skills in the province, with an emphasis on procedures that would enable identified weaknesses to be eliminated.

The report states that no single testing program can fully meet all needs. It considered the importance of providing information on all students and not just those enrolled in university entrance level courses. It recommends that testing programs, besides being administered at the end of the public school years, be given at the elementary and junior high levels as well, to help cope with individual weaknesses before the student leaves the school system.

Mr. Merrithew stated that his department endorses most of the recommendations in the report, and will now make plans to implement them. He said new testing and evaluation plans for students should be outlined at the end of the school year, and be implemented over the next few years.

CARD OF THANKS

MacKENZIE GOOD

MacKENZIE GOOD — The families of the late Penny MacKenzie and Jenny Good wish to express sincere thanks to all for the many acts of kindness and expressions of sympathy extended to them during their recent bereavement, also to those who sent flowers, donations, mass cards and messages of sympathy. Special thanks to Rev. W. Loader, Arch. Deacon R. H. Murphy, pallbearers, Elhatton's Funeral Home, choir and all who assisted in any way. Your kindnesses are deeply appreciated.

DOUCET — The family of the late Bernard C. Doucet wishes to thank 2 RN, N.B. Regt. (North Shore) for the kindness and consideration shown during their recent sad bereavement, including standing vigil at the funeral home and burial with full military honors.

BLANCHARD — Mrs. Margaret Blanchard wishes to thank Drs. Lantaigne and Billard, I.C.U., Surgical Staff and 3rd floor nurses and staff of Chaleur General Hospital for excellent care and kindness shown her while a patient there. Also friends and clergy for flowers, cards and visits.

CARD OF THANKS

BURAGLIA — The daughters of the late Albert M. Buraglia would like to extend our heartfelt thanks to all our relatives and friends for their sympathy and many cards, flowers and masses received by us at the time of our great loss.

PETERS — The family of the late Seward Peters wish to express sincere thanks to Dr. Alexander, nurses of Chaleur General Hospital, relatives and friends who sent flowers, donations and mass cards, also a special thanks to those who gave a helping hand.

IN MEMORIAM

ANDERSON — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Louis P. Anderson, who passed away Nov. 17, 1965.
Beautiful memories I have treasured forever.
Oh happy days when we were all together.
Like falling leaves the years slipped by,
But loving memories will never die.
Lovingly remembered by Lovena, Lynn, Larry and Leroy.

MELANSON — In loving memory of a dear husband, father and grandfather, Israel Melanson who passed away Nov. 14, 1975.
The leaves and flowers may wither,
The golden sun may set,
But the hearts that loved him dearly
Are the ones that don't forget.
Sadly missed by wife "Alice", son Norman, daughters Rita, Marge, Alice and Shirley and the grandchildren, Debbie, Cheryl, Kevin, Randy and Kelly.

LOCKHART — In loving memory of our dear sons, Garry Malcolm and David Ralph, who left us so suddenly on November 18, 1962.
You bade no one a last farewell,
You gave dear God your hand,
And walked that last short mile with him,
Into that peaceful land.
Always loved and remembered by Mummy and Daddy.

STILL AT KEYBOARD AS TIME RUNS OUT

Our Telecommunications officials recently announced the phasing out of overseas telegraph services as New Brunswick and other parts of Canada. As the closing date for the Bathurst office draws near, Jeanne Veniveau is still busy processing and sending telegrams. Miss Veniveau will be terminating her duties the last week of December. The Campbellton office will also close at the same time.

HUNTERS TOO CLOSE FOR COMFORT

When does hunting end and what is considered City Limits?

It may be hard to believe, but the City of Bathurst has residents so naive that they do not know where to hunt or they go into other peoples' backyards. Such is the case on Riverside Drive.

For years thousands of Canada Geese have landed along the shore and fields in Bathurst Basin area. Recently both adults and juveniles have been trespassing on property owned by Walter Branch and his neighbours. They are shooting at the geese which feed in the fields in this area.

Sunday, a motorist stopped, took a shot at the birds, then drove away. Monday morning, a person was standing at the CN railway tracks shooting towards Mr. Branch's house.

Passers-by and youngsters in the neighbourhood are risking their lives by being in this area. If some serious steps are taken to stop these shootings before it's too late. They are in the heart of the City but trigger-happy hunters just don't seem to realize it.

The area from the Co tracks to the Bypass, to private property and fence trails have been made for Sunday and weekday riding. It's become so dangerous to travel on this property - which is in the City limits whether covered with weeds or not - that riders have to be equipped with bells to scare the hunters.

While enjoying the fresh air and riding horses on their property one day last week, members of the Branch family noticed upon a flock of geese. As they lifted to fly away, a group of hunters began shooting, almost causing injury to the riders.

The Branch's and residents have very concerned about this situation and would appreciate it if hunting was done in the proper places.

The City of Bathurst covers a radius of five miles in all directions and people are not allowed to discharge a firearm within these boundaries.

Another flower found by Mrs. Branch, was a stick with a string and three-prong hooks attached to it and baited with cranberries. How cruel can people get? Can you imagine the suffering and pain these defenseless birds go through before dying?

Some geese have been found with broken legs and wings, and are left there to die because no one seems to know who is in charge of caring for them.

Addresses Policy Conference

Gloucester MP Herb Breau told delegates to an Atlantic Liberal policy conference Sunday, September 26 that change is being made difficult by left and right wing groups.

Speaking to about 45 persons who attended the Moncton conference, Mr. Breau said his party is being questioned very seriously by both the left and the right. "Any social change becomes difficult in a time of economic instability", said Mr. Breau.

He said policy-makers should remember the long as well as short-term goals and stick to middle-of-the-road policies for Canada.

VALUE OF SCHOOL MUSIC EMPHASIZED

One of the many workshops held on Friday October 29 in School District No. 4 was the Music Workshop at the Bathurst High School Music Room.

The workshop, given by Connie Fellows, English music co-ordinator, brought teachers and students together to share the joy of music.

In her opening remarks, Mrs. Fellows emphasized the importance of the development of an appreciation of music in children along with the skills of the music language. She spoke of Kodaly, a great Hungarian authority on School Music who believes music should be for every child - not only the talented few but for the physically handicapped. If a child doesn't have to have two good hands to play the tambourine, the children with learning disabilities who may find great success in this subject, the troubled child and the normal child.

Mrs. Fellows spoke of the Orff and Kodaly objectives to provide the whole child with a musical experience and how concepts are taught by means of games.

"My first objective in teaching has always been to make music a joy for the children", said Mrs. Fellows.

The music co-ordinator spoke of the importance of dramatization and the use of choral speech in the classroom, pointing out that children with learning disabilities often benefit greatly from these aspects.

The Candy Canes were on hand for demonstrations entitled, "A Day in the Life of Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart" and "Three Drummer Boys".

She also explained that the ballerina Mozart can become as well known and loved by primary children as Little Red Riding Hood and other nursery rhymes when presented in this manner.

Mrs. Fellows went on to say the children that become acquainted with Mozart and other great composers will develop an interest in good music that will follow them through school and into their adult life.

Those involved in the demonstration on Mozart were Matthew Legere as Mozart, Lorraine Leger as Nannerl, sister of Mozart, Sheila Chaisson, Mozart's father, Martha Gammon, Mozart's mother, Cathy Quigg, Queen, Brenda Chapman, King, Allison Currie, Ellen Gammon and Pauline Bay, children of the Royal Family, Lynn Fraulds, maid to the King and Queen.

Other Candy Canes involved in demonstrations were Michelle Jenkins, Anita and Sue Sundaram, Karla Coughlan, Shelly and Barbie Nicholson, Ellen Branch, Cindy Hornbrook, Lisa Robertson, Susan DeWolfe, Kim Knowles, Nancy Hachey and Shauna Boyle.

The afternoon sessions found Candy Canes and teachers side by side singing songs that included I Believe In Music and It's A Small World After All.

Speaking after the workshop, Mrs. Fellows remarked, "anyone hearing this group uniting their voices in the first workshop of this kind in our district, would say teachers of School District No. 4 do believe in music."

Surviving besides his wife, the former Lila Smith, are one son, Kenson of Vancouver Island, one sister, Mrs. Adeline Case, Janeville, eight grandchildren, nine great-grandgreatgrandchildren, and several nieces and nephews.

He was predeceased by three children, Mrs. Walter Brunton (Mildred) and Revola and Wesley.

Amalgamate For Fire, Ambulance Services

A meeting was held at the Janeville Fire Hall Nov. 15, at the request of the Minister of Municipal Affairs Horace B. Smith. At this time it was announced that the area between Bathurst City Limits and the eastern limits of New Bandon, including Canobie, had been amalgamated to form a Local Service District for the purposes of fire protection and ambulance service. This was the result of an order-in-council, effective Nov. 3, 1976.

It was pointed out that the area up to Janeville had a limited amount of fire protection at the moment from the Grand Anse Fire Department but that this coverage would cease at the end of the year.

The Salmon Beach area did have coverage from the Bathurst Fire Department but this has now ceased. The Canobie area has no protection.

It was as a result of this situation that the New Bandon Improvement Association had asked the minister to form the Local Service District.

Also at the meeting, an advisory committee was elected, consisting of Frank Hunter, chairman; Glendon Crowther, secretary; William Knowles, Rod Archibald, and Frank Miller. The purpose of the committee is to act as an advisory body to inform the minister of Municipal Affairs as to the wishes of the people in the area in the matters of fire protection and ambulance service.

It is hoped that a volunteer fire department will be in operation in early 1977.

Similar organizations to that just completed at Janeville are planned for the Allardville area and that part of the Parish of Bathurst not included within city limits. The latter district includes the communities of North and South Teteagouche, Big River, Rough Waters, Bathurst Mines, Goodwins Mills, Middle and Little River.

Working Funds Keep Sinking

Key Anacon Mines experienced a further decrease in working capital for the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1976, L. McC Ritchie, president, reports.

Working capital decreased by $45,209 to stand at a deficiency of $74,109 compared with a deficiency of $34,106 the year before. This is a decrease of $2,333 over the previous three months.

A sale of investments netted $12,253, but expenditures totalled $77,153.

However, 500,000 shares of Brunswick Mining and Smelting held by Key Anacon, quoted at a market value of $2,750,000, were not included in current assets. A dividend of 5 cents per share was declared on these shares, effective Nov. 15, 1976, for a total of $25,000.

Exploration work on the company's properties was continued but the results were not reported.

Wood Producers To Meet Gov't

On november 25, at 2 p.m. in the Charlotte Room of the Agricultural Research Station in Fredericton, the N.B. Federation of Wood Producers will meet with the Minister of Natural Resources and the Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development to present and discuss the federation's position on how the government's new forest policy should work. Every private wood-producing group in the province will be represented at the meeting to urge the government to take immediate action on their proposals which, in one form or another, have been before the government for ten years or more.

Private wood producer groups are especially concerned with the section in the new policy statement that would make "private wood the primary source of the industry's needs with Crown wood becoming the secondary source". The proper implementation of this section of the policy is crucial for the survival of the small private wood producer and his organization.

It is also a prerequisite for the successful introduction of intensive forest management among private producers. Without satisfactorily negotiated markets for private wood products, the federation feels, forest management will remain a minor digression from impending ruin in the forest industry in the province.

The securing of fair and stable markets for private wood producer groups is not an isolated concern of a special interest group. Instead, it is a key factor in counteracting the pulp and paper companies disregard for the resources and people of New Brunswick, the federation said in a news release this week.

Because the federation feels the issue is a matter of public concern, an invitation is extended to all to attend the upcoming meeting.

YOUR BUSINESS
Gov't Spending: The Debate Grows

By VINCENT EGAN
Business and Consumer Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

Even though the worst of Canada's super-inflation seems to have passed - for the time being, at least - economists are still debating the causes of it.

Some blame corporate profiteering and price gouging. Others blame labor profiteering in the form of huge wage increases without corresponding productivity increases. Still others blame it on governments that print money like crazy to support vote-getting spending sprees.

The question of the culpability of government spenders has led to a royal Canadian controversy among certain economists this year.

Last March, senior staff economist Robert Crozier of the Conference Board in Canada published a detailed report that concluded that deficit financing by governments wasn't, in itself, one of the factors that initiated super inflation.

That prompted Rutus Richardson and Charles Loewen, Toronto investment dealers to publish a report refuting to their satisfaction the Crozier report and demonstrating that the federal government, by "monetizing the deficits" had in fact made an important contribution to the inflationary process.

RAPID GROWTH

Now Mr. Crozier has come back with another salvo, defending his view that government deficit financing shouldn't be blamed, but finding some common ground with Messers. Richardson and Loewen.

There is no disagreement on these three conclusions.

The rate of growth in Canada's money supply was unusually rapid after 1970, and was incompatible with price stability.

This rapid growth undoubtedly contributed to the sharp rise in prices following the 1969-70 recession. But there were many other factors as well.

The growth of spending and taxation at all levels of government has been much too rapid over the past decade, and has created serious problems for the economy.

Mr. Crozier contends, however, that those problems weren't associated with expansion of the money supply, and therefore inflation.

Rather, in his view they were associated with the transferring of economic resources away from wealth-creating activities, with the impact of big tax increases on incentives, and with wasteful and non-productive forms of government spending.

MONEY SUPPLY

Money supply, defined broadly, consists of currency outside chartered banks, total demand deposits of chartered banks, personal savings and non-personal term and notice deposits, and government of Canada deposits.

The growth rate jumped sharply from 5.2 per cent in 1970 to 20.1 per cent the next year, and has ranged between 15.8 per cent and 20.9 per cent in the succeeding years.

That's a far higher rate of growth than either Gross National Product, the value of all goods and services produced, or the GNP price index.

Meanwhile, the federal government's financing requirements have risen to record highs. From a surplus of $300 million in 1969, the government has run up new debts to the extent of $4,969 million in 1975 alone.

Mr. Crozier emphasizes, however, that "there is no evidence in the record that government deficit financing as such had been one of the factors contributing to Canada's inflation."

That conclusion rests on a definition of deficit financing that excludes federal borrowing to accumulate foreign exchange, cash balance, or for making loans and advances.

Other economists, however, might reject that definition and conclude that the net result of all types of deficit financing was to force the Bank of Canada to pump up the money supply and thus fan the flames of inflation.

The Father Of Hydro Power

Sir Adam Beck, an engineer from London, Ontario was the father of hydro power in North America.

It was Beck who conceived the Ontario Hydro Electric System after long battles with the private power companies.

Dr. Thomas Hogg, Beck's right hand man, fought the technical battles while Beck laboured on the political front. They were responsible for setting up a unique organization that has served as a model for public power throughout the world.

Hogg and Beck also introduced hundreds of technological innovations.

Adam Beck launched a travelling caravan in 1912 to promote his concept of cheap power in every home, whether in the city or in the country. The caravans were sent across southwestern Ontario to demonstrate the blessings of electricity.

The wagons, pulled by horses, showed the remarkable new power-washing machines and saws at country fairs and farms.

Remembrance Day Observed In County

Remembrance Day ceremonies in Caraquet last Thursday, took place quietly as residents joined by those in the surrounding regions, paid homage to the many fallen in the two great wars.

The ceremony began with the celebration of mass at the St. Peter in Chains Caraquet Roman Catholic Church at 10 a.m., officiated by parish priest Rev. Fortunat Watters.

The veterans, RCMP color guard, members of the Legion and Ladies's Auxiliary, then paraded to the Cenotaph where some 20 wreaths were laid and two minutes silence observed in memory of the dead.

Legion branch executive Omer Robichaud, who led the parade with Legion president Leopard Gionet, briefly addressed the gathering after which the traditional Last Post and Reveille was played.

The first wreath was laid by the Legion president, followed by Caraquet Mayor Germain Blanchard, on behalf of the town, Rev. McGraw, and by representatives of organizations and by individuals themselves.

Rev. McGraw, and by representatives of organizations and by individuals themselves.

The salute was taken in front of the Cenotaph, after which the group moved off to the Knights of Columbus Hall for a dinner banquet, and the Legion Hall for a stand-in. A dance was held in the evening.

The community of Bas-Caraquet held Remembrance Day ceremonies of their own beginning at 9:30 a.m. at the Cenotaph the same day.

In Tracadie, Armistice Day ceremonies were held under sunny skies beginning with the Armistice parade which left the Royal Canadian Legion at 9:30 a.m.

The parade included war veterans, Legionnaires, ladies' Auxiliary, members of the RCMP and municipal police force, as well as the local Air Cadet Squadron.

The parade reached St. John Baptist Roman Catholic Church on Main Street for a 10 a.m. Remembrance Day service celebrated by Rev. Benoit Roux. Cenotaph ceremonies followed the mass and wreaths were placed at the Cenotaph by Legion President Harry Savoie and by Silver Cross Mother Mrs. Rose Hache who lost two sons int the last war.

The traditional two minutes of silence was held at 11 a.m. then Captain Claude Savoie and Harry Savoie saluted the march past.

A banquet at the Legion, Branch 45 followed with golden anniversary service medals awarded and the presentation of pins to past Legion presidents.

New Television Channel Offers Program Variety

CHSJ's fall schedule introduces 12 new television programs to New Brunswick viewers this season: action, adventure, comedy and drama - all destined to be on the top ratings. Included will be such highly successful favorites as Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman, Starsky and Hutch, The Blue Knight, Charlie's Angels, Baretta, Rich Man, Poor Man, The Muppets, The New Tony Randall Show, King of Kensington and a host of others.

One of the new innovations this season on CHSJ-TV will be the replacement of afternoon movies with a battery of exciting game fun shows and Mary Hartman.

Starting off at noon every day is "Tattle Tales", a strictly-for-laughs program featuring three well-known husband and wife teams as contestants. Celebrity couples give surprising and often hilarious answers to questions by host Bert Convy. At 12:30, daytimes television's number one game show "Match Games" with host Gene Raeburn will be featured.

At 1 p.m., "Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman", a top-rated series, comes to all CHSJ's New Brunswick stations. "Mary Hartman" is said by the critics to be the most disconcertingly funny show ever produced for TV. It's not only entertaining, often controversial, but its cast of characters is superb, not the least of which is the star, Louise Lasser as Mary Hartman.

Following this zany tongue-in-cheek series is the all-time favorite personality game show "Hollywood Squares" at 1:30 p.m. better than ever for 1976-77 with the return of Hollywood's top personalities and, of course, Paul Lynde.

Another daily innovation on CHSJ is the classic comedy series "The Little Rascals". Hal Roach, a legendary film maker 40 years ago, produced kid comedies that have become classics - The Little Rascals, Our Gang and others. These original films have been put together in a television series which is sweeping the popularity polls with young and old all over America. Every day at 5 p.m., CHSJ viewers will see the most famous kids ever filmed. Hilarious hi-jinks for the whole family.

Another daily feature is "The Odd Couple". Following the News each evening at 6:30 p.m., the Emmy-winning Jack Klugman and his side-kick Tony Randall will surely become a regular viewing habit.

Exciting new action and adventure dramas make their debut on CHSJ this season. Tuesdays at 7 p.m., "Starsky and Hutch", an action-packed series about a pair of unusual young plain-clothes policeman. David Soul stars as the soft-spoken Ken Hutch and Paul Glaser as the irrepressible Dave Starsky.

Wednesdays at 7 p.m., George Kennedy stars as "The Blue Knight". Kennedy portrays a veteran cop who is finely attuned to the pulse of the streets. The Blue Knight is written by Joseph Wambaugh, the famous Los Angeles policeman who wrote such popular police novels as The New Centurians, and The Onion Field. Academy Award winner George Kennedy is bound to be a winner in this new series.

Fridays at 7 p.m. will see another new series, "Charlie's Angels". Three beautiful ex-policewomen are hired as private investigators by a mysterious employer known only as Charlie. When Charlie calls his three georgeous private-eyes; they find themselves involved in a series of high adventures. Kate Jackson, Farrah Fawcett-Majors and Jocelyn Smith star as Charlie's Angels.

Also on Friday, CHSJ introduces to Atlantic Canada one of the most talked-about TV dramatic series yet produced - "Rich Man, Poor Man", at 10 p.m.

"Rich Man, Poor Man", based on the internationally popular novel by Irwin Shaw is one of the most ambitious projects ever undertaken for television, and it has the critics cheering. As they tell it - it's powerful, realistic drama, a milestone in television history - loaded with superior writing, excellent acting and believable characters.

Saturdays at 8 p.m. introduces to CHSJ-TV viewers still another of TV's highest-rated programs - "Baretta" - Starring Robert Blake. In a world of television detectives, Tony Baretta is unique; his methods are unorthodox and include a wide range of disguises to solve his cases. "Baretta" may be only a TV drama, but it has the flavor of reality.

Other new shows include The Muppets, King of Kensington and The New Tony Randall Show. There is another season of Star Trek and The Lone Ranger, The World of Disney and Tommy Hunter.

Other returning favorites are "Hawaii Five-O, Mondays at 7 p.m., "Police Story" Thursdays at 7 p.m., "Space 1999" Saturdays at 6 p.m. and Barney Miller Tuesdays at 10:30 p.m.

Back at their regular stands for another season are Rhoda, All in the Family, Phyllis, Front Page Challenge, Happy Days, M.A.S.H., Carol Burnett, Mary Tyler Moore, Chico and the Man, Kotter, N.B. Today and NHL Hockey.

Apart from Hollywood and CBC network, local productions take on a new look. CHSJ-TV will produce in its Saint John studios several new programs this season. Mondays at 2 p.m. "What's New for You" hosted by Sue Knight - a 30 minute pot-pouri of tips and novelties for the homemaker and do-it-yourself buffs.

Wednesdays at 2 p.m., "Tomorrow, You are We", an in-depth series of weekly programs for the senior citizens of New Brunswick is hosted by Louise Adler, consultant to the N.B. Senior Citizens Federation. The series will be produced by Mel Johnston.

"Let's Face It", Thursdays at 2 p.m. is another new series with Ann Ramey. Designed to air problems from viewers, the program will feature a panel of experts, qualified to deal with a wide range of problems.

On Saturdays, Christa Roberts hosts a new series of half-hour programs on sports and health activities in the community. "On the Go" will be seen each Saturday at 2:30 p.m.

Returning again this season, "Talent Parade" promises to be better than ever. A number of new features are planned to give a wide scope to talented New Brunswick and Nova Scotia artists. "Talent Parade" wil be seen Saturdays at 2 p.m.

Niven Miller, The Gospelaires and New Life return on Sundays.

CBC Sports will be better than ever with football and hockey, along with a wide selection of special events. Market Place, The Ombudsman and Newsmagazine will take their usual place, and to top off the day, CHSJ-TV exclusive "Merv Griffin" will be with us for another season - every weeknight at 11:30 p.m. following the News.

Many extraordinary specials are also scheduled for the season including an evening with Sandler and Young -a series of Guiness Book of Records specials with David Frost - specials from Las Vagas, New York and Hollywood - on location with Allan King - series of "Unsolved Mysteries" and a "View on Crime" and many more to be announced in the coming months.

All in all, As Chico would say, television on CHSJ is "looking good".

Registrations Now On Sale

Passenger and commerical motor vehicle registrations to 9500 pounds gross vehicle weight for 1977 went on sale at all provincial revenue offices on Monday, Nov. 15.

In making the announcement, Provincial Secretary Omer Leger requested that all registered owners "renew their vehicle registrations as early as possible so that long delays will not be encountered later in the renewal period".

There are a number of points owners should be reminded of when obtaining new registrations, Mr. Leger said. The 1976 registration certificate should be available, proof that a valid insurance policy is in existence must be shown in the form of a liability card and the vehicle to be registered should display a valid vehicle inspection sticker.

The department is seeking two items of new information this year, during the registration process. In order to facilitate mailing situations that can occur later, registered owners will be asked to supply their postal code identification number in all cases.

In addition, all registered owners, except companies, will be asked to supply the date of birth of the registered owner or, in the case of leased vehicles, the date of birth of the listed operator.

The latter information is required for a new records keeping system being developed within the motor vehicle branch.

A gummed sticker similar to that used for 1976 will be applied to the 1975 passenger plate to validate it for 1977.

Amended Pact Benefits Area

The Northeast New Brunswick FRED Agreement has been amended by Premier Hatfield and the Honourable Marcel Lessard, Minister of Regional Economic Expansion, to enable all remaining funds in the agreement to be used in an effective manner. Approximately $14,000,000 will be expended this year and next year, to September 30, 1977.

The amendment permits the transfer of funds to priority projects. Additional funding is being made available for the Small Industry Incentive Program (NED) and for municipal infrastructure.

In anticipation of the signing of the new agreement for Northeast New Brunswick, the amendment allows for the initiation of projects pertaining to the Bathurst Institute of Technology, the Shippegan Marine Centre and the Bathurst Water Treatment Plant. It is expected that these projects will be continued under the new agreement. In this manner, an early start can be made on projects to provide employment in the current fiscal year.

The FRED Agreement officially terminated on September 30, 1976, but expenditures under the agreement can continue till September 30, 1977.

"In amending the agreement", the Premier and Mr. Lessard said, "we are attempting to tidy up the old agreement while moving towards a new one".

A hit is invested into the Beaver Colony.

Three Ring Ceremony Is Held

First United Boy Scouts held a three ring Scouting ceremony at the Donald Eddy Memorial Hall on Wednesday, Nov. 4.

In the Beaver ring, nine kits of the "A" Colony were invested as full-fledged Beavers. There were Jeremy Lethbridge, Bradley Scott, Geoffrey Stewart, Dino Simard, Peter Burns, Claude Buraglia, Bobby Sharpe, Ted Smith and Ted Miller.

A longtime Beaver who had outgrown the local dam, Paul Culton, swam up to the Cub pack. With a crash of lightning and clap of thunder, Paul was transformed from Beaver to Cub.

Cubs also were causing dust in their den, with Craig McMaster, Brian Fisher and Ricky McLean moving on to become Scouts.

Finally, the Scout ring saw Kevin McDermott promoted to Pioneer Scout. District Scoutmaster Derwyn Scott presented Kevin with his well-deserved award.

Local Scouts Merit Achievement Awards

Seven Boy Scouts from Bathurst District were among 44 presented with achievement awards Saturday, Nov. 13 in ceremonies at the N.B. Legislature in Fredericton.

Lieutenant-Governor Hedard J. Robichaud presented the parchment certificates signed by Governor-General Jules Leger, Chief Scout of Canada, in recognition of the Boys' high level of leadership, voluntary service to the community and outdoor skills.

Receiving the award from Bathurst were David R. Gaul, Andrew C. MacLean and Anthony J. Nicholson, First United Troop; George A. Payne, Joseph W. Eddy and Andrew C. Hudnett, New Bandon United Troop; and Brian M. Daley, St. Alban's Troop.

The Chief Scout's award represents "some very hard work and a step towards adulthood" for the Pathfinder Scouts, according to Bill Walker, provincial field executive of Scout Canada and former District Commissioner for Bathurst.

The Scouts are recommended for the award by the troop leaders and fellow Scouts. Some of the requirements include keeping a promise to give a minimum of 30 hours of voluntary service to the community; providing leadership in organizing and carrying out a service project; meeting with an adult group from a community institution to discuss the need and provision of services in the community; and earning certain gold achievement awards.

Feeding Your Cat

By Marguerit Morrison

Cats are essentially carnivorous and as such depend on animal food supplemented by vegetables and milk for their diet.

Meats such as liver, kidney, heart as well as eggs and fish are all acceptable. Fish or prepared cat food made mainly of fish should only be fed to them about once or twice a week. Baby food is useful for a cat who is finicky or ill.

Young kittens, six to twelve weeks old, should be fed about six times daily in small amounts and should be given such things as milk and Pablum cereal or strained baby food. Bones should never be given to a cat.

Kittens, expecially winter kittens, should have Vitamin D added to their diets. A cod liver oil concentrate, given daily in the food, is suggested, the amount depending on the size of the kitten. Give about one drop to three pounds of body weight.

An adult cat should have two meals a day. It is best not to leave food available at all times because a cat can become fat and lazy. Fed properly, a cat should be alert, vigorous and have a keen appetite for all meals.

Trade Boosted By Bus Tours

Boosted by a significant increase in bus tours, the 1976 tourist season ended on an optimistic note, Tourism Minister Fernand Dube, said November 10.

"The fall season was good for most operators, in comparison to the serious declines experienced during mid season," said Mr. Dube. He noted that the provincial room occupancy rate for September held at 69 per cent, approximately one percent below last year.

Mr. Dube said that when increases in the growth of accommodations are considered this means an actual increase of approximately 1,700 rooms rented during the month.

The most outstanding development during the latter half of the tourist season was a complete reversal in the downward trend in tour bus registrations.

"At the end of July bus tour registrations were running 16 percent below last year," Mr. Dube said. "A 38 percent increase during the last three months brings our total number of tours staying overnight to 699, or 11 percent more than last year.

"Sixty-seven tours were accommodated in October alone", he noted, "almost four times as many as last year."

Mr. Dube attributed this year's success to the province's increasing appeal as a destination area. He noted that the overall number of tours to the Atlantic Provinces has declined by more than ten percent. New Brunswick's increase has resulted from a very significant increase in overnight stays by tours which normally pass through the province.

The strong autumn traffic has helped offset the more serious declines experienced during mid-season, the minister stated.

Total visitation for the year is down an estimated 7.4 percent, over 1975. This results mainly from a 15.8 percent decline in direct entries from the U.S. or a loss of approximately 86,000 U.S. visitors. The U.S. drop reached its peak in August when visitation fell 24 percent below 1975. While Canadian markets (particularly Quebec) held much more stable, they were unable to offset the decline. The result saw the provincial occupancy rate for August falling approximately seven percent below the level of last year.

Mr. Dube expressed optimism that the strong fall season is indicative of a promising year in 1977 now that events such as the Olympics and U.S. Bicentennial have run their course.

BUYING CHILDREN'S SNOWSUITS

FACTORS TO CONSIDER

SIZE: Buy a size the child can fit for two years. A new jacket should have long sleeves and pant legs should be long and full (the ribbed cuffs hold them in place). The crotch should be deep. Unless Junior has a sudden growth spurt, or is extremely hard on the knees of his pants, a snowsuit can usually be worn "for good" one year and for play the next year.

Durability: Check the label for the fibre content of the snowsuit. The label will show what the outer fabric, lining, and batting are made of. Nylon is the most durable fabric for snowsuits. Acrylic pile is also very durable but doesn't clean as well and tends to look matted fairly quickly. Cotton is not durable, especially for snowpants, and polyester cotton blends can be quite acceptable.

Pile linings are very durable although they may aquaemmatted. Nylon and polyester flannels are also very durable. Rayon or acetate linings, quilted and plain, are very popular lining fabrics, but they are not durable.

Batting or insulating materials are either polyester fibre fill or reclaimed fibres, usually dark and spotty in color are sometimes quilted to a rayon lining, and are often found in the low to medium garments.

Double knees on snowpants are a durability feature: these patches of the snowpant fabric should be sewn on the outside of the pants. The patches will wear out first rather than the snowpant fabric and can be replaced.

Water repellency: Some provision for water repellency should be considered. A tightly woven nylon fabric usually is sufficiently water repellent without a special treatment. Some nylon fabrics are coated on the back, or have a water repellent finish.

Cotton and polyester cotton fabrics should be treated. A label should indicate when a water repellent finish has been used.

Care: Many garments are labelled with symbols to indicate the method for cleaning. Hand washing or machine washing on a gentle cycle would be suitable for a washable snowsuit. Sometimes the seams fray out with too much agitation in the laundry. Hang to dry, and when the garment is just damp, tumble-dry it for a few minutes to remove creases and to fluff the batting.

If there is no care label, drycleaning is the safest method of cleaning.

With all these factors to consider, plus the added personal preference for color and design details, finding a suitable snowsuit can be quite a task!

'Shakir Strip' Aids UNICEF

When one first learns that the "Shakir strip" is being used by UNICEF workers, the mind boggles. The phrase conjures up images not usually associated with the United Nations Children's Fund, a most serious organization.

But the "Shakir strip" isn't what it sounds like. Its actually a piece of non-stretch material which can be made from old X-ray film. And it is used to locate starving youngsters in time to save them.

The strip is marked with red, yellow and green zones, and measures the middle of a youngster's upper arm. Those whose upper arm measures 12.5 centimetres or less - the red zone on the strip - are the children in serious danger. They require immediate food therapy and care, as do the moderately malnourished children who fall into the 'yellow' zone on the strip.

Such simple measures are part of UNICEF's latest concentration on developing village level technologies designed to help needy people to help themselves. Even primary school children or illiterate workers have been trained to use the "Shakir strip" to find severely or moderately malnourished children in their own communities.

As governments adopt the "village worker" approach, this system may provide a significant turning point in development. Most preventive measures, and a large number of medical procedures, are simple enough not to call for extensive professional training. It is estimated that 90 per cent of the typical community's health problems could be dealt with either directly or through referral by primary health workers.

By bringing into national plans and programmes those people in the countryside and in urban areas who have until now been largely excluded, this approach could energize the greatest untapped resource for national growth and development.

However, modest as these methods may seem, they still take money to implement. The sale of greeting cards through UNICEF provides some of the moneys needed to fund programmes for better nutrition, better education and better health care that benefit children in 100 developing countries.

For a copy of your free brochure illustrating this year's selection, contact: New Brunswick UNICEF Committee, 15 Canterbury Street, P. O. Box 6721, Station A, Saint John, N.B., E2L 4S2.

Mr. Chasson, who suffered serious leg and back injuries during a mining accident at Chibougamau, Que. in 1965, learned to work in this special media while in hospital in Quebec. Besides finding it difficult to get around, Mr. Chasson is also required to use a heart pacer.

Group projects on display and for sale included articles from the Adult Workshop at Bass River, Showcase and Canadian Council of the Blind Bathurst Club.

For display only, along with publicity and promotion purposes in seeking members as well as workers, was a table of articles made by members of the Bathurst Branch, Canadian Red Cross Society, and helpers, who either work at home or come to the Red Cross work rooms which are open Mondays through Fridays in the afternoon.

Pictures by Al Beckel, Carron Point Road, worked in bronze, steel and copper, ceramics by Mrs. Stanley Miller of Salmon Beach, and her daughter, Mrs. Debbie Good of Bathurst, and knitting, sewing, fancy work, quilting and other handicraft were displayed by Mrs. Carl Hills, Youghal, Mrs. Janet Gowdy and her mother Mrs. Aiken, and Ms. Muriel Frenette, all of Bathurst.

Mrs. Lyman Smith of Youghal had a display of bedspreads owned by Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Towers of Sackville; Mrs. Frank Elliottion and Mrs. E. R. Shirley displayed their skill in smocking and Edna Chapman featured needlepoint items.

Mrs. Al Barnes, Mrs. John Gillis, Mrs. Bill Connolly and C. Pat Ryan, all of the city, had pinned one or more hand-made items on display.

In the "for display only" section also were knitted articles by Mrs. John Moerman who starts from scratch when she makes this type of clothing. Mrs. Moerman buys the raw wool which she cards and spins herself, and of course, must wash the wool before knitting.

The IODE members served coffee during the day from 1:30 to 9 p.m., sold tickets at the door, and on the lottery for a fruit cake made and donated by a member, Mrs. W. B. Orser. They also held a home-cooking sale during the evening, starting at seven o'clock.

The door prize, donated by the chapter, was a vanity mirror in a wrought iron frame and stand, the handiwork of Norman St. Pere, Bathurst. It was won by Mrs. George Hudson, 870 Union St.

A surprise donation from Dixie Lee, a "bucket of chicken" was given as a second door prize and won by Mrs. Margaret Knowles, 1890 Bridge St.

Mrs. G. P. Milton, regent of Gloucester Chapter, has announced that the Legion Hall already has been booked for the third annual handicraft display and sale in the fall of 1977.

Psychology, Painting Are Meeting Topics

President Lenie Martin called the Oct. 13 meeting of Kappa Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, to order, eight members and three guests were present.

It was decided that the service committee would purchase a sewing machine to be donated to the Bass River Adult Workshop, also that a Hallowe'en masquerade party would be held at the home of Don and Ann Crozier on Oct. 29, with members each bringing a box lunch.

The evening's cultural program was presented by Aurore Despres. Her topic was psychology, based on living psychology: living with oneself, others and society.

"Oneself" actually consists of three basic components, the speaker noted: the way a person views herself; what one thinks about her abilities, assets, limitations, her past and future; and finally, one's attitudes towards herself, and in later life, including ideals, values and convictions.

Following the program, lunch was served by hostesses Jean Nelson and Karen Estey, the latter being the winner of the surprise box.

On Oct. 27, the regular meeting was held at the home of the president, Mrs. Martin. Nine members and five guests attended.

Volunteers were asked to work at the T.N.B. performance. Daughter-in-Law Posters were handed out for distribution.

Plans for the "Valentine Ball" were discussed at the E. C. Committee held at the home of Jill White. Tickets, decorations and door prizes will be handled by all three chapters working together on the project. Further details on the ball will again be discussed and announced at a later date.

"Art and Painting" was the topic of the evening's program by Peggy Nadeau. Each member was involved in the experience of painting with oils, working on the subject "autumn trees" with enthusiasm. Each created a work showing her own impression and feeling.

Some of the points brought out by Mrs. Nadeau during the session included: 1) how to hold the paint brush; 2) sketching if your picture freely, using paint thinned with turpentine; 3) underpainting; 4) perspective — depth; 5) tone (three tones in leaves); 6) the effect of sunlight on trees.

Everyone was encouraged by Mrs. Nadeau to develop a style of her own.

It was an evening of fun, and a better understanding of oil painting resulted.

Sue Burns was mystery box winner.

Music was supplied by members of the Aubie family. The children had also composed a special song in honor of their parents.

A buffet lunch and beautifully decorated anniversary cake was served about 11 p.m., which brought festivities to a close.

ANN LANDERS

Seeks Help To Improve Sex Life

By ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My wife and I have been married for 20 years and we both read your column. Naturally when you are on "69" table I point it out to her and she does the same to me.

If you say one more time, "It's up to you to thaw the dull out", "There are no frigid women, only clumsy men", or "Tell him what pleases you," etc., I think I'll cancel our subscription to the paper.

Long ago, life as so routine you wouldn't believe it. I got more out of Whore, the high school vamp, than I get from my wife.

Yes, I took your advice and "told her what pleases me." Well, it doesn't happen to please HER so that's the end of it. She keeps asking where I got such ideas, insinuating that I've been out cutting around, which is not true. I tell her it's instinct. It is, isn't it?

Please answer this question and at the same time I'd appreciate some suggestions on what to do to improve our sex life. Hrm.—65 And Still Alive

Hmm Alive: Yes, it IS instinct. People in love don't need lessons. As for what you can do to improve your sex life: A weekend at a motel is one do-wonders. Or even one night. A small gift for no reason at all is a great mood-changer. But most important is the matter of timing. Too many husband expect their wives to become Instant Cleopatras even though she has had a miserable day with the kids or a "misunderstanding" with the mother, or worse yet — a fight with HIM. Good lovemaking demands a prelude that conveys warmth and genuine appreciation of her as a total person. Try it, friend, and you'll see that I am right.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When we became engaged, my husband gave me a lovely emerald-cut diamond ring. We are now in the process of preparing our wills. Of course, I am leaving everything to him if I should go first. However, if he should pre-decease me, or in case of a common disaster, I want to leave the ring to a very dear relative.

My husband objects. He insists the ring should become part of my estate. I was under the impression that the ring was a gift to me and therefore I was free to do with it whatever I wish.

We would appreciate your worth on this subject. I want to be fair. Who is right? — Believer Needed

DEAR BELIEVER: You are. To deny you this pleasure would be crass and small-minded. My hunch is that he doesn't like your close relative.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: May I say a word or two to "Andy, who wrote to ask if he would be violating his guarantee if his sister married her brother." The poor guy was afraid that if he married the girl their children might not be normal mentally.

I think Andy had better worry about his kids being normal no matter WHO he marries. If he can't figure THAT one out without writing to Ann Landers, all I say is, GOOD GRIEF! — Have Your Columns

DEAR DIANE: Make that a double order of good grief. I'm with you.

Planning a wedding? What's right? What's wrong Ann Landers's completely new "The Bride's" will relieve your anxiety. To receive a copy, send a dollar bill, plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope (13 cents postage) to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Chosen As Participants Of International Camp

Representatives from the Sharvanae Ranger Unit of Gloucester Division of Girl Guides of Canada have been selected to attend the 1977 International Camp in Cape Breton.

Approximately 2,000 Guides from all parts of the world are expected to take part in the two-week event set for July 29 to Aug. 7.

Kelly Grebenc and Carol Orser have been chosen as participants from the local unit and Colleen Murphy and Trudy Norton as alternates.

Objective of the camp is "to offer participants a look at the infinite choices for service and leisure time activities in society today."

The girls will take part in activities such as canoeing, backpacking and trekking, drama, ecological presentations and overnight camping via bicycle travel. In fact, the program of activities is endless.

There will even be an indoor rink built by Sports Canada and skates donated — particularly for the use of Guides from Africa, Iran, India, etc., who have never donned skates.

The girls have been chosen by a "selection committee" comprising two ladies and two gentlemen, persons interested in the Guiding Movement but not directly involved. The girls were interviewed individually and judging was conducted on the point system and pertained to four categories.

A total of 48 Guides and two unit leaders will be representing New Brunswick.

New Members Are Welcomed

The Nov. 10 meeting of Nappan Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, began with the opening ritual followed by the installation of Kappa's social sponsor, Mrs. Louise Leger, also a ritual of welcome for Pat Mingeau, a transferee from Delta Kappa Chapter in Mississauga, Ont.

Next, there was a pledge ritual for new members Sue Burns, Ann Rendell and Susan McTavish.

Information contained on a flyer received from Saint John regarding a convention to be held in the Port City on April 28-30, 1977, the theme being "Roaring 20's," was read. It was also mentioned that more information will follow at a later date.

Another circular from Maine regarding a convention June 3-5, 1977 at Sebasco Lodge, Sebasco, Me., and the theme, "Pot of Gold", was read.

The annual campaign concerning Theatre New Brunswick season tickets now is taking place and each member was given a list of names to contact.

Plays for the forthcoming season will be: The Dollar Woman; Taming Of The Shrew; The Incredible Murder of Cardinal Tosca; Waiting For Godot; and Da.

Prices of the season tickets is $21.50.

The evening's program on the topic, popular music, was presented by Diane Knowles.

Mrs. Knowles gave an interesting talk on the changes in music since 1940 and how people relate to the different kinds of music.

Popular music includes everything from serious and classical to jazz, ragtime and rock, she said. It is the language of the people.

She speaker also listed names of popular singers of today such as Gordon Lightfoot, Neil Diamond, Anne Murray, Diana Ross, The Osmonds and Barry Manilow and described the type of music they sing.

A Neil Diamond record was played while lunch was being served by the hostesses, Lynne Lee and Lexie Martin.

Apprehended In Minutes

A large, plate-glass window at the W. J. Cormier Co. Ltd., gas, oil and food outlet at the corner of Miramichi Ave. and Bridge St. was shattered in a rock-throwing incident at 2:40 a.m. November 6.

The group of passing motorists believed responsible were apprehended by City Police within minutes after receiving a description of them and their vehicle from an attendant.

Charges are pending and a court appearance is scheduled for November 18.

The alleged offenders are said to be adults rather than teenagers.

Cormier's provides round the clock service, and last weekend was the second time the premises were vandalized within a short period. On the previous occasion a side window was broken, also with a rock, and a deep-freeze unit damaged to the extent of $150.

Concert Set For Nov. 27

A harpsichord concert by Scott Ross will be performed at the Church of St. Cecile, Island River, Gloucester County, on Saturday, November 20, at 8:30 p.m.

Born in Pittsburgh, Pa., in 1951, the artist studied piano and organ in his native city before moving to France at the age of 14.

Scott Ross is not only a remarkable performer. Since 1973 he has been teaching harpsichord at Laval University and L'Acadamie de Musique Ancienne en Languedoc near Montpellier, France.

The French Radio (ORTF) invited Mr. Ross on two occasions to organize public master classes in interpretation and the magic of his playing attracted some of Europe's greatest names of harpsichord players living today.

Brunswick Mills Said Vital To Pilot Project

The general manager of the New Brunswick Forest Authority, Bryan Walker, told the Legislature's Select Committee on Renewable Resources November 8 that Brunswick Mills is vital to the forest management pilot project near Bathurst and any suggestion that it be abandoned is premature.

Mr. Walker said the forest authority, which supervises the pilot project area and allocates wood not suitable for lumber production will not be wasted as in the past.

He said the authority had not exercised "the proper control" to prevent a stockpile of poor quality wood without assurances there would be a market for the finished productwood chips for the pulp and paper industry.

The authority is now planning to negotiate contracts well in advance of cutting operations, he said, adding that as much as one year's lead time is required to guarantee the supply will coincide with the demand.

Mr. Walker said the authority is now supplying wood to the mill at a cost of about $100,000 a month to keep it in operation, though he did not know how long the government would continue this arrangement.

He had no idea when the government purchase of the mill would be concluded, but confirmed a company called Bathurst Forest Holdings Ltd. has been established to acquire shares.

The government has no intention of operating the mill permanently, he said, but plans instead "to keep things in place until we have the right answers and have management of the pilot project under control."

The general manager said it may not be until next year when the authority knows for sure whether adjustments made to "wood flow" to the mill will solve current problems.

Deputy Natural Resources Minister R. E. Hanustiak, who also addressed the committee, said the composition of the province's forest - with many varieties of wood in any given area - has been a historical problem, aggravated in recent years by soft worldwide markets.

But the department is hoping to create "an atmosphere" that will result in ultimate maximum use of the forest resources regardless of uncontrollable market conditions, he said.

The government is attempting to sell current wood surpluses to other private companies, he continued, and is negotiating with the Consolidated-Bathurst pulp mill to expand its operations, thus strengthening the possibility of a long-term market for Brunswick Mills wood chips.

Mr. Hanustiak also said the department would never cancel the licences of independent wood-cutters on Crown land without first consulting with them.

There are no plans to cancel other licences, said the deputy minister, until the department "has worked out the most feasible way of bringing about that change."

Leigh Neille needed a nursery.

Niagara said: Pink or blue?

Last month, Leigh Neille received an eight pound, three ounce baby boy, dozens of best wishes and a husband with a non-stop smile. What she needed was a nursery. Niagara thought so too. That's because Niagara knows a lot about people's needs. We also know a lot about money. That's our business at Niagara. Mortgage money, money for a new car, money for home improvements, for your child's education, or, if you're like Leigh Neille, money to welcome the newest member of your family. If what stands between you and what you really need is a thing called money, come in and sit down with the people you've come to know at Niagara. ANOTHER SENIOR CITIZENS' CLUB FORMED IN AREA

A new senior citizens' organization known as the Villa Club has joined others in the area with the adoption of a constitution and by-law and election of officers November 8.

The group already has 60 members but can accommodate 100 and is using temporary quarters in the cafeteria in Chaleur Villa, 606 University Drive. An application has been made for a New Horizons grant in order to adapt other Villa Chaleur premises to the club's purposes and a 5-year renewable lease in process of negotiation.

Mrs. Dora Luce, who has been appointed chairman of the program committee, plans such activities as card and bingo parties, dances, music, and upgrading in education at the nearby Northeastern Institute of Technology. Other recreational possibilities are to be explored.

The Villa Club has accepted an invitation from the Allardville Golden Age Club on Sunday, November 21 for an interesting round of events including mass, dinner and games.

Committee Concerned With Mill Management

Members of the legislature's select committee on renewable resources say their two-day session in Bathurst has raised serious questions about Brunswick Mills and the forest management pilot project.

Concern about the government-supervised forest area was expressed by members of both parties Nov. 3 with committee chairman Charles Gallagher (PC-Carleton North) saying the pilot project has been "terribly mismanaged," while Alan Graham (L-Kent Centre) said he was "shocked" by the amount of wood apparently going to waste.

However, committee members appeared divided over whether the province should proceed with plans to purchase Brunswick Mills, a sawmill and planing complex owned by Cleartake Timber Ltd. of British Columbia.

Mr. Gallagher said he is not convinced the mill is threatening the future of smaller sawmills in the province, as argued Wednesday by a delegation of sawmill operators, and does not believe the province intends to operate the mill in direct competition with private industry.

But Mr. Graham and Adjutor Ferguson (L-Tracadie) said they are far from satisfied that the government's proposed purchase of Brunswick Mills will save more jobs than would be lost if other sawmills are forced to close down because Brunswick Mills may cut into their lumber and wood chip markets.

Six members of the seven-man committee toured Brunswick Mills on Tuesday and met with general manager A. D. Coombes, who said the poor quality of logs from the pilot project has resulted in an $825,000 loss to the company since operations began three years ago.

The committee visited the pilot project site on Wednesday and later met with sawmill operators, some from as far away as Moncton and Fredericton.

Mr. Graham, who has been highly critical of Brunswick Mills and the pilot project, said Wednesday he is going to make every effort to halt any government take-over of the mill until more is known about the costs involved and the effects on other sawmills and woodlot operations.

He said he will personally send telegrams to Premier Richard Hatfield and natural resources minister Roland Boudreau "to head off the government purchase because of the concerns expressed not only by sawmill operators in the Bathurst area but from all over the province."

Mr. Graham also said he will heave "a lot of questions" Monday when the committee meets in Fredericton with deputy natural resources minister R.E. Hanusiak and Brian Walker, director of the New Brunswick Forest Authority, which supervises the pilot project.

Leland McGaw (Charlotte West) said Wednesday he is troubled by what appears to be conflicting information, but indicated he was not prepared to recommend that Brunswick Mills be allowed to shut down permanently.

Mr. Gallagher expressed a similar view in an interview Wednesday night, but said he hopes the committee can pursue the matter further and meet again with sawmill operators if necessary.

"I think one has to keep in mind the forest industry is going through a tough time right now," said Mr. Gallagher.

"And while people in the industry say Brunswick Mills is hurting their business, you have to wonder just how much of an impact it is really having on their markets."

He told the sawmill operators he has no idea how close the government is to completing arrangements to purchase the mill, adding that the committee can voice its concern but cannot guarantee the government "will hold off."

Meanwhile, Mr. Graham said he understands the proposed government takeover is already "in the hands of lawyers" and may soon be concluded.

Nonetheless, he said the government "is open to criticism" if it disregards the committee's recommendation last week that the purchase be delayed until all the facts are known.

Town To Look Into Problem

Complaints from a number of Caraquet residents about their inability to connect to town's water and sewer system will be looked into by the municipality and the Department of Municipal Affairs.

At a meeting of Town Council last week, a group of residents who are unable to hook up to the mains asked what could be done to rectify the situation.

Mayor Gaetan Blanchard advised residents that both council and the provincial government were aware of the difficulty and would study the cases individually to correct the matter.

The problem lies in the level of land. Basements in the houses involved are too low to permit the natural runoff from the homes to the mains.

Complaints were also heard over the increase in the cost of branching each house to both water mains. The cost, originally $125 per home, was raised to $165 with the escalation of expenditures incurred by the town in upgrading and extending the water systems.

In other business, council advised the public it had begun work on the town's 1977 municipal budget, with the allowable increase set at 12.5 per cent by the provincial government.

Council also advised it would call for the spreading of a gravel seal on those portions of streets and avenues still unpaved, with the work expected to be completed next summer.

Marcel Albert, chairman of the public works committee, noted during the session that tenders for construction of a lagoon in ward one will be opened at 2 p.m. November 23 at the Town Hall.

The public works chairman also advised that work on the town marina would hopefully be completed by the summer of next year. He noted further tuna fishing along the Caraquet

Delay Said Unnecessary

Treasury Board Chairman Jean-Maurice Simard said Nov. 3 he sees no reason why the government should delay its planned takeover of Brunswick Mills.

Mr. Simard (PC - Edmundston) said the province is growing and that the Economic Expansion commission of the Peninsula is continuing work on the plan, though no details was released at the meeting.

The councillor said a letter from CEEP advised the town the commission now owns the Caraquet Industrial Park land and that cost of land to investors was set at $7,500 per acre for foreign investors and $5,000 for local firms, this amount including local services.

However, as a result of the recent purchase of the park lands, the Town of Caraquet will have to initiate study of its municipal garage located within the park and of the commission's request for payment of the two acres of land occupied by the town-owned structure.

Replying to Alan Graham (L-Kent Centre), Mr. Simard said, as a member of cabinet, he was not impressed by the committee's request that the planned government purchase be deferred until more is known about the financial and management problems of the three-year-old operation.

Mr. Simard was not present committee's meeting two weeks ago when Mr. Ferguson's motion, seconded by Adjutor Ferguson (L-Tracadie), passed by a three to one margin. Only Leland McGaw (PC - Charlotte West) voted against.

Gloucester Chapter IODE Sponsors Successful District Handicraft And Sale Event

For the second consecutive year on Oct. 29, the local Legion Hall became the focal point for displaying and selling hand crafted articles made by talented folks throughout Gloucester County.

Sponsors of the project were members of Gloucester Chapter I.O.D.E. under the chairmanship of Mrs. N.A. Higgins and her hard-working committee. In fact, the event, held both in the afternoon and evening, involved all chapter members, and many patrons came to look, and to buy.

Handicraft items in almost every category possible, from knitting, sewing, crotcheting, macrame, plain pottery and brightly colored ceramics, to metal and wood working, painting and candy construction were included in the display and the sales proved the event was successful.

There were exhibits from various points in the county as well as a first from another area, Restigouche County.

The latter included a fine display of Micmac Indian craft from the Eel River Reserve, the work of about six families who are involved in "Apijpeg Projects".

The men's workshop is headed by Mike LaBillois, while his wife Margaret and other ladies do leather and beadwork, basket weaving and carved Indian craft.

A particular, and popular product of the men's department is the canoe, manufactured in pine, in length, and constructed in cedar. Other articles include cedar chests, snowshoes, axe handles, moccasins, tom trays, etc. Mostly cedar, maple and ash is used in their crafts.

Assisting Mr. and Mrs. La Billois were their daughters Margaret, Velma and Beckie.

From Robertville there was knitting, sewing, quilting, etc. done by Mrs. Wilfred Doucet. [illegible] and doll cribs made by Mr. Doucet.

Mrs. Maurice Monette, Paquetville, displayed tapes trises. Her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Linda Monette of South Tetegouche and Mrs. Hadley Wood, Bathurst, had a variety table of hand made articles which included two gingerbread houses made of gaily colored candy, which Mrs. Monette had constructed for her children for Christmas.

A former Robertville man Leo Paul Chiasson, now of 760 Assaff St., Bathurst, offered something different - lush-work

Arena Appeal Is Launched

A major fund-raising campaign was launched Monday, Nov. 15 by residents of the Big Cove Indian Reserve, Kent County, in order to complete construction of a new Community Recreation Centre.

About two years ago, the people of the reserve decided to attempt to build an arena to provide winter recreation for approximately 250 youth who live on the reserve.

The government helped the cause with a Local Initiatives Project grant of $30,000 and another $30,000 from the Department of Indian Affairs. A total of $30,000 was raised by the community itself through a raccoon, walk-a-thon, bingos, raffles, etc.

With this money, a total of $90,000, a site was cleared, foundation poured, steel erected and the structure closed in.

Now, another $240,000 is needed to pay for an ice plant and completion of the interior.

The committee set up to oversee the building of the centre, Big Cove Recreation Inc., is now asking for contributions from major firms and individuals throughout the province as well as in Central Canada, as the project is important not only to the Indian people but to the entire area.

Others will be able to use the building both in winter and summer, boy both children and adults will skate.

The project has been recognized as a charity for income tax purposes (tax no. 0400477-56-65) so any donation will be deductible.

Contributions can be sent to Big Cove Recreation Inc., Site 3, Box 11, Big Cove, Kent Co.

Caraquet Town Plan Presented

Presentation of a municipal town plan proposal to Caraquet residents Nov. 9 at a public meeting in the town's junior high school saw tempers flare as former Caraquet Mayor and MLA Lorenzo Morais and Mayor Germain Blanchard came to grips in a heated exchange mid-way through the meeting.

However, when the outburst finally subsided, only two main objections to the plan were heard from the 15 or so residents who came forward to voice opinions.

The town plan, prepared by the District Commission of the Development of the Acadian Peninsula, set out the major out-line for the municipal zones such as commercial, industrial, residential, and is the first of a number of similar municipal plans that the commission plans for communities within the Gloucester region.

According to the proposal, Main Street would be designated a commercial zone, and new industries establishing themselves in the community would be limited in those areas they could build, specifically, the town's industrial park.

The plan also calls for a restriction of 1,500 feet from any municipal water source the location of new homes or establishments - one of the points objected to at the meeting.

The second main objection heard at the meeting was over restrictions placed on industrial plants, limiting their construction to industrial zones only.

Mayor Blanchard explained to the 400 residents who attended the meeting that they could object to parts of the plan, but could not reject the proposal in its entirety.

The heated exchange between Mr. Morais and Mayor Blanchard came after Mayor Blanchard attempted to cut short a speech by the former MLA.

The mayor at one point even threatened to adjourn the meeting if Mr. Morais persisted with his arguments.

The public meeting was the first phase in the presentation of the proposal. The second step is a 30-day period during which written submissions objecting to or suggesting changes will be entertained by council and the commission.

Consumer Demand Increased In 1976

Higher personal incomes, improved consumer outlook, and the spending of large savings built up over the past year will make the consumer demand sector the strongest component of the provincial economy this year, the quarterly report of the Office of the Economic Advisor says.

The report, released Nov. 4, suggests that consumer demand will be up well over 15 per cent in 1976, and in real terms, this could mean a gain as high as eight per cent.

Gross Provincial Product is forecast to reach between 13 per cent and 14 per cent with overall growth expected to be between 4 per cent and 4½ per cent, only slightly less than the 4.7 per cent rate of 1975. The expected real increase for the GNP of Canada is five per cent.

Personal income is expected to increase about 15 per cent compared to 21.5 per cent last year. The province's per capita income will remain at around 77 per cent of the Canadian average or about the same level in 1975. The province's relative income gap (with per capita income 23 per cent below the national average in 1975) reached its lowest level ever in the 50 year period for which statistics are available.

Exports were strong in the first quarter of the year, the report says, but declined by 2.8 per cent for the January to June period when compared to a year ago. Indications are, though, that exports will increase by about 10 per cent this year. One of the reasons for this optimism is that manufacturing shipments are up by 14.4 per cent through July and much of this should lead to increased out-of-province sales.

The report says the forecast $1.41 billion in private and public investment is the highest on record. In per capita terms it represents a total of 25 per cent higher than that for Nova Scotia.

Statistics are not available on the rate of growth of expenditures by all governments but, the report suggests "there is little doubt that the growth has been significantly reduced. The program of restraint now being practised by Federal, Provincial and Municipal governments will lessen the role of this sector in directly stimulating economic growth this year."

The rate of growth of the consumer price index for Saint John is anticipated to be about eight per cent this year, slightly higher than the forecast Canadian rate, but down from the 11.6 per cent last year.

In terms of the labour force, this year will show a peaking of unemployment rates. For the first time since the 1973-74 period, the increase in the supply of labour anticipated in 1977 is not expected to exceed the increased demand.

Major developments in industrial output are an increase in the relative proportion of non-commodity output over 1975 and a shift from construction and mining growth in the commodity sectors to manufacturing and agriculture. "Both of these factors represent a shift back to pre-1972 trends when construction did not claim as large a share as it has in the last two years, and when the service sectors grew more rapidly than the commodity sectors."

Early indications in the agriculture sector suggest that the value of farm cash receipts will go over the $100 million mark again and perhaps surpass the record levels set in 1974.

The report says the latest statistics available from Statistics Canada indicate total personal income received by New Brunswickers last year was $3,036 million. This gain of 21.5 per cent exceeded the national increase of nearly 16 per cent and was higher than seven other provinces.

Personal disposable income increased as a portion of total income from 82.3 per cent in 1974 to 83.9 per cent in 1975, as personal direct taxes grew less rapidly than total income.

Textile Strike Is Discussed

The 18th biennial convention of the Canadian Seafood and Allied Workers' Union, C.L.C., was held at the Abenaki Motor Inn, Truro, N.S., November 2-3. Sixty-nine voting delegates along with guests and fraternal delegates reviewed the state of the industry and formulated plans for improving the economic well-being of those depending on the fisheries for a livelihood.

The majority of the workers in the seafood processing industry in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia were represented at the convention.

In conjunction with the convention some of the delegates who are employees of National Sea Products Ltd., finalized contract proposals directly affecting 1200 workers whose joint collective agreement expires December 31, 1976.

Delegates reported a deep resentment by their fellow workers with respect to the rollback of ten cents per hour by the Anti-Inflation Board from the modest increases negotiated by the CSAWU with the two largest companies, National Sea Products Ltd. and H.B. Nickerson and Sons Ltd. One longtime worker in the industry and delegate commented that the combination of declining fish stocks and subsequent down time in his plant plus the AIB rollback reminded him of the one-two punch used so successfully by the former boxing champion, Joe Louis.

Northern New Brunswick delegates reported widespread cutbacks and a general down turn in employment in the North Shore seafood processing plants.

Mathilda Blanchard, business agent for Northern New Brunswick, reported on the textile strike in Caraquet where workers had expressed a desire to belong to the CSAWU but were subjected to a lengthy strike and finally de-certified.

Elected president of the union for a two-year term was Lawrence Wilneff of Lunenburg. Other executive members are Stella Cormier of Caraquet, first vice-president; Derrel Oickle, Lunenburg, secretary-treasurer. Area vice-presidents include Gemma Duguay, Lameque; Jeannine Arsenault, Shippegan; Marie Jeanne Chiasson, Caraquet; Clifford Knickle, Lunenburg; Harold Kendall, Halifax and Edith Marsden, Louisburg.

Sell Ice Cream To The Eskimos

And now they're really selling ice cream to the Eskimos, believe it or not, but it took the wily Scots to do it.

This winter a company known as Leeds of Coatbridge, Scotland, is shipping 60 tons of "snowball" desert especially made for the Eskimos of Labrador, Canada.

"We have been dispatching consignments to our agent in Nova Scotia for about four years before we realized that Eskimos, like nearly everybody else, have a sweet tooth," says Leeds' Chairman Andrew Bee.

"Part of the marketing Canadian success seems to be that it goes down better in cooler climates where it is a substitute for the fruit juices known in warmer countries," he explained.

The company exports 30 per cent of its product to Canada.

Mr. Boudreau stressed the overall importance of natural resources in the province as well as in this particular area. The gathering was held at Danny's Colonial House. City Rebuked For Apathy To Municipal Planning

Despite a series of efforts made in that direction in recent years, the present position of Bathurst reflects the lack of planning in the area.

Antonio (Tony) Mancini, whose firm, Workshop Ltd of Montreal, was commissioned by Bathurst City Council to compile data and draw up a new Municipal Plan, made this statement Monday. He was addressing the regular luncheon meeting of Bathurst Rotary Club at Danny's Colonial House.

"The situation at the time of annexation", Mr Mancini went on to say, "was one of virtual fragmentation. Services were provided by individual initiative. Central, East and West Bathurst developed patterns of community function suitable to their own needs."

Looking at planning in Bathurst in its historical context, (until 1970 and to a lesser extent to date) the speaker observed the lack of commitment and proper development controls, businesses and residences were built with little or no regard for their relationship to one another or the larger context of the community.

Other shortcomings were listed by Mr. Mancini as follows:

- Lack of a fulltime city planning staff.

Lack of leadership. In the absence of a planning staff, no organizational leadership has emerged to take up the slack. Development has been decided principally by land holders and developers.

- Lack of citizen participation: organization at the grass roots citizen level has been non-existent with respect to influencing future development of Bathurst. The reasons? - local apathy ("What I say doesn't matter", the individual felt); disinterest at the political and administrative level to get the people involved. In short, citizens lacked the means to effectively organize and express communal leads and wants.

- Lack of public information on the "shape of Bathurst". (social, economic and physical conditions).

- Lack of a sense of community: there was little communication between areas. Active concern appears to be confined to residential areas.

- Minimal provincial investment in Bathurst, this is moreover a result of the lack of leadership rather than an initiated policy on the part of the province. City officials, Chamber of Commerce... "in short just about everyone squawks about the lack of provincial interest and investment. Unfortunately this irritation is expressed either behind closed doors in Bathurst or when it is too late."

Quoting from the Bathurst Impact Study prepared by Woods, Gordon and Co. of Toronto, Mr. Mancini noted: "In our field work in Bathurst it was reported that, in comparison with other communities in the province, the merchants and general business sector in Bathurst was signally passive. There was little evidence of substantial efforts to expand the community's economic base, to finalize earlier initiatives for up-grading the physical appearance of the central area or to lobby senior governments."

In calling for a periodic review of the Municipal Plan, the Community Planning Act of N.B. recognizes that the city is a living and ever changing organism, the planning consultant said. Therefore the plan must reflect changing times and trends and it must come to terms with new public attitudes and increasing aspiration in order to remain relevant.

Mr. Mancini summarized the general development policies of the Bathurst Plan, prepared in 1971, as follows:

1. No urban development shall take place outside the By-Pass. And no urban development shall occur that cannot readily be served by municipal services.

2. The City shall limit development to areas served by municipal water and sewer facilities.

3. Residential areas of the City should be developed on neighbourhood principles.

4. The downtown should be encouraged to develop as the core of Bathurst.

5. Development of a comprehensive road network system.

6. Establishment of high environmental and aesthetic standards for development.

"Our work is founded on the definition of Municipal Plan as established by the Community Planning Act of N.B. The Municipal Plan is a general policy statement which the city adopts as a guide to its decision-making. It sets out the basic physical structure of the city. It is not an implementation document, although it may suggest policies and recommend sets of actions required to fulfill established planning objectives.

"In reviewing the existing data base relevant to Bathurst, notable gaps of information were discovered. A Municipal Plan is only as good as the information on which it is based. The importance of an accurate and comprehensive data base cannot be overstressed.

"The background document which will contain the information gathered will be compiled in such a manner that it can easily be updated and contain all references. It will be one which can be utilized as a technical document for ongoing planning and implementation. It should be at the disposal of all interested citizens and organizations to obtain an indication of community attitudes.

"We prepared two questionnaires, one for distribution to social organizations, the other for each household in Bathurst. It is interesting to note that the response was exceedingly low - 30 per cent among social organizations and 6.5 per cent in the community at large - in keeping with the tradition of apathy in Bathurst.

"The Woods-Gordon Study evaluated the impact which future growth would have on Bathurst. Its conclusions are focussed on the importance of Bathurst to its region. It recommended that the Province designate Bathurst as the strategic regional centre for the Northeast as well as in the broader context as a strategic sub-provincial centre.

"They concluded that Bathurst should also be promoted as: a city with a major downtown redevelopment program; and a community undergoing major expansion in its social infrastructure, housing, schools, recreational facilities, neighbourhood community centres, etc.

"We believe that such policies should be encouraged and actions must be taken to ensure the proper future development of Bathurst. In recognition of existing circumstances of apathy and a lack of leadership within the community, we feel that the recommendations of Woods, Gordon, coupled with our own research and recommendations, will not be acted upon unless there is a dramatic change.

"A change in attitude in the provincial level is doubtful unless organizations such as your own (Rotary) implicate themselves in the future of Bathurst and are willing to invest the time and resources necessary to bring home to the city and the province the need for concerted planning and action.

"From our analyses we will establish a set of basic planning objectives. These will be the basic policy statements which will guide the development of the Plan. They will be stated in absolutely practical terms and developed in the context of economic feasibility.

"It is a priority that these objectives be firmly anchored in the real World: human nature acting as it does for its own good must be weighed against the need for communal action for the good of the whole."

Workshop Ltd., is in the process of formulating these objectives for presentation to the City Council, it was indicated by Mr. Mancini. "These objectives will be revised, if necessary, by their input", he concluded.

Campaign Aids Mental Patients

Most of the funds raised locally are used here, Hilaire Brideau, president of the Bathurst Branch of the New Brunswick Division, Canadian Mental Health Association, emphasizes in a pre-campaign statement.

Mr. Brideau, who is also a director of Mental Health New Brunswick, is chairman of this year's drive in the Bathurst area. The dates are November 29 to December 4 and a house to house solicitation will be conducted during that period.

In this connection, additional canvassers and workers will be welcomed, Mr. Brideau points out. Contributors who may be conveniently missed are kindly asked to send their donations to 200 Main St.

Beneficiaries for the project include patients in foster homes, nearly 40 of whom were given a week's outing at Camp Acton during the past summer, accompanied by a group of male and female supervisors.

In addition, the same group searched by policemen. A lonesome bottle stood on top of the vehicle.

Offering no resistance, the pair in trouble were placed in the patrol car and driven away by the patrolmen who nabbed them.

Apparently our travelling friend had never seen anything like this before and he was quite thrilled and impressed by the novel experience.

Rotary Club Adopts Fire Safety Program

Dr. Vibart Shury, district medical health officer for Health Region Five, stated Monday the program to vaccinate the elderly and persons with chronic diseases against "swine flu" and "regular flu" with bivalent influenza vaccine will continue this week at public health clinics at the following locations.

Wednesday, November 24 at the Bathurst Regional Office, Department of Health, located on the third floor of the Provincial Building, behind the Courthouse, St. Patrick Street, from 1:30 p.m. - 8 p.m. The Red Cross, St. John Ambulance and V.O.N. will be assisting at this clinic.

Thursday, Nov. 25, Legion Hall, Caraquet, 1:30 p.m. - 8 p.m.

Friday, Nov. 26, Tracadie Public Health Office, Tracadie from 1:30 p.m. - 8 p.m.

Over 100 persons have already been vaccinated in nursing homes, and these vaccinations are still being carried out.

Persons eligible for the vaccine are individuals 65 years of age and older, and persons 20-65 years of age with the following chronic diseases: heart diseases of any origin, chronic renal failure, chronic bronchopulmonary diseases and diabetes or any other metabolic disease.

Vaccinations Now Underway

In the course of preparation by Bathurst Rotary Club is a public service program scheduled for launching next February. Promoter of the undertaking is Rotarian Tom Moran.

Fashioned after a similar project initiated in Sarnia, Ont. and which proved extremely successful, the same title "Heart Life Saver" Campaign will be adopted here as will the slogan "Have a Heart - Save a Life".

The whole idea behind the heart design was to have a symbol that designated love, so that people who place a "Heart Life Saver" in the upper corner of windows in bedrooms occupied by children and elderly or incapacitated persons, would be showing concern for the safety of those nearest and dearest to them. In the event of fire, fire fighters look for these decals and vacate these rooms first.

The symbol produced on a clear acetate peel-and-stick decal is easily merchandisable to the public and will last for years, thereby increasing the potential of saving more lives.

According to Project Chairman Moran the local news media have pledged their support to the "Heart Life Saver" Campaign, as has Bathurst Fire Department.

Decals will be available when the time comes, (and the date will be announced) at such locations as the Fire Hall, Nepisiguit Centennial Library, City Hall, office of insurance agents, etc. None will be given to children unless they have a note from their parent.

Local Merchants Offering Reward

Members of the Downtown Merchants Association were filled in on the action being taken to curb vandalism in Bathurst at their regular dinner meeting Tuesday night.

Acting Police Chief Maurice Hershey was guest speaker at the meeting, and gave a complete rundown on police efforts to date to apprehend the culprits. A question and answer period followed, with merchants asking what they could do to aid the police work.

It was decided to offer a reward of $200 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of a person or person caught breaking and entering with intent to commit an indictable offense. The sum of $200 is also being offered for the arrest and conviction of persons breaking windows. Both rewards pertain to member businesses in the association only.

More Money For Local Sawmill?

The Province of New Brunswick is not ready to "Throw in the towel" in its efforts to improve forest management, and is prepared to spend as much as $10 million if necessary to keep Brunswick Mills in operation.

This was the word last week from Natural Resources Minister Roland Boudreau concerning the problem-plagued mill owned by Clearlake Timber Ltd. of British Columbia. Mr. Boudreau had earlier announced the government would purchase the sawmill and keep up operation until new owners can be found.

The minister said the province "should close in an understanding" with Clearlake within the next few weeks over purchasing the mill. He added discussions are already under-

BM&S Reports 3rd Quarter Loss

Brunswick Mining and Smelting Corp. had a net loss of $2,542,000 for the third quarter ended Sept. 30, 1976, reports president William James. This compares with net earnings of $3,066,000 and $1,175,000 in the first and second quarters, respectively.

According to Mr. James, the poor third quarter results reflect the impact of a strike at the company's mining division from the end of May to the end of August, a 6 - week shutdown at the smelting division for maintenance vacations and a reduction in lead metal recovery.

Net earnings for the nine months ended Sept. 30, 1976, totalled $706,000 after a write off of $6,800,000. This works out to an earning of 2 cents per share.

A dividend of 5 cents per share payable Nov. 15, 1976, has been declared says Mr James, which will bring total dividends for the year to 10 cents per share.

Working capital for the nine months decreased by $12,525,000 to $17,630,000 compared to $30,827,000 at the same time last year.

The company, 44 per cent owned by Noranda Mines, recently sold a $35 million bond issue (N.M., Nov. 4, 1976) and plans to use the proceeds from the sale to finance the expansion of its No. 12 mine.

way with three other companies "who have expressed intentions to have a look" at buying Brunswick Mills.

"The only reason the government is getting into this is because we feel it (Brunswick Mills) is a very important part of the pilot project", he remarked. "We feel we wouldn't stand to lose as much if it went bankrupt than if we get involved."

Mr. Boudreau said the government is prepared to keep the mill going because the five-year pilot project, now in its third year, is considered crucial to the future of the province's forest industry.

"The largest lesson we've learned is that the forest is not in as good shape as we thought. It shows how badly we've mismanaged the forest for so many years. Small sawmills are always asking for better wood but there just isn't any... It's all gone... the result of lack of planning and short-sightedness over the past 50 years or more."

He said the pilot project is "a salvage operation, that is going to cost a lot of money."

K OF C STATE DEPUTY ON OFFICIAL VISIT

Harry Richards, of Newcastle, newly-elected state deputy for the Province of New Brunswick, paid an official visit to Bathurst Council No. 1935 Knights of Columbus November 21 and participated in several activities.

These included a supper; the annual commemorative service for Members Charles MacDonald, Richard Kane, Guy Riordon, Cleo Doucet, Arthur Roy and Clovis Richard, who died during the past year; a mass celebrated by Rev. L. Vermeersch, and the council's regular monthly session.

Past Grand Knight Willie Battah acted as grand knight for the commemorative service, with Hector Sonier as deputy grand knight, Richard Cormier, chancellor, and John LeBlanc, warden.

Individual eulogies of the departed were delivered by Vincent J. Whelan and a talk on the order was given by J. E. Picot and John Calnan formed the choir for the occasion, with Frank May performing on the harmonica.

In the course of his remarks State Deputy Richards noted that each council had been commissioned to choose a month in which to stage a fund-raising project designed to help the hungry people of the Third World.

Over 50 people attended Sunday's program which was arranged by Grand Knight Rudolph Doucet, as chairman, assisted by Harvey Caissie and Emery Barclay.

Bathurst Man Adopts Philippino Youngster

A very special commitment has been made by Danny Kelly of Bathurst. He has "adopted" little Roselline Amsing, aged nine, under the Foster Parents Plan of Canada, and his monthly contribution of $19 brings help not only to Roselline but to her entire family.

ROSELLINE AMSING

Roselline was born in Mountain Province, Philippines, the daughter of Sumirez and Maxima (Agmaliw) Amsing. She is one of nine children.

Her parents were born and raised in the same village in a mountainous province north of Manila. Both had very limited education because of their families' poverty, and were married after a short courtship.

Mr. Amsing provided well for his family as a laborer for a while, but began having difficulties when the children came. The family has experienced poverty and misery, and while Roselline's "adoption" will not totally alleviate the family's condition, it will provide the members with an opportunity to grow and develop.

As a laborer, Roselline's father earns about $15 per month. He also works on a farm during the weekends, adding another $5 to the family income. However this amount, together with $8 per month earned by another daughter, Evelyn, is inadequate to cover the large family's basic needs.

The Amsing family owns a small hut built on a hillside which usually becomes damp and cold during rainy days. The dwelling is made of corrugated iron sheets and light wood, is elevated about three feet from the ground, and is sparsely furnished.

A kerosene lamp provides light at night while water is taken from an artesian well some distance away. Cooking is done on a crude stove using wood as fuel. Meals consist mainly of rice, sweet potatoes, dried fish and vegetables.

Despite a lack of thick clothing to keep them warm during the cold months, the family enjoys good health.

Roselline herself is active and alert. She can be depended upon to do minor chores at home. The child is intelligent, and performs averagely in school as a first grader.

The $19 per month from Mr. Kelly provides the family with a variety of benefits and special programs. Where suitable, vocational training courses are made available, free of charge, for foster children, their brothers and sisters and, where practical, their parents. The objective is to provide the family with the tools to help them become independent and self-supporting.

For more information on this non-profit, non-sectarian, non-political independent organization, write to Foster Parents Plan of Canada, 153 St. Clair Avenue West, Toronto M4V 1P8.

SMI Workers Back On Job

Employees of SMI Industries Ltd. returned to work this week ending a nine-week strike.

Gerald Pettigrew, president of United Auto Workers Local 1579 said Friday that 39 of the 65 employees turned out for a ratification vote on the new collective agreement at the Royal Canadian Legion Friday evening.

"The vote was 66 per cent in favor of ratification," he said. "It's a two-year agreement, expiring April 30, 1978. It provides for a wage increase of $1.25 over two years, with .25 cents in the first year and .50 cents in the second, plus a COLA protection clause."

In addition, the contract provides for reclassifications, job descriptions, long-term disability coverage, weekly insurance benefits increase, and several other items.

"I think we have a good contract," Mr. Pettigrew said. "Fifteen months from now, we'll be able to negotiate a new contract. Our proposal was for $1.50 over two years; we got $1.25, so we're very close to our objective. We more than doubled what the company offered nine weeks ago, so the strike was worthwhile."

Regional Rationality

There is a distinct feeling in parts of this country, notably those west of Thunder Bay, that the tail is wagging the dog. In this case the tail being Quebec's French and the Maritime's poor. The theory some Westerners are propounding is that Ottawa is imposing the will of Quebec on the rest of Canada through the Official Languages Act and that the Maritimes are bleeding the rest of the country through their perpetual poverty.

Much of the discontent, we believe, lies in two serious misunderstandings: First, the Official Languages Act is a safeguard to both Canada's constitutional languages; and secondly that Canada is a nation of interdependencies and not a Balkanized autonomous group of economic regions.

The Official Languages Act is simple and sane: There are people in Canada who speak French but little or no English and there are an even larger number who speak English but little or no French. Therefore, the services of the Federal government should, within reason, be available in both languages. Perhaps that is the problem.

The theory is clear, but the practice has been so blurred by the costly empire built up by the Federal bureaucracy to implement bilingualism that many people see it as direct interference by government in the lives of people.

We believe that Ottawa would be better to designate jobs bilingual that really need it and offer and encourage language training only to those that really want it. And in the meantime, we could begin with bilingual classes at the age of 3 years and carry through to high school. Then the problem would disappear in two generations and the participants would all be linguistically and culturally richer for the experience.

Surely Canadians can distinguish the rightness of the Official Languages Act and instead of threatening secession, demand better implementation of that Act?

People who remember the days when Western Canada was so dependent on the East during the construction of the railways, the settling of the Prairie plains or the desperate depression years will be more hesitant in their charges that poor Easterners are running the economy of the rest of Canada. People who readily "rail" at the CPR and CNR for wanting to tear up uneconomic branch lines because whole communities will die, should surely see that subsidies from richer areas are needed all over Canada.

If we are not prepared to share the wealth of one region with another, history will certainly remind us in years to come of our shortsighted selfishness.

The 'have' provinces like British Columbia, Alberta and Ontario must help support the Maritimes now or their towns may die as Glace Bay and Sydney, N.S. well know. People who have built their lives there face the daily threat of upheaval much as the small Prairie elevator towns.

Think ahead: What happens if people stop buying Ontario's manufactured goods, or Alberta's oil is replaced with solar energy or B.C.'s timber replaced by Maritime lumber?

Perhaps interdependence is a good thing for us all, in language and in economics.

Moonlighting

Federal, provincial and municipal employees are holding down moonlighting jobs. Members of the Canadian military, for example are among the highest paid in the world, yet many of them find it necessary to work at civilian jobs to augment their standards of living.

Members of the civil service, in both federal and provincial governments, can be found frequently working at spare-time jobs that could well be handled by people reporting regularly to manpower offices throughout the country.

Firefighters and peace officers with salaries paid by the people are also making themselves available for off-time employment, and there are occasions when these part-time jobs are in conflict of interest.

Labor union leaders are continually urging employees of organizations to press for top wages, and encourage strike action if all values are not received. Frequently many of the strikers can stay off the job indefinately because they already have a second employment, and can live comfortably until the other issue is settled.

Perhaps there would be a lower unemployment rate if a closer look were taken by all three levels of government.

There are situations where some employees of government actually have an independent business in addition to their public responsibilities. This is alarming. Should the public service job not be necessary, why can it not be vacated for the benefit of someone wanting full-time employment rather than being on the list of the unemployed?

There may be some extentuating circumstances where a second job is necessary, but when one looks at the comparative "big salary" of government jobs, it can be seen that moonlighting is most undesirable.

Now Is The Time

Automobile registration and license plate validation stickers for 1977 are now on sale. Yet, in the four and a half months before the deadline, numerous motorists will fail to get their new licenses. Consequently, the end of March will see the usual long lineups. Now is the time to budget for a new registration certificate for the family buggy. If Christmas and the festivities that accompany it prohibit such expense now, the months of January and February should be obtain-your-license months.

There is perhaps some reason for motorists to wait until the last minute to purchase new stickers. The Motor Vehicle Branch makes no unusual incentives for an early purchase. If there were a slight discount, many would buy early.

Another means to lure motorists to early renewal is to come up with an attractive or different plate. New Brunswick's plates have been so drab for the last twenty years that the purchase is financially painful. New Brunswick should have a distinctive plate. Other places do. The Northwest Territories, for example, has a plate shaped like a bear. Could New Brunswick have a fiddle-head shaped plate? Or a purple violet colorfully emblazoned on a plate designed like the provincial map? New colors would also be a welcome change.

Comments On Rein And Reign Of Rene

Bathurst, N.B.
November 22, 1976

What happened on Nov. 15, 1976? This is the question many people are asking! But did the Quebec voters suddenly adopt a separatist policy on election day or indeed during the electoral campaign period?

We think not. When one realizes that the results of the last Quebec election could have had vastly different results were it not for the distribution of seats in the province. The warning signals were out then and this was the time the Liberal and Union National parties should have started their campaign to explain to the voters just what separation could really do if ever it actually took place.

Surely the media of press, radio and T.V. could have had many frank and open discussions on the subject. Certainly it was extremely unwise to sit around waiting for Levesque to elevate himself to the glamorous position he now holds, before actually doing something about it.

This whole plan has been in the mill for a very long time perhaps even as far back as Confederation itself!

It has demonstrated itself on many occasions and in many ways. Perhaps the movement suffered its greatest set back during the reign of Duplessis, who with his iron fist would permit no group to prosper except those approved of by himself.

The simple fact that the province of Quebec always called itself "The Quebec National Assembly" is indication of its intention to go its own way as far as government was concerned.

The entire movement made a great leap forward while our federal government was under the leadership of the late Lester Pearson, who most historians will agree, lived in mortal fear of Quebec.

Quebec province has in so many ways, demonstrated its unwillingness to get along with the other provinces of Canada. It is surprising that they have not set up border gates, as did East and West Germany, a long time ago. About the only time Quebec wanted to receive full attention was when fiscal arrangements were being worked out between Ottawa and the provinces. During these discussions they always pretented to be a partner in Confederation or better still, they invariably pretended that they were indeed a super partner and deserved special consideration.

The Province of Quebec has long since tried to establish separate relations with France, yet during two World Wars when the very existence of France was threatened Quebec produced the lowest per capita representation of all the provinces. This is not to say those who did volunteer for active service were not good workers. They were of the highest quality and acquitted themselves in magnificant fashion.

In addition, we do not find too many of Quebec's ex-service people in the ranks of the P.Q. party. There is perhaps a very valid reason for this in that great numbers of Quebec's ex-service people have taken a special oath to the Canadian Nation. They promised that they would not belong to any group, party or sect whose avowed purpose was to overthrow organized government in Canada.

The provincial government of Quebec has on more than one occasion showed its contempt for our federal government by failing to attend meetings set up by Ottawa which they were invited to attend. They either failed to show or sent along a lesser person than the premier.

This nation "Canada", is presently confronted with a situation not too different from that of Italy when Machiavelli was enjoying popularity, or in 1946 when Peron came to power in Argentina or later still Allende arrived on the scene in Chile.

What we must now address ourselves to is how to dispose of this great evil now that it has become entrenched.

One cannot help but be shocked when one hears or reads the remarks of some of our leaders who are saying this fellow Levesque appears to be a reasonable person, or that he is going to be so occupied with problems within Quebec that he will forget all about separation. Anyone who actually believes this has simply lost command of their God given wisdom.

As one politican elected to the opposition has already stated, this man Levesque is the most dangerous person ever elected to public office since Confederation.

This man is on the move and will keep going in the direction that his group is headed and there will be no turning back. Do people not realize that the gang behind this plot are great in numbers and devoted to the cause? The only reason that Levesque is in the front is that he is the best person in the party for the job. On the other hand the very moment that he fails to comply with the wishes of his party or if he shows any sign of weakening he will get dumped very quickly and he well knows it too.

The day after the election, Levesque was described as having charisma. He was pragmatic. He was considered to be a very honest man. Quite a tribute to a man whose avowed purpose in life is to tear apart this nation.

There is presently a new book on the market, written by an American who spent years in Europe researching the life of Hitler. Of the many hundreds of people interviewed, practically all of those close to him were of the opinion that Hitler was a quiet gentleman of very five virtues. Yes all the atrocities were arranged by Himmler or somebody else without Adolph knowing about it.

If this evil genius could come across like this to people who worked with him every day, then there should be a lesson for all to learn.

Let us refuse to be taken-in by this man who with a wave of the hand or a puff from a cigarette makes everything sound so reasonable. Yes the blood of millions of human beings could be on our hands if we allow ourselves to be deceived by Rene Levesque and his political adventurers!

New Shippegan History Reviewed

Shippegan, N.B.,
November 16, 1976

A new history of Shippegan, written by a native son and launched September 18 is a book of importance and should be placed in every francophone home of the area. It is the story of our forefathers or the pioneer families and inhabitants since 1775, including the Mallets, Duguays, Robichauds, etc.

The origin of every family is mentioned and the reader will certainly discover something of himself and his ancestors. It is also the religious history of Shippegan, dating back to the first missionaries and listing the resident pastors from 1824 to the present.

Secondly, it is the medical history of Shippegan, starting with Dr. Thomas Baldwin in 1847 and extending to 1976. Thirdly, it is the educational history of Shippegan, listing the early schools and teachers prior to 1847 or thereabouts.

In a list of 12 companied dealing in fish between the years 1830 and 1945, observant readers will discover one of them is conspicuously missing.

It is a well-known fact that John G. Robichaud, of Shippegan, was associated with the fishing industry from 1915 to 1940. He operated a cold storage plant, general store and small fishing fleet. Over 20 persons were employed in the summer months.

During the years quoted, these operations by John G. Robichaud constituted an important asset to Shippegan and district and the local economy and strong competition for the other firms there. It is regrettable, therefore, that his name is omitted.

Scores Pollution In Other Forms

Bathurst, N.B.
November 18, 1976

I recently saw in our local paper an article on pollution which I agree with. But there is another form of pollution that we, the older generation, are leaving to our children.

This pollution is call Social Welfare. We have left ourselves open to all sort of irresponsible people. We see in our local papers and news media acts of vandalism and other crimes such as drug abuse and shoplifting. So we go out and look for someone to blame. WE can't find anyone but ourselves.

But you will always get a smart one, which I would call one of the irresponsible, come out and say the police department are not doing their job.

I have nothing but praise for our local police department, they are the ones who have to deal with what we have created.

When you see parents doing away with their responsibilities as parents by putting their children on welfare, without having to pay anything towards their well-being.

Then you see these children going from one foster home to another and soon ending up in the police station. These children learn very young to have no respect for any form of law. Can we blame them?

Let us be honest with ourselves. We created the monster, let us deal with it as responsible people and not go out and look for someone to blame but ourselves.

One For Change.

Workshop Said More Important

Bathurst, N.B.
November 13, 1976

In reference to the story on the front page of your paper (Loss of Bus Service Looms).

I have asked myself why there wasn't any petition handed out in front of the Kmart or the streets of Bathurst like there was for the so-needed but useless air service. I'm going to tell you why there was a petition for the air service - because the so-called big shots wanted the air service reinstated.

Who were the few people who showed up at City Hall that night? Not too many of our town big shots. The ones that were there were middle class or people that couldn't afford to take the air service. And also, our city fathers, had their little piece to say.

Well, I'm going to tell you something. We need air service here like I need a hole in the head.

Why don't you see anyone with a petition for the bus service to resume for the workshop in Bathurst at Bass River? Is it because there are no big shots going to the school or do you find that these people are just not worth it? If I had the money and time off work I would personally drive these people to the workshop as they request.

As for the air service, let them drive to Charlo or Chatham or Moncton. If they have enough money to take the plane, they have enough to drive elsewhere to take the flight.

I'm disgusted with the way this situation was handled and people should be ashamed of themselves.

Registered Nurse Speaks Her Mind

Bathurst, N.B.
November 23, 1976

To my friends in Bathurst and to all those concerned about nurses:

Every time I pick up a newspaper of late, someone is commenting or drawing cartoons about nurses. It seems that many people think we are in a laughable position and that we are being silly in our requests from the Government for more money and better fringe benefits.

I would like to tell you that it is no laughing matter and that no nurse or anyone who belongs to her family knows that the situation is not laughable. For the first time in my life the balance of monies between catagories has become a primary thought in my mind.

Let me tell you of my situation because after all I really have no right to comment on other persons although our salary scales and those of every other government-paid employee in N.B. are very public.

I am a head nurse of the pediatric department at Chaleur General Hospital. I did not come to this job unprepared. I have been a registered nurse for 20 years. Over those 20 years I did not remain stagnant but continued taking educational courses of all kinds. I taught nursing for many years and as such have kept up to nursing and its changes. I served the nurses of N.B. in many capacities during that time, most of all, I served the public of North Eastern New Brunswick during that time by continuing to learn how to better serve them and by helping prepare young women (French and English) to take their place in our hospitals and care for you - the public.

Today I am responsible to and for 30 to 45 children from day 5 to 15 years old who come to us with many varied types of ailments. I am also responsible to their parents and must be able to help and teach these parents in the follow-up care of their child at home. I am responsible to see that health teaching is done while these children are in hospital. I am responsible for their nursing care (not medical care) which they receive. I am responsible for thier safety which doesn't mean only that they do not fall out of bed but that they do not get the wrong medicine or treatment. I am also responsible to see that their stay in hospital is as happy as can be and that play and activity is offered each child while in hospital.

There is a staff of approximately 30 persons in this department. I am responsible to these persons and must see that all requirements of their contracts are fulfilled and that scheduling and other matters are fair to each and every one. I am required to speak English and French to better communicate with patients and staff. I am directly responsible to the Assistant Director of Nursing; in other words, I have no supervisor to assist me and I have no assistant head nurse. My days are very full of trying to make our Pediatric Department the best possible pediatric department it can be to meet the needs of the public.

I am also responsible to the doctors who admit children to this department. They expect the best possible nursing action from the best possible nursing plan. I must see that my nurses carry out this plan of action.

For all of these activities, responsibilities and duties, may I say that my hourly wage is $5.54 and that every two weeks my gross salary is $415.75. May I make it clear to you that because we work in a hospital, we do not get free drugs or medications; the hospital does not launder my uniforms; my meals are very expensive if I choose to eat in the hospital cafeteria and they are not paid by the hospital; my Blue Cross is not paid by the hospital and I receive no extra fringes because I am a head nurse.

So now that you have some insight into my position and assuming that at any time a registered nurse is expected to be qualified and capable to fill my position and carry out my activities but that an R.N.A. who is a Registered Nursing Assistant (after one year) can never assume the responsibilities of a registered nurse nor become a team leader, let me list a few salaries and benefits differences so that you may understand why morale is low among the Registered Nurses of N.B.

Many people say "OK. The R.N.A. does all my care" and that is possible that she does your bath, sometimes makes your bed (housekeeping and ward aides do this also) and then may even get you up for a walk or have you down to X-Ray or many other things; but even though she knows how to do some of these things she does not know why they are done.

THe R.N.A. does not plan the action which takes place and she is not held responsible if the action is not done or performed incorrectly. Every R.N.A. is directly responsible to and is supervised by a registered nurse and this is the way each catagory has been taught to function, and I am sure that when any of your family enters a critical care area of the hospital, you are very happy to meet faces there who know not only what to do to make you comfortable but who know what to do to save your life or relieve your pain, and not only do you require a face who knows what to do but who understands why she is doing it. These faces are the faces of registered nurses and at present these registered nurses are making less money than these persons whom she supervises and accepts responsibility for.

Please understand that the registered nurse does not begrudge anyone in Canada today or their wages earned, but the registered nurse has a right to expect to be paid at least as much as the registered nursing assistant and then some for the education and responsibility she has been taught to accept and does accept.

So now, I would like to list a few catagories of hospital workers and their hourly salaries in relation to mine as a Head Nurse.

Now I leave it to you, Dear Public, to decide what justice is. Why should a nurse strive to work hard, to help you, save you, teach you, care for you so much when all around her are, on the job trained, unskilled personnel who work with machines and mops and pails, who are receiving compensation for their work at a much higher level than the registered nurse is.

Why don't all nurses just throw down their monitors, their medication traps, their abilities to teach and care for you and just grab a mop or a dish pan or just rush in and make your bed and never mind the WHOLE PERSON in that bed because if she did this, you would not be nursed but she would be compensated better than if she applied her learned knowledge and skills. She doesn't do this because always she has been taught that "The Patient Is The Most Important Person" in her day and she loves to nurse and she loves and cares what happens to people, babies, kids, old people and You. Do you care for her? Can you help her regain her sense of worth, her lost morale? Then support her - Do not put her down - She supports you. Understand her position.

And please understand that if this problem comes to a final vote and strike action is taken, we will never see our people suffer for lack of good nursing care and we will do all in our power beforehand to avert this awful step.

My final word - Compassion for the other workers, yes, but do not forget your professional person in the scale of compensation according to responsibility.

This letter is written by me personally. I trust I have hurt no one's feelings but I feel these are things I just had to say.

Jessica Ryan

P.S. For sake of argument. A teenager with part time evening job sorting mail makes over $6.00 per hour. A teacher at Trade School takes home more in two weeks after deductions than I make in two weeks before deductions.

Cause Program Is Successful

One hundred and fifty-three New Brunswickers have become eligible to receive a cross instructor's certificate at the beginner, junior or supervisory level following their successful completion of a regional clinic held in the province last summer.

The figure was released November 22 by Jean-Pierre Ouellet, minister of youth, recreation and cultural resources.

Available in nine centres, including Bathurst, to those 16 years of age or older, the clinics were offered in an effort to develop a corps of knowledgeable coaching instructors for the fast-growing number of people interested in this activity.

The minister said the clinics proved to be an outstanding success and indicated that plans are now underway to hold similar clinics next year.

He attributed the clinics' success in large measure to the cooperation, enthusiasm and initiative shown by the executive of Canoe New Brunswick and to the high quality of instruction offered by the national canoe instructors who were engaged to conduct the clinics.

The minister also said that his department provided assistance to eight individuals who attended the national canoe instructors school.

685 Permits Are Issued

Jean-Claude LeBlanc, engineer for the Bathurst Planning Commission, announced last week that the territory served by the commission, a total population of Middle River to Charlo, had an evaluation of $19,107,100 from January to October.

A total of 685 permits were issued during the same period, 222 in the municipalities and 463 for rural districts. Permits for residential units numbered 331, with 148 in municipalities and 183 in rural centres.

Average evaluation was higher for rural areas than for larger centres.

Twelve new residential projects were announced for the villages, creating 188 units. Bertrand led in this regard with 101. In the rural centres, 42 projects were started, creating another 206 units.

In other business, it was learned the commission is studying terms of a grant to the Restigouche Planning Commission, the Bathurst Planning Commission and the Commission for the Restigouche Regions of the Peninsula. The amount, $226,000 was made available by the Department of Municipal Affairs, the Department of Agriculture and a joint venture of the regional planning society, Department of Regional Economic Expansion and State Department. The budget submission is to assure the financing of the region for 1977 - 78.

Correction

Among the survivors of the late Orvia Frenette of Belledune was a brother, Normand Frenette of Bradford, Ont., and not Bernard as was listed incorrectly and with regret, in the Nov. 17 edition of The Northern Light.

Town Wants Recognition

The Town of Shippegan has made application to both the federal and provincial governments to be officially recognized as the fishing capital of the Acadian Peninsula, and that future planning with the exception of fisheries education, be undertaken with this in mind.

The request was contained in a post brief to Premier Richard Hatfield, provincial Fisheries Minister Omer Leger and Treasury Board Chairman Jean Maurice Simard by the Town of Shippegan, the Shippegan Chamber of Commerce, local fish plant representatives and fishermen of the area.

Jean Guy Roux, who participated in the preparation of the brief and its presentation in Fredericton, pointed out that Shippegan, for all practical purposes, is indeed the focal point of fishing in the region. "We have the wharf facilities, financial investment in fish plants, a great number of people employed in these plants, and many fishing vessels docked here."

He said the brief also contained statistics as to the amount of fish taken in at the various wharves on the peninsula this year along with the total number of fish plants, employees and salaries paid in the different fishing communities.

Mr. Roux said a copy of the brief should be sent to the federal Fisheries Minister Romeo LeBlanc and to Gloucester MP Herb Breau.

Included in the delegation to Fredericton were Mayor Jean C. Chiasson of Shippegan, Town Manager Fernand J. Robichaud, Aurele Hachie, representing the fishermen; Allard Guiguard, representing Lameque fishermen; Limar Vibert, processing Miscou Island fishermen; Mr. Roux, Shippegan Town Councillors and Eric Robichaud and Raymond H. Hache, representing fish plants.

Killed While Crossing Street

There has been no decision as yet on an inquest into the death Friday of a 54-year-old Bathurst native.

Andrew Arseneau of 1211 St. Peter Ave. was pronounced dead on arrival at Chaleur General Hospital after being struck while attempting to cross the highway near his home.

Driver of the southbound car, which was owned by Mr. Arseneau's brother-in-law, Percy Furiotte of Bathurst, was Floyd Gallant of Magee Gaddis Court.

Bathurst City Police investigated the mishap, which occurred at approximately 5:30 p.m.

Born in Bathurst, the victim was a son of Leo Arseneau and the late Cassie Amelia Arseneau. He had been employed with Brunswick Mining and Smelting Corp. Ltd. (Mines Division) for the past 14 years.

PET NEWS

Care Of Your Cat

By Marguerite Morrison

A kitten up to six weeks of age needs a well-padded shallow box or a pile of soft blankets as a bed. It also needs extra heat, and should be protected from drafts.

A cat will adapt itself to a happy life in any kind of house or apartment in which you choose to live. It will even live happily in a barn, stove or an warehouse, but don't expect an [illegible] cellar.

Except for farms, cats should be kept only as house pets. The cat that is put out of doors at night is a nuisance to the neighbours, and may be injured. In the country, they chase birds and small animals, so it is much better to keep the animal in the house at night.

Cats are clean in all their habits. A cat having access to the outdoors will take care of its needs; otherwise, keep a box of sand or kitty litter ready and be sure to clean it frequently. Brush your cat every day to remove dust and odour, especially the long-haired cats. Never bathe a cat unless it is absolutely necessary.

Breau Urges Immediate Referendum In Quebec

A New Brunswick Liberal MP is in the midst of a campaign to convince the federal government to call an immediate referendum in Quebec on the issue of separation or to call a federal election to gain a national mandate to prevent the province from leaving confederation.

Gloucester MP Herb Breau said in Ottawa Friday that too many MPs, from all parties, and government officials are taking the election sweep by the Parti Quebecois "far too lightly."

To allow the PQ to chose its own grounds for a referendum in Quebec "would be nothing short of dangerous," he said. PQ leader Rene Levesque has promised a plebiscite in about two years, but by that time Mr. Levesque would be able to cloud the question of separation with other issues, Mr. Breau said.

"Quebec has shown in the past it is not loyal to tradition. Current emotional issues could sway the vote in favor of "separation at that time," he said.

The federal government faces some tough decisions in the next few years in Quebec and these could be used by Mr. Levesque to further his case for provincial independence.

He said federal decisions on James Bay power sales and jurisdiction of power from Churchill Falls could be made by Mr. Levesque to appear detrimental to the future of Quebecers.

"I want the people of Quebec to choose now whether or not they back the Prime Minister. If we don't choose that course then we must have a national election. It's as simple as that," Mr. Breau said.

Prime Minister Trudeau has the support of "100 per cent" of the Liberal caucus in his statement that the federal government has no mandate to negotiate with Quebec for separation, Mr. Breau said.

"Let's stop kidding ourselves. The Parti Quebecois is totally committed to separation. Their whole reason for existence is separation. We should be darned concerned," he said.

Liberal leader Robert Bourassa lost the election because the PQ were able to "cloud" the most important campaign issue, that of separation, with other less important issues, Mr. Breau said.

"That fact proves my point that a referendum in two years time could be twisted the way Mr. Levesque wants it," he said.

A referendum was essential immediately. He did not think that a federal election run on an issue of separation would be a divisive force on the nation.

"What could be more divisive than Quebec separating?" he said.

"The prime minister has no mandate to negotiate separation or any special arrangements for the province of Quebec," he said.

Rev. J. W. Roche officiated at the funeral mass Nov. 21 at 2 p.m. at Our Lady of the Rosary Church.

The pallbearers were Randolph Arseneau, Jamilus Arseneau, David Roberts, Leo Howell, Lloyd Marks and Ronald Cyr.

Interment was in the parish cemetery.

Those present from a distance included Mrs. Mildred Smith, Henry Dunnett, Moncton.

Morton's 3-Goal Effort Sparks Alpines' 6-5 Win Over Rangers

Bathurst Alpines regained a share of first place in North Shore Hockey League Saturday night in Dalhousie with a come-from-behind decision over the Rangers.

Right-winger Mike Morton, a new addition to the Alpine lineup this season, triggered a hat-trick and picked up a pair of assists to pace the Alpine attack. Michel Hamel, Morton's teammate, assisted on two goals and added a pair himself as this line, which includes left-winger Bruce Chamberlain, continues as the Alpines' most productive unit.

Jackie Roy counted the 30 game's other goal, but it proved to be the eventual winner.

Bud Freese was the outstanding Ranger in the contest scoring three times and drawing an assist on Bruce Dunnville's goal. Ranger Cameron netted the other Dalhousie goal.

Glen Segerich in the Bathurst cage came up with another big performance in turning aside 41 Ranger shots, including 19 in the second period. Rangers' Gilles Chartier made 35 saves.

Morton opened the scoring with a powerplay marker at 7:41 of the first period but Bob Freese evened it up also on a powerplay at 20:32. Morton's second goal a little over a minute later gave the Alpines a 2 - 1 lead after the first twenty minutes.

Freese squared the count once again at 6:35 of the second before Michel Hamel restored Bathurst's lead midway through the period. Dunnville drew the Rangers even at 11:44 but Morton's third of the night at the 12:42 mark put the Alpines ahead to stay. Hamel notched his second a little over a minute later and Bathurst took a 5 - 3 lead into the final period.

Jackie Roy's goal at 3:02 of the final period gave the Alpines what appeared to be a commanding lead but the Rangers kept coming back.

Wayne Cameron nullified Roy's goal just 19 seconds later and Bob Freese completed his hat-trick at the 4:50 mark to get the Rangers back in the game. Alpines tightened up defensively however, during the final half of the period to preserve the win.

The triumph was the third in a row for the Bathurst squad enabling them to keep pace with the Campbellton Tigers atop the league. The teams have identical 5 - 1 won-loss records, good for 10 points. Their only losses have been to each other.

Eight-In-A-Row For Capitols

Bathurst Capitols successfully defended the Bathurst Propane Challenge Trophy for the eighth straight time last Sunday when they edged the CNR team from Campbellton 1579-1546 for a 39 pin margin.

Gerald Chasson paced the Capitols with the game-high triple of 341 which included the game's high single of 134. Herm Thibodeau added a 334 triple for the winners while Cowan Glazier rolled a 327.

This Sunday at 3:00 p.m. a team from Atholville will challenge the Capitols at Capitol Lanes.

Ladies Curling

By JOYCE CONLEY

President Geraldine Mason presided over a well-attended meeting of Bathurst Ladies Curling Club held in the ladies' lounge Nov. 9.

Hopefully, the new handles will be adorning the club's curling stones in the near future.

Winners of the "morning warm-up" bonspiel will be decided after the playoff between Karen McDermid and Geraldine Mason.

An afternoon section rink skipped by Elvira Kennah, with Cathy Perron, Dot Brown and Yvette Kenny was their "warm up" spiel while Ann Orser and her team of Ethel LePage, Clair Milton and Ann Marie Aube were runners-up.

Winners of the evening "warm-up" were skip Doreen Fleck supported by Anne Arseneault, Betty Cummings and Jo-Ann Querry. The runner-up team is still to be decided.

Marje Wallace skipped this year's Bathurst Ladies Club entry in the Eastern Provincial Bonspiel held at Gander, Nfld. over the past weekend. The team also includes Denise Hachey, Bernice Aube and Mary Gavin.

Ann Orser's rink, including Pat Maher, Elvira Kennah and Ethel LePage captured second place and shared a prize of $160 in Section "A" of the Elmtree Club Bonspiel at Fredericton last weekend. This event is sponsored by the Business Ladies League of the Capitol Winter Club.

Shirley Jamieson has assumed responsibility for the curling sweaters, brooms and various curling accessories available from the display case in the main lounge. The accessibility of these curling articles is of considerable convenience to club members.

Only sixty tickets will be granted for the club's annual New Year's party. They will be available to club members as of Dec. 1st. The party will be a formal affair, with music provided by a local disc-jockey.

Ladies' Remember to bring a tea towel to the regular December meeting on the 7th. The club's kitchen linen supply needs a boost.

Alpines Rout Rangers With 69 Shot, 12 Goal Attack

Bathurst Alpines mounted a relentless attack on Dalhousie rookie goaltender Rick Plant before close to 1000 fans here last night and came away with a crushing 12 - 4 win.

The Alpines fired 69 shots including 28 in the opening period on their way to the win which vaulted them into sole possession of first place in the North Shore Hockey League.

Five Alpines - Paul Ouellette, Lou Ouellette, Jackie Ray, Mike Murton and Michel Hamel - scored twice with the others coming from Don Ray and Brian Chamberlain.

Mike Brown, Wayne Cameron, Pete Cameron and Luc Gendron connected for the Rangers who never really recovered from the Alpines' quick start which produced Donnie Roy's goal just 26 seconds into the opening game.

Brian Chamberlain's goal and Jackie Ray's first gave Bathurst a 2 - 1 cushion after the first twenty minutes. They pulled away with four more in the second period as Paul and Lou Ouellette each connected for their first while Michel Hamel rifled in his pair after Wayne Cameron had counted for Dalhousie.

The Alpines continued the attack in the final period and

Early TV-Radio Days Related With Accuracy

By ELROD GLOVER

Be on at a point in time when landmarks within our lifetime are being celebrated.

One instance is broadcasting. Many of us were around when it began, and "we who were there" can rejoice now in its survival.

Such is the case of the fiftieth anniversary of the National Broadcasting Co. In The Golden Years of Broadcasting by Robert Campbell (John Wiley and Sons Canada Ltd.; $10.50) you'll find, in color and black and white, 256 pages amounting to a photographic essay of the rapid rise of a private enterprise like no other in the world.

Robert Campbell, a writer, composer and film-maker has done a remarkable job of research, delving into the early days of radio and television with care and accuracy.

Yet to nostalgic radio buffs like me, there are always omissions that CBS just for comparison.

Many of the old photographs leave out names I'd dearly love to match with the faces.

For example, those seated around the breakfast table with Don McNeill could one be singer Jack Owens?

The orchestra leader quartet and announcer with Jessica Dragonette, Rosario Bourdon, the Cavaliers and Ford Band?

The unidentified cast members of Show Boat: Muriel Wilson, Lanny Ross, Annette Hanshaw?

Even in the TV era, the names of cast member of Father Knows Best, How To Save A Marriage, and many of the originals of Broadway Open House are unmentioned. And who could leave out Everett Sloane in Patterns?

An index is essential in a book such as this, but none is provided here.

OTHER CENTRES

I should have liked to see a little space given to the output of NBC studios outside of New York.

Chicago, home of the famous Sinclair Minstrels with Gene Arnold, Little Theatre off Times Square, Empire Builders and Club Matinee with Ransom Sherman.

And San Francisco in the early 1930s, the most productive period of West Coast radio. The original One Man's Family, the mystery and science-fiction era of Carleton E. Morse, The Spotlight Revues and the legendary names of Bernard le Grand, Oley Olsen and Chic Underwood, Kaltenmeyer's Kindergarten and so many others.

Even a touch of the early-dance band remotes would have been gratifying.

So would something about the staff announcers of New York such as Richard Petrie, Nelson Case, Ed Herlihy, Milton J. Cross, Ben Grauer, George Hicks and Gene Hamilton, and the Chicago staffers like Durward Kirby, Everett Mitchelle, Pierre Andre and Charles Lyon.

THE TV ERA

But this is the nit-picking of a fan whose memory goes back more than four decades, to a time when radio brought the world into a Moose Jaw home.

The portion devoted to television is enormously detailed and astutely categorized although there is a certain overlapping of information, it's a profoundly absorbing story of development.

Even the technical fan should be happy. In the chapter dealing with the beginning of television, there is ample space devoted to the cathode ray tube, iconoscope and kinescope.

Did you know that the invention of the kinescope, the line count rose to 60? Today with the networks in full color, the count is 525.

And I learned there was not much of a jump from transmitting sound to sending pictures. A visual image was nothing more than tiny electrical signals like black dots transmitted then reassembled in a receiver.

And how did TV get its name? Iconscope, telegraph and telephone were already familiar words, so there you have the prefix. The Latin "visus" is the past participle of the infinitive "Videre", to see. Ergo, television—the art of distant seeing.

COMING OF AGE

Then the history of television is traced through the closed-circuit exploration of the 1930s, the brief flurry of a few daily minutes until 1941, when the war years interrupted development.

The resurgence began with the longest duration of a broadcast to that date - 14 continuous hours on VE Day, May 8, 1945.

During the mid-1940s, the chief emphasis of NBC was the building of a network. The NBC story since has been that of programming with impact, grandeur and showmanship.

A vast wasteland? Newton Minow said so.

Walter Lippmann noted: "While television is supposed to be free, it has in fact become a creature, the servant and indeed the prostitute of merchandising."

Archibald MacLeish: "It is more persistently shaping the minds of more people than all the rest of us put together."

Author Campbell claims that if all the foregoing quotations were true "we'd already be embalmed in George Orwell's mindless world of 1984."

Perhaps TV will always have Watergate to prove the opposite.

After all, an entire nation was held together after the Kennedy assassinations of 1963 and 1968 in a common bond of grief, despair and a search for assurance. Television did that.

When man stepped on to the moon with the world thrilling to those famous words spoken, we were right there at that precise moment. Television did that, too. It was broadcasting's finest hour.

And all this in 50 years? As Bob Hope says in the foreword: It's amazing.

Mr. Glover is one of Canada's best-known broadcasters.

Milk Producers Air Complaints

Milk producers in the Northeast had a chance to voice their discontent about the Milk Marketing Board in Bathurst last Thursday evening. Three representatives of the Milk Marketing Board, David Hughes, Board employee from Moncton, and two of the Board's directors, Charles MacDonald from Woodstock and Lionel Sadeau, from Edmundston came to meet with local producers. The meeting was held to prepare for the annual meeting of the Milk Marketing Board the 29th and 30th of November.

Northeast producers are most concerned by the loss of milk quotas from the north. Under the present quota system, there is no protection of milk production in the North. At the present time the local market is greater than the local production.

Since January 1745 pounds of milk quota consumed in the Northeast is produced outside of the region. Yet some producers who have sold off their quotas have not found a buyer in the North.

These quotas have been picked up by southern producers because farmers here cannot afford the high cost of milk quota which is presently 55¢ pounds per day.

Producers here would like to see some kind of compensation that would keep milk production in the North. Producers who are members of the Newcastle Dairy Co-op face a double danger. They carry a $500,000 mortgage which was taken out to cover the costs of the repair costs of a fire in June 1975. Due to the present quota system, the Newcastle Co-op is forced to buy milk from the south rather than from its own members. The rules of the Milk Marketing Board don't permit farmers here to expand their production to fill local need.

Producers also discussed the need to have a more effective system of milk testing and a penalty system which does not waste quality milk. They would also like to see provincial processing of industrial milk. Finally the milk producers asked for more government consideration of the importance of agricultural production in a disparate area like the North East.

Elsie Bailey, Paul Kenny and Patrick Riordon will represent Northeast Milk Producers at the annual meeting of the Milk Marketing Board in Fredericton the 29th and 30th of November.

Advocates Regional Mental Health Units

Health Minister Bill Cockburn says the development of mental health services in the province has been "piecemeal" because of past cost sharing programs.

"The solution, he suggested "is for comprehensive mental health centres to be totally cost-shared, thereby providing for the development of regional units with inpatient, outpatient, day hospital, and attached community facilities.

"That is the plan for New Brunswick and we trust that future federal-provincial cost-sharing formulas will encourage that type of program development."

The health minister was addressing the provincial conference on mental health at the Memramcook Institute November 13.

Reviewing the development of cost sharing Mr. Cockburn said that following the Second World War various provincial health groups established non-profit health insurance schemes but none of the schemes paid for services provided by the province, such as mental hospital treatment.

"However, people could receive treatment from a private psychiatrist and in a general hospital, on the same basis, as for any other disorder, and their expenses were wholly or partially covered by health insurance." Mr. Cockburn said.

This led to adequately paid private service including individual office and general hospital treatment, and government service, poorly paid and concerned only with mental hospitals. As a result, psychiatrists did not go into mental hospital practice and still don't, the minister said.

With the arrival of Medicare and more cost sharing, the situation worsened. Private practice and general hospital treatment was cost-shared while government services and mental hospitals were not, and remained a charge of the province and the estate of the patient.

"As a result of such cost sharing the patient who went to a general hospital, or saw his psychiatrist privately, was well attended, while the patient who went to a mental hospital was subject to the limitations of his overworked doctor."

Another problem arose, Mr. Cockburn said, when community psychiatry developed. Community psychiatry involves out patient services, follow-up services, preventive services and community consultation outside an institution. However, many of these services are not available under Medicare.

A form of cost sharing of community psychiatry eventually did evolve but through the department of social services rather than the department of health. Approximately 800 patients now are being cared for in the community "our third mental hospital" the minister said.

The population at the province's two mental hospitals in Saint John and Campbellton have been halved with the introduction of community psychiatry. Each hospital has now become an acute treatment centre with between 60 and 120 beds with long stay sections of 300 and 400 beds.

"As an extension of the Canada Assistance Plan," the minister said, "the long stay sections of both hospitals were converted into homes for special care and transferred to the department of social services.

Mr. Cockburn added that the acute treatment sections in both hospitals remain as the only service which is not cost shared.

"As the trend is towards community services, however, it is likely the more and more in-patient psychiatric treatment will be undertaken by units in general hospitals."

New Arena For Petit Rocher

Construction of a new arena for Petit Rocher is underway in the community with the exterior of the building expected to be completed in about two weeks.

According to Gilles Chamberland, chairman of the construction committee, the project has been under discussion for the past ten years, but has been more seriously considered since May 1976.

The new building will serve, in addition to Petit Rocher, the parishes of Madran, Alcida, Devereau, Laplante, Tremblay and Nigadoo, a total of approximately 7,000 persons.

Cost of the arena is estimated at 450,000. Of this amount, $33,000 was donated by the local Richelieu Club and the Petit Rocher Recreation Association and some 100 individuals.

Families in Petit Rocher and surrounding area are being asked to donate $10 per month for ten months to raise the rest of the funds.

The building, situated on the former skating grounds behind the church, is expected to be ready for September 1977.

A card-o-thon was held recently and $1,100 was realized. Members of the Richelieu Club are also selling tickets on a snowmobile, and all profits will go toward the cost of the arena.

$245,000 In Public Works

A Saint John company has won a $136,300 public works contract for the dredging of Caraquet Harbor.

Harbour development, a division of Universal Construction and Engineers Ltd. submitted the lowest of four bids on the project. High bid amounted to $380,000.

Under the terms of the contract the inner harbor approach the main wharf and a section of the main channel will be dredged to maintain the required depth for safe navigation in the harbor and channel.

At the same time, the Public Works Department awarded a $108,656 contract to Comeau and Savoie Construction Ltd. of Caraquet which has agreed to repair the wharf at Stonehaven.

Only two bids were submitted to the Department. The other bid reached $121,217. Repairs are to be completed by mid-December.

YOUR BUSINESS

Investors Wary On PQ Intentions

By VINCENT EGAN
Business and Consumer Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

From the moment the Quebec election results became known on the night of Nov. 15, most of the pundits and politicians have been down-playing the significance of the separatists' victory.

Investors, however, haven't been buying that line. People who are responsible for substantial amounts of capital don't listen to soothing analyses, when they have the hard facts instead.

The over-riding fact seen by investors in Canada and abroad is that power in Quebec has passed to a party with a single policy, and that, a negative one - to take the province out of Confederation.

That's what caused the selling pressure on the Canadian dollar on Foreign exchange markets immediately after the election (despite Bank of Canada support), the weakness in the stocks of Quebec-based companies, and the sell-off in bonds.

A modest recovery in the currency, stock and bond markets, after the initial flurry of selling, shouldn't be a surprise. That's the usual pattern.

In the longer term, however, the initial reaction is likely to be confirmed. Investors have been growing steadily more cautious about committing their capital in Quebec enterprises, and they will probably be much more cautious in the years just ahead.

CAPITAL EXODUS

How will Rene Levesque and the Parti Quebecois government react to an intensified exodus of capital?

And how will they react themselves, especially businessmen controlled by people whose first language may not be French?

Nobody knows, until a good many investors aren't sticking around to find out.

Mr. Levesque and his colleagues have gained power by the tried and true tactic of appealing to self-pity.

Their rhetoric left the impression that other Canadians were depriving Quebecers of their franchise, the right to own property, to have their own schools, to speak the language of their choice.

They convinced 41 per cent of the Quebec electorate on Nov. 15 that only the Parti Quebecois could give the people of Quebec the freedoms that are supposed to have been denied them until now.

For the next few years, Mr. Levesque is guaranteed the best possible platform from which to capitalize on that self-pity, to expand upon the theme that Quebecers are members of an injured people, and to present the independence referendum as a means of correcting these fancied grievances.

ECONOMIC COST

If he should falter, there are plenty of volatile young PQ militants, waiting in the wings to hurry the day of separation, regardless of its economic cost.

And not far behind them, waiting only for signs of a split in the PQ ranks, are the Union Nationale politicians, who have been trying to make a comeback since the 1960's.

All of this will be trying to investors who have committed their capital to Quebec enterprises, and they will probably be much more cautious in the years just ahead.

Those who will be trying to spread mischief can probably count on the unwitting help of those whose capital has contributed to the rapid development of Quebec throughout the past quarter-century.

Private investigators, even if they don't withdraw from Quebec, are unlikely to commit new capital in the years ahead. There are plenty of other places in North America that offer greater stability and greater security.

Their retreat could create a financial vacuum that social governments abroad would quickly and easily fill.

There are some lovely and exciting times ahead for Quebec. There may well be some painful economic choices, too.

years of regulation any attempt to re-introduce inequality among workers in terms of the minimum wage is totally unacceptable and will meet with strong opposition from ourselves," stated the NBFL brief.

Recommended were quarterly COLA increases equivalent to the Consumer Price Index advance and semi-annual increases in total increase equal to the rise in Gross National Product.

Mr. LeFrage, while critical of the Board for failing to propose many long overdue changes in the minimum employment standards laws, blasted the Minister of Labour and Manpower and government for failing to adopt specific recommendations of the Board, including adoption of a comprehensive labour code; job termination notice, vacation pay, equitable remuneration of hours worked, and payment of employees affected by the Closing of Retail Establishments Act.

He suggested that Board influence in initiating minimum employment standards changes is at the "whim of the Minister", and that government was "misleading workers and the public in advertising for public hearings on minimum wages and Employment Standards legislation only to ignore for the most part the input and proposals that follow."

"Action on the grievances of workers and not political manoeuvering on behalf of employers is required if New Brunswick minimum employment standards are ever to be progressively updated," said the Federation president.

In addition to a $4 per hour minimum wage, the NBFL recommended that - all work in excess of 40 hours per week and 8 hours per day be considered overtime and compensated at the rate of double time - overtime be calculated on the regular hourly wage rather than the minimum wage.

Finally, the Federation head warned against a return to separate minimum wage orders based on age and occupational wage differentials claiming this would mean "...a return to job discrimination and employer subdivision of low wage employees."

"Such inequities in the minimum wage having only recently been eliminated following

NB's Orange Lodge Groups Present Social Blueprint

A blueprint for social improvement was drawn up at a meeting of the executive officers of the Grand Orange Lodge of New Brunswick the executive officers of the County Orange Lodges of the province, held in Fredericton Saturday, November 13. Provincial Grand Master Murray Howe of Fredericton presided at the meeting and, after a discussion on what is happening, the meeting proceeded to outline a course of action for a strong united Canada.

There was general agreement that the population should get back to the aims and ideals of those who contributed much to the country, including those who gave their lives in two world wars, and to keep alive the principles for which these men fought and died. As this is bigger than any group or individual, it was felt all persons in Canada, regardless of race or creed, should unite in support of these principles. The plan adopted at the meeting is as follows:

A Common Goal - There is little chance for unity unless all are working toward a common goal for their nation, and the principles taught in the Word of God are the only infallible principles for any nation. Therefore, society should be founded on the two greatest commandments of all: To love God and put Him first in all things, and to love thy neighbour as thyself. All troubles in our present society can be traced to the fact they many have turned away from these commandments. History teaches us that man, without God, is a failure.

Government - Governments are elected to serve, not to rule, and should carry out the wishes of the people and be accountable to the people. Laws and decisions should not be made by bureaucrats who do not have to answer to people. Since it is the people's business, and the people's money, the people have a right to know what is being done, and any withholding of information should be regarded as a betrayal of the trust placed in them.

There should be greater involvement of the general public in governing of the country, and it is the responsibility of the public to see that only men of the highest integrity are nominated for and elected to public office. There should be no movement toward the left because socialism restricts the rights of people, and is financially disastrous.

Law and Order - Laws should be designed to protect law-abiding citizens, and the efforts of the police to protect the public should not be defeated by the lawmakers or by the courts. The use of violence by any group or individual to get his way should be considered normal, and anyone convicted of vandalism should be compelled to make restitution. There should also be some means of compensation for innocent victims of crime. A vote taken at a meeting of the Grand Orange Lodge of New Brunswick was unanimously in favor of capital punishment for capital murder.

Bilingualism - The lodge is convinced that there is no such thing as instant bilingualism. It should be started by the teaching of a second language in the schools, and will take at least one generation, and even then will not be complete. There should be no infringement on the rights of those who can speak only one language. The present policy should be discontinued as it is dividing the country.

Education - School districts should not be too large and schools should not be so large the individual student is lost in the crowd. It is not fair to have recreational facilities at large schools available only to those who live in the vicinity of the school, as students bussed from outlying areas must spend a great part of their time on the bus travelling to and from school.

It is recommended that no school be closed without the matter first being submitted to a vote by the people of the area concerned, and that the School Board abide by the decision of the people. Also, high moral and patriotic standards should be maintained.

The Monarchy - Retention of the monarchy is important for Canada's future. The Head of State is above party politics, and as long as the Queen, or her representative, must sign all bills passed by Parliament, it is a safeguard against the take-over of the country by a dictator. Retention of the monarchy guarantees a measure of stability that would be lost in becoming a republic.

Freedom of Speech - Freedom of speech and freedom of the press must be retained, subject of course to the law pertaining to libel. People should be free to express their opinions on any issue. The press should be permitted to comment editorially on either or both sides of an issue.

Responsibility - Every individual has a responsibility as a citizen, and there should be no demands for privileges without responsibility.

In speaking of the Blueprint for Social Improvement, the Grand Secretary, Arnold J. Slaney of Moncton, N.B. said: "The policy of the Orange Order is: 'Equal rights to all and special privileges to none' and we have tried to avoid infringing on the rights of anyone. We hope individuals and organizations will support the principles outlined here."

NBFL Wants Hike In Minimum Wage

Immediate actions to increase the minimum wage to $4 per hour was advocated Nov. 10 by the New Brunswick Federation of Labour in a brief to the N.B. Employment Standards Advisory Board.

Citing rising living costs and the inadequacy of the existing minimum wage rate, the Federation said, "an increase in the Minimum Wage Order to $4 per hour is both warranted and imperative if workers affected by the Order are to receive a fair return for their labour."

Federation spokesman Paul LeFrage termed the existing minimum wage rate of $2.80 "insufficient", arguing, "...employees affected find themselves still unable to escape the grips of poverty and forced to condone family incomers or work extremely long hours in order to maintain a reasonable standard of living."

Minimum wage earners, suggested the NBFL brief, are more adversely affected by inflation than other workers and dependent on the generosity of their employers or governments in the Minimum Wage Order if they are to keep abreast of rising living costs, realize an improved standard of living, and receive an adequate return for their labour.

In calling for an early jump in the minimum wage rate, the Federation noted that because no future increments were scheduled and employers are usually given six months notice of changes the workers affected would see their already meagre incomes deteriorate in real terms as living costs rise. It claimed that the substantial gap that already exists between minimum wage earners and average wage and salary earners would also widen.

The federation urged the board to provide for future increases on a more regular basis, saying the current method of periodic minimum wage advances is outdated. It suggested automatic adjustments to offset cost of living increases and provide an increase in real income for minimum wage recipients.

Aims Listed by Trappers

The Bathurst Trappers' Council, an affiliate of the New Brunswick Trappers' Association, met November 16, to set specific aims for the Council.

These are as follows:

1) Promote humane trapping.

2) Promote effective trapping and proper handling of furs.

3) Promote proper fur management, i.e. efficient utilization of renewable wildlife resources.

4) To gather all trappers together so that each man learns from the experience of others.

In line with these objectives, a series of trapper education courses is currently being run, with the co-operation and assistance of the N.B. Dept. of Natural Resources and the Community Colleges.

These courses teach fur hoarers' habits and habitat, how to trap them and properly handle their furs. Both New and veteran trappers alike may benefit from these courses.

In attendance at the meeting was David Cartwright, wildlife biologist with the Dept. of Natural Resources, Fredericton. Mr. Cartwright gave an interesting talk on the various fur auctions in Canada and the advantage of trappers sending furs to these auctions.

The Bathurst Trappers' Council, newly-formed in 1976, now comprises some 50 members. Regular meetings will be held the third Tuesday of each month at the Ranger Station on Vanier Blvd. at 7:30 p.m. All interested trappers are invited to attend.

Officers of the organization are: David Hayward, president; Charles MacAleenan, vice-president; and John Goyette, treasurer.

Sessions Held By Teachers

(by Edmond Poirier, Chairman Inservice Committee, School District No. 4 Bathurst)

On November 8th and 9th, I attended a Professional Development Conference in Moncton. Also attending were other teachers as well as supervisors and superintendents from all the school districts in New Brunswick. The aim of the conference was to evaluate the Revised School Calendar on education in the province after a two month operation.

The conference opened with a re-examination of the Philosophy of Professional Development for Provincial teachers. Everyone agreed that these types of activities are indeed necessary for they lead to better teaching in the classroom.

Our children then, become the beneficiaries of teacher programmes in Professional Development. Although we will continue to plan for such activities, we must take greater care to co-ordinate school closings to avoid unnecessary disruptions.

We also hope to open the lines of communication with the public to keep everyone informed about teacher workshops in this area.

The two days were taken up with sessions dealing with all aspects of Professional Development; philosophy, school calendar, funding, control, needs assessment and evaluation. We realize there have been problems but with everyone co-operating - educators, parents, students - these will be eliminated. The future looks extremely promising.

For and about Teenagers

BY PATRICK EDWARD

THIS WEEK'S LETTER: I am 14 years old and the boy I like is 14, too. I was going with him and he told me he didn't want to go with me, but he still liked me. My girlfriend is always with me. Everytime we are at the beach my boyfriend doesn't pay any attention to me. He messes around with my girlfriend. I get very jealous. He went away and when he came back he told me he didn't like me any more because he liked someone else. But I still love him. All my friends tell me I shouldn't like him. What do you think I should do?

OUR REPLY: We think you should take it easy. It's difficult to determine whether your "boyfriend" said he likes you or doesn't like you — as you said both in your letter. The point is, before you can handle the situation, you have to make certain you're clear on what the situation is. Don't worry about what your friends say. Make up your own mind on how you feel about this person and let him know. If he doesn't want to go with you, it wouldn't be much fun to spend time with him, would it? And don't worry about him "messing around" with your girlfriend. It's alright to like more than one person at the same time. The world needs more sharing of love and less jealousy.

Fish Landings Show Increase

Fisheries Minister Omer Leger announced November 22 that New Brunswick's landing of commercial fish in September increased threefold over the same month last year.

Crustacean catches (lobster, shrimp, crab) were doubled those of September, 1975 while the pelagic or deep sea catch increased fourfold. The groundfish landing increased almost twofold.

Tuna, rock crab and salmon accounted for the largest weight increases, respectively, while tuna, salmon and queen crab registered the largest dollar increase, respectively, among the species.

The largest price per pound increase was held by herring scales, alewives and shad. The species which accounted for the largest weight decrease were haddock, alewives and Irish moss.

Haddock, Irish moss and alewives accounted for the largest reduction in total dollar value. The largest price decrease per pound was held by pollock, rock crab and herring catches.

From January to September all species landed accounted for 172,658,130 pounds, which represented an increase of 16.1 per cent over the same nine-month period last year when the total catch represented 148,708,228 pounds. The value of this year's catch during the same period was correspondingly higher. It stood at $18,936,741 which was a 28.2 per cent increase over last year's $14,766,157.

The figures on fish landings were supplied by the fisheries and marine branch of Environment Canada in Halifax with the percentage variations by species compiled by the provincial department of fisheries, Mr. Leger noted.

CITY'S FIRST GARAGE AND SERVICE STATION ON THE WAY OUT

It is with a feeling of nostalgia that older residents of Bathurst see this Main St. landmark in the process of elimination. This was the site of the city's first garage and service station which was operated by Kennah Bros. Ltd., the partners of which firm Jack and Herb Kennah are still alive and well. The former resides on Youghal Drive, the latter in the original Kennah homestead on St. Andrew St. The building was originally erected in 1918 by the Robertson Brothers, who operated a lumber business as well as a hotel in the early days and it was used as a warehouse. It was later rented by Miramichi Lumber Co. and Gloucester Lumber and Trading Co. Ltd. In 1919 the Kennahs came into possession, purchasing the property from the Robertsons. They remained in business until their retirement in 1966, at which time the structure was acquired by Northern Chain Saws Ltd. Present owner is Irving Oil Co. Ltd., which firm has no present plans for use of the land about to become vacant.

Program Deals With Personal Bankruptcy

Persons with financial troubles which have become too great for them to handle are advised of the small debtor program sponsored by the federal department of consumer and corporate affairs.

In the city last week from the Moncton office of the department in connection with applications from the area for personal bankruptcy was Busaid Arseneault.

In explaining the small debtor program, Mr. Arseneault pointed out that an individual can declare bankruptcy in two ways. In the first instance, the person can go to a private individual, in which case he would have to pay a fee. The government program, however, concerns the second group of people, those who cannot afford such a fee.

To qualify for the program, the individual cannot have assets worth more than $500. As soon as he or she applys for the program, all action against him, such as pressure from bill collectors, etc., ceases. However he also relinquishes control of all business affairs. All money matters must go through the trustee Mr. Arseneault.

After declaring bankruptcy the individual cannot obtain or request credit, and he must keep the trustee informed at all times as to his situation, both monetary and otherwise. The person must also meet with creditors to explain the situation.

The bankruptcy period can last anywhere from three months to a year, although six months is usually the average. During this time, the person goes through a rehabilitation period whereby he is expected to live on a budget and is helped to see why the situation got out of hand.

"And as bankruptcy usually stems from more than just a lack of money," said Mr. Arseneault, "the person is given other forms of help as well such as family counselling."

If the person has responded well to the training and help provided by the program, and if the trustee feels the situation has been remedied, he can then recommend to the Supreme Court that all bills against the individual be cleared completely.

"If the discharge is granted", said Mr. Arseneault, "he is divested is no longer responsible to the former creditors or to the trustee can can begin all over again."

Requesting further information on personal bankruptcy or wishing an application can pick up a form at the Information Centre, 231 Main Street, the local Canada Manpower or Social Welfare offices. They can also contact Mr. Arseneault at 300 Cameron Street, Moncton, phone 858-2050.

Not Entirely Television Happy

Bathurst, N.B.
November 18, 1976

For the past several years, the people have been anxiously awaiting the arrival of a second television channel in the area. Well, it has finally happened but it is far below expectations.

CHSJ Television in Saint John and the CBC have kept part of their bargain to the citizens of the North Shore by providing the service in the 18 month period allotted, however, in the Bathurst area, the signal is far below par.

Viewers in the Chatham, Newcastle, Campbellton, Dalhousie, Jacquet River and Belledune areas are receiving excellent reception from the new channels while Bathurst despite having the proper antenna installation are getting far from a grade A signal.

CKCW Moncton, which is providing full CTV service to the North Shore are offering a very respectable signal in this area, but there are many interesting programs on CBC which provide viewing enjoyment but at the present time cannot be enjoyed because of the degraded signal.

I think it is only fair that CHSJ upgrade their reception in the Bathurst area by either building a rebroadcasting station in or around Bathurst or boosting their effective radiated output power from the current 25,000 watts to 100,000 watts from their excellent site at Mount St. Joseph in Carleton, Quebec.

George Cromwell, General Manager of CHSJ Television, should release a statement to the people of the Bathurst area assuring them that upgrading work will be done in the very near future to ensure that these people receive the same excellent service that the rest of the North Shore is.

If Bathurst citizens would take a drive to Campbellton or Campbellton, they would come home quite disappointed after seeing what those viewers are receiving.

Saddened By James' Death

Marblehead, Mass.,
November 16, 1976

My sister, Tilly Doucet of Major's Lane, sends me The Northern Light quite often.

I was saddened to learn of the death of Dud James. I didn't know him personally but I never missed a hockey game in those days and I did a lot of skating.

I have a picture I am sending. I thought probably someone would like to have it.

Seeks Answer To Question

Miramichi Sound Of Music Enjoyed Here

The somewhat unfavourable weather and other Sunday night activities in the area apparently affected the attendance at the November 22 performance by the Miramichi Sanatoria Entertainment Club in Nepisiguit High School Auditorium.

Those who made it enjoyed the two hours of variety entertainment presented by a group of talented artists. The immutable master of ceremonies, Vince Moar, however, after almost 30 years, remained as the most likeable part of the show. A pre-curtain electric organ recital by Jack Irving, who provided an encore later in the program, won popular response.

Star of the evening was undoubtedly 13-year old vocalist, Wayne Carter, who spent his last summer vacation teamtaping with Marg Osborne for national television later.

Two rock dance routines by Roger comeau, one of them on roller skates, received a great ovation. This long, nimble, jolly Roger combined rhythm, style and suspense as whirling wheels dangerously skirted the edge of the stage.

Some of the highlights of the evening were staged by the younger elements, students of various schools of baton and dancing.

These included the Karasek group from the Miramichi which contributed a hawaiian jazz hula dance by Carmel Vickers, Tammy LeFloch, of Newcastle, and Rosemaire Corney, of Blackville. Country Sunshine with Linda Mulhall, Darlene Lawes, Melissa Moore and Elizabeth LeFloche from Newcastle, and Rhonda Lee Corney of Blackville. Let's Get Together, a novelty tap dance by Beth Fletcher and Lacie Robichaud as football players and Cathy Barriveau, Janice Vickers and Paula Bryenton as cheerleaders.

Bathurst Chaleurettes, taught by Joanne Fournier, made a guest appearance with the troupe, with Shelley Babineau capably manipulating a single baton and her companions Darlene and Sandra Fournier adeptly handling hoop batons.

The Charlo School of dancing, directed by Mrs. Dorothy Quann, and also based in Bathurst added two crowd-pleasers. One was a step-dancing duet with Ann Despres and Diane Mallet, the other a Mexican dance with marracas soloed by Andree Gamet.

Another pair of youngsters who made a hit were Toby Lamkey and Patsy Michaud of Chatham who sang two duets.

The show was tied together by such veteran performers as Joe MacDonald's Band, the members of which are Nigel Mullen, Gary Coakley, Marven Mills, Walter MacDonald and George Washburn.

Those down front were also pleased with the several contributions by male vocalists Bill Savoy, Ernie Taylor, Jim Lawlor and last, but not least, Donna McLean, a pleasant honey songstress in the Kate Smith image and tradition.

Emcee Moar made special and fitting reference to the Sanatoria Entertainment Club's early local benefactors, including Mrs. L. L. Frenette, the late Dr. Frenette, Mrs. Peter Leger, the late Mr. Leger and J. Harper Kent.

The show was sponsored by the North shore Shrine Club, a representative fez-wearing group of which appeared on stage before the final curtain. Introductory remarks were made by Shriner Norman Scott, while words of appreciation to the performers and audience were voiced by Shriner Harry W. S. MacLean.

Three County Licenses OK'd

The results of public hearings held on Nov. 5 into four applications for licenses under the Liquor Control Act, were released November 18 by Lloyd R. Smith, chairman of the provincial liquor licensing board.

The board approved the transfer of ownership of existing dining room and lounge licenses to Family Lines Motels Ltd., Box 10, R.R. 2 Bathurst.

On the same date the board gave approval to the transfer of ownership of an existing special premises license to Rhead Frenette of Robertsville, Gloucester County and approved a club license for Les Chevaliers de Colomb (Conseil Le Carrec) No 6877 (Caraquet) Inc.

More LIP Grants For County

Approval was received Nov. 16 for 25 additional Local Initiative Program (L.I.P.) projects in the federal constituency of Gloucester.

This federal contribution of $638,227 will create 175 jobs and generate 3,895 man-weeks of work. Approval for a few more projects in the constituency is expected in the near future.

LIP is a federal program designed to create jobs during periods of peak seasonal unemployment.

The project approved will provide several communities with service and facilities such as hot meals for school children, repairs to low-income family homes, day-nurseries, kindergartens and community buildings.

A list of approved projects and their cost, with the number of jobs created, follows:

School Population Still On Downtrend

Department of Education officials have expressed mild surprise at preliminary figures which indicate that enrolment in provincial public schools has dropped by 1.13 per cent.

In School District No. 4, Bathurst, a total of 10,025 students is registered this year for a drop of 99 over last.

This is the fifth consecutive year of reduced enrolment.

At the end of September, 162,684 students were registered in all grades, which represents a drop of 1,846 from last year. The all-time high was 175,264 students in 1971.

Education Minister Gerald Merrithew said, "The baby boom of the late fifties and early sixties is now going through our secondary schools. At the elementary level, we are noticing the effects of a reduced birth rate." He expects enrolment will drop another ten or twelve thousand in the next five years before climbing back up again.

The size of this year's decline was a surprise to both department and district school board officials. New Brunswick experienced a net in-migration of 1,799 people from 0 - 18 years of age last year. This surge had been expected to hold school enrolments at a higher level during the 1976 - 77 school year.

Mr. Merrithew said the decline in the birth rate has had an effect on his department's plans for school buildings over the past few years. "In planning a new school, we had to be careful not to overbuild," he said. "And we couldn't build new schools just to house the baby boom. If we had, expensive classrooms would not be empty in many districts."

"Portable" classrooms were used to house the so-called "boom" students. There are approximately 570 portables in the province, but the minister said their use as classrooms will decline because of dropping enrolments and the new school construction program.

Some 7,700 teachers are employed in the public schools this year.

OUT OF THE BAG

It may be true that blood will tell and time will tell, but someone often beats them to it.

Folk Activity To Be Promoted

Representatives of four major areas of New Brunswick have agreed to establish a new provincial organization to develop folk activity in the province.

Lorenzo Bourque of Shediac is the interim chairman of the new body, the New Brunswick Folk Arts Council and representatives of four other areas are on the council's executive and board, with positions open from five additional areas.

The new body will promote provincial festivals, workshops, exhibitions, and other related activities.

The council asks that interested parties throughout the province contact the New Brunswick Folk Arts Council by writing to the secretary, Mrs Mary Ryan, 129 Stanley Street, Fredericton, or telephoning 454-3006.

Elected to the interim board are: Edmundston: Sister Henriette Raymond, and one member to be announced. Fredericton: Ruth Chappell Gale Cragg, Robert McNutt, Aftab Patla, Reg Peterson and Mary Ryan; Moncton: Lorenzo Bourque, Enrique de Areos, Bernie Houlihan and Aline O'Brien; Saint John: Murray Finlay, and one member to be announced. Representatives will also be added from Caraquet, Newcastle, Grand Falls, St. Stephen, and St. Andrews.

Those elected to the new council's executive are: chairman, Lorenzo Bourque, Shediac; vice-chairmen, Aline O'Brien, Moncton, Ruth Chappell, Fredericton and Murray Finlay, Saint John; secretary, Mary Ryan, Fredericton; treasurer, Bernie Houlihan, Moncton.

Attending the meeting as guests were John Saunders, director of cultural development, New Brunswick; Leon Kossar, Toronto and Guy Landry, Montreal, representing the Canadian Folk Arts Council.

TEN ACCIDENT-FREE YEARS

A safety achievement award was awarded recently in the Personnel Department of Brunswick Mining and Smelting Corp. Ltd. (Smelting Division). Above, Gerard Boudreau (centre) of janitorial services is congratulated by Ted Lagace (left), changehouse supervisor, and Personnel Superintendent L. K. Mackie upon completion of ten consecutive years without a lost-time injury, testifying to his ability to work in a safe and efficient manner.

Revenues Less Than Expected

The New Brunswick Telephone company Limited reports earnings of 55 cents per common share for the three months ending September 30, 1976.

This compares with earnings of 52 cents for the same quarter of 1975.

In its quarterly report to shareholders, the company said net income from operations was $3.2 million compared to $3 million for the same quarter last year.

Company president Kenneth V. Cox said expenses grew at a faster rate than revenues during the July-September period.

"A period of slower economic growth in New Brunswick and throughout the country generally reduced the rate of growth in stations (telephones) and long distance messages," said Mr. Cox. "As a result, revenues in the third quarter, although 16.2 per cent higher than that for the same period of 1975, were less than expected."

The new ice which forms in early winter can be deceptively thin and is weaker toward the centre. Red Cross reminds parents of young children to warn them of the dangers of neighborhood ponds, lakes or streams.

Graduates Lacking In The Basic Skills

We now have further evidence that most of our secondary school students graduate without having mastered the basic skills of reading, writing and arithmetic, said S. F. Hughes, Executive Director of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, at an Ottawa Rotary club luncheon recently.

Mr. Hughes based his remarks on a national survey of Canadian employers conducted by the Canadian Chamber and released today.

The survey, which included not only commercial and industrial enterprises, but also placement and personnel people, lawyers, architects and consulting engineers, revealed an overwhelming opinion that students now graduating from our secondary school system have less proficiency in basic skills than the graduates of 3 to 5 years ago.

75 per cent of the respondents felt that the written communications capabilities of the current crop of graduates were not up to the standards of a few years ago, while only 3 per cent saw an improvement. On overall communications skills (written and oral), 51 per cent saw deterioration and only 7 per cent an improvement.

46 per cent thought today's graduates do not read as well, while only 5 per cent saw improvement.

As regards the ability to do simple arithmetic, 52 per cent of those who replied saw a decline, while only 7 per cent felt that there had been an improvement.

56 per cent of the respondents said they would prefer to employ graduates who were competent in the "3 R's", and more than 7 out of 10 said they were willing to pay a premium to get them. On an average, they demonstrated a willingness to pay 13 per cent more to acquire people who had a reasonable mastery of these basic skills.

Mr. Hughes said the survey results were consistent and uniform across Canada, and that no region was free from the problem. He added that the survey of employers produced results that were almost identical with the results of the Chamber's 1975 survey of universities and community colleges. The earlier survey had revealed that many post-secondary institutions were forced to conduct remedial programs in order to upgrade the skill capabilities of freshmen.

Among the recommendations in the current Chamber Report were the following:

1. There should be a system of testing or examination in the "basics" at least. Such a uniform system should begin at an early age in order to ensure that effective and similar standards will be maintained across the country.
2. The business community should work to develop a dialogue with educators at the ministerial or curriculum development levels.

Mr. Hughes acknowledged that the bleak picture emerging from the two Chamber surveys related to only one aspect of the educational system, albeit an important one. He said it is encouraging that educators appear to be moving towards a greater emphasis on basic skills, particularly in Ontario.

Looking at education in a broader context, Mr. Hughes (See Graduates, Page 10, Col 7)

EVERYBODY LOVES A WINNER.

This year, Honda Civic became Canada's best selling small car.
No other car in the under 3000lb. category sold more. (Source: R.L. Polk, year to date, August, 1976).
Before committing to any other car, enjoy a look and a drive.

The secret of Honda Civic's success has been the value package, what you get for what you pay.

At a popular price, you get a completely equipped car able to hold its own under any roads conditions you're likely to face. With front wheel drive, it will get you through winter better than most cars. Plus, you get some features that give Honda Civic a distinct advantage in the race for your car dollar.

Honda designers were pleased to create a different creativity.

Their assignment was to re-think how cars should be, with no preconceived notions of how the car would look or what equipment it required to function.

By starting from scratch, Honda was able to reflect current conditions. Through innovative engineering, it made efficient use of materials and technology to keep costs reasonable, and still be able to do all you ask of a car by incorporating the latest automotive features.

When Honda Civic reached the Canadian market, the value package was unbeatable.

The car magazines gave Honda Civic rave reviews.

"Once in each generation of new cars, an automobile appears that is so right for its time and application that it's a wonder all cars that follow aren't carved in its image. The Honda Civic is a revolution on wheels, and boy, does it work!" Motor Trend magazine said that.

"If you're a regular of R&T, you know that we like the Civic. It's a very appealing small package with heaps of good things that can be said about its peppy performance, lively handling, efficient utilization of space and overall art of getting the job done." Road and Track Buyer's Guide.

Car magazines are very hard to impress.

HONDA CIVIC

HONDA CIVIC HATCHBACK

HONDA CIVIC CVCC

HONDA CIVIC STATIONWAGON

Honda Civic drivers are far more persuasive than Honda Civic ads.

The 50,000 Canadians who have bought Honda Civic Sedans, Hatchbacks, Station Wagons and CVCC's are a happy bunch of people.

A Road and Track driver survey found that an amazing 91% of current owners would buy a second Honda Civic after living with their first. That figure was the highest of any car ever.

If you have a friend or neighbour who owns a Honda Civic, ask him why he likes it. Be prepared for eloquence and enthusiasm. Current owners are Honda Civic's best sales people.

Honda Civic makes a salesman's job easy.

Because Honda Civic is sold completely equipped, you won't be forced into ordering options to bring the car up to your standards. Although you might want to spend some of your savings on personalizing your Honda Civic, as many owners seem to do.

Once you've taken a salesman for a Honda Civic test drive, you may find yourself twisting his arm to close the deal as soon as possible. Instead of the usual vice versa.

For 1977, Honda Civic merely fine tunes a basic success.

You won't find any sweeping changes in the Honda Civic line for the coming year. Underneath the new colours is the same car that has proven its fundamental soundness.

Your nearby Honda Civic dealer will be tickled to point out the handful of improvements when he takes you on a tour of a Sedan, Hatchback, Station Wagon or CVCC.

Even if you don't ride away in a Honda Civic, you're going to come out with a smile.

Most Require New Antennae

The key to good television reception is a proper antenna correctly installed.

Technical personnel of the New Brunswick Broadcasting Company Limited have recently completed a survey of the Bathurst and surrounding area.

Signal strength on Channel 4 meets anticipated specifications and is sufficient to bring in clear reception, providing correct antenna is installed.

A Channel 4 antenna, directed towards Carleton, Quebec, is recommended to give maximum reception. However, in many instances, an all-wave type antenna is found to be satisfactory. Local service men in the community involved are best equipped to give advice to television viewers. It has been determined that, in some cases, existing Channel 5 antennae will give adequate reception for Channel 4 but may require a slight change of direction.

CHSJ television officials suggest that television servicemen in Restigouche and Gloucester Counties are best equipped to advise viewers as to the proper type of antenna, depending on distance from the transmitter and topography of the area where the television set is located.

Fishermen Agree With Reductions

Lobstermen sailing out of Prince Edward Island ports traditionally keep a step ahead of federal fisheries protection officers. Nevertheless, it came as a shock to the feds that P.E.I. fishermen are far out in front in the principles of conservation of lobster stocks.

As a means of easing the pressure on dwindling lobster legions, the federal fisheries service decided that two years hence, each lobsterman would be allowed to work only 300 traps instead of the 400 traps now permitted. The decision, announced in early October for District 7 B on the Gulf of St. Lawrence side of the Island, met not with resistance but with a strong majority demand that the reduction of 100 traps each be implemented as soon as possible rather than in 1978.

Accordingly, fisheries officials regrouped and have now announced the reduction to 300 traps will become effective when the next lobster season opens in District 7B on May 1, 1977. Lobstermen had voted last spring 59 per cent in favor of trap reduction, partly because it is an equitable means of sharing available lobsters.

Also, keeping up with the Joneses in trap totals is becoming more costly. Each trap, a cage of wooden lathes with a knitted twine entrance throat, costs about $15 to build. Furthermore, a lobsterman must buy anchor ropes, buoys, and the cut-up fish for baiting the traps.

New Language Course, Grade 9

(by FRANCIS GOGUEN, Vice-Principal, Bathurst Superior School)

The need for understanding peoples of different cultures and languages has never been made more obvious than in our present world. This understanding depends upon communication.

In learning to speak and understand a second language our students begin to perceive that there are other ways of viewing and organizing facts, ideas, and feelings, quite different from our own, and yet justified and valid. From this realization can grow the true understanding of other races and nations, and an appreciation of their background, beliefs and problems.

"Ici on Parle Francais" is based upon the following linguistic principles:

a) Speech is the primary means of communication. Therefore, the main emphasis of an introductory course should be placed on the development of the two basic skills of speech communication. Auditory discrimination of sound, and oral expression.

b) Speech is a complex set of habits. To learn a second language a new set of speech habits must be developed. Only intensive drill and frequent repitition will consolidate the desired speech habits.

c) Of the four main skills to be mastered in learning a second language; 1. Auditory discrimination of sound. 2. Oral expression. 3. reading and 4. writing, the first two are most easily mastered by students of the pre-adolescent age groups.

d) A second language is most effectively learned when the course content is based on a systematic and gradual introduction of structures.

e) Vocabulary must be limited and must arise naturally out of the situation being presented.

Consequently, second language methodologies require continuous attention from the teacher to maintain an intensive motivated aural-oral relationship with the students. Furthermore, the methodology requires considerable preparation from the teacher since he or she has to implement new structures and dialogues which allow to introduce and consolidate the desired speech habits.

Corporal Allen Russell, 29, of Halifax, standing, station master of CHAR Radio at Alert, NWT, discusses a record with Private Mario Voyer, 20, of Sherbrooke, Que., the duty disc-jockey.

CHAR Makes Frozen North More Bearable

In a world without women, the soothing tones of a girl vocalist over the airwaves help make a six-months isolation posting almost bearable.

This is one of the benefits from CHAR radio — "the Voice of the Chosen Few(s)" at Canadian Forces Station Alert, the most northerly permanent settlement in the world.

A fully licensed radio station, CHAR is run by 46 volunteer station personnel on a 24-hour a day basis.

Cpl. Allen Russell, 29, Halifax, is station manager, and does a DJ (disc jockey) trick himself from 4 to 6 a.m., in addition to his regular job as a supply technician here.

The 46 DJs can select from a record library of 12,000 45s and 2,500 LPs, including everything from Bach to boogie, country and western, to acid rock.

"We try to provide balanced programming to meet the tastes of the young lads in their late teens, right through to the oldsters who dig the swing and sway of Sammy Kaye," Cpl. Russell explained.

Every DJ selects his own show subject to the general rules of the station, and is given full rein to develop his own pattern, under the direction of the program manager, Master Corporal Russ Fraser, 27, of Cold Lake, Alta.

No surnames of military ranks are permitted on the air, and there are restrictions on what may be said, for reasons of security. Otherwise, everything goes.

The station is supported by non-public and public funds, and its equipment is worth about $80,000. The entire system was installed by the servicemen themselves.

Even the commanding officer gets into the act. Maj. W.W. Dyke, WWDK, CD, of Hamilton has a half-hour show on Sunday nights called "Report From City Hall."

"It's a good way to get general information out, a little fun-chucking, and also draw attention to some outstanding work done by one section or another," Maj. Dyke said.

The station used to be an AM station, but there was difficulty with the signal bouncing off the atmosphere and being picked up down south.

In '74-'75 it was converted to a 45-watt FM station, and there are no other stations within the line-of-sight range of FM, just 450 miles from the North Pole.

In addition to its entertainment value and morale building, the radio station serves as a second line of communication during white-outs and storms, when everyone is locked in the hut they happen to be in when the storm broke.

CHAR also operates a closed-circuit television system, CHAR-TV. There is a color television set in every hut, and the station provides four hours of TV viewing four or five times a day to accommodate the shift changes. The TV program changes every day, and features video-tapes of major TV shows aired down south. The video manager is Cpl. Moe Girard, 23, of Ottawa.

Positions are always open for more DJs, and about one in every five serving at Alert is a volunteer disc jockey.

Those who serve a minimum number of hours receive a plaque and a scroll in payment for their services.

Enrollment Up In NB College

Figures on present enrolment at the New Brunswick Community College, and placement of its graduates, indicate that enrolment is up and that the great majority of graduates is employed in this province.

According to statistics released Nov. 16 by community college chairman W. B. Thompson, the number of full-time students is up by 6.6 per cent as of September 30, while enrolment in the technology program increased by 14.5 per cent. The number of full-time students has risen to 2980 from 2741 last year.

The New Brunswick Community College includes the province's trade and technical schools.

Students attending the community college are in either the technology programs, which are of two years duration, or the trades and occupational programs, which are of varying lengths under a year.

Of the college's June, 1976 graduates who are presently working, 94.5 per cent in the technology programs and 90.9 per cent in the trades and occupational programs are employed in New Brunswick.

Overall, the figures indicate, 90.7 per cent in the technology sector and 79 per cent in trades and occupational from the last graduating class presently had found employment at the time the survey was taken.

Nuclear Responsibility Week

By Rita Subbary

November 11 to 18 was Nuclear Responsibility Week in Canada. The idea for a week of activities centred around nuclear issues arose last year with the Maritime Energy Coalition which undertood the organizational work for last year's Week. This year, the week of activities was organized by the Canadian Coalition for Nuclear Responsibility (CCNR), and activities sponsored by anti-nuclear groups have been taking place across Canada.

First a word about the two organizations. The Maritime Energy Coalition was founded in September 1974 to bring together groups and individuals opposing plans for nuclear power in the Maritimes. Since then, it has grown to include 21 groups - three in Northern N.B., ten in Central and Southern N.B., seven in Nova Scotia and one in P.E.I. The Maritime Coalition's aim is to keep nuclear power out of the Maritimes and to promote in its place conservation and the development and use of decentralized alternate energy sources.

These groups are autonomous; each works in its own area in its own way. In addition, Coalition projects are undertaken. These have included the publication of the Coalition newspaper Nuclear Reaction, the sale of bumper stickers, the presentation of Coalition briefs (in addition to individual and group briefs), delegations of Coalition members to talk to such political figures as Premier Hatfield, and the holding of a May Day Festival, and anti-nuclear and alternate energy festival at Long Beach on the Kingston Peninsula this past spring.

The Canadian Coalition for Nuclear Responsibility was formed in the summer of 1975 to draw together about 40 citizen's groups - groups as diverse as Greenpeace and Pollution Probe, the James Bay Committee and the Maritime Energy Coalition, S.P.E.C. of British Columbia and S.T.O.P. of Edmonton, Energy Probe of the University of Toronto and the Ecology Action Centre of Halifax. CCNR is pushing for public accountability of the nuclear industry in Canada, that is, it is working to force the nuclear industry to release information about its operations and to be accountable for its actions.

Activities for this year's Nuclear Responsibility Week included a November 16 workshop in Ottawa for Members of Parliament on nuclear issues.

In the Maritimes, one of the groups (in Halifax) zeroed in on the issue of radioactive waste disposal, in an effort to raise public awareness of the question through articles, speeches and media interviews.

Another Maritime group, N.B.'s Blue Cove Committee for Information on Nuclear Plants, under the leadership of Ben Thériault who has nearly recovered by his mysterious "accident-assault" of last February, celebrated Nuclear Responsibility Week by becoming very active again in the face of indications of a resumption of plans for a "nuclear park" on N.B.'s North Shore.

As its contribution to the Week, a Saint John - based group, Citizens Against Nuclear Energy, held a Remembrance Day service at 2 p.m. November 11 on public land near the gates of the Lepreau nuclear site. The service was serious and extremely moving; poetry was read and peace songs were sung. There was a wreath laying ceremony by a mother and her three children, signifying Hope for the Future. The theme of the service was expressed through a series of questions probing the morality of leaving a radioactive legacy for our children if we permit the Lepreau plant to go into operation, with additional stress on the related immorality of Canada's policy of exporting nuclear technology to unstable governments in developing countries.

As is becoming usual, the authorities were there photographing the participants, and, very oddly, their car licence plates. The pictures of these 40 or 50 citizens of this fair land will be added to the collection the pro-nuclear people have been making for some years now of nuclear opponents. Though this peaceful service was well covered by the media, not a word seems to have been allowed to reach the public.

In contrast, the late T.V. news on Saturday November 13 carried an account of a violent anti-nuclear demonstration in Germany. In Europe, all legal means of halting the nuclear juggernaut have been tried; peaceful, non-violent occupations of proposed sites lasting many months have been carried out; when such peaceful means fail, nuclear opponents will not stand by and see their homelands be taken over so the nuclear industry, made up of multi-national corporations and huge financial combines, can profit. As more and more citizens understand the nuclear issue they join the ranks of the opponents; as they see civil rights abrogated, they say NO to nuclear power, and they mean it.

Following the European example of site occupations, the first U.S. non-violent occupations of a projected nuclear site took place on August 1 and 22, followed by huge demonstrations on October 24 to 25 at Seabrook, New Hampshire. One hundred and seventy site occupiers were arrested, many were jailed, some cases are still before the courts. The original ten, the Seabrook 10 as they are called, are in jail for three months. It seems appropriate to end a report on Canadian Nuclear Responsibility Week with their statement, from prison:

"We are not criminals, but political prisoners. We have acted on our consciences, under the guarantees of the Constitution of the State of New Hampshire and the U.S.A. The only contempt in this case is the contempt of the Public Service company (the power utility) for the people of New Hampshire, the town of Seabrook, and the world. The only contempt on our part is for the insanity of atomic energy.

"You can jail human bodies, but you cannot jail radiation.

We forgive Judge Buss in the tradition of all non-violent movements. We hope he takes this opportunity for education on nuclear power and human rights under advisement. We are only the first of hundreds of thousands who will be arrested in the necessary struggle against nuclear power. We are proud of the opportunity."

Nigadoo Wants Post Office

A petition urging the construction of a Post Office in the Village of Nigadoo is being circulated among the 250 families living in the community.

At the regular meeting of the village council held last week, Mayor Daniel Comeau pointed out that according to the recent Canada census, the municipality is classified as Group Six and therefore eligible for a federal building.

The Nigadoo Post Office is located at present in a private home. The mayor also noted that the outskirts of the village is currently served by the Beresford postal facility. He said a Post Office building in Nigadoo could serve these residents as well.

In other council business, a report from the Belledune Planning Commission showed a total of 77 permits, valued at $1,030,775, were issued from January to October in the village. Of this number, 37 permits were for residential construction.

Also in connection with the planning commission, it was agreed to send a letter to council's representative to the commission, Aurele Walsh, to determine whether he is still interested. Under commission regulations, three consecutive absences bring about the dismissal of the member.

Social and Personal

By Marg Jamieson, Woman's Editor

The many relatives and friends of Mr. Frank Power are sorry to learn he is a patient in Chaleur General Hospital. All wish him a hasty recovery.

The women's editor apologizes to the reports of the two local I.O.D.E. chapters, in particular to Gloucester Chapter whose regent is Mrs. J. Lyman Smith, concerning an article included in the Nov. 17 issue of the Northern Light, with an account of chapter's project, the handicraft display and sale. The name of Nicolas Denys Chapter's regent was the error.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Arseneau, 405 Riverside, Dr., have returned from Toronto where they were called by the illness of the latter's mother, Mrs. Charles Butcher, formerly of Bathurst. Her many friends here wish her a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Preston Daley recently visited in Saint John at the home of her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Thompson and family. While there, Mrs. Thompson left with the "Seabelle", a Port City Barbershoppers group, of over 35 ladies who participated in an international event at Springfield, Mass. over the Nov. 13 weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Milton and nephew Stephen Nagy spent the weekend visiting Mrs. Milton's father Mr. Robertson MacDonald at Hopewell, N.S.

The many friends of Miss Essie McLean are glad to hear she is now convalescing at her home in Janeville following a prolonged period in Chaleur General Hospital.

Mr. Allan Scott, a second-year student at Mount Allison University, Sackville, N.B. was the recent weekend guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Scott, Janeville.

Mr. and Mrs. W.E. Boyce, Halifax, recently visited at the reid and were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W.C. Barbery.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Johnson recently returned from a two-week vacation in Ontario where they visited their sons and families, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Johnson and children Bradley and Lara, Toronto, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Johnson and children Douglas and Carol at Cobourg.

Mr. G.R. "Bill" Williamson, Newcastle, and his son, Mr. Douglas Williamson, Bathurst, were in Toronto for the weekend where they attended the wedding of their son and brother respectively, Cst. Charles Williamson of the Toronto Metropolitan Police Department, and Miss Carol Marshall, which took place Nov. 20 at 1:00 p.m. in Alder wood United Church at Etobicoke.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilchrist A. MacDonald has returned from the West Coast where he spent three weeks as the guest of his son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Ian MacDonald, and children Ian, Robert, Duncan, Linda and Heather at Nanaimo. Mr. MacDonald also visited Mr. and Mrs. Robin Oliver at Victoria, and on the mainland with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence B. Lindsay.

Mrs. Gary Pryce and family spent a recent week with relatives at Penfield.

Mr. and Mrs. N.A. Higgins, Mr. and Mrs. James De Wolfe, and Mr. Gary Pryce were in Moncton over the Nov. 13 weekend where the men attended a Lions Club District Cabinet meeting on Sunday. Present were 150 Lions from many parts of New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island.

Adopts "Friendly Visiting" Program As Service Project

A regular meeting of Xi Delta Chapter Beta Sigma Phi was held at the home of Cheryl Brewster Nov. 10.

The Canadian Red Cross Society "friendly visiting" program for senior citizens received unanimous support, and the chapter will be taking it up as a service project.

A $200 cheque was sent to the Flowers of Hope Training Centre, and another for the same amount sent to Shawcare.

Lists of T.N.B. subscribers and season tickets were distributed for the sales campaign now under way.

Cindy Pupp and Carol Knowles discussed "A woman's best friend" — The Telephone, as their debate subject.

Mrs. Pupp claimed the presentation of a negative aspect to Bell's invention as a difficult, if not an almost impossible one, nevertheless, just as regards everything else, it has its disadvantages among them, the perpetual wrong numbers, at the oddest hours.

Mrs. Pupp, at this time, narrated a rather amusing incident that had happened to her which brought bursts of laughter.

The "crank call" however, she said is not a matter to laugh about. It not only causes annoyance, but is a nuisance.

Another important point is that one lets the telephone take the place of a letter, or a visit, thus depriving oneself and the recipient of a chance to show how much one cares and loves them.

With the hiking rates of telephones, other methods can be cheaper and just as effective, Mrs. Pupp concluded.

POSITIVE APPROACH

Mrs. Knowles, on the other hand, couldn't quite decide who one's "best friend" can be among varied choices.

She has: (1) a husband who trys to help, and thinks he is helping when he does the wash and mixes colors, almost helps when he is being just he... Is he being your best friend?

(2) Her children who run to her for everything as if she were the only one. Are they being your best friends?

(3) A good friend who will share your innermost thoughts and keep them confidential. Can she be your best friend?

(4) An animal that has become a part of the family, or a hobby which keeps her tensions from mounting. Are they your Best friend?

Or may it be it is one's home, where one's lifetime is spent, and last, but not the least, A woman's Best Friend. Can it be herself?

Before concluding, Mrs. Knowles read from Ansel Gowen's Pallet Surprise, which the author called her greatest achievement and best friend.

These are excerpts taken from the work of high school students who met the challenge of unknown words with logic and made misinterpretations truly admirable and hilarious.

a) Amnesia, a medicine: The doctor said to take some milk of amnesia.

b) The lieutenant was well trained in martial manoeuvres.

c) Mr. Graham is our local weather procrastinator.

d) At the market she found a nice friar for dinner.

These are excerpts and many more added peals of laughter to the order of the evening.

Mrs. Pupp was winner of the debate.

The next meeting will be at Kumari Sundaram's home on Nov 24.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Huey, who moved here recently from Hudson Hot Spring, B.C., have taken up residence at 404 Golf Street. Mr. Huey is superintendent at Brunswick Mills Ltd.

Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Grant and family have moved from Daniel Drive to their new home at 1572 Appleby Street. Mr. Grant is employed with Brunswick Mining and Smelting Corp. as a lab technician.

Mr. and Mrs. John Daigthmee formerly of Saint John, now are residing at 248 Murray Avenue. Mr. Daughtmee is area distributor of Fuller Queen.

PLAYING WITH BABY

Tickling baby's toes and crowing at him till he laughs are more than just fun for adult and child. Playing with baby helps his personality to develop in a positive direction.

Babies need to be played with in order to learn how to be sociable human beings. They must be taught to play, and they have to learn to play with people first, then with objects.

It doesn't take any talent for successful play with a baby. He is an enthusiastic audience and he'll appreciate and respond to efforts to entertain him, however simple.

The old, old games of "Pat-a-cake" and "This Little Pig" are as fascinating to the infant of today as they were to his parents and grandparents when they were children. Simple tunes and nursery rhymes are play for baby too. And he doesn't care whether you can carry a tune or not.

The important thing is that baby is learning that people like him, and that life is a pretty good proposition. The positive attitude to develope in his infant and toddler years will probably stay with him throughout life.

Metric In The Kitchen

Take a look around your kitchen. Are you equipped to handle the changeover to metric recipes?

If you're not quite sure, here's a checklist of the items you will need:

1) a liquid measuring cup with 250 millilitre (ml) capacity

2) a set of dry measuring cups labelled 50, 125 and 250 ml

3) a set of five metric small measures labelled 1, 2, 5 15 and 25 ml

4) a metric ruler

5) a meat thermometer with temperatures indicated on the Celsius scale (optional)

SAVE ENERGY

Be sure your refrigerator is air tight. A good test is to close the door on a piece of ordinary paper. If the paper is easy to pull out, then you're wasting cold air. Replace the gasket.

BRONCHITIS

Bathurst, N. B.
Sept. 1, 1936

My son, Michel, suffered from bronchitis from the age of 2 and each time he had an attack his bronchial tubes filled up so that we feared he would not survive from one time to the other.

His condition was so serious that it was often necessary to rush Michel to the hospital for oxygen treatments which relieved him only temporarily.

Consequently I decided to take Michel to see Mr. Desfosses and after a second visit substantial improvement in his condition was noted. He was therefore able to play without experiencing any difficulty in breathing.

It is with complete honesty that I state that my son has regained normal health, thanks to this great benefactor. Furthermore, I do not hesitate to recommend that other parents of suffering children should consult with Mr. Desfosses with confidence.

At Sessions In Capital

Technicians from the Bathurst area were among those attending the recent semi-annual meeting of the New Brunswick Artificial Insemination Breeding Co-operative held at the Fundy Line Motel in Fredericton.

The delegates included: Perley Smith, South Tetegouche; Arthur Renalds, Bass River; and Kerry Scott, Janeville.

Presiding at the sessions was Dr. Douglas Moore, chief veterinarian for the province. Others present included Kenneth Buttimer, Sr., Salmon Beach, president of the North Shore Artificial Insemination Association; and Percy Scott, Stonehaven, a director of the provincial body.

Medal To Mark Queen's Jubilee

A special Canadian medal will be struck to mark the Silver Jubilee of Her Majesty's accession to the Throne, Secretary of State John Roberts announced today.

The Canadian Jubilee Medal will be presented to outstanding Canadians during 1977 which is the 25th year of Her Majesty's reign as Queen of Canada.

Plans are already under way to have a silver medal known as The Queen's Silver Jubilee Medal struck in Great Britain. That medal will be a personal award from The Queen to members of the Crown Services and to others in the United Kingdom and other Commonwealth countries. The medal was designed by David Wynne. The obverse shows a crowned effigy of the Sovereign looking to the right.

The obverse of the Canadian medal will be similar with some modifications. The reverse of the medal will be distinctly Canadian. The medal ribbon will be the same as that of the medal which will be struck in the United Kingdom.

The Department of the Secretary of State will be responsible for the design and production of the Canadian medal.

Further details on the design and production of the medal, as well as the names of recipients, will be made available later.

Extra Period To File Briefs

The Legislature's select committee on fisheries has extended the deadline for the submission of briefs on the fishing industry in New Brunswick until Dec. 12, it was announced November 17 by Jean-Maurice Simard, committee chairman.

Individuals and groups who wish to submit written briefs for consideration at the committee's public hearings in December and in early 1977, still have several weeks to do so, said Mr. Simard.

"We hope that this extension of the deadline will increase the number of briefs the Committee will receive from individuals and groups," he said.

The committee will complete its three-region tour of the provincial fisheries on Nov. 25 with a visit to the Bay of Fundy area.

Mr. Simard said the committee's earlier meetings with fishermen from the northeast and southeast regions of the province had been very useful because they provided clear information on the present fishing situation, including the fishermen's concerns, that will enhance the assessment provided during the public hearings.

"The chairman added that the Bay of Fundy tour and the briefs received before the Dec. 12 deadline will be of considerable assistance in the preparation of the public hearings.

Briefs must be sent to:
Clerk's Office,
Legislative Assembly Bldg.

Camp Grants Are Announced

Jean-Pierre Ouellet, the minister of Youth, Recreation and Cultural Resources announced November 18 that about 60 non-profit summer camps operated by voluntary groups across the province will be eligible for grants under a new assistance program offered by his department.

Camps must belong to the New Brunswick Camping Association (NBCA) to be eligible for either a residential or non-residential grant. In addition to their non-profit nature and membership in NBCA, each camp must meet safety and health standards set by the province and be willing to submit a financial statement to the department at the end of their program.

The assistance program follows upon a study by the department that indicated the need for further camp leadership development. A four day pilot training program for camp counsellors was offered earlier in the summer at the Rotary Camp on Grand Lake and recently a workshop for camp administrators took place in Bathurst. A certification program for the camp counsellors has also been prepared.

"Meanwhile, the department and the association are expected to discuss eligibility criteria for assistance more fully with a view toward continued improvement in summer camp standards," said Mr. Ouellet.

Additional information on the summer camp grants program is available from any of the department's regional offices.

Merit Many Awards In Moncton Competitions

The 17 Charde Dancers and Twirlers, students of Charde School of Dancing in Bathurst, brought home 19 trophies and 32 medals from the International Southeast Majorette Association annual competition at Moncton on Nov. 13.

The entry from Bathurst was among approximately 400 children competing in the day-long event held in Vallee High School and which concluded at 5 p.m.

The Charde girls who had worked hard for weeks were well rewarded, placing in the various categories of military marching, command marching, solo twirling, two baton, three baton and dance routine.

Although the students are mainly from Bathurst and surrounding areas, Suzanne Gallant is from Richardsville and brought recognition to her community with a first place trophy as well as six medals covering second and third place in the competitions.

Bathurst can be proud as well and the following results tell the tale:

Anne Despres, two medals; Susan Doucet, two trophies, three medals; Andree Gionet, three trophies, four medals; Annette Hendsbee, two trophies, five medals.

Lynn Gionet, five trophies, two medals; Dale Brochu-ridge, four medals; Kimberly Donahue, four medals; Yolande Boucher, three medals; Carol Arseneau, three medals.

Elaine Bruno, two trophies, two medals; Pam Dupuis, two trophies, three medals; Lynn LeBlanc, three medals; Lisa Doucet, one medal; Mona Duguay, two medals; Brenda Duguay, three medals.

The above trophies were for first place and the medals were mainly for second and third position. Girls in the elementary dance team placed fourth and won a trophy as did the girls in the junior team who were in fifth place.

Their teacher, Dorothy, has stated the students are under a fair amount of pressure during these baton competitions and their trophies and other awards were well merited.

Their teacher also has expressed pride and pleasure in their fine accomplishments.

Crosscountry Cookie Recipe

Winter is a time of outings of one kind or another: overnight snowshoe hikes, skating parties, crosscountry skiing, or even a walk in the countryside or along some tree-lined trail.

Meals, lunches and snacks are an important part of any outing and what better way to replenish one's energy than having a nourishing cookie tucked away in a pocket. One such kind is the "Crosscountry Cookie" and its ingredients are simple but nutritious.

The recipe contains: ½ cup butter (or margarine), ½ cup creamy-style peanut butter, 1 cup granulated sugar, 1 cup firmly packed brown sugar, 2 eggs, ¼ cup milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour, 1 teaspoon baking soda, ½ cup semi-sweet chocolate chips, 2½ cups quick oats (uncooked), and ½ cup raisins.

The method is: Beat butter, peanut butter and sugars together until creamy. Blend in eggs, milk and vanilla.

Sift together flour, baking soda and dash salt. Add to creamed mixture, blend well. Stir in oats, chocolate chips, raisins.

Drop by tablespoonfuls onto ungreased cookie sheet; bake in 350-degree oven about 15 minutes. Makes 3½ dozen cookies.

Why Is Bridge Fascinating?

Children should be taught bridge at an early age, especially in school, because of the ethical and moral principles that are inherited in the game!

In bridge, you depend upon your partner to make the right lead, the proper discard, and arrive at the best contract.

Bridge also demands compassion and forgiveness, especially when your partner makes the wrong play.

Even though your partner trumps your Ace, or leads out of turn, you are required to practice restraint, forgiveness and self-control.

Furthermore, bridge teaches that one cannot undo what has been done. So you threw away a cold contract; so you should have taken a safety play; or covered an honor with an honor!

That hand is over and can never be repeated, so learn from your mistakes. The fault is not in our cards, but in how well we play the hand.

Besides bridge being a relaxing and stimulating hobby, bridge is also a mental teacher.

Bridge is more than a one-dimensional card game. It is drama, ethics, I and life, all fused into 52 cards.

Bridge is the only card game with a code of ethics. The ACBL will ban a member because of cheating, using profane language at the bridge table, etc.

RESULTS

Paul Hachey and Helen McLean of the Newcastle Club were top scorers at the Nov. 15 session where five tables were engaged and the Howell Movement was used.

Robert Baker and Wayne Hachey placed second and Lydwin Chiasson and Ellen Hachey were third.

In the above average category were Mrs. Alice Hobbs and Mrs. Yvette Kenny.

Members are reminded of the club's annual Christmas party at Danny's Colonial House on Sunday, Nov. 28. The [illegible] pairs two-session event, 1:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. are starting times.

Dinner will be served between the sessions.

Defending champions are Bonnie Bois and Lauretta Wedge.

If you want a partner or other information, please phone 546-6162 or 548-6221.

Planning Party For Children

First vice-president Patricia Coughlan chaired the November meeting of Saint Simon and Saint Jude Council Catholic Women's League held at the Pokeshaw-Black Rock Community Hall. Eight members were present.

The minutes were read by Mrs. Bernadine Riordon.

An appropriate passage from the Bible on "love and charity" was read by Irene Ray, church convener.

The duties of conveners were read and discussed, and the financial statement was read.

Sister Belanger who teaches catechism to the smaller grades offered to get a book for pre-school children to help teach catechism in this category. She is hoping to get parents together to organize a program to encourage the children.

A Christmas party is to be organized for the children of the community.

The meeting was followed by a social hour and lunch was served by Dorothy Whelling and Bernadine Riordon.

"Remembrance" Is Topic Of South Teteagouche UCW

Mrs. Gordon Vance was hostess at her home for the monthly meeting of the South Teteagouche United Church Women held Nov. 17.

The meeting opened with members repeating the U.C.W. Purpose.

Mrs. Ervine Good, program convener, led the devotional period, the theme being "Remembrance," and opened by call to Worship. The Scripture reading was Psalm 23, and was repeated in unison, followed by prayer.

The hymns, O God Of Love, O King Of Peace and From Ocean Unto Ocean were sung. The offering was received and dedicated. The reading of a poem and repetition of the Lord's Prayer concluded the worship period.

Mrs. William Oliver, president, led Bible study. It concerned the 10th chapter of St. Matthew, verses 1-22.

Missionary convener Mrs. Ian Oliver read an interesting article entitled, Does The Family Of Man Really Exist".

Roll call was answered by eight members. One guest was present.

The minutes were approved as read and the financial report presented by the treasurer, Mrs. Donald MacIntosh was adopted.

Correspondence read by Mrs. Harvey Murchie included a letter from the John Milton Society for the Blind in Canada. It was decided to send a donation to the local CNIB office.

ARE INVITED

A letter from the National C.G.I.T. fund concerning the 50th anniversary of the movement was read, as was another from Miss Wendy Wallis, president of the C.G.I.T. group in Bathurst inviting the W.I. branch to attend their Christmas Vesper Service on Dec. 5 at 7:00 p.m. in First United Church.

Mrs. Donald MacIntosh read a letter acknowledging a donation to the Student fund.

Members were reminded to bring in different articles to the next meeting, in December, for the Flowers of Hope Training Centre.

It was decided that all bills be paid.

Members turned in money from the sale of W.I. cookbooks.

The president introduced the group to a new magazine entitled "Exchange," which is replacing the Canada and other magazines.

Members submitted orders for jewellery such as pins, charms and pendants bearing the United Church crest.

The December meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Ian Oliver who, along with Mrs. Ervine Good, will assist with the serving of lunch.

After adjourning with the singing of Women Of God Arise, lunch was served by the ladies in charge.

Nov. 30 Deadline For Collecting Eyeglasses

Depots at which citizens may donate old eyeglasses have been placed in various depots in the city, it was reported by Mary Winter, president of Bathurst Lionette Club, at the Nov. 15 meeting held at Danny's Colonial House.

The collection cartons have been placed by the Lionettes in the following depots: Imperial Optical, Corner Sundries, Tower Jewellers (Main Street), Eddy Hardware Retail, Gillies Optical, Vic's Corner Store, Northern Light, Petrie's Grocery, Bathurst Tribune and Jamieson's Save-Easy, East Bathurst.

Receptacles for collecting spectacles will remain at these depots until the end of November.

Following routine business, reading of minutes and reports of secretary and treasurer, Lionette Jean Brown reported she had attended a very informative workshop sponsored by the Canadian Red Cross Society regarding the senior citizens visiting program.

The workshop was held in November under the chairmanship of Rev. Dr. E. R. Wood-side. Mrs. Brown also read an interesting poem composed on senior citizens.

It was decided to make a donation towards the Lions' Empty Stocking Fund project coming up in December. It was also agreed members will exchange small gifts at the December meeting.

Mona Fowler was winner of the mystery prize.

SAVE ENERGY

Use exhaust fan as little as possible in the winter. Each time the kitchen or bathroom exhaust fan is turned on in the winter, warm air goes out and cold air is taken in to replace it. The fireplace is another gobbler of warm air, so be sure the chimney vents are closed when not in use.

SAVE ENERGY

Try replacing 100 watt light bulbs with 60's, where possible, or 60 watt bulbs with 40's.

Committees Are Appointed

The president of the Bathurst Kinette Club, Mary Winter, named her committees and chairman for the 1976-77 season, at the first fall dinner meeting of the club held at Danny's Colonial House Oct. 18.

The committees are: Alice Lavigne, ways and means; Winnie Gulliver, publicity; Jean Brown, historian; Lydia Shirley, Helen Norton, Geraldine Boudreau, Britt McGinley and Helen Kenny, telephone.

Secretary-treasurer Mona Fowler read the minutes of the June meeting. Alice Lavigne reported ticket sales on the quilt to be lottered are going well.

Correspondence included a letter from John Bullen, president of the Canadian Council for the Blind, Bathurst Club, asking the Lionettes to provide lunch for one of its monthly meetings.

A request was received from the local Lions Club regarding the preparation and distribution of boxes in various depots for the purpose of collecting old eyeglasses during the month of November and the ladies discussed the project.

Mystery prize winner was Alice Lavigne.

Following adjournment, a pickle and jam sale was held among the members.

ANN LANDERS

Feels Marriage Ceremony Best

By ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Jeff and I are in love. I've always dreamed of being married in a church with family and friends present. Jeff says it's a lot of garbage. He claims wedding ceremonies and marriage licenses are gimmicks somebody dreamed up to stimulate the economy. He says a priest is just another person and his words aren't any holier than a bus driver's.

Jeff wants us to drive out to the country, find a quiet spot, get on our knees and ask God to marry us. He says if we are married in our hearts that's enough.

It makes sense when I listen to him, but after he leaves I feel uneasy. What is wrong with his reasoning? Please help me think straight. — A Dreamer

DEAR DREAMER: Whose last name are you going to use after you marry yourselves? And what does Jeff plan to do if there are children?

A man who says he doesn't need a marriage license or a priest or "any of that garbage" sounds like a swift character who wants the benefits of marriage without any of the responsibilities. Wake up, Little Dreamer, before your dream turns into a nightmare.

DEAR ANN: The citizens of Beloit and Janesville, Wis., decided to do something when it became known that nearly $6 million worth of merchandise was being shoplifted annually in those two cities.

They implemented a program called STEM (Shoplifters Take Everybody's Money), purchased from The Metropolitan Milwaukee Association of Commerce, which holds statewide rights.

The idea behind the program is to hammer home the fact that the public has to pay for stolen merchandise through higher prices. Therefore, it is to everybody's advantage to curb shoplifting.

STEM relies on cooperation from local media to deliver public service messages directed primarily at teenagers who are responsible for the majority of the thefts.

Local stores will display STEM signs and decals, increase security, and pledge to prosecute all shoplifters. Brochures will be distributed to students from elementary school through high school. Parents will also receive brochures.

A poll revealed that shoplifting arrests declined 48 per cent in communities enrolled in the program. These communities included Eau Claire, Fond du Lac, La Crosse, Oshkosh, Stevens Point and Wausau.

Thought you might like to know what's happening around your old stomping ground, Ann. — r.h., Janesville Gazette

DEAR R.H.: Thanks for the bulletin. It sounds very promising. If anyone is interested in learning more about STEM DON'T write to me. Please contact the Metropolitan Milwaukee Association of Commerce, 828 N. Broadway, Milwaukee, Wis. 53202.

DEAR ANN: My husband died five months ago. We had 24 years together — most of them bad. Joe had a violent temper and I bought more beefsteak for my eyes than for the table. Once he knocked out four front teeth.

A fine widower at work has asked me out to dinner. Joe's mother says I should accept no dates until the year of mourning is over. Is she right? — Undecided

DEAR UN: She's wrong. Don't look at the calendar. Listen to your heart. For some a year isn't long enough — for others a few weeks is ample. Go — and order beefsteak. It'll be nice to eat one for a change.

Do you feel awkward, self-conscious — lonely? Welcome to the club. There's help for you in Ann Landers's booklet, "The Key to Popularity." Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

The Glynns needed a mortgage to open the door.

They got action. Niagara was their key.

Happiness. To the Howard L. Glynns it was a 6-room, three-bedroom, bungalow with enough property for two young children and one very large dog. Niagara knows a lot about the Glynn's kind of happiness. We also know a lot about money. That's our business. Mortgage money to purchase a new home, money for home improvements, a new car, money to consolidate bills or refinance an existing mortgage. If what stands between you and a thing called happiness is a thing called money, come in and sit down with the people you've come to know at Niagara. We'll show you how sometimes all it takes to be a little happier is to put a little money into action.

BIBLE DIGEST "Having with a loud voice, Worthy is the Lamb that was slain to receive power, and riches, the wisdom, and strength, and honour, and glory, and blessing."
Revelations 5:12

The one who died for us is the one who lives for us. In Him are all the promises that we need. To be pure Him is to leave ourselves stranded with all the struggles of human endeavor without the help of Heaven. "My God shall supply all your need according to His riches in glory by Christ Jesus."

PIPER JOE WATSON

Keeps Heritage Alive In Music

Editor's note: The following article was taken from The Examiner Independence Missouri. Mr. Watson is the son of Mrs. Margaret Watson and the late Edmund Watson.

Scottish blood runs deep in the veins of an Independence man who dearly loves his bagpipes, his native Scottish uniform and his Scottish music.

Joe Watson, 15300 E. 40th, passed up some of his love for Scottish heritage recently to watch the youngsters of William Southern Elementary in his community.

Clad in the grand kilt, uniformed jacket, feathered hat and bagpipes, Mr. Watson fascinated the children with his bagpipe music. He describes himself as a lone, wandering bagpipe player since he belongs to no band in the area.

Mr. Watson came to the United States from Bathurst, New Brunswick nearly 14 years ago and spent 13 of those years as Independence. He works as a building engineer for Jones Realty, and he and his wife hope to become United States citizens soon.

He did not really become proficient at the bagpipes until he moved to Kansas City and then "it was to fulfill a lifelong, family dream."

"My father was a Scot and he wanted to carry on the Scottish tradition with one of his children learning bagpipes", Mr. Watson said. "But I was too poor during the depression to buy one."

When he could buy the bagpipes, "I started playing by ear. Then later someone taught me music and how to play."

Mr. Watson was able to play the bagpipes before his father died. "I played 'Greensleeves', an old English ballad, for him, and it brought tears to his eyes," he said. "Now I can't play the bagpipes without getting goose pimples all over."

Bagpipes are soothing to Mr. Watson. "When I feel bad, I play them and then when I'm finished, I don't feel bad anymore", he said.

The bagpipe player suggested the children of William Southern learn to play an instrument instead of "running around in the streets and raising hell."

Mr. Watson believes no one ever gets really good at bagpipes because "it is something you have to work at." But he also believes anyone who can walk and chew gum can play them.

One doesn't learn to play bagpipes simply by starting to play bagpipes. "You have to start on a practice chanter first", he said, adding he would be willing to tutor anyone interested in learning to play the instrument.

Another facinating aspect of Watson's performance is his uniform. The children of William Southern were wondering about the "skirt" Watson was wearing.

"I made it very clear that a kilt is not a skirt", he said. "Most men who wear kilts are far from feminine."

"In fact, if you want to start a fight, whistle at a man wearing a kilt", Watson declared. Apparently, the combination of wearing a kilt, drinking beer, and hearing bagpipe music "can really rile a Scot and if you want a fight, he will oblige", Watson added.

He also said when Scottish fighters marched into World War I battle, the Germans used to call the brigade "the ladies from Hell" because of the kilt wear, bagpipe music, and fierce fighting.

Among some of Watson's other likes is dancing. "Actually, I like music period because without music, you haven't got anything", he said.

POLITICAL SCENE

Hard To Predict What Comes Next

By STEWART MacLEOD
Ottawa Bureau
Thomson News Service

It would take a salesman, blessed with extra-sensory perception, to predict accurately what may happen to Quebec, and indeed to Canada, in the wake of Rene Levesque's stunning victory over Premier Robert Bourassa.

At one extreme, it can be argued that the break-up of Confederation is inevitable because Mr. Levesque's Parti Quebecois is dedicated to separatism and, with a clear mandate from the people of Quebec, a way will be found to separate from Canada.

At the other extreme, it can be argued that with a majority of Quebecers apparently against separatism, Mr. Levesque will simply form another provincial government and that his general policies will be no more nationalistic than those of Maurice Duplessis in the heyday of his Union Nationale government.

And in between those two extremes are so many possibilities it may take weeks to think of them all.

Moments after the Parti Quebecois victory, I heard Eric Kierans, a former cabinet minister in both Quebec City and Ottawa, say on television that Confederation would not be endangered. In fact, he suggested, "now would be a good time to invest in Quebec."

About the same time, Bryce Mackasey, another former federal minister who had just won a seat in this provincial election, was offering a different interpretation of events. "Have no illusions," he was saying. "The Parti Quebecois is totally committed to independence. They have succeeded in fooling the majority of the French-Canadian population."

ECONOMIC IMPLICATIONS

Apart from the long-term constitutional issue, no one knows what the election of a separatist government will do to the economy of the province. There have been predictions of a mass withdrawal of capital, and Charles Bronfman, head of the giant Seagram Co. Ltd., said that if the PQ won, he would even pull his Montreal Expos baseball team out of the province.

That's obviously another extreme. And it has to be weighed against the opinion of Michel Belanger, president of the Provincial Bank of Canada, that the economic disruption will be short-lived, perhaps for just a month. After that it will be business as usual.

Then we have the opinion of Sam Hughes, executive director of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce that the business climate in the province will remain uncertain until the issue of separatism is settled once and for all. "The people have spoken on government and now the party has an obligation to let them speak on independence," he said.

He thinks a referendum on independence should be held immediately.

The issue of independence could be the most confusing of all. Mr. Levesque has promised a referendum within two years, and there are many who will argue that the results are not in doubt since a public opinion poll indicated that only 18 per cent of Quebecers favor separatism.

COULD MANIPULATE

But there are others who argue that once in office, the Parti Quebecois can manipulate referendums to suit its own purposes. The wording could be fuzzy, the implications unclear, and the vote could be timed to coincide with some emotional issue, such as an air controllers

"They must be equipped to examine new concepts... not left to shrink back in fear.

"They must be encouraged to question existing philosophies... not left to accept the doctrines by rote.

"Above all, they must be educated to reason, to calculate and to communicate. Failure to do this can only be detrimental to all. It will place our coming generations at a social, cultural and economic disadvantage.

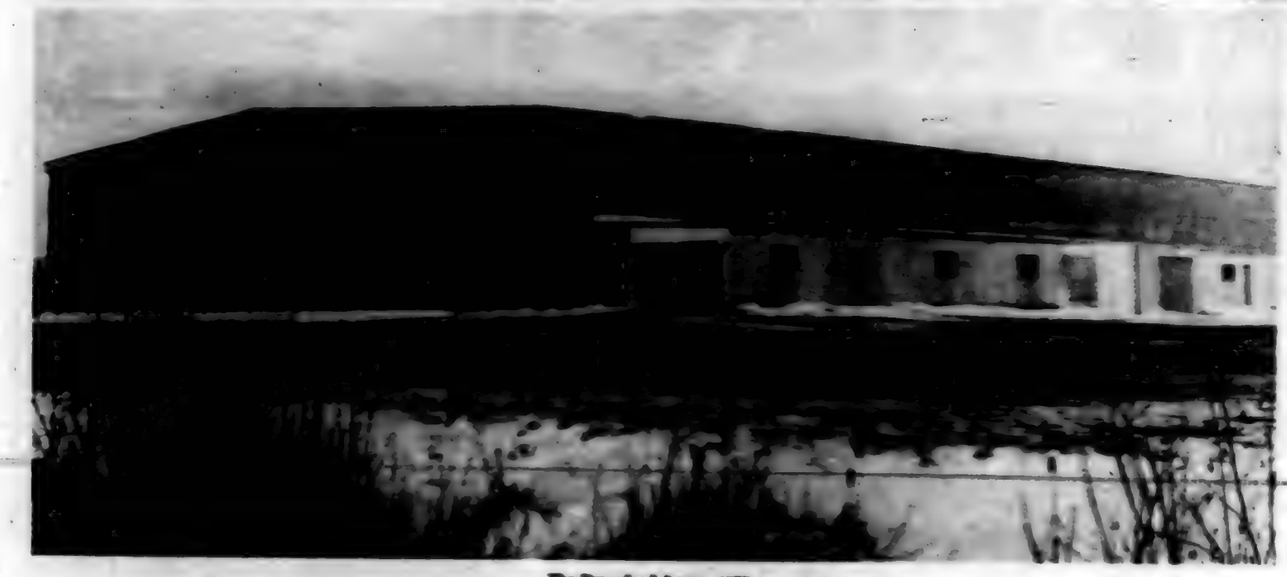
Official Opening Set For Sunday



The Beresford Arena, 1976

The grand official opening of the Beresford Arena takes place this coming Sunday, November 28, and a full weekend of sports activities and entertainment is planned to mark the event.

On Friday evening, Nov. 26 at 9 p.m., Beresford Barons meet Music Hockey Sports Experts of Quebec, in an exhibition contest. Participating artists will include Renee Martel, Mimi Hetu, Michel Pilon, Martin Stevens, Michel Stax, Phil Angelli, Guy Clouthier, Serge Vezina, Pierre Prenovost and a host of others.

Tickets are $3 each and are available at the arena, Chalet Sportif, J. C. Boudreau, Village de livre and the Petit Rocher Superette.

On Saturday, the Chalet Sportif will be the scene of a dance with Disco Rene Farfardeau of Mont Joli. Music is designed to please all tastes, and admission is $1 for members and $1.50 for guests.

The official ribbon-cutting ceremony for the grand opening will take place at 1:50 p.m. on Sunday at the arena. Mayor Cleo Morrison will preside at the traditional ceremony, and benediction will be by Msgr. Donat Robichaud. Guests of honor will include both federal and provincial politicans.

Following and ceremony, the regularly-scheduled hockey game between the Beresford Barons and the Petit Rocher Rocs will take place. Immediately after the game, a home-made stew will be served at Chalet Sportif at $2 per person. All are invited to attend.

Building Erected Through Citizens' Efforts

Construction of the Beresford Arena was initiated in 1969 by the Beresford Sports Association.

Founded in 1962 by a group of dedicated and sportsminded citizens, the association has tackled a variety of community projects since, the most ambitious being the construction of a new arena.

On January 26, 1969, the association named a committee to raise funds for the first phase of the arena. Under the chairmanship of Wilfred Poulen and through the efforts of all committee members, the group managed to collect over $30,000 in a short period of time.

Two years later, the first phase completed, the task became too great for the committee, and help was sought from the municipality. As the project itself faced forward to a favourable light since its inception, aid was not long in coming, and artificial ice became a reality.

The arena is now the property of the Village of Beresford and is administered by the sports association. The arena committee, chaired by Real Boudreau, oversees activities at the arena twelve months of the year.

Thanks to the efforts of the citizens, L.I.P. grants and support from the municipality, the Village of Beresford can boast a centre for both young and not-so-young to enjoy all year round.

Past presidents of the Beresford Sports Association are: Gerrard Grant (original president), Real Boudreau, Rodolphe Boudreau, Romeo Boudreau, Arnold Boudreau, Leopold Boudreau and current president, Adrien Boudreau.

Moonlighters Out Of Lobster Industry

Fisheries and Environment Minister Romeo LeBlanc has announced the establishment of three categories of lobster licence for the Maritime provinces.

The licence changes are designed to fit different situations, to take account of historical attachment to the fishery, and to prevent cases of undue hardship through loss of licence.

The establishment of new licence categories follows consultations over the past several months with lobster fishermen and representatives of fishermen's groups.

Consultations included a letter last summer to Maritimes lobster fishermen asking their views on licensing.

Fifty per cent of the licence-holders responded. Of these, 70 per cent supported the policy of giving priority access to lobster stocks to those persons most dependent on fishing.

Category a- full licence: This licence is normally reserved for the person who depends on the lobster fishery, and who has no year-round employment nor any full-time seasonal job that coincides with the lobster season.

With approval by the Fisheries and Marine Service, the holder of an A licence can under specific conditions transfer it to another person.

Category B - limited licence: Although the holder of this licence has regular employment elsewhere, he has a claim to participate in the lobster fishery through historical attachment. Persons who have fished lobster from 1968 or earlier may qualify for this licence. (1968 was the year when limited access was first established in this fishery.)

The B-licence holder may fish 30 per cent of the maximum number of traps allowed in his Lobster District (for example, if the regular trap limit is 300, the B-licence holder may fish 90 traps). Normally, a B-licence remains restricted to the licensee alone and expires when he leaves the fishery.

Category C - temporary licence: With full employment elsewhere, with only a short history in this fishery, and with no real dependence on the lobster fishery, persons in this category have no claim to continue holding a licence.

To allow some transition time, for example to sell off boats and traps, these licence-holders will be allowed limited fishing privileges (as for B-licence holders) for up to two years. There will be no transfer of C- licenses allowed.

The screening process of those who have formerly held lobster licences will continue over the coming months. Where the status of a licence is questioned, the licence-holder may appeal to local boards (made up of fishermen and Fisheries and Marine Service officials) and then, if not satisfied, to the Minister of Fisheries and Environment.

In determining access to licences, the appeal boards may take into account cases of undue financial hardship or of the desire to transfer a licence within a family.

The licence-holder should put forward his appeal no later than two months before the opening of the next season in his Lobster District. For example, where the season opens May 1st, the licence-holder should appeal by March 1st. (In Districts 1 and 4, where the season opens later this year, appeals are now being considered.)

"If those who have had their trap limit reduced violate the restriction, they could find their licence suspended or cancelled immediately," Mr. LeBlanc said. "Penalties of similar severity will apply to any others who poach lobsters. This includes other fishermen, for example some dragger operators who retain lobsters caught by accident and sell them."

About 15,000 persons now take part in the Maritimes' lobster fishery, which is divided by regulations into several districts. Lobster landings in the Maritimes were worth about $41 million in 1975, the highest value for any species.

Bathurst Man Is Appointed

MARC GALLANT

National Parole Board (Parole Board of Canada) Chairman W. R. Outerbridge has announced a new appointment.

Marc J. Gallant of Moncton, originally from Bathurst, has been appointed for a five-year term to the Atlantic Provinces Division of the Board. Mr. Gallant, who will be based in Moncton, fills a vacancy created by the resignation of Bastan Bertrand of Tracadie last May. Mr. Gallant's appointment was effective on October 28.

Mr. Gallant, who is a native of Bathurst, and a son of Mrs. Amatus Gallant and the late Mr. Gallant, St. Anne, graduated from Bathurst College with a BA in 1958. He received a BSW from the Maritime School of Social Work in Halifax in 1960 and a master's degree from McGill University in 1963.

Mr. Gallant has a long experience in social work dating back to 1960 when he was counsellor with the John Howard Society in Halifax. He has been a probation and rehabilitation officer, a family counsellor, a supervisor of classification at the Maritime Penitentiary in Dorchester and at the Saskatchewan Penitentiary in Prince Albert as well as the Regional Director for the New Brunswick Department of Social Services in Moncton.

During 1968-70, Mr. Gallant was a psychiatric social work consultant in Trinidad and Tobago. Mr. Gallant was Provincial Manager for Information Canada in Moncton until recently.

Appointments to the Board are made by the Governor in Council on the recommendation of the Solicitor General.

language dispute, the deliberate withdrawal of capital, or alleged outside interference.

Mr. Levesque downplayed the independence issue throughout this campaign in a successful attempt to collect non-separatist votes from people who were angry at the Bourassa government. "The issue is government," he kept repeating. "Independence can be decided later."

But we can't overlook the official platform of the PQ, although it has been scarcely mentioned in this election. A PQ government would commit itself to "realize the political sovereignty of Quebec through democratic means and to propose to Canada a mutually advantageous economic association." Furthermore, a PQ government would "set in motion immediately the process of accession to sovereignty...."

All things being considered how can anyone predict what may happen in the next few months, or even years?

Both City High Schools Presented With Sportsmobiles And Driver Education Vehicles

The age of the yellow school bus as a means of transportation to and from high school activities came to an end for Bathurst students this year thanks to the generosity and co-operation of Bayside Chrysler Dodge and Brunswick Mining and Smelting Corp. Ltd. (Mines Division).

Both Bathurst High and Nepisiguit High School have acquired 15-passenger vans, to be used exclusively for extra-curricular and athletic activities.

The presentation of the vans comes at a very convenient and rather crucial time. Since the cost of transporting students to different areas of the province had become prohibitive due to high costs and mileage restrictions, several sports tournaments and other activities might have been cancelled. However, Bayside Chrysler Dodge and Manager Evan Moffitt came through and provided a means of transportation for both schools.

The vehicles will be transporting sports teams around the province, as well as students attending the provincial Science Fair, ski trips, biology excursions, etc.

Brunswick Mines and Manager John Moerman were very generous as well in paying half of the insurance cost on the vans.

Bayside Chrysler Dodge and the Bathurst Richelieu Club are also contributing generously to the driver education courses at both high schools. Bayside has supplied BHS with two cars, and Nepisiguit High with one, and insurance and operating costs are covered by the Richelieu Club.

In operation for the third consecutive year at the local schools, the driver education program is offered to both students and adults. Students receive a 40-hour theory course with six hours of in-car training, while adults benefit from in-car instruction only.

Students and administration at both high schools wish to express their gratitude to both companies as well as to the Richelieu Club for taking such active interest in curriculum and extra-curricular activities.

Present at the ceremony from the left were: Pierre Marquis, city manager; Mayor John A. Duffy; Judge Frederic J. CNIB Campaign Reaches $10,000; More To Come

Over $10,000 has been realized in the annual CNIB fund-raising campaign to date in Gloucester County, it was reported at the regular meeting of the Gloucester County Advisory Board of Maritime Division CNIB held in Bathurst Nov. 26.

The report, presented by campaign co-chairman Dr. Alexandre S. Savoie, noted that over $7,000 of this amount had been collected in the Bathurst area. He also noted that more donations were expected from the city as well as from other county centres where campaigns only got under way during November. Campaign co-chairman is Nick Dimitroff.

District Administrator A. A. "Tony" Boudreau expressed gratitude to all the volunteer workers throughout the county who made it possible for the CNIB to carry on its work through fund-raising. He mentioned in particular the students of both high schools in Bathurst who raised more than $650.

The meeting was chaired by Glendon Eddy, board chairman.

Accepted with regret by the board was the resignation of Lee Payne who was thanked by the president for devoted services to the CNIB covering over 25 years.

Mrs. Lillian Beauchamp was elected as secretary of the county advisory board.

Mr. Eddy reported two blind persons in the county now had apparatus to assist them in becoming amateur radio operators and said he was confident the local association would make it possible for two other blind persons in this area to participate in the amateur radio project.

It was reported a local client had completed a course in shoemaking and that steps were being taken to establish him in business.

A. A. Boudreau mentioned that Armand Deschenes, rehabilitation counsellor, was in Gloucester County to give instructions to blind persons in the Bathurst and Shippegan areas. He also said that four more blind persons had been supplied with talking book machines and were enjoying recorded books through the CNIB library.

A report on the CCB Bathurst Club bowling tournament held in Bathurst Oct. 31 was given and Mrs. F. J. Hay reported on an executive meeting held Oct. 18.

Board members present included chairman C. Eddy, Lee Payne, Mrs. Lillian Beauchamp, Miss Nicole Chamberlain, Miss Gail Fellows, Mrs. F. J. Hay, Miss Ginette Mallet, Mrs. Harper Smith, Mrs. Arthur Jamieson, Evode Cormier, Wilbur Elliston, N. A. "Gus" Higgins, Kenneth Emery, Miles Meagher, Dr. A. S. Savoie, Pius Theriault and the CNIB representative, A. A. Boudreau.

HONORED PRIOR TO DEPARTURE FROM CITY

"Presented to Dr. Donald A. Thompson by the Governing Board of Chaleur General Hospital on November 28, 1976, in grateful acknowledgment of his forty years of dedicated and devoted service to the people of the Greater Bathurst Area, as medical doctor, public servant and friend."

So reads the inscription on a Bulova quartz mantle clock presented the esteemed physician and surgeon during a buffet luncheon Sunday in the conference room of Chaleur General Hospital. The gift was a token of regard on the departure from the city of Dr. and Mrs. Thompson, who are leaving Saturday, December 4, to reside in future in Halifax, N.S.

Joining the honored guests for the occasion were members of the institution's medical board, and as their spokesman, Dr. W. J. Wright referred to the splendid professional and social contacts enjoyed with Dr. Thompson. Also, on behalf of his colleagues, Dr. Wright expressed regret that these relationships would now be terminated.

In a more personal message, Dr. W. B. Orsini, who was associated in practice with Dr. Thompson when he first came to Bathurst, reviewed the early part of his career in an interesting and nostalgic manner. It was Dr. Thompson, he noted, who was responsible for the introduction to industrial medicine, the field in which he is now involved.

Board Chairman A. J. Bouchard, QC, who made the presentation, referred to Dr. Thompson's high professional ethics and ability and to his generous and wholehearted participation in community affairs despite a heavy schedule. Mentioned were his extra-curricular activities as a member of the School Board and City Council, to his being made a freeman of the city and as a crowning glory to a distinguished career, his election to the presidency of the Canadian Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons, the first Maritimer to receive this exalted appointment.

Dr. Thompson was making his reply in brief matter, he said, because of the Grey Cup Game which was about to start, but it was obvious he was deeply moved by and appreciative of the recognition accorded him.

Although he was leaving the city, Dr. Thompson said he would always consider Bathurst his home and would keep in touch through his annual summer sojourns here. But the Thompson home has suddenly become too large and the family has grown up and left to establish parts of their own, he explained.

Halifax has been chosen as a new place of residence, Dr. Thompson added because their two children Debbie and Drew, both of whom had followed in their father's footsteps by practising medicine are now settled there. In addition, an only brother, Douglas Thompson, is also residing in the Nova Scotia capital. Adding it all up, he described the new situation as a return to family living.

Dr. Thompson had high praise for the facilities at Chaleur General Hospital and for its administration and personnel. Due to these circumstances he foresaw a great future for medical services in the Bathurst area.

THE CROWD ROARS

Rookie William Harry Hatanaka, referred to here last week, was a star in the opening moments of Sunday's Grey Cup Game and, needless to say, his Bathurst grandparents were pleased, proud and thrilled. So were all the local folks who were watching the classic and that would be just about everybody.

In a pre-playoff interview with Jack Koffman, sports editor of The Ottawa Citizen, Bill had predicted the win for his team, the Ottawa Rough Riders. "I want one of those Grey Cup rings", he said, "and I'll be surprised if I don't get one."

Young Hatanaka, incidentally, has other ambitions besides pro-football. He would like to settle in Ottawa after he takes one more course at Toronto's York University to complete his education. He already has a BA in sociology and a minor in economics. Once he finishes this one course he'll have the equivalent of honors in both subjects.

TOO COMMERCIAL

We were watching "Earthquake" on Television too, so we know what one of our readers means when he says there were too many commercials. Twenty-four in all, to be exact.

Says our friend: "I was never so disgusted in my life. I don't know what we were supposed to watch, the show or the ads. This was an excellent movie, but the commercials ruined it. Just when a good part came on, there was another interruption.

"Can't the network do better than that?"

TIME WILL TELL

Must pundits pontificate? Too many of us seem to think so. We were going to join the unruly crowd and tender our opinions on the recent happenings in Quebec. But too many people are talking about that subject and for most of them it is pure conjecture.

The horses have just broken from the starting point; the race has not really begun. And you can never call it accurately

Many Participate In Parent-Teacher Night

Several hundred parents turned out Wednesday, Nov. 17 for the Bathurst High and J. Gordon Chalmers Home and School Association meeting and "Meet the Teacher Night" at the Bathurst High gym.

Home and School President Mrs. Joy Winton welcomed the large turnout of parents, and expressed hope that many would be attending future meetings as home and school can and does play an important role in the school community.

The rummage sale scheduled for November 20 at the BHS gym was discussed, and parents were requested to help out in any way possible in the effort to raise funds for the schools.

Special thanks was extended to the local branch of the M.S. Society for rescheduling its meeting night to enable home and school meetings to be held, as usual, on the third Wednesday of each month.

A report was given by Jack Sweezey, the association's representative at the first meeting of the Provincial home and school association (English section) held in Sussex on October 23. Several hundred dollars in funds had been donated by the French section of the association to aid the new group in its initial stages. Mr. Sweezey was elected first vice-president of the newly-formed association.

Bathurst High School Principal Emery Goguen informed the gathering the new physical education course for Grade 10 students would be an elective rather than compulsory course starting in the fall of 1977. Under the previous arrangement, the students in the industrial program were unable to take French because physical education was compulsory.

It was noted that parents of students who will be entering Bathurst High next fall will be informed of the date, time and place for the annual "Journey Familiarization with the Grade 10 Curriculum" night through the schools, newspapers and radio.

The meeting was told Christmas holidays will commence December 19 and continue to January 3.

Clinic Quota For City 600

A Red Cross Blood Donor Clinic will be held in the city on December 7 at the Bathurst Trade School for staff and students and on December 8 and 9 at the Royal Canadian Legion Hall, St. Peter Avenue, for the general public.

The need for blood is as great as ever during the holiday season. People are busier and do not take the time to donate, so shortages do occur and will unless people take the time to give.

The need for blood does not take a holiday. In fact, the need becomes greater during this time when many are travelling. Accidents occur more frequently, and illness does not take a holiday. Therefore, it is urgent to give "a gift of life" now.

A quota of 200 pints has been set for the Trade School clinic, while that for the city and surrounding area is 600.

Clinic times are 10 a.m. to 12 noon and 1:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Trade School, and 1:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m. and 6-9 p.m. at the Legion Hall. Transportation will be provided for those within city limits who have no other way to attend. Call 548-5200 during clinic hours.

Many Problems Plague District No. 4 Trustees

Requests and complaints from four different home and school associations in School District No. 4 were presented to the regular meeting of the local School Board Thursday evening, November 25.

Representing the newly-formed Superior Home and School Association was President Hugh Campbell who submitted a seven-page brief to trustees.

The document called for proper drainage and seeding of the school playground to prevent seepage of water into the basement where classrooms are located, major cleaning, repairing and renovating of the school's interior, equipment for the school playground, janitor training, proper lunch facilities for approximately 450 pupils; improvements to mobile classrooms, library and carpentry shop, and more gym time.

The brief was supported by a letter from the district medical health officer confirming the conditions at the school and confirming recommendations.

A request from the New Bandon Home and School Association for construction of a new elementary school to replace the Salmon Beach School was referred to the construction committee for scrutiny, and to the committee on junior high and elementary re-organization.

Three letters from Robertville questioned the board's decision to give greater priority to the extension and renovation of Bathurst High rather than to the construction of a new junior high school in Robertville.

The letters, from the Robertville Home and School Association, a group of 20 faculty members and from one teacher writing as a parent, were turned over to the construction committee and the administration to be answered. Information and background requested in connection with the priorities will also be provided.

Reporting on the two construction projects, District Superintendent R. A. Ouellette said an answer is expected in the near future as to whether or not the Department of Education approves the preliminary plans for the Robertville school or if modifications are necessary.

On the Bathurst High project, Mr. Ouellette said the plot plan for the land had not been registered by the City of Bathurst as of Nov. 24. The Board directed Mr. Ouellette to determine why the procedure is being held up.

TEN-YEAR SERVICE AWARDS PRESENTED

Twenty-one employees of the Woodlands Division of Consolidated-Bathurst Limited, received ten-year service awards November 23. These employees are part of the team of people who furnish the Bathurst mill with the necessary raw material for its operation. They include truck drivers, wood scalers, professional woods workers, mechanics, camp clerks, office employees and the supervisors of these different groups of employees. The Woodlands Division Manager, Max Cater, presented each of these employees with a pen engraved with their initials and the Company emblem in appreciation for the good service given the Company. Seated from the left are Mr. Cater, Dave Mason and Marson Martin; second row: Boyd Cormier, Michael Hatheway, Frank Branch, Leonda Gionet, Rheal Chiasson, and Jean Paul Theriault; third row: Allan Day, Leo Joseph Cormier, Edgar Albert, Maurice Hachey, Ernest Lebreton and Ronald Paulin. Missing are: Fernand Savoie Aurele LeBreton and Florent Pitre.

Double Production For Theatre Group

A spokesman for Bathurst Community Theatre Inc. reports the group is working steadily in preparation for its Christmas production, tentatively scheduled for December 20.

Two plays have been selected for the program, Season's Greetings, under the direction of Wanda Lavigne and Room For a King, directed by Steven Jamieson.

Season's Greetings has a cast of eleven, including Jean Marc Duguay, Gary Levesti, Doreen Lavigne, Colleen Murphy, Donna Lavigne, Jo-Anne Marquis, Elena Bailey, Stephen Parker, Darleen Bieber, Wiles Meagher and Penny Schmidcraft.

Room For A King will feature Wally McKinnon, Melinda Jarrett, Ann LeBlanc, Denise LeBlanc, John McLaughlin, Dianne Maillet, Barry Power and Paul Lavigne.

Danny Gallagher and Paul Lavigne designed the sets for the two plays, and construction began November 27.

Bathurst Community Theatre would like to thank the parishes of St. Theresa, Holy Family and Sacred Heart for their generosity in providing areas for the group to meet and practice for the productions. With this continued support, the theatre is enabled to grow as a strong and united group of which Bathurst citizens can be proud.

SISTER KATHERINE McCAFFREY

IMPRESSIVE RELIGIOUS WORKSHOP PRESENTED

Sister Katherine McCaffrey, Religious of the Sacred Heart of Jesus, speaker at the workshop held for city catechists Sat. Nov. 27, was enthusiastically received. She made the day a joyful experience for those attending.

Sister Katherine worked on the English version of the Canadian Catechism, grades 1-6. For 7 or 8 years she was English secretary at the catechetical office in the Province of Quebec. Her main work there was to implement the English program.

She did a certain amount of editorial work for Hi-Time and a series of lessons on the Sacraments.

Sister is presently the English Assistant General Secretary of Canadian Religious Conference, at the national office in Ottawa.

Previous to being involved in catechetical work Sister spent most of her life teaching in the high and junior college level in Halifax, Montreal and Vancouver. She also spent a year in Paris.

After an opening hymn and prayer Sister Germaine Gelly introduced Sister McCaffrey and welcomed her to Bathurst.

Sister Katherine began her talk with a general outline of the Canadian Catechism program "Come to the Father". The program tries to give children three basic fundamentals: knowledge, Communication and Achievement. Knowledge - to learn and become acquainted with the Trinity. Communication - to be able to express this knowledge. Achievement - to do things for the faith by giving of himself to others.

In speaking to the assembled catechists she reminded them of Jesus's words "You have not chosen me I have chosen you."

Summarizing the program by grades - Grade 1 - "Come to the Father" establishes the basic relationship with the Trinity. Grade 2 - "Celebrate God's Wights Deeds" is a preparation for Holy Communion. Grade 3 - "Gathered In Love" helps the child become more aware of himself as part of the community. He finds good values groups.

Grade 4 - "We Have Seen The Lord" the life of Jesus. Helping the child become aware of the human Jesus as well as the divine Jesus. It presents to the child Jesus as he appeared to his people and then through Scripture.

Grade 5 - "Building the New Earth" - is a liturgical program, presenting to the child the church as a guiding light in the voyage of life.

Grade 6 - "Alive as Promised" - a moral program, to give the child the assurance that Jesus is alive, with us, as he promised.

The whole program is psychological rather than logical and is Scripture-oriented.

Questions were then put to Sister who ably answered them.

A lunch was provided and served by the C.W.I.L. Ladies of the diocese and enjoyed by those present.

After lunch Sister presented a talk on the sacraments and many questions were brought up and discussed.

At 3:30 Bishop Edgar Godin, Rev. J. R. Legere and Rev. Gregory Culligan con-celebrated a very beautiful and moving Eucharistic Celebration at which all present participated.

The general feeling after the day was that Sister Katherine must be invited back soon to continue this much needed sharing of knowledge and love.

having a bad effect on both teachers and the behaviour of students fell upon deaf ears at the board meeting.

Correspondence from Principal Lionel Bruneau and three teachers stated the new policy that supply teachers are not to be used unless the regular teacher is absent for more than two days, is affecting teacher preparation, morals, school atmosphere and discipline. At present, other teachers are required to supervise these classes for no more than two of five preparation periods per week.

Board chairman Real Boudreau said budget restraints made the new policy necessary, and the good will and cooperation of teachers was required as well. He noted all complaints had come from the same high school and the requirement was within the terms of the teachers' contract.

Approximately 75 persons attended the board meeting.

New Dock For Caraquet

Gloucester MP Herb Breau has announced that work will begin soon on the new $2.7 million dock at Caraquet.

Mr. Breau said the approval by the treasury board was made this week. The new dock will be 500 feet long and 440 feet wide.

The approval of the new dock at Caraquet followed a move earlier this year by the federal government in which it okayed the spending of $3.5 million for extension of a dock at Lameque.

Mr. Breau said the government's program for the development of offshore fishing ports in the county goes back to 1971 when the first phase of the Shippegan port expansion was approved.

Both soldiers are serving with 1 Canadian Signal Regiment stationed at Canadian Forces Base Kingston. The Regiment is responsible for Canadian Forces communications throughout the world wherever Canadian servicemen are deployed.

Health Therapists Said Needed In Area

The number of health rehabilitation therapists in New Brunswick is seriously inadequate for present needs and the shortage is particularly acute in nursing homes and in the northern section of the province, according to a report released last week by Health Minister Bill Cockburn.

The report of the subcommittee on health rehabilitation manpower states that the province falls far short of suggested minimum goals in number of available occupational therapists, physiotherapists, speech therapists and audiologists. The subcommittee found a need for approximately 320 therapists and a manpower supply of only 80-90, most of whom are concentrated in the southern part of the province and in hospitals.

The subcommittee report constitutes part of an ongoing study of various health manpower fields under the auspices of the health department.

The report presents a series of 15 major recommendations to government designed to help meet the shortage of therapists necessary for health rehabilitation programs.

Among these are more effective recruitment efforts, expansion and improvement of student bursaries and inclusion of some nursing homes in the bursaries program, increased provincial internship capacity, and additional training of auxiliary therapy personnel.

The report advocates the government's continued support of therapy schools at Dalhousie University and in Quebec as well as exploring the possibility of developing a masters level program in speech pathology in French at the University of Moncton.

The professional level of occupational therapy should be clarified and protected by legislation and additional support personnel should be employed in certain hospitals to improve utilization of professional staff, according to the report. Therapists unavailable for full-time employment should be encouraged to work part-time.

The subcommittee recommended the maintenance of salary schedules for therapists which are competitive with those in neighboring provinces. Special concern was expressed over the recent Anti-Inflation Board rollback of wages granted to rehabilitation personnel in New Brunswick hospitals which, it says, has "created an extremely serious situation."

Central to the subcommittee's recommendations is the team concept which it proposes as an approach to rehabilitation which may be of particular value in northern New Brunswick. A team composed of various health rehabilitation specialists and others would, for example, use Bathurst as a physical base from which to serve all communities and institutions in the region.

Finally the report recommends the appointment of a rehabilitation consultant within the health department to coordinate efforts throughout the province.

The subcommittee on health rehabilitation manpower, chaired by Mrs. Mary MacPherson of Moncton, included 12 representatives from professional therapist associations, the provincial department of health, the medical profession, a rehabilitation institution and the provincial nursing home and hospital associations.

Local 1079 Increase Is Rolled Back

About 500 members of Local 1079 Laborers International Union in Bestigouche, Gloucester, Northumberland, Kent, Westmorland and Albert have had a July contract settlement rolled back by the Anti-Inflation Board.

International representative Bejean Charlebois said Nov. 29 he was advised unofficially that the AIB ordered a negotiated increase of about 14 per cent for the first year of the agreement reduced to slightly less than nine per cent and a ten per cent increase in the second year cut to just over six percent.

Workers in Prince Edward Island also had wage increases slashed, he said.

Mr. Charlebois said he plans to travel to Ottawa as soon as possible to ask the board to reconsider its decision.

The union does not intend to appeal the decision, he said, pointing out the results of previous attempts by other union groups in their appeals.

"The winner in this is always the contractors... at the expense of the workers."

He foresaw, however, growing discontent among the workers by winter's end if the board doesn't reconsider and the union is not able to renegotiate the paid holidays they gave up with the collective agreements.

The red Cross Water Safety Service urges you to carry your own rescue equipment when walking across ice-covered ponds, lakes or streams. A pole carried horizontally can help prevent a complete plunge through the ice. Or carry a penknife in your pocket. If you fall in, the knife can be driven into the ice to pull yourself out. Or better still, remember when you wore mittens that dangled from cords threaded through the coat sleeves and behind the neck? When going out on the ice, fasten six-inch spikes instead of mittens to the ends of the cord. By driving the spikes alternately into the ice, you can draw yourself forward to safety.

If you like winter sports and want to continue enjoying them, make sure that the ice is at least four inches thick (ten centimetres) for skating and hockey. Ice which is seven to eight inches thick (17½ to 20 cm) is required for snowmobiling, ice-boating and similar activities. And never skate alone. The Red Cross Water Safety Service urges you to make sure the ice is safe, or keep off it!

EILEEN AND KEITH SUTHERLAND

NEW VOLUNTEERS BEGIN SERVICE

Seventeen persons gathered at Mennonite Central Committee headquarters in Akron, Pa., from November 2 - 12, 1976, for an orientation to various assignments in North America and overseas. Resource persons for the orientation were Ladon Sheets of Jonah House in Baltimore, Md., and Hubert Brown of Mennonite Board of Missions in Elkhart, Ind. Staff persons from the Akron office led other sessions.

Keith and Eileen Sutherland have begun a three-year term of service with mennonite Central Committee in Komuge, Tanzania. They will be working to upgrade local dairy cattle by introducing crossbreeding with Holsteins, management practices and artificial insemination.

Eileen holds a diploma in agriculture from Nova Scotia Agricultural College and a B.S. in agriculture and animal science from the University of Guelph in Ontario. She is a member of South Tetagouche United Church in Bathurst, New Brunswick, and of Underwood United Church in Underwood, Ont. Her parents are Fred and Verna Walsh of Bathurst.

Keith holds a degree in animal and poultry science from Ontario Agricultural College, a part of the University of Guelph. He is the son of Evelyn Inkster of Tiverton, Ont., where he is a member of Tiverton Presbyterian Church.

Acceptance Of Collective Bargaining Process Urged

Stronger government action to guarantee the rights of workers to organize in the face of concerted interference by employers and members of the legal profession was strongly emphasized by the New Brunswick Federation of Labour today (Wednesday) in its annual legislative submission to the Premier and Cabinet.

"The very acceptance of unions is repeatedly being challenged", declared NBLF President Paul LePage who presented the submission. "More and more employers are using whatever tactics are required to defeat unionization of their employees with the result that organization of the unorganized is becoming increasingly difficult."

The Industrial Relations Board, stated the federation brief, "has become the equivalent of a court of law with the legal profession acting every session at its disposal to deny freedom of association. Members of the legal profession acting on behalf of employers have contested both unions and the Industrial Relations Act itself to be subjected to judicial review with the express intent of denying employees the right to belong to the trade union of their choice."

"With an ever increasing number of unions being decertified because of judicial review, law firms are resorted to hiring lawyers in the belief that they too can deny their employees the right to belong to a trade union through the courts."

"The end result has been that people have lost their employment because of union activities following court decisions on the legality of board orders," noted the submission.

To correct the situation, the federation urged that government and the Department of Labour and Manpower "fully accept and guarantee the process of free collective bargaining and freedom of association as an inherent right of every New Brunswick citizen."

"If the legal profession and companies persist in denying this right, it is necessary that they be condemned by government as being poor corporate citizens and undeserving of any government support," asserted the federation.

The NBFL brief also stressed the need for early government attention to other pressing problems relating to the Industrial Relations Act including:

-introduction of job termination and shutdown notices, as well as severance pay provisions.

-removal of court injunctions in labour disputes.

-recognition of the right of employees to observe a picket line.

-improved arbitration, provisions.

-restoration of full and unrestricted collective bargaining rights for firefighters, including the right to strike.

The federation expressed concern over the long delay in introducing legislative revisions granting full collective bargaining rights to public service employees who fall under the Public Service Labour Relations Act.

Restrictions placed on the scope of bargaining because of limitations contained in the Act are "frustrating to say the least" and in the case of employees also covered by the Civil Service Act, are even worse, prohibiting negotiations in the area of pensions, promotions, transfers, lay-offs and recalls, and hiring practices, said the brief.

Despite three years of study and hearings nothing concrete has been accomplished in the way of legislation, noted the federation, in urging government to speed up proceedings and introduce legislative changes at the forthcoming sitting of the Legislature.

In commenting on employment conditions in the province, the NBFL submission took strong exception to "... pre-occupation by ...government with the concerns of employers when it comes to introduction of legislation pertaining to job safety, workmen's compensation, and minimum standards of employment."

"Employer influence..." claimed the federation, "has led to recent legislative changes ...being considerably less progressive than was warranted had the welfare of the province's workforce been the main consideration of government."

Among other things, the federation urged government to allocate the necessary funds to allow for the appointment of a workers advocate to assist claimants in the processing and resolution of troublesome workmen's compensation cases.

Thrust Towards Trust

One of the recurring themes today from politicians of almost every stripe is that of trust. The prime minister deplores the cynicism of Canadians about government, towards elected representatives as well as appointed civil servants.

There must be more trust of government. You must trust us, say the experts. We know what's best for you.

And we believe the question of trust and respect for the institutions of democracy are essential to the survival of a free society. However, that trust must be grounded in morality and it must be mutual in its very essence. Morality must have no double standard and respect can have no equivocation.

Let us examine briefly a couple of examples. The scandals surrounding the Lockheed corporation's attempts to sell aircraft have reached into the deepest reaches of free society. One of the last royal families in Europe has been tainted with corruption and a former prime minister of Japan is in jail as a result of the exposure of Lockheed's sales techniques.

All this was well known to Canadian officials who purchased a billion dollars worth of aircraft from these admitted corrupters. No one suggests that any Canadian was bribed, but can we expect to respect institutions which have no apparent difficulty in doing business with those who so easily corrupted others.

Henry Kissinger in explaining American foreign policy that so readily accepts the governments of Brazil, Chile and Iran while deriding the leftist regimes of other nations, said that while he personally abhorred the admitted torture tactics employed in these countries that the U.S. could not base policy on the morals of others.

There is some kind of distinction in these examples that misses the point. There is a placid acceptance that anything goes, that manipulation and double standards are acceptable, that the end always justifies the means.

But, try to explain those subtle distinctions to a child. No wonder the credibility of government is low.

RANSOM WILSON

SECOND CONCERT FEATURES FLUTIST

Bathurst Community Concert Association is proud to present Ransom Wilson, a sensational young American flutist, in a recital on December 2nd, at 8:30 p.m., in the auditorium of Sugarloaf High School. This is the second in a series of concerts brought to Bathurst music lovers by the local Concert Association.

The flute, one of the oldest instruments in the history of music, has been heaped by the greatest composers. Important compositions have been created for it by such immortals as Bach, Handel, Vivaldi, Beethoven, Mozart and Schubert, not to mention the lesser-known romantic flute virtuosos, who wrote especially for the instrument as Paganini did for the violin.

Modern composers have also made significant additions to the repertoire, among them Debussy, Bartok, Prokofiev, and Messiaen. In fact, the repertoire for flute - in solo, with harpsichord, piano, various ensembles and with orchestra - is as extensive as that of the other leading solo instruments, such as the piano, the violin or the cello.

Ransom Wilson, the featured artist, has attained perfection, largely through the inspiration and guidance of today's recognized king of the flute, Jean-Pierre Rampal.

Born in Tuscaloosa, Alabama in 1951, Ransom's early interest in music developed while he attended a symphony concert and heard the orchestra play Peter and the Wolf. Awestruck by the brilliance of the flute solos, he knew there and then that he would study and master the flute.

On scholarship, he attended New York's famed Juilliard School from which he graduated in 1973. The previous year he had been chosen to represent the United States as a soloist on the round-the-world cruise of the S.S. France. He was later awarded the Trophee de France and was the recipient of fellowship from the Atlantique Foundation for study in France.

Wilson has been honored with prizes and awards and has offered recitals in New York, then appeared as soloist with the Orpheus Chamber Ensemble, the Birmingham Symphony and the Stuttgart Chamber Orchestra with Karl Muenchinger in Carnegie Hall, the latter a very special success. During the summer of 1973 he toured Italy and Switzerland as soloist with the Juilliard Chamber Orchestra under the baton of maestro Peter Maag.

March 1976 marked Ransom's long-awaited official New York debut at Town Hall. His guest artist? Jean-Pierre Rampal, of course, accompanied by the Orpheus Ensemble in a programme of virtuoso concertos. The New York Times Headline reads: Ransom Wilson Bravura Flutist, and the review went on: "...he is an exceptional virtuoso, as he has proved before, and his bravura talents served him well throughout a long, diverting program.

That same month, Ransom soloed with the Prague Chamber Orchestra in Welland, Ontario. Then in April 1976, he performed at Carnegie Hall as solo flutist with the Netherlands Chamber Orchestra, followed by a solo performance with the Cologne Chamber Orchestra in conjunction with the Mostly Mozart Festival at Lincoln Center in July.

Ransom Wilson has created quite a following of admirers throughout the United States with his recitals. His flawless mastery of the flute coupled with an appealing state presence make him a much-requested artist and will surely make his passage in Bathurst an evening to enjoy and long remember.

EDITOR'S MAIL

Replies To Head Pediatric Nurse

Bathurst, N.B.
November 29, 1976

A letter signed by Jessica Ryan, (Editor's Mail, November 24, 1976, Northern Light) unfairly lowers the capacity of employees which she refers to as the other category at the hospital and insults their ability to perform their duties.

That other category consists of about 300 employees spread all over the hospital (not limited only to the nursing station) who are members of the Canadian Union of Public Employees and I am one of them. Therefore, I will express my comments.

One would have a tendency to believe that Mrs. Ryan is the only able person at the hospital. Let be reassure you that you will find highly qualified people who care for the well-being of the patients. Could the honour of being a department head make a person believe that she knows it all and the other members of the staff don't know why they are doing what they do? Have you forgotten to add to your list of responsibilities that it is your duty to inform your staff properly?

In order to help understand better the responsibilities of a head nurse, let's have a look at the contact of a patient with the staff, and taking Pediatrics as an example.

Starting from admission where clerical staff takes care of all your government forms and papers and then to proceed to your room where you will very seldom be made comfortable by a nurse but by an understanding and pleasant R.N.A. who is not afraid to take care of you because it might dirty her hands. Not only is she available at all times she will check your temperature, blood pressure, do your dressings, get you ready for the operating room or other treatments and many more.

In a room well cleaned by housekeeping, with bed linen washed by laundry employees, you bath, beds made by R.N.A.'s and aides every day of the week, she also serves your meals prepared by kitchen employees under the supervision of a qualified dietitian. The skilled and qualified employees who check and repair all equipment for the safety of the patients with the stationary engineer who keeps the building nice and warm around the clock.

Depending on the needs of the patient, employees such as assistants and technicians in Physiotherapy, E.C.G., Inhalation Therapy, Phlebotomy, Operating Room and many more.

All these employees who belong to the other category are there to serve the patients and help them get better, knowing very well why they are doing what they do. All these employees except the nursing personnel in Pediatrics are not the responsibility of the head nurse.

Also at the service of the patients and the parents you have the social workers and all these to decrease the load work of the head nurse.

I realize the responsibility of the head nurse such decisions as to which staff nurse will work with the team of R.N.As and aides or which staff nurse will give medications and injections, with prescriptions filled prepared and delivered to pediatrics by pharmacist and his staff. All this after the big decision of which nurse will carry the chart for the doctor visiting his patients. The patient is pleased to see his doctor.

When nursing procedures are not followed properly I would not want to forget the clinical nurse highly qualified or maybe the In-service Dept. always willing and able to correct the situation.

Some of the fringe benefits you mentioned you are not getting even if you work at the hospital are negotiable items and that is the raison d'etre of your bargaining agents.

Where you insinuate that nurses should grab a mop or make beds, with your attitude it makes me wonder what would happen to the high standard and quality of work given now by our group. Maybe it's your indirect way to get under our bargaining group? If so, knock at the front door.

As a professional, stop lowering the value of others and compare yourself with other employees in New Brunswick at the same level as you are and demand your rights. Only then will you get the support you seek for.

Northern Light Gets Around

Mississauga, Ont.
November 21, 1976

It's late to get in touch but due to situations. However, in the August 25th issue of The Northern Light, we read with interest (and so well written) the article on "Russian Visit" by Randy Aubie.

My husband is quite a sports fan and since his office is right next door to Maple Leaf Gardens - this write up went a long way - and people read it with great interest.

We are proud of our "Bathurst Boy".

Has No Connection With Local Family

Bathurst, N.B.

This is in reference to a picture and article concerning a former Bathurst man, Joseph Watson, now of Independence, Missouri, who recently performed in Scottish costume and played the bagpipes for the 800 students of the William Southern Elementary School in Independence.

The articles, contained in the November 24 edition of The Northern Light, and reprinted from The Examiner published in Independence, in no way concerns the William Southern family in Bathurst, as some readers may have erroneously interpreted from the context.

PQ And PA Seen As New Bedfellows?

Bathurst, N.B.
November 26, 1976

Today's news reveals that a group of people calling itself the Parti Acadien held a meeting during the past weekend in Rivière-du-Loup. This is reported to be the Party's annual meeting and during the meeting it was decided to hold a special session to decide the future direction of the Party.

No doubt this new round of activities has been prompted by the recent events in Quebec. Why this would have any impact on Acadians is anybody's guess. Quebecers have never regarded Acadians with anything but contempt. As any Acadian historian will verify, we have frequently seen cartoons in Quebec papers that portrayed Acadians as bushleague, while the Quebecers were the aristocracy of French Canada.

Has this attitude changed? There appears to be no evidence to support such change. Indeed the Quebec P.Q. members may very well be so intoxicated with their recent success that they may consider themselves more superior than ever when compared to their Maritime brothers.

The astonishing thing about these new political manoeuvers is the number of people from the upper levels of the French academic community that become involved. They seem to want to turn their backs on a nation, province and community that gave them life, breath and the freedom to pursue the lifestyle of their choice.

They were given the opportunity to be educated - to become professionals, often with great sacrifice on the part of hard working and highly respectable parents. They have achieved success in a political climate that obviously was acceptable. And now having reached the professional level, they wish to rip apart the political machine that made their success possible by establishing revolutionary groups that advocate the destruction of organized government in this country.

It is most difficult to understand what these people want. Surely they must be aware how many people from so many countries of the world that cry out to be allowed to immigrate to Canada. They cannot help but be aware that many professionals leave their native land to come to Canada where they can enjoy some of the good things in life.

Many of these people had only a bicycle for transportation and lived in very small living quarters. After a few months in this country they have a large home, one or more automobiles and are able to travel extensively during the holidays.

They are ready to tolerate our severe climate in Canada in order to enjoy a generally better standard of living. It is not very often that we find Canadian professionals knocking on the doors of foreign embassies to get a passport or a work permit.

Most of the hardships in other countries of the world have been caused by political chaos caused by multi-party systems. At first they have a two-party system that functions reasonably well, then a few revolutionaries in some corner or section of the state think they can accomplish better things more quickly than the old-time parties.

Before people can be restored to normal thinking, three more political parties are on the political road. The final result, a political quagmire or a totalitarian type of government with only one party and no free elections.

Yes, the classic example of political experimentation is Greece. This great country was considered to be the father of democracy, yet just a few short years ago it became necessary for the military to take over the government. Why? Because it too many up start political leaders. Every time a new party was added, the political structure was weakened.

Why oh why can we not profit by the experiences of other nations older than we are?

Rebuttal From Hospital Worker

Bathurst, N.B.
November 29, 1976

From reading Mrs. Jessica Ryan's letter in the November 24th Northern Light, one would think she is the only person working at the hospital.

We are over 500 people working at the same hospital, all well-trained and highly qualified, without counting the medical staff, board of directors, clergy, Ladies Auxiliary, etc., who are there to lighten the work load. All are working for the well-being of the patient.

Personally I have been hospitalized in three different hospitals in the province for a period of from 22 to 28 days each time, and I have never seen the face of a head nurse.

Let us take a look at the responsibilities of a head nurse.

On admission the admitting clerk will prepare the necessary papers and you will be assigned to either surgical, medical, etc., where the ward clerk or R.N.A. (very seldom a nurse) will make you comfortable in your room.

If you need an aspirin, suppository or antibiotic the nurse will give it to you but never without a doctor's order, either verbal, written or phoned. If you need an injection - the nurse will give it to you (not very difficult - think of diabetics).

If you need an intravenous solution, plasma, etc., will do that, but if two or more drugs are prescribed in the same injection, you call pharmacy and the pharmacist will tell you if they are compatible or not.

Sutures to be removed? This is sometimes done by a nurse but always on a doctor's order.

Responsibilities? Everything is done by personnel of the other category and they know what they are doing and why they are doing it.

The responsibilities of a head nurse, as I see it, are these: check the time sheet after it has been prepared by the ward clerk, see that all your personnel are not in the same room at the same time, attend meetings, and, what you seem to forget, keep them informed.

If you had given less importance to the news strikes and concentrating the hours you served the nurses of N.B. and spent more energy in planning a good program of responsibilities, the situation of nurses in the province would be different today. I feel sorry for the ones who are really working and have their feet on the ground and their heads on their shoulders. There are still a few.

You mentioned that newspapers are laughing at your situation. Would you think as being the butt of that nurses are not even worth a laugh? If you had read the same papers properly you would realize that your bargaining agents are talking about everyone else's salary except their own (the nurses).

You want a better salary? Here are my suggestions:

1. Stop thinking you are the belly button of the hospital.

2. Stop decreasing the value of other persons working with you, especially the ones with less education.

3. When asking for more money, compare your salaries with other nurses in the province, such as the public health nurses, or nurses of other provinces. It also applies for fringe benefits.

A Co-Worker

P.S.: Don't forget that a teacher has to pay for four or more years of university, while you had your three years free.

Une autre point de vue

Le 27 novembre 1976
Bathurst, N.B.

Je tiens à commenter la lettre écrite par Mme Ryan R.N. de l'hôpital Chaleur le 23 novembre 76 dans le Northern Light. Je suis un employé de l'hôpital Chaleur depuis 4 ans. J'ai obtenu mon diplôme de R.N.A. en 1968.

Mon travail à la salle d'opération comme technicien exige beaucoup de concentration, d'habileté et connaissance pour mieux satisfaire aux besoins des chirurgiens et pour autant aux patients.

Tout comme vous, collègues et serviteurs de l'hôpital, je suis convaincu que notre présence est nécessaire et même indispensable pour le confort et le bien-être des patients. Dans quelle état seraient les planchers, la cuisine, la maintenance par exemple si nous n'étions pas là?

Tout travail, quelqu'il soit, exige des responsabilités.

Je comprend et partage vos frustrations Mme Ryan mais je n'accepte pas que vous vous serviez de nous pour justifier vos conditions de travail. Nos salaires que vous affichés dans le journal Mme Ryan sont le résultat de plusieurs années d'effort de négociation laborieuse avec le gouvernement et d'une solidarité soutenue par tous les employés syndiqués du milieu hospitalier à travers la province.

Je doute que vous obtiendrez l'appui et la sympathie du public en boutant de dénigrer ceux qui vous entourent et en laissant de côté les vrais responsables de vos problèmes.

Personne ne vous respectera si vous continuez à laisser les autres s'occuper de vos affaires.

Votre dernier contrat négocié en 74, votre refus de participer à la manifestation du 14 octobre dernier et aujourd'hui, en 1976, vous laissez encore dans les mains de quelques individus le soin de déterminer vos salaires sont des actes auxquels j'aimerais que vous réfléchissiez.

On ne récolte seulement ce que l'on a semé.

Jean Guy Léger, R.N.A.

Another RN Offers Opinion

Bathurst, N.B.
November 26, 1976

After reading Mrs. Ryan's letter twice, it comes to my mind that the words "I am" are used quite frequently. Why?

I understand the situation the R.N. is in because I am an R.N. and I am employed at C.G.H. We all know (now) that there is a gross injustice in the salary scale between professional and non-professional staff but why use it as a wedge to divide co-workers?

We are all important cogs in the wheel of patient care and to assign degrees of importance is to lower one person's sense of self-worth in order to bolster someone else's.

These are difficult times and we must remain level-headed if we are to meet our responsibilities effectively.

Caraquet Acadians Post 6-4 Win Over Junior B. Leaders

Caraquet Acadians moved to within a point of first place in the North Shore Junior B Hockey League last night with a 6 - 4 win over the league-leading Shippegan Merchants.

The victory was the seventh in a row for the Acadians who now have a record of six wins, three losses and a tie for total of 13 points. Shippegan still leads with 14 points on seven wins and just three losses.

Michel Dugas, Gilles Cormier, Conrad Landry, Marcel Hache, Fernand Albert and Marc Leger scored for the winners.

The 16-year-old sensation Jean-Marc Finn was the individual star of the game scoring all four Shippegan goals. He scored two in the first period to give the Merchants an early 2 - 1 lead and added his other pair in the final period.

Rangers Tie

In one of two league games played Sunday, Dalhousie Junior Rangers came back from a 6 - 0 deficit to gain a six-all draw with Caraquet by virtue of six goals in the final period. Russ Rankin was the Ranger hero netting the equalizer at 19:36 of the final period. The other Ranger goals came from Kenny Tait, Henri Bernard, Conrad Drapeau, Dave McCabe and Jacques Noel.

Vic Gionet had a pair of goals for Caraquet with singles coming from Claude Hache, Robert Blanchard, Marcel Hachey and Gilles Cormier.

In Sunday's other game, Campbellton North Stars blasted St. Isidore-Tracadie Save-Easy 9 - 4 at Tracadie. Albert Legacy sparked the winners with three goals while Donnie LeBlanc added a pair. Kerry Clair, Jacques Doucet and Pierre Richard netted the others for the Stars. Norbert Maltais, Roger Theriault, Bobby Le-Breton and Denis Robichaud connected for Tracadie.

In a game at Campbellton Saturday, the league-leading Shippegan Merchants jumped into a 4 - 0 first period lead and went on to dump their hosts 6 - 2.

Bert Goupil triggered a pair to pace the Merchants with Jean-Marc Finn, Hector Chiasson, Paul Lanteigne and Gaetan Godin adding singles.

League standings show Shippegan in first place with 14 points, one ahead of Caraquet. Dalhousie Rangers are third with 11, Beresford Bees and Campbellton tied with 7 and Tracadie in the cellar with four.

Tigers Trounce Alpines 11-1

The league-leading Campbellton Tigers came into town to play Sunday and they did just that at the Bathurst Arena last night to the dismay of 1,091 local fans.

The Tigers thrashed the Alpines 11 - 1 and increased their lead in the North Shore Hockey League to four points over the second-place Bathurst squad.

Alpines were still in the game after two periods but the Tigers crushed them with seven goals in the final 20 minutes.

George Parker was the culprit as far as Bathurst supporters were concerned as he struck for four goals, including three in the third period explosion.

Diminutive John Wood added three for the winners while Greg McCullough fired a pair. Sonny O'Brien and Paul Vautour also connected in the final period to account for Tigers' other goals.

Luc Ouellette was the only Alpine to beat Mike Frawley, Campbellton's new goaltender. Luc connected in the first period completing a play with brother Paul and George Willett. The goal came at the 9:11 mark after McCullough and Parker had given the Tigers a 2 - 0 lead.

John Wood upped the count to 3 - 0 midway through the second and McCullough's second of the night at 17:20 gave the winners a 4 - 0 margin entering the final twenty minutes.

Wood also started the third-period explosion when he scored at 7:20. O'Brien made it 6 - 1 at 9:23 and then Parker, Wood, Parker, Vautour and Parker's third of the period completed the rout.

Tigers outshot the Alpines 42-32 and marked the second game in succession in which the Alpines gave up 11 goals in losing to the Tigers.

Referee George Allard of Dalhousie had a relatively easy time in handing out 14 penalties including second-period majors to Ghislain Tardiff of the Alpines and Dave Wiesner of the Tigers. The Tigers picked up nine of the penalties but only Dennis Henderson's in the first period proved costly as Ouellette's goal came just four seconds after he was banished.

Campbellton now has 8 wins against one loss for 16 points while the Alpines' record is now 6 wins and 3 losses for 12 points. Dalhousie Rangers and Chatham Ironmen follow with just 2 points an identical won-loss records of 1 - 6.

Ladies Curling

By Joyce Conley

This promises to be an exciting weekend at the club, with the Ladies Shell competitive spiel scheduled for Dec. 3-5 inclusive.

Plans are at present being made for the club to sponsor the Ursuline-Turnbull Curling Schoolgirls first spiel of January 1977.

The school, for both old and new curlers, will be conducted for three days. The fee is expected to be $25 per individual.

The ladies' regular Saturday evening suppers will resume for the season starting in early January with Anne Arseneau as convenor.

This year, members will receive in the mail a schedule of the supper convenors and their assistants. This list should help members avoid the confusion that sometimes arose in the past regarding the supper work schedule.

The past presidents of the ladies' club will be formally honored in February when they will be presented with commemorative pins, and their portraits will be featured in the ladies' lounge.

Until next week, Good Curling!

Weekend Wins Give Tigers Lead In North Shore League

Campbellton Tigers moved into sole possession of first place in the North Shore Hockey League with weekend wins over Bathurst Alpines and Chatham Braves.

The Tigers gained a share of the top at home Friday when they stopped the Alpines string at four with a solid 11 - 5 win. Then, Sunday in Chatham, they took over the top spot with an 11 - 4 triumph.

Last Thursday in Dalhousie, the Braves registered their first win of the season by downing the Rangers 5 - 3.

Sunday, the Tigers got two goals each from George Parker, Greg McCullough and Dave Wimmer while defenceman Sterling Lugg had a five-point night including a hat trick. John Wood and Brian Forster completed the Campbellton scoring. Ray O'Donnell, Ed Russell, Gene Thériault and Ken Martin were the Chatham marksmen.

The Alpines' four-game winning streak came to an abrupt end Friday night in Campbellton when they were stunned 11 - 5.

Tigers outscored the Alpines 4 - 1 in both the first and second periods and the teams split six goals in the final twenty minutes.

George Parker and Greg McCullough snapped in a brace each to spearhead the Tigers with Jean-Marie Bouchard, John Wood, Dave Wimmer, George Bernier, Norman Hebert, Perry Kennedy and Paul Vautour netting singles. Bouchard added four assists and Wood helped on three.

Brian Chamberlain bagged a pair for the Alpines and drew two assists. Linesmate Mike Morton added a goal and three assists while Don Ray and Gilmore Tardiff connected for the other Alpine goals.

Bathurst coach Hubert Pouliot started goalie Glen Seperich in the final period and replaced him with Danny Martin.

Chatham Wins

Danny Lennard fired a pair of third period goals as the Ironmen topped the Rangers 5 - 3 Thursday. Ed Russell also scored in the third period while Dan Gill, in the first and Don MacGregor, in the second, were the Chatham scorers. Luc Hennessy and Billy Audfroid connected for the Rangers in the first period and Wayne Cameron closed out the scoring in the final 20 minutes. It was the fifth straight loss for the Rangers.

Alpines Running One-Two In League Scoring Race

MICHEL JOURNEL

Two linemates of the Bathurst Alpines continue to set the pace in the North Shore Hockey League scoring race according to statistics released Monday.

Michel Journel remains on top with 22 points on 8 goals and 14 assists. Mike Morton is one point back with 7 goals and 15 helpers. Brian Chamberlain, third member of the line holds down fifth spot with 8 goals and 7 assists for 15 points.

Dalhousie's Wayne Cameron and Jean Marie Bouchard of the Campbellton Tigers are crowding the leads with 19 and 18 points respectively. Cameron has 10 points including 8 goals while Bouchard has scored 7 and helped on 11 for 18 points.

Two other Tigers - Dave Wimmer and Sterling Lugg - made gains on the leaders last week. Wimmer moved up to 6th place with 14 points while Lugg has tied Bathurst's Paul Ouellette for 7th one point back. Each has scored five goals and assisted on eight.

Jean Claude Legacy of the Tigers continues to lead the league's goaltenders with an individual goals against average of 2.92.

IN MEMORIAM

WHITE — In loving memory of a dear son Earnest White and Granddaughter who died in a car accident on Dec. 12, 1975
And our hearts are filled with pain.
This world would be a heaven
Could we hear your voice again
Years have swiftly passed
But still we don't forget
For in the hearts that loved you best
Your memory lingers yet.
Always remembered by his mother, Mrs. Amanda White and Family.

SCOTT — In loving memory of Thomas H. Scott who passed away December 7, 1974.
There's been many a lonely heartache,
Many a silent tear
But always a beautiful memory
Of the one we loved so dear
Lovingly remembered by wife Blanche and family

WISEMAN — In loving memory of Thomas Byron who left us December 4, 1970
Beautiful memories are wonderful things,
They last 'til the longest day
They never wear out, they never get lost.
And can never be put away.
To some you may be forgotten,
To others a part of the past,
But to us who loved you and lost you
Your memory will always last.
Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by Mom, Dad and brothers.

APPRAISAL INSTITUTE OF CANADA

MEETING

Today, there's an increasing need for well trained and qualified appraisers - and the Appraisal Institute of Canada offers you an opportunity to gain professional status through a credit program, including lecture sessions or correspondence courses.

You, too, may be able to join the growing ranks of qualified professionals bearing the A.A.C.I. (Accredited Appraiser Canadian Institute) or C.R.A. (Canadian Residential Appraiser).

For those who are interested in taking this course, a meeting will be held on December 2 at 7 P.M. in the Conference Room of the Provincial Building (new section). This meeting will be conducted by Donat Cool, A.A.C.I., P. O. Box 5001, Bathurst, N.B.

PROCLAMATION

By virtue of the powers vested in me as Mayor of the City of Bathurst, I proclaim the period of Monday the twenty-ninth of November, 1976, to Sunday, the fifth of December, 1976, as "Bathurst Mental Health Week".

Bathurst Mental Health is dedicated to bring health and comfort to the people of Bathurst concerning one of the most urgent health problems "Mental Illness". Only three examples:

(1) Mental Illness hits more Canadians annually than all other diseases combined including cancer, heart diseases and tuberculosis.

(2) Nearly half the hospital beds in Canada are occupied by the mentally or emotionally ill.

(3) Suicide is now the second most frequent cause of death among young Canadians between the ages of 15 and 30.

The citizens of Bathurst are urged to support Mental Health as a subscriber; in this way, you will have the satisfaction of making a personal contribution in the improvement of existing conditions in our City and surrounding area.

DATED at Bathurst this twenty-fourth day of November, A.D., 1976.

John A. Duffy
Mayor

Waste Said Major Crime

Wilful waste will not be considered as the western world's number one crime, The United Church Observer says editorially in its current issue.

The Observer was commenting on the chartering of a 272-seat jetliner by the widow of Lord Beaverbrook to fly herself, her sister and two dogs from London to Halifax. Lady Beaverbrook explained that it was her money "and I can spend it as I see fit."

The Observer admitted that her point of view is generally supported in the non-communist world, and as a result "while the hungry shiver, the rich squander billions on themselves."

But, it went on, "For 1,900 years Christians have been teaching that we cannot spend our personal wealth as we wish. Jesus taught that. So did the great Hebrew prophets. So did the leaders of most great religions. And now all people of sensitivity and conscience are beginning to catch on.

"It's not public knowledge yet, but ostentation is going out of style and self-indulgence is becoming bad taste."

Mental Health Drive Underway

The annual financial appeal conducted by Mental Health Bathurst is currently underway in the area, and will continue until Saturday, December 4.

The campaign, which is being chaired this year by Hilaire Brideau, gives citizens in Bathurst and surrounding areas an opportunity to help those less fortunate.

Volunteers are still required for house-to-house canvassing, and anyone interested in helping is asked to get in touch with Mr. Brideau at 546-3598.

Funds collected during the drive will be used to help the mentally ill in the area.

MRS. A. M. McMURRAY

ELECTION TO "HALL OF FAME" IS OFFICIAL

Mrs. A. M. McMurray better known as "Mac" who was elected to the Curlers Hall Of Fame and National Museum early in 1975, has received the official certificate indicating the honor from the Canadian Curling Association.

Coincidental is the fact that the certificate issued in 1975, is dated for her birthday, March 6, the recipient has noted.

The distinguished award commemorates the following words: "The Canadian Curling Association and the Curlers Hall of Fame and National Museum are proud to announce the election to the Hall of Fame of Mrs. Mary McMurray. This certificate is issued in recognition of outstanding performance in the game of Curling either in competition or in the promotion of the game, signed this 6th day of March, 1975, by the Hall of Fame Selection Committee: J. H. Dion, President, and O. S. Lumsden, Chairman."

A charter member of Bathurst Curlers Curling Club, Mrs. McMurray has been actively engaged in the sport for over 40 years.

In a letter dated October, 1976 received with the certificate the association noted, "Your contribution to the Grand Old Game of Curling either as a competitor, a builder, or both will be perpetually remembered by all your curling friends across our wide country."

Mrs. McMurray also was advised the certificate provides evidence of her election only and that she will be more formally recognized when the Hall of Fame is erected and, at which time the association plans to have a formal induction.

Canadian Books For Free Distribution

The Canada Council has begun 100,000 books by Canadian authors for free distribution to organizations in Canada and abroad.

The books, packaged in kits of 200 volumes each, will be sent to organizations that apply to the Council before January 31, 1977. To be eligible, applicants must be Canadian associations, institutions or groups that lack funds to buy books but have facilities to make books available to the public.

Recipients in past years have included school libraries in remote areas, golden age clubs, hospitals, community resource centres, inner-city missions and prisons.

The Department of External Affairs handles distribution outside Canada to universities, cultural centres and other institutions. The Council spends some $600,000 a year on the book kit program.

The books this year were chosen by the Council's selection committees from the recent catalogues of 75 Canadian publishers in English, 45 in French. A total of 870 titles were selected - 250 in French and 320 in English.

Recipients of book kits have a choice of an all-French or an all-English kit of 200 titles, or a mixed kit of 100 books in each language. The list of titles includes literary works such as novels and short stories, collections of poetry and essays, and works of general interest in fields such as history, the arts, philosophy, and environmental and social issues.

Books by the well-known authors Margaret Atwood, Robert Davies, Gabrielle Roy, Farley Mowatt, Yves Thériault and Anne Hebert are included among the selections this year.

The Council urges groups and organizations interested in receiving a book kit to write to its Writing and Publication Section in Ottawa as soon as possible for application forms.

Organizations that have received kits in the past may apply again. Forms must be returned to the Council by January 31, 1977. The address in Ottawa is: Writing and Publication Section, The Canada Council, Box 1047, Ottawa, K1P 5V8.

Social Workers Meet In Chatham

A joint meeting of the board of the New Brunswick Association of Social Workers and the Regional Chapter V of the N.B. Association of Social Workers was held recently in Chatham. The Chapter represents social workers in the Miramichi, Bathurst and Acadian Peninsula areas.

15-lb turkeys from Save-Easy: Mrs. Mathilda Aubie, Beresford; Terry Gauthier, 2985 Balsam Ave., Bathurst; Gilberte Godin, 275 Notre Dame St., Bathurst; Rita Daigle, R. R. No. 5, Bathurst.

The president of the N. B. Association, Peter Alderman of Fredericton, was in the chair. He expressed appreciation in his name and in the name of the board for having been invited to hold the regular November meeting in the northern part of the province.

Treasurer Sharon Lloyd - Partington of Fredericton, presented the Chapter with a cheque to cover expenses for the third quarter of 1976. The 1977 annual provincial meeting was discussed; an educational conference will be held jointly with the business at that time, in May or June.

The most important topic of the board meeting was likely the decision to seek more information from the Department of Social Services regarding the proposed structural changes. The board will seek this information and make a presentation to the minister expressing concern as professional social workers.

During the chapter meeting, President, Gerard Doucet of Bathurst, chaired Professional development sessions, to be held jointly with the forthcoming monthly chapter meetings, were approved.

A discussion on the situation at the Provincial Hospital at Campbellton was held. It was decided that the chairman of the board of the hospital, Hector Arsenault of Campbellton, as well as the secretary of that board, Nelson Michaud, will be invited to speak to the December meeting on the situation at that institution, and to relate what is being implemented to improve the situation.

Federation Wants Out Of Wage-Price Program

The New Brunswick Federation of Labour has urged the government of New Brunswick to reverse its position and opt out of the federal wage and price controls program in favour of fairer and more equitable solutions to inflation.

"Failure to opt out of the anti-inflation program can only lead to further deterioration in our economy at the expense of workers and consumers," declared the federation in its annual legislative brief in which it severely attacked the decision of Premier Hatfield to commit New Brunswick to the program for a further 18-month period.

"In light of the obvious and proven failings and inequities in the wage and price controls program, the New Brunswick Federation of Labour is at a loss to understand the basis for continued provincial support of it," stated the labour brief.

"How a program that does little or nothing about controlling the major causes of inflation housing, energy and food costs, can be deserving of support is beyond ourselves," continued the submission. "The adverse impact of controls on wage disparity and unemployment — two areas in which government has spent countless dollars to improve conditions, makes the province's position even more irrational."

Meaningful price controls have been non-existent under Bill C-73 which has simply acted to check wage increases by arbitrarily interfering in the free collective bargaining process," maintained the NBFL.

"Overwhelming evidence exists to substantiate the fact controls on wages have been getting progressively tighter while the controls on prices are being eliminated and the controls on profits loosened significantly," added the brief.

The detailed federation submission noted that "predicted inequities in the wage controls program have grown more obvious with each passing day," listing as examples:

- gross differences in wages for workers doing similar work.
- unfair and inconsistent interpretation of historical relationships provisions.
- the absence of a fair and impartial appeal process.
- widening wage disparity.
- the worsening of income redistribution to the disadvantage of low income groups.

While New Brunswick workers have been the victims of precedent setting AIB decisions and suffered long term losses because of wage controls, the controls program has posed no hardship on professional people, pointed out the federation brief. The average professional, it suggested, increased his net income in the first year of controls by $4,000 — more than double the absolute maximum allowable increase under the legislation.

Price controls the NBFL claimed are not working with the slowdown experienced to date in the Consumer Price Index increase. Mainly due to an unusual but widely forecast drop in food prices."

As for non-food commodities which comprise the remainder of the CPI, "the prices of these consumer goods are still going up at a rate in excess of 9 per cent." Involved are essential commodities including oil, gas, electric power, car insurance, telephone rates, land costs and mortgage interest rates which are not covered by the controls program but left to the discretion of government or public utilities boards, continued the brief.

But experience has shown that provincial and federal authorities sanction with the slightest scrutiny price increases in essential and non-essential commodities," stated the submission. "No better example of this can be found than the work to date of the Province's Prices and Incomes Bureau which has ignored or tacitly accepted price or rate increases by the NB Electric Power Commission, NB Tel, private car insurers, NB Liquor Corporation and municipalities."

The federation pointed to provisions for companies to pass on all increases in production costs to consumers, to reap the benefits of improved productivity, and the virtual exemption of export industries, as further proof of the inequities of the controls program.

Newly drafted regulations to control profits instead of prices and continuing changes in profit regulations to allow companies first 95 percent, then 85 percent and now 90.5 percent of profits in a base period of their choosing indicate that Bill C-73 is strictly a wage controls program, said the federation brief.

"Government," declared the NBFL, "continues to pursue its historic strategy of maintaining an 'attractive investment climate' which in reality means supporting higher business profits with little or no assurance that they will be re-invested provincially."

Local Board Approves 1977-78 School Budget

School District No. 4 trustees gave their approval last week to a proposed budget of $11,599,176 for the 1977-78 school year. This represents an increase of 9.82 per cent over the 1976-77 budget.

A breakdown of the monetary requirements shows a total of $282,821 for administration in the schools, $7,963,425 for instruction (teachers' salaries); $198,940 for instructional materials; $1,004,031 for plant operation and maintenance; $625,489 for transportation; $104,724 for other educational services including such items as driver education.

The remaining account proposals are $374,212 for other expenses (including salary benefits such as unemployment and Canada Pension, and $849,587 for school district office expenses.

Assisting the district office officials in the preparation of the proposed budget was the finance and budget committee of the school board chared by Trustee Ian Oliver. Presenting the actual document with the accompanying explanations to the special board meeting was Mrs. Hazel Carroll, budget officer for the district.

The proposed budget is subject to the approval of the provincial department of education and must be submitted to the officials in Fredericton by November 30. Administration and board officials will then meet with department officials in Fredericton for a review of the document.

The board's projected number of pupils for 1977-78 is 9,830, or 205 fewer than the 10,025 enrolment this year. District Superintendent R. A. Ouellette said the current enrolment had shown a 5% per cent drop from the 1975-76 school year.

The number of teachers projected for next year is 456.0 compared to the present number of 450.8. This was brought about by the desired reduction in the number of teaching periods at the elementary and junior high school levels coupled with an attempt to slightly reduce the pupil-teacher ratio in the classroom from 22.29 to 21.49. There are no additional services being suggested.

A further examination of the pupil projections for next year with current figures in brackets are 5,030 (5,202) elementary, 2,726 (2,711) intermediate or junior high, and 2,064 (2,102) secondary or high school. A smaller enrolment expected in grade one and a large 1977 graduating class were considered.

Pupils to be conveyed to class by school bus account for 60 per cent of the enrolment, the same percentage as the current year. The district has 74 school buses carrying out this function and no additional vehicles are being budgetted for the next school year.

The number of portable classrooms in the district will decrease from 57 to 41 principally due to the readiness of the new junior high school at Petit Rocher which is now under construction.

It is proposed that the number of secretaries in the schools be increased from 16.1 to 16.5 in line with the board's recommendation there be one secretary for every 30 teachers rather than for every 35 teachers. A reduction in the number of non-teaching periods at the secondary level is seen as one of the governing factors.

It is anticipated the board will be for 202.5 teachers at the elementary level from 209.6, 122.8 teachers at the intermediate level from 120.0 and 131.3 teachers at the secondary level from the present 101.3.

Budgeted for was an assistant supervisor of transportation to free the supervisor for closer scrutiny of the bus runs and of transportation in general. Also being sought is an assistant supervisor of maintenance who would be responsible for auxiliary conditions at the schools, the training of custodians and new techniques, the supervision of major repairs during peak periods and such duties.

It was noted the maintenance supervisor definitely needed more help since the district is now directly responsible for major repairs.

Another budget item of interest is provision for $1,320 for translation services at regular and special meetings. Simultaneous translation has been provided at district & school board meetings for several years now.

The session was a special meeting open to the public. There were 10 trustees present including the board's acting chairman, Basil Bourdeau. A number of board vacancies are to be filled.

APEC Urges Easing Of Gov't Restraints

Grave concern at the continuing high unemployment rates was expressed recently by the board of governors of the Atlantic Provinces Economic Council in its quarterly review of the Atlantic economy. The APEC governors said they were not optimistic over the prospects of economic improvement in the next few months.

In a suggestion to help overcome the present situation, APEC urges both the provincial and federal governments to begin easing their restraints on spending. The restraints imposed last year were part of the anti-inflation program. APEC says that government spending is a major factor in setting employment levels in this region and a slight relaxation of the restraints would have a positive stimulating effect on the economy of the Atlantic Provinces over the coming months. In taking this approach, APEC is quick to suggest that certain selected restraints should remain.

The recent announcement by the federal government that family allowance will again be indexed is an example of a positive approach. On the provincial side, increased expenditures on public works would be beneficial. The governors noted that a number of road and public building projects were delayed when the restraint program was implemented. These could now be brought forward. It would also be an appropriate time to announce further moves to de-centralize federal departments out of Ottawa and into the regions.

The APEC governors realize that inflationary forces are still present in some parts of the country and that a major expansionary program could reignite them. They point to the latest predictions of the Conference Board of Canada which forecast the real growth in gross national product for the next year at 4.5 per cent, a rise in the consumer price index of seven per cent, an average unemployment rate of 7.5 per cent and a fifteen per cent increase in corporate profits.

The governors say this rate of growth is not likely to occur in the Atlantic region which was already catching up to the rest of the country when the restraint program was imposed. Over the last year the region was hard hit by the recession from which the rest of the country has started to emerge. Neither national trends in recovery nor policies of restraint apply to this region.

APEC argues strongly that a careful examination of current restraints in parts of the economy where considerable slack exists could result in greater employment without fostering inflation.

School Paper Of Interest To All

The youngest newspaper on the streets of Bathurst these days is the B.H.S. Spectator, written by a group of high school students and published by The Northern Light.

Editors of the paper are Andrea Doucet and Gwen Dionne, and the two were a familiar sight around The Northern Light office since the beginning of the project. With help from the staff, and a lot of hard work, the girls, along with photographers, typists, columnists, etc., put together a first edition which would have made any publisher proud.

The November edition is in tabloid form, and contains a potpourri of information on sports, school functions, committees, student views, courses, teachers, etc.

It also features a poetry corner with contributions from budding BHS poets, an Ann Landers style "problems" corner, a "Dear Doctor" column and a variety of pictures from every aspect of school life.

At least three more editions of the Spectator, which is sponsored by Bathurst merchants, can be expected during the 1976-77 school year.

Try replacing 100 watt light bulbs with 60's, where possible, or 60 watt bulbs with 40's.

Fined For Infractions

Roland Michon of Caraquet appeared before Judge G. Bertrand on November 22 for sentencing of six charges of false statements concerning earnings for the purpose of drawing Unemployment Insurance benefits.

He pleaded guilty to the six charges and was fined $25 on each count for a total of $150 or, on default of payment, 15 days in jail.

Now that winter is coming on, the Red Cross Water Safety Service reminds you to make sure that the ice on ponds and lakes is at least four inches thick - that's ten centimetres - for safe skating. And stay away from stumps and logs which are imbedded in the ice. The ice is often weakened by shifting and expansion.

EVERYBODY LOVES A WINNER.

This year, Honda Civic became Canada's best selling small car.
No other car in the under 3000lb. category sold more. (Source: R.L. Polk, year to date, August, 1976).
Before committing to any other car, enjoy a look and a drive.

The secret of Honda Civic's success has been the value package: what you get for what you pay.

In a popular price, you get a completely equipped car able to hold its own under any road conditions you're likely to face. With front wheel drive, it will get you through winter better than most cars. Plus, you get some features that give Honda Civic a distinct advantage on the race for your car dollar.

Honda designers were pleased to create a different car totally.

Their assignment was to rethink how cars should be, with no preconceived notions of how the car would look or what equipment it ought to have.

By starting from scratch, Honda was able to reflect current conditions. Through innovative engineering, it made efficient use of materials and technology, to keep costs reasonable, and still be able to do all you ask of a car by incorporating the latest automotive features.

When Honda Civic reached the Canadian market, the value package was unbeatable.

The car magazines gave Honda Civic rave reviews.

"Once in each generation of new cars, an automobile appears that is so right for its time and application that it's a wonder all cars that follow aren't carved in its image. The Honda Civic is a revolution on wheels, and boy, does it work!" Motor Trend magazine said that.

"If you're a regular of R&T, you know that we like the Civic. It's a very appealing small package with heaps of good things that can be said about its peppy performance, lively handling, efficient utilization of space and overall art of getting the job done." Road and Track Buyer's Guide.

Car magazines are very hard to impress.

Honda Civic drivers are far more positive than Honda Civic ads.

The vast majority of Canadians who have bought Honda Cars, Subaru, Mazda, Datsun, Toyota, Volkswagen and VW Vans are happy members of society.

A Road and Track survey found that an amazing 96% of current owners would buy a second Honda Civic after living with their first. That figure was the highest of any car ever.

From those drivers, we gathered some of the reasons Honda Civic ads have only to be believed. In paragraphs of eloquence and enthusiasm. Comments such as Honda Civic's best sales people.

Honda Civic makes salespeople jobless.

Because Honda Cars is so completely equipped, you won't be forced into ordering options to bring the car up to our standards. Although you might want to spend some of your savings on personalizing your Honda Civic, as many owners successfully do.

Once you've taken a salesman for a Honda Civic test drive, you may find yourself wanting the car more than the deal is worth, a possible first in the annals of car sales.

For $671 Honda Civic owners have been a basic success.

You won't find any sweeping changes in the Honda Civic line for the coming year. Underneath the new colours is the same car that has proven its fundamental soundness.

Your nearby Honda Civic dealer will be delighted to point out the hundred of improvements when he takes you on a tour of a Sedan, Hatchback, Station Wagon or CVCC.

Even if you don't talk away in a Honda Civic, you're going to come out with a smile.

DIONNE ET BREGENT A BATHURST

BREGENT

DIONNE

La Société Culturelle Régionale Nepisiguit a le plaisir d'annoncer à tous les amateurs de belle musique la venue de Dionne et Brégent dans un spectacle de percussions et claviers électroniques. Ce spectacle sera offert le 6 décembre à 20h 30 (changement au programme).

C'est quasi une folie de tous les instants mais une folie sublime géniale, qui emprunte sa couleur et sa force à la musique éthérée de Dionne-Brégent.

Malgré la tentation d'établir un rapprochement avec des Pink Floyd, Mike Oldfield ou encore King Crimson, il faut admettre notre impuissance à catégoriser l'oeuvre des deux lauréats.

Il faut l'écouter, s'en imprégner pour comprendre à quel point elle est susceptible d'émouvoir les esprits les plus retifents. Un courant progressif contemporain qui se situe en marge de la mode "Pop", une musique visuelle qui emprunte à l'électronique ses accents les plus puissants. Elle défie l'imagination en laissant couler inlassablement des images, un peu à la façon d'un film futuriste dont elle serait le support auditif. Le rythme en est langoureux, lancinant, avec quelquefois une consonance vocale (Pauline Vaillancourt) qui tient du chant grégorien.

Leur spectacle sur scène est très certainement l'un des plus fascinants qui soit. Il faut l'avoir vu pour réaliser l'emprise que le duo exerce sur le sens. Le jeu des lumières, d'une splendeur difficilement comparable, le son tellement impalpable qu'il en devient quasi métaphysique, sont des atouts qui ne manquent pas d'envoûter et par là même d'amener imperceptiblement l'auditeur au sein d'un univers parsemé d'images et de couleurs.

Ils ont oeuvré parallèlement pendant plusieurs années avant cette rencontre de jan. 75 qui devait sceller leur association. Sans nul doute, leurs destinnées devaient un jour se croiser car Vincent Dionne et Michel-Georges Brégent, tout en ignorant l'existence l'un de l'autre, ne vivaient que pour un but commun: la musique.

Après avoir exploré de multiples domaines connexes, musique de théâtre, de film, de ballet, participation à des troupes, tournées à l'étranger, après s'être abreuvés aux mêmes sources et recherché plusieurs années durant l'âme-soeur-musicale, Dionne et Brégent, par le truchement d'un vidéo réalisé sur les musiciens d'improvisation au Québec, prennent soudainement conscience de leurs affinités. C'est alors qu'ils montent leur premier spectacle offert dans le cadre des Concerts-Midi de la PDA.

L'année qui suit, plusieurs réalisations prennent corps.

Enfin, les deux musiciens décident de confier à l'acétate quelquesunes de leurs compositions. Le 33 tours intitulé "Et le troisième Jour" comporte deux pièces magistrales dont l'une de même nom et la seconde appelée "l'Eveil du Lieu".

Retires From Law Practice

One of the North Shore's best-known barristers, J. Ludger Bernard, Dalhousie, has announced he will retire from his law practice at the end of November.

A member of a prominent Dalhousie family, Mr. Bernard was for many years the secretary-treasurer of the Restigouche County Council. When the council was abolished under new provincial legislation, Mr. Bernard went into private law practice, with offices on Adelaide Street.

During his years in Dalhousie, Mr. Bernard served on numerous occasions as returning officer in federal and provincial elections.

Mr. Bernard has also been active in many social and fraternal organizations in Dalhousie and is a past president of the Restigouche Barristers Society.

In his announcement, Mr. Bernard said he is turning his law practice over to his associate, Paul Hayes.

Sees NB Affiliation With Separate Quebec

Francophones in Northern New Brunswick will have no chance but to affiliate with Quebec once the province achieves its independence from the rest of Canada. An independent Quebec, says Michael Hache of Lamoque, appears inevitable.

Mr. Hache, deputy-mayor of that Gloucester community and a director on the Atlantic Provinces Chamber of Commerce, explained Nov. 18 it is his belief that Quebec will break away from the rest of Canada and that he personally couldn't visualize the Atlantic region remaining with Confederation.

One option open for the Atlantic provinces would be to form its own nation or union. However, such a union would hold grave misgivings for the future of Acadians specifically as the larger, predominantly French sectors in the province's northern region, north of an imaginary east-west line from Miscou to the Madawaska region.

If Acadians are to survive as a people, he said, then they must begin seriously thinking about affiliation with the new Quebec regime if and when independence is achieved.

Mr. Hache also noted he firmly believed that Quebec could be enticed into accepting the idea since the government would gain greater territory and strength in affiliation with New Brunswick's northern region. Though speaking mainly of the northeastern region, Mr. Hache also noted he felt the idea would be equally adopted in the northwestern portion of the province as well.

Emphasizing the economical question, he said: "I am a New Brunswicker. I love this province, but if I want to maintain French..."

There would be no future for Acadians within the context of a union of Atlantic governments, explained Mr. Hache. It would be far more advantageous to go with Quebec and keep both language and culture. There no reason why New Brunswick and could losing it all.

The province's northeastern region is presently receiving financial support through a federal-provincial agreement, but since out of Confederation, the regions and its population could no longer count on any assistance in its development.

In a separate statement carried in the Evangeline, the only French-language daily newspaper published in New Brunswick, Mr. Hache commented that the northeastern population "might not" be better off if it joined Quebec, but that it certainly would be in worse shape if it opted to remain with the rest of Canada. The same could be said, he added in opting to remain with the Atlantic provinces joined in a separate union. Preliminary work had already been done on the idea of forming a Maritime Provinces' Union, though studies and discussions haven't progressed to any considerable degree, he noted.

The Atlantic provinces has a combined population of about two million residents, of which approximately 225,000 are planters and the largest concentration found in the province's northern region. However, Quebec is a richer province and made up almost entirely of French-language residents. The transition from part of New Brunswick to becoming a part of Quebec wouldn't be impossible-even though problems will be numerous. He conceded the fact that a union of Atlantic provinces very probably would light such annexing of territories simply because the region offers vast riches in natural resources though still undeveloped. But where the Francophone population is concerned the region would be much better off as a corner of Quebec than as a corner of the Atlantic provinces since the people could maintain their rights as Francophones and as Acadians, he reiterated. However, Mr. Hache cautioned the idea was still a suggestion, the result of speculation on the total independence question for Quebec. The Francophones themselves will have to make the final decision as to their

Premier Backs Safety Program

Premier Richard Hatfield says "a genuine concern for others" is the most important ingredient in any formula for highway safety.

The premier makes the statement today in support of the Canada Safety Council's Safe Driving Week Dec. 1-7.

Mr. Hatfield commended the safety council for its annual campaign, saying statistics show that the campaign not only prevents accidents and injuries but more significantly it helps save lives. "Last year, the premier pointed out, 45 fewer lives were lost during Safe Driving Week as compared to average weekly highway fatalities.

Premier Hatfield says there is nothing mysterious about safe driving. "It is a little more than driving with a genuine concern for others. It is the practice of good citizenship," he added.

The premier said he believes New Brunswick is playing an important part in the promotion of safe driving through campaigns designed to encourage a greater awareness of the need for highway safety.

He pointed out that for several years now the province has sponsored extensive media awareness campaigns designed to underscore the dangers of impaired driving, the failure to employ safety belts and the consequences of inattentive driving.

"It is in a spirit of cooperation that I heartily support Safe Driving Week and consider it important and vital work by the Canada Safety Council," the premier concluded.

Mother Dies At Harvey Station

The death of Mrs. Mary McSheffrey occurred Nov. 19 at the Swan's Haven nursing home, Harvey Station, following a long illness. She was 84.

Born at Kinnear's, Victoria County, she was a daughter of the late William and Jessie (Smith) Patterson.

She was predeceased by her husband, John McSheffrey, in 1949. She was the last surviving member of her immediate family.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Alton Carey (Jackie) of Harvey Station and Mrs. Glendon Hathaway (Gerry) of Bathurst; five grandchildren and six great-grandchildren and numerous nephews and nieces.

Mrs. McSheffrey rested at Swan's Funeral Home, Harvey Station.

The funeral was held at the Church of the Immaculate Conception in Cork, N.B. Nov. 22. The celebrant was Rev. George Riley. The lesson was read by a granddaughter, Mrs. Daniel Large (Anne).

The pallbearers were Michael Hathaway, Murray Branch, Daniel Large and Ronald Carey.

Interment was in the parish cemetery of St. Thomas Aquinas Church, Plaster Rock.

Attending from Bathurst were Mr. and Mrs. Glendon Hathaway, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hathaway, Mr. and Mrs. Murray Branch, Miss Marilyn Hathaway and Charles Hachey.

There still remain a great number of questions that will have to be answered, he concluded.

The compact with Dodgeability to satisfy big car drivers.

In one short year, Dodge Aspen has made it. From beginner to winner. Which leads us to believe that it precisely meets Canadian need for the compact car plus. Compact in exterior dimensions by all means—trim, easy to park. But inside big. On comfort and ride Dodge Aspen is what we promised from the very start: the compact for big car drivers. When you test-drive Aspen, here are some of the things to look for.

Comfortability. Start with the vital statistics. Dodge Aspen has more leg room and head room than most full-size North American cars. For '77 we've even added more rear knee and leg room in Coupe models. Add in European driving position—a little higher, more upright—really puts you on top of things. Big wide-opening doors. And quiet. For a car its size, remarkably comfortable.

Rideability. Talk to any Aspen owner about ride. You'll hear "smooth," "very quiet," "just like a big car." All absolutely correct. As a test-driver will prove to you. From the engineering viewpoint, Aspen's transverse-bar front suspension is something of a masterpiece. Certainly a cut above what you'd expect in a compact car.

Optionability. Pretty well anything you can order on a big car is yours for the asking on Aspen. From air conditioning to AM-FM stereo, power door locks, automatic speed control—and a brand new T-bar roof on coupes with removable panels you stow away in the trunk.

Model availability. Dodge Aspen comes just about any way you want it, in three levels of luxury: Aspen, Aspen Custom and Aspen Special Edition. And in 3 body styles: 2-door Coupe, 4-door family Sedan and the very popular 4-door Station Wagon. The Aspen wagon, interestingly enough, has 90% of the weight capacity of a full-size wagon—no wonder it's popular.

Affordability. You'd be justified in thinking this much car could end up costing a lot, right? Wrong. Compare the basic Aspen 2-door Coupe with any car in its price class—you're in for a surprise. Compare our miles per gallon too. We're fully competitive. And for even greater economy, ask about Aspen's optional overdrive-4 transmission.

For '77, depend on Dodgeability.

How To Sell Your Old Car

By VINCENT EGAN
Business and Consumer Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

The winter is a notoriously bad time to try to sell your car.

That's especially true if yours is a sports car or a convertible. The are in peak demand in the spring.

Still, the boom in new-car sales has been spilling over, and demand for used cars is on the rise - with prices strengthening accordingly.

Besides, you may be in a position where it's necessary to sell your old clunker now.

In a newly published book, Auto Repair For Dummies (McGraw-Hill Ryerson Ltd.; 351 pages; $7.95 paperback), author Deanna Sclar suggests selling your car privately unless it needs fairly major work.

In that case, it would be better to trade it to a car dealer who could fix it up in his own shop.

"In general, selling the car privately is more lucrative - if you have the time and patience to sit through dozens of phone calls, answer silly questions, and wait while several prospective buyers kick your tires," says Mrs. Sclar.

But, she adds, if your car is on its last legs, "be reasonable and don't try to unload it on an unsuspecting stranger."

CLEAN IT UP

These are the author's key tips if you want to show your car to the best advantage, and get the best price for it:

Clean the inside of the car so that it will look loved. Wash the upholstery, vacuum-clean the carpeting, empty the ashtrays, and (most important) scrub the windows.

Wash the exterior of the car, again paying special attention to the windows.

Have your car waxed. A sparkling finish can increase its market value by $50.

Don't have your car painted. That will only cause people to assume that you are trying to cover up recent body work after a collision.

A badly worn foot-pedal cover or floor mat is a sure sign of high mileage, but a brand new pedal or mat will tell an alert buyer that the old ones must have worn through. So make the replacement a couple of weeks in advance, and let the new items become a bit scruffed, the author recommends.

WHEN NOT TO CLEAN

Apply the same strategy when it come to cleaning the engine.

"Many buyers consider a totally clean engine to be a cover-up for the fact that some mechanic opened the engine and found a terminal illness inside, then closed it up and eliminated the signs of his exploratory surgery by cleaning everywhere," she says.

Do clean up at least the dirtiest part of your engine. You can use an aersol can with engine degreaser. But cover up the distributor first, to protect it.

Those yukky deposits on the battery should be cleaned off with a tablespoon of baking soda in a cup of water.

If there's a big greasy spot on the undersurface of the hood, right over the air-cleaner, wipe it off before you show the car. It's a sure sign of a poorly functioning PCV valve or bad rings, says Mrs. Sclar, but is usually worse-looking than the condition that causes it.

Avoid major repairs or buying new tires, since they seldom increase the car's value enough to offset the cost.

But do have the car tuned so that a potential customer's test drive will be a "positive experience". An up-to-date service sticker on the door looks impressive.

If possible, have the receipts from past maintenance on hand to prove that the odometer is accurate and to illustrate your car's history of maintenance and repair.

Life In A Nursing Home Published In Book Form

Some time ago, The Northern Light published in a series of seven installments, an article entitled "Life In a Nursing Home" by Mrs. Georgiana May Johnson, mother of R. Douglas Johnson of Bathurst. The story has since been published in book form by Waico Print and Litho Ltd. of Chatham. Following is the book's foreword, written by Austin M. Clarke, M.D. who was instrumental in the establishment of the Drew Nursing Home and who is also a brother of Miss Edith M. Clarke, a resident of the home.

"Life In a Nursing Home" was written by Mrs. Georgiana Johnson, a resident for more than seven years in the Drew Nursing Home at Sackville, New Brunswick. This first hand experience of the author warrants special significance and authority to her observations and comments.

Within recent years considerable planning has been directed to programs for community care of the aged. The variety of living patterns is too great to be listed here. Each aged person or married couple should have an assessment to determine the best personal program. Too often the elderly do not get sufficient supervision and help. Too often they are terribly lonely. People who distribute meals on wheels frequently comment on the gratitude of the elderly for the food, tempered with the yearning, "I wish you could stay and talk with me."

Nursing homes are supreme in providing supervision, nursing care, social activities, and rehabilitation programs for the elderly with physical or mild mental disabilities. I am delighted that a resident of Mrs. Johnson's abilities has written with insight and gratitude about her "Life In a Nursing Home."

"Life In a Nursing Home" is not intended to be a chronological document, document, but rather the reminiscences that popped into the author's mind from day to day. Indeed, the informality adds extra charm to her literary efforts. Nevertheless the article provides a concise valuable history of the establishment, organization, development and operation of the United Church Home for Senior Citizens, including the Drew Nursing Home.

It would have been a simple matter to have a ghost writer to record Mrs. Johnson's memoirs, but the personal magnetism of the author would have been lost. Mrs. Johnson wrote in laborious longhand. Only the usual editing was done, while a concerted effort was made to avoid interfering with her style. As Mrs. Johnson explains in the "Life In a Nursing Home", her handwriting was transcribed to a more legible longhand by my sister Miss Edith M. Clarke, who thereby became the "Scribe". If "Life In a Nursing Home" is read aloud it sounds with Mrs. Johnson, with one exception. The section entitled 'Lower Floor - New Wing' sounds like Miss Edith M. Clarke who wrote it. The old aphorism "The style is the man" is equally applicable to the woman'.

Mrs. Johnson has written her biography in her "Life In A Parsonage" and "Life In a Nursing Home". I wish to add only one interesting item extracted from an article by Douglas How in the July 1976 edition of Readers Digest, entitled "King George III's Loyal Americans". Douglas How describes a young mother, an infant in her arms, climbing a hill to watch the departure of ships that had brought the United Empire Loyalists from New York to Saint John, N.B., in May 1973. The young mother wrote "Such a lonely feeling came over me. Although I did not shed a tear through all the war, I sat down on the damp moss with my baby in my lap and cried."

Towards the end of the article Douglas How explains that if the distraught mother could return to Saint John in the summer of 1976, she would see a Loyalists Days' re-enactment of the landing she knew. She would find the Old Loyalist Burial Ground. The article ends as follows:

"Across Kings Square she would see something that would touch her even more: a monument to Sir Leonard Tilly, one of Canada's Fathers of Confederation. He was her grand-

What's the price of cushions got to do with banking?

There's nothing like having a cushion or surplus in your Personal Chequing Account to take care of unexpected emergencies or opportunities—but at what price? After all, PCAs don't pay interest. But TD does the next best thing.

No-charge chequing

For those times that your monthly statement shows a constant cushion of $200 (or more) throughout a whole statement period, TD cancels all chequing charges for that period . . . automatically!

So if you write a fair number of cheques No-Charge Chequing could be good value. Ask about it at your nearest TD branch.

TD Personal Chequing Account statement periods cover four or five weeks. On the last day of each period the statements are checked to see if No-Charge Chequing applies. No-Charge Chequing includes all TD PCAs except TD Personal Service Plan which has a flat monthly fee.

The First Regional Development Seminar and Mini Camps was held November 5th, 6th and 7th, 1976. The clubs participating included Bathurst, Beresford, Dalhousie and Campbellton.

The Administrative portion of the Seminar was held at Beresford on Friday evening at 7:30, with delegates from each club in attendance. Also attending the meeting was Trisha Allen, Technical Director, N.B. Figure Skating, Betty Bourne, Zone Co-Ordinator was chairman.

Many topics were discussed, such as: the responsibilities of the Club executives and their different committees; making the best use of ice time; skating equipment; music equipment; the necessity of Centralized Test days for the area and the importance of skater development. The delegates were very enthusiastic and the Campbellton and Dalhousie Figure Skating Clubs indicated that they would make a concerted effort to co-host a Centralized test day sometime in January. It is of great importance to this Northern Region to have such a test day, thereby cutting down of the expense of having to send our skaters to the Southern part of the Province to be tested.

Enthusiasm was shown by all the delegates to make this type of get together an annual event, as it is so important in improving communication and experiencing group participation.

The second day of the Seminar was dedicated to Judges and Judges training. A good percentage of the current as well as new judges were in attendance, and were familiarized with the new format of Judges training. This Seminar was geared to the low level tests. The off-ice lectures were given by Betty Bourne and Trisha Allen. Demonstrations were used for the on-ice portion, giving the judges an opportunity to see what the tests look like, and what they should be looking for in a pairs or a dance. It was encouraging to see the interest shown by those in attendance.

The third and final day of the Seminar was devoted to the skaters. Three skaters from each of the clubs mentioned earlier were chosen to attend this Mini Camp, and all were in attendance. The Mini Camp got underway Sunday morning at 9:00 a.m. in the Dalhousie Civic Centre with two officiating Instructors from the Dalhousie Figure Skating Club. The skaters were put through an vigorous physical exercise program, and since physical fitness is so important in a skater, they were encouraged to continue this conditioning program at home. They received instruction in Compulsory Figures, free style skating and spin grooming. The two-hour training began at 9:00 a.m. and continued through until 4:30 p.m. with a few 10-minute breaks in between. The skaters were very attentive and showed by their interest and desire that all were excited at the opportunity to learn. Instructors on video tape equipment filmed the skaters. This gave them an idea of what they were doing and what they would have to do to correct their mistakes.

The mini camp was truly a great success and hopefully will be continued in years to come.

Skating Club, Chatham Figure Skating Club.

NATAMAKA SETS RECORD

Last-Gasp Touchdown Gives Ottawa Grey Cup Victory

A 134-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Tom Clements to right end Tony Gabriel with 30 seconds to play gave the underdog Ottawa Rough Riders a come-from-behind 23-20 victory over Saskatchewan Roughriders in the Grey Cup game Sunday.

The winning touchdown came just a minute after Saskatchewan, five-point favorites in the Canadian Football League final, had pulled up Clements on a third-down gamble at the one yard line, apparently killing the Eastern champions' last chance to overturn the Western Conference representatives.

But after Saskatchewan managed only one yards on two runs by Tom Campana, Ottawa quarterback Tom Clements hit Gabriel with the ball back at the Saskatchewan 30-yard line on first Macaritis's punt into the wind and completed the drive for the decisive TD.

The game was played in zero temperatures with a gusty 30-mile-an-hour wind that chilled a Grey Cup-record crowd of 53,180.

Ottawa, with the wind at its back, took a 10-0 lead in the first quarter on a 31-yard field goal by Gerry Organ and a 29-yard outbreak of a Macaritis punt by rookie Canadian Bill Hetzenauer. The punt return was a Cup record, beating the old mark of 86 set by Johnny Rodgers of Montreal Alouettes in their loss to Edmonton Eskimos in last year's game in Calgary.

Natamaka, 22-year-old grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar McLaren, 1061 Bridge Street, Bathurst, put on a brilliant performance with his record-breaking punt return. A quick burst of speed got him past the first wave of Saskatchewan tacklers and he moved toward the left sideline. He then defied the kicker, Bob Macaritis, out of the game with a cut to the inside which gave him a clear path to paydirt. He complemented the touchdown play by outrunning Lou Clare and Randy Grabosa the last twenty yards into the end zone.

Saskatchewan, led by quarterback Ron Lancaster, came back in the second quarter with a 32-year field goal by Macaritis and two touchdowns one on a 44-yard pass to wide receiver Steve Wascarak and the other on a 25-yard pass to tight end Bob Richardson who left tacklers strewn in his wake as he powered his way into the end zone.

That left the Westerners champions almost 27 - 10 at the half but they couldn't manage more than a field goal when they had the wind in the third quarter. Macaritis, who converted both Saskatchewan TDs, put them ahead 20 - 10 at 4:04 with a 21 yarder that just cleared the crossbar. But the gutsy EFC champions again pulled to within seven points, on a 40 yard field goal by Organ.

Ottawa, which had chosen to take the wind in the fourth quarter, made the score 20 - 18 on a 32 yard field goal by Organ at 7:32. Then gutsied Saskatchewan in its own end of the field for the remainder of the period, finally breaking through to score at 14:48.

The Ottawa march that just failed to score started from the East's 38 and consumed eight plays, including a 40-yard pass to Gabriel, the top Canadian in the CFL this year.

With the ball at the Saskatchewan 16, fullback Art Green rushed for two yards. Clements started the right end for seven to the one. Then, with 1:32 to play, Clements was inches short on this third-down quarterback sneak.

The happy Saskatchewan Roughriders took over at the one and there was 40 seconds left in the fourth quarter when Natamaka caught Macaritis's punt and ran it to the Saskatchewan 38.

Green ran for one yard, Clements passed to Gabriel for 39 and then hit Gabriel deep in the end zone over defensive back Ted Provost for the touchdown that brought Ottawa its first Grey Cup victory since 1969 when it beat Edmonton Eskimos 22 - 11.

Alpines Defeat Moncton Hawks

Bathurst Alpines avenged an earlier defeat in Moncton with a 4 - 2 decision over the Moncton Hawks here Sunday afternoon before a Kiddies Day crowd of close to 1,400 fans.

Veteran centre Paul Gauthier came through with a pair of goals to spark the NSHL leaders to their win over the Southeastern New Brunswick League team.

Kenny Roy and Brian Chamberlain triggered the other Bathurst goals while Bob Cormier and George Richard replied for the Hawks. After a scoreless first period, Bathurst outscored the Hawks 2 - 1 in third of the remaining periods.

Referee Alan Branch assessed a match penalty to Billy Loughery of the Hawks for high-sticking. Gheslain Tardiff of the Alpines late in the second period.

Gold & Silver To Bathurst Skaters

Six skaters represented the Bathurst Figure Skating Club at the 1976 New Brunswick Figure Skating Championships held in Newcastle-Chatham on November 19, 20 and 21.

Two hundred and six figure skaters from the Province participated in the Competition.

Representing Bathurst were Andrea Bourna - PeeWee Girls, Pauline Carrier and Grace Lee - Elementary Girls, Bruno Bertin - Juvenile Men, Lynn Bertin - Pre Novice Ladies and Cheryl Thurber - Juvenile Ladies. Lynn and Bruno also entered the Novice Pairs event. They received the Novice Pairs trophy and will represent New Brunswick at the Atlantic Canadian Divisional Skating Championships to be held on January 13, 14 and 15, 1977 at the Aitken University Centre in Fredericton.

Grace Lee, competing with twenty-two other skaters was second and received the silver medal for Elementary Girls. Bruno Bertin was silver medalist in the Juvenile Men's event.

Congratualtions to all those who participated. The Bathurst Figure Skating Club is proud of the excellent effort put furth by all the skaters.

BHS Lasers Whip Tommies

Bathurst High School Lasers made it four-in-a-row in New Brunswick Interscholastic League hockey last Tuesday when they stopped James M. Hill High Tommies 6 - 4 in Chatham.

The win gave the Lasers a three-point lead atop the league with their record of four wins and one loss.

Glen Melvin continued his hot scoring streak as he and Rick Coulombe paced the Bathurst attack each with a pair of goals. Tommy Kyle and Jimmy Savoie added the other goals for the winners.

Cam McCarter, Joe Carter, Jamie Watling and Greg MacDonald counted for the Tommies.

The loss dropped the Tommies into a second place tie with the Fredericton High Black Knts. Each team has a record of two wins, two losses and one draw.

More Money To Be Wasted

By STEWART MacLEOD
Ottawa Bureau
Thomson News Service

I guess anyone who is interested has already read what Auditor General J.J. Macdonell had to say about the outrageous sloppiness in government financial management.

But it didn't end there. It seems to me that the greatest single waste of money is in the government's response to Mr. Macdonell's recommendations.

And what was the response? To set up yet another royal commission, an enormously expensive undertaking that, in the light of the auditor-general's report, will be largely redundant. And it will ensure that no action will be taken on the government's financial management, or mismanagement, until 1978.

Here we have an auditor-general whose opinions are highly respected both inside and outside government who recruited the best 10 chartered accountants he could find to study government finances. For two years these unparalleled experts dug into all government books, examined the financial systems of every department and agency and decided over-all management was grossly inadequate.

And the group didn't stop there. The report contained all the recommendations which Mr. Macdonell felt were necessary to correct the situation, including the appointment of a new comptroller-general of Canada.

The auditor-general even worked out the chain of command so that public servants would still be accountable to ministers and the comptroller-general would report to the President of Treasury Board who, right now, happens to be Robert Andras.

LOSING CONTROL

The whole gist of Mr. Macdonell's report was that the government has or is close to losing effective control of the public purse.

It seems to me there must be immediate action.

There was immediate action alright, but not the type Mr. Macdonell had in mind. What Mr. Andras did immediately was announce the appointment of a four-man royal commission, headed by Allen Thomas Lambert, 65, chairman of the Toronto-Dominion Bank.

The commissioners will be expected to complete their studies by the end of 1977, and in the meantime they will each collect $250 a day for their efforts.

They should be able to make do on that as they decide whether the government is wasting money.

Mr. Andras stoutly denied any suggestions that the government was merely stalling for time. He said there are highly important questions about accountability to be answered before Mr. Macdonell's recommendations could be implemented. It had to be decided, for instance, whether deputy ministers, instead of ministers, should be responsible directly to Parliament for financial administration and there was also the question of whether the proposed comptroller-general should report to Parliament.

IT'S ALL IN REPORT

Mr. Macdonell, who had discussed these points when he appeared before a Commons committee last year, was obviously aware of differences of opinion, and he made firm recommendations relating to accountability. In fact, most of his recommendations were firm.

In the circumstances, you would think the government would attach royal commission status to the auditor-general's report. In fact, very few royal commissions can recruit 30 outstanding chartered accountants for any study.

An enormous amount of research went into the report as the accountants revealed horror stories of waste and inefficiency. And I guess my favorite one this year is about the Canadian International Development Agency spending a total of $800,000 on a fisheries training vessel which was rejected by Columbia for her "unstability and unsuitability."

And that wasn't a bad one about the government renting property at $240,000 a year while the previous tenant had vacated it on $40,000.

Similar wastes are cited in every auditor-general's report, but this time Mr. Macdonell proposed a solution. And if the government felt there were still unanswered questions, why didn't it ask the auditor-general to produce a supplementary report?

But no, all that research now is to be duplicated by a royal commission.

I only hope that when Mr. Macdonell gets around to writing his 1977 report he will take a good close look at the cost of this royal commission.

LIVE IN PEACE

The millenium really will have arrived when people everywhere learn to do two things at a time - forgive and forget.

More Labour Input Suggested By NBFL

Increased labour representation on government boards and positive action following government sponsored public hearings and studies were recommended by the New Brunswick Federation of Labour today (Wednesday) as part of its annual submission to government.

With respect to hearings on impending legislation or issues of public concern, the federation expressed concern that "more and more the time and effort expended by all interested organizations ... is proving to be a wasted effort."

"Impending legislation often does not become effective and the matter at hand is seemingly studied to death or shelved indefinitely," said the NBFL brief. Examples of government inaction, it suggested, include: The Residential Tenancies Act, no-fault auto insurance, public use of school facilities, non-incorporated areas study and conflict of interest study.

"Failing positive and early legislative action involving those recommendations agreed upon after extensive input, government funding of future studies or hearings would be open to serious question," claimed the federation.

The Federation also questioned the lack of labour representation on a number of "key" provincial boards including: N.B. Housing Corporation, N.B. Electric Power Commission, N.B. Development Corporation, N.B. Public Utilities Commission, and the N.B. Hospital Serviced Advisory Council.

"As a major consumer group and organization which affects and is vitally interested in the economic and social well-being of our province, we feel that our active participation on these boards would prove beneficial for all New Brunswickers", noted the federation submission.

Canadian Climate Anti-Technological?

By C.T. BISHELL

Technology, the systematic application of scientific procedures to the exploitation of nature for man's material benefit—has usually gone hand in hand with nationalism.

Our experiences with both are examined in Nationalism, Technology And The Future of Canada (Macmillan: 188 pages: $6.95), a collection of six essays, edited by Wallace Gagne.

Our experiences with both are examined in Nationalism, Technology And the Future of Canada (Macmillan: 188 Pages: $6.95), a collection of six essays, edited by Wallace Gagne.

The industrialized nations were the most conscious of their power, most deeply sensitive to their territorial imperatives, and most eager to defend their honor and their resources against any external threat.

The political and economic stance was accompanied by a cultural assertion, which could be anything from a lyrical rejoicing in the natural beauties of the country to chauvinistic breast-thumping.

The nationalism of the underdeveloped country could not, of course, draw strength from a developed technology, but it could and did conceive its future glory in technological terms—more tractors, more factories, more tanks.

Nationalism, both in the developed and underdeveloped countries, was strongly on the side of the unitary state. Strong regional developments obscured the nationalist vision, and federated states were shaky structures.

NEW NATIONALISM

Canada is a developed country that has never been easy with a nationalism based on technology and centralization. Indeed, as Stephen Clarkson argues convincingly in his essay, Canada has had a climate unfavourable to nationalism.

We have preferred the less exacting climate of imperialistic colony or international second-hop.

But recently a new brand of nationalism has appeared in Canada, of which George Grant, the McMaster university philosopher, is the prophet. It is deeply anti-technological and anti-continentalist.

It is conservative and traditional in the sense of being aware and proud of our European heritage, and it sees in the United States the triumphant but ultimately soul-destroying fusion of technology and nationalism.

The conservative doctrine is expounded in the first three essays—in Wallace Gagne's Technology And Canadian Politics, Howard Adler's nationalism And Communitarianism, and John T. Woods' A Cultural Approach To Canadian Independence.

Gagne and Woods are native Westerners, who teach at Western universities. It is, I think, a refreshing sign that anti-technological ideas should be embraced in the West, which has often appeared as a society unduly sensitive to its technological inferiority.

The anti-technological point of view is accompanied in all three writers by an emphasis on communitarianism, on the "intelligent community," dedicated to "a cooperative, interdependent life," conscious of historic continuity, and expressing itself in "ethnicity, religion, and trade unions."

In such a communitarian state the central government will decline in power; it will play the role of a catalyst, "helping to co-ordinate the activities of the different regions."

CHANGING UNIONS

Two essays look at specific problems in terms of developing technology.

Paul Phillips in Canadian Labour And The New Industrial State argues that the industrial state, far from eliminating trade unions as Galbraith maintains, will create a new class of professionalized white-collar trade unionists.

Presumably they will bring fresh intelligence to this movement, and reduce the dependence on American unions.

In this way, then, trade unions support the new anti-technological, anti-American nationalism.

Edward Chester in Industrialization, Technology And Contemporary French-Canadian Nationalism, finds that French Canada fits into this anti-technological pattern.

It, too, has become suspicious of technology, and sees "the need for a unitary state as a repressive tool to deal properly with the technological challenge of our time."

CENTRAL POWER

The argument of the book, never specifically stated but consistently implied, is that Canada's future welfare lies in the direction of a group of communities loosely united by a central state with minimum powers.

It is an attractive concept, especially if one is sympathetic to the anti-technological bias of the writers.

But the thought constantly arises that in Canada "community" means "province" and that the province is just as technologically oriented and just as aggressive as the central state.

What we might have in the communitarian "utopia" is a group of small, technology-hungry, nationalistic states instead of one mildly nationalistic country.

Despite my doubts about the validity of the central theme, I believe that this book makes a genuine contribution to the great Canadian debate about who we are and where we are going.

The essayists deal in ideas and not in the congealed abstractions of their disciplines. For the most part they write clearly and effectively, with occasional touches of fervor.

For too long Canadian academics have concentrated on talking to each other. A book like this demonstrates that they could also talk to a wider and more influential audience.

Dr. Bissell is the former president of the University of Toronto.

Comeau, formerly of Bathurst. Dearly loved father of Michael, Johnny and Sandra, and beloved brother of Dan, Betty, Kathleen, Ileen and Charlie. French Course To Be Assessed

Mrs. Ida McAleenan, a teacher of French and English at South Bathurst School, and John Fournier, second language supervisor for District No. 4, will present an assessment of the "Ici Jeunesse Canada" course for local French language teachers at the end of December.

Local teachers of French as a second language are aware that the new course is being piloted in the city, but are not familiar with its objectives and methodology. All will be interested in hearing the assessment as to the future of the course.

Mrs. McAleenan was in Toronto last summer for a three-day course offered by Prentice Hall of Canada on the new program. Since her return to school in September, she has been teaching the course in the Grade Three classroom.

The program hopes to develop speaking, reading and writing skills at this early age level. In addition to her classroom instruction, Mrs. McAleenan gave a half-day workshop on the course to eight teachers of French at Mary Gosnell School October 29.

One unit of the course was demonstrated, along with possible method of instruction that might be employed in the classroom. Mrs. McAleenan also used tapes and charts to emphasize her talk.

Marijuana Described As Most Harmful Drug

A scientist who has spent many years researching the effects of marijuana said recently that there is no drug, sold legally or easily available illegally, which is more harmful than marijuana.

Hardin B. Jones, professor of physiology and medical physics at the University of California at Berkeley, discussed the dangers of marijuana before the annual meeting of the Maine chiefs of police in Bangor. He said he considered marijuana even more dangerous than heroin or LSD.

Jones said the drug was dangerous because its active ingredient, THC, accumulates in the system, while other drugs, including heroin, do not. He said the poisoning of the system by THC is much like that caused by mercury.

Jones told the police officers that marijuana first paralyzes, then kills brain cells, which unlike other human cells, do not reproduce. He said it also affects division of other cells and can result in chromosome damage. In addition, Jones said THC works to prevent the electrochemical messages used in the brain as part of the nervous system.

Jones also said his studies showed that continued use of marijuana by males results in a loss of sex drive and suppressed levels of male hormones. Jones said that he has determined through observation that the male students he now interviews at Berkeley are not as masculine as students were a number of years ago when he was in school.

Jones said studies have shown that use of tobacco and alcohol, also dangerous drugs, do not lead to marijuana use, but that marijuana users often become heavy users of alcohol and tobacco.

He added that no one he had ever interviewed who used heroin had not used marijuana first and said that 40 per cent of the marijuana users try cocaine or heroin at some time.

Jones said that the brain never fully recovers from heavy marijuana use, although some recovery can be made after an abstinence of six months or longer. While users of alcohol are dangerous only while drunk, he said marijuana users are dangerous all the time because of the permanent effect of the drug.

Keith Cowan, a government consultant scientist from Prince Edward Island, also met with the police. He said that Canadian officials are concerned over Maine's weakened marijuana laws. possession of small amounts of the drug is now a misdemeanor in Maine and displayed several national magazines devoted to drug users which indicate that marijuana is legal in Maine.

Cowan said that this type of publicity makes many people try the drug. He said the law should stay firm as the same and condone legislators who voted to lower the penalties.

Cowan said, "If the law is weak, more people will use the drug. It's a dangerous drug and

Gov't To Share In Program Cost

Under a seven-month agreement signed in Fredericton Nov. 23 between the Department of Social Services and the New Brunswick Division of the Canadian Red Cross Society, senior citizens in nine provincial centres will be provided with a Friendly Visiting Service.

The Department of Social Services will provide financial assistance, estimated to cost $30,000 over the life of the agreement, on a fee-for-service basis to the provincial Red Cross Society which in turn will offer senior citizens a variety of services. These will range from regular visits for companionship to light housework, meal preparation and transportation to medical facilities.

The communities covered by visiting services in this first agreement will be Bathurst, Edmundston, Fredericton, Juniper, Moncton, Paquetville, Saint John, Tracadie and Woodstock.

Social Services Minister Les Hull, who signed today's agreement on behalf of the government, described it as "another milestone in the growing list of cooperative efforts between government and the voluntary sector that are designed to help our senior citizens."

Mr. Hull said the new program proves the thesis that government can often provide a better service through an indirect fee-for-service arrangement with provincial or community-based associations which have the specific experience and resource personnel to implement a service.

When the current agreement ends next March 31, it is estimated that Red Cross volunteers will have offered 9,300 hours of time to senior citizens in the communities covered in the agreement.

In addition to the services already mentioned, the visits will be used to help senior citizens with shopping, paying bills, reading and writing, light sewing and mending, grooming and hygiene, developing hobbies and referral to community or government services they may need.

The general goal of the Friendly Visiting Service, as outlined in the agreement, is to increase the independence and ability of seniors to remain within the community. This will be done by combatting loneliness and isolation, providing information about or referrals to government or community agencies and measuring the needs of socially underprivileged seniors.

To be eligible for visits under the program, senior citizens must fall with a range of general criteria established by the department and the Red Cross. That is, they must be 55 years of

Revival Of Fuller Brush

With his streamlined sample case, the Fuller Brush man is once again getting his foot very profitably inside the door, reports Conn Hughes in The Financial Post magazine.

In the course of investigating the financial turnaround of the Canadian Fuller Brush operation - which involved, among other things, becoming a Fuller Brush man for a day - Hughes found that the business is there for those who go out and get it.

But it hasn't always been this way. In 1974, Fuller Canada lost $1.25 million on sales of $8 million. Today, under the presidency of 32-year-old Leon Lapidus, who was brought up from the U.S. to help the ailing company, Fuller Canada is again making a profit - and will continue to do so, according to Lapidus, who adds, "We know housewives will buy our products door-to-door, we know a dealer knocking on doors will make an average sale of $6.50 every 4½ calls."

Fuller Canada's biggest problem is getting and keeping good dealers. Lapidus admits to a staggering annual turnover of more than 100 per cent. Despite this, Lapidus has financially rejuvenated the company. And this has been achieved by going back to basics.

He cut out the costly cosmetic line; the household products line was pared from 450 two years ago to 250 today. He fired and replaced most of the top people in the company and switched more than 100 section managers from salaries to 10 per cent commission on section sales. As a result of the latter, a largely new team came in at that level too.

Today, the sample case is lighter - partly because 90 per cent of the sales force is female - and each campaign is supported by a slick bilingual sales brochure.

age or older, be living alone without nearby friends or relatives or lonely and alienated despite the presence of relatives nearby, or without any form of transportation.

The day-to-day implementation and supervision of the terms of the agreement will be the responsibility of a full-time program director appointed by the Red Cross. In cooperation with the department's Senior Citizens' Bureau, the program director will also be responsible for program evaluation and a training program for volunteers.

The provincial Red Cross program director and the supervisor of the Senior Citizens' Bureau are expected to work closely on the implementation and financial administration of the new program.

Donations From Kappa Chapter

Kappa Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi members decided to make donations of $100 each to the Bathurst branches of the Canadian Association for the Mentally Retarded and the Multiple Sclerosis Society at the Nov. 24 meeting.

President Leona Martin called to order the meeting, held at the home of Aaron Deegans, with 11 members present.

It was reported the sewing machine had been purchased and will be donated to the Adult Workshop. The presentation will be made by Joan Nelson of the service committee.

A Christmas party will be held at the home of Gordon and Karen Estey on Dec. 21.

The new pledges listed the committees they would like to work on, and also drew for the names of their secret sisters.

The exchange of Christmas gifts will be held at the Dec. 15 meeting.

The inspiration was won by Lorne Martin.

The cultural program for the evening was given by Lynne Lee. For her program entitled Speech and the English Language, Mrs. Lee explained that human co-operation would be unbelievable without language.

Mrs. Lee said that experts are quite ignorant about the origins of language, but it is probable that speech evolved about the same time as toolmaking and the earliest forms of human co-operation.

The six theories about the origins of language were traced and explained to the group. The English language is a Germanic Language and a member of the Indo-European family of languages.

More than 250 million people speak English throughout the world said Mrs. Lee. The only language that is spoken by more people is Chinese.

The history of the English language can be broken up into three periods, namely: Old English, Middle English and Modern English. Mrs. Lee distributed several books for members to look through.

In a few words, Mrs. Lee summed up good speech by saying it is the proper use of the two parts of speech, voice and language, also how one forms our sounds and the kind of voice we use, the words we have at our command and their correct grammatical use.

Former Bathurst Woman On Television Sunday

A former Bathurst woman, Mrs. C. Donald King of Alberton, Prince Edward Island, who has been actively engaged for several years in her profitable hobby, batik art, will be seen on the CBC television program "Away Out" this Sunday, Dec. 5 at 12:15 p.m.

The 15-minute program, although not scheduled for Channel 4 viewing will be televised from the CBC's studio in Halifax. With the numerous changes noted of late, it possibly could be carried for local viewing. The whole 15 minutes will be devoted to Mrs. King and her work.

Both Geneva and Don King were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Jamieson. Mr. King, who is assistant superintendent of No. 1 District Schools in Prince Edward Island, was in the North Shore area on business the latter part of last week, and earlier during the current week, and he and Mrs. King combined business and pleasure.

While in the city, Mr. and Mrs. King renewed acquaintances with many friends at a dinner at the Armouries on Saturday, and again on Sunday evening at a special meeting of past grand knights of Council 1985 Knights of Columbus held at the Parish Hall, Douglas Avenue.

Mrs. King's interest in batik art began while the family lived in Africa, and continued during their several years in the Canadian North. Mrs. King later attended a university summer course in this craft. Another of her hobbies is weaving.

At the present time, Mrs. King is vice-president of the Craftsmen's Council of Prince Edward Island.

ANN LANDERS

Frustrated By Mis-handled Mail

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann: I received the following from the United States Post Office:

Dear Postal Customer:

Please accept our sincere apologies for this damage to your mail.

Although every effort is made to prevent incidents of this nature, occasionally damage will occur because of the great volume we handle and the mechanized equipment which must be utilized to assure fastest possible service.

We are constantly striving to improve our processing methods so that even a rare occurrence such as this can be eliminated.

Your mail is important to you and you have every right to expect it to be delivered in good condition. We hope this incident will not seriously inconvenience you.

Sincerely, Verl D. Kasun, SC Manager-Postmaster, Santa Rosa, Cal.

Nice? Well - what am I supposed to do about this mutilated, completely illegible letter from our son who left home five months ago?

We've been out of our minds with worry and now that we've heard from him we don't know what he wrote because we can't read it. What's worse, the return address is punched out by a machine and we can't write back. I am so frustrated and furious I could scream.

With the price of postage sky-high wouldn't you think they could do a better job with the mail? Please print this letter and suggest something to calm my nerves. I'm ready to explode.

Mother In a Rage

DEAR MOTHER: I feel for you, dear. What a rotten piece of luck! Why couldn't they have smuggled a piece of junk mail instead? Ever since automated equipment has taken over, when things go on the fritz they really mess up but good. (Before automation, PEOPLE made the mistakes.)

Let's hope every son who left home and wrote for the first time will see your letter and write again. It would be even better if every runaway son and daughter who hasn't written at all would do so now. Just think of how many happy hearts may result from your misfortune.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When I was mixing cake batter last evening, our 12-year-old daughter came into the kitchen and said, "Yummy."

I turned my back for a minute and she put her whole hand into the batter. I was angered by her piggishness and gave her a light tap on the wrist with the cake-tin. She yelled as if I had broken her arm. Her father came rushing into the kitchen and chewed me out for "battering" the child.

He said all kids love cake batter and I had no right to hit her. Now, of course, I'M a beast and SHE's a saint. Will you comment, please? No Monster, Just Normal

DEAR NORMAL: Sure all kids love cake batter, but a 12-year-old should know about spoons. A sudden "reminder" such as you administered was perfectly O.K. And if you didn't tell you to use a spoon next time you should have.

DEAR ANN: I'm trying to lose weight and need to know if certain facts are right or wrong. Are white, whole-wheat, and brown bread equally fattening? If the bread is toasted are there fewer calories? Are potatoes fattening? Hippy in Hamilton

DEAR HIP: One slice of white bread has 66 calories, whole wheat 57, dark brown 98. No difference in calorie count between toasted and untoasted bread. Potatoes are relatively non-fattening. It's what most people put ON the potatoes that adds the weight.

Tees—be a wise shopper at Xmas time

Christmas is fast approaching. Children everywhere are busy making lists for Santa and his helpers. Since most children ask Santa for toys, as Santa's helpers Moms and Dads should be on the lookout for safe and suitable toys.

A toy should amuse your child, keep his attention and stimulate his imagination. To make sure the toys you buy meet all these requirements, you may have to spend some time in their selection.

One of the most important things to remember is the toy should match the child's age and ability. Toys too complicated will only frustrate a child, while toys "too young" will quickly lose their fascination.

Toys should be rugged. Beware of extra "baubles". They quickly come off and get chewed, swallowed or lost.

Comparison shopping is a good idea. The price of a particular toy may vary from store to store. Or there may be a difference in quality between similar toys at a given price. The child may not be concerned about this, but parents should be.

For more information on shopping for children's toys, you can contact us at the above address.

Duplicate Bridge Results

Bathurst Duplicate Bridge Club sponsored a continental-wide charity game on Tues. Nov. 23 in the library of J. Gordon Chalmers School.

Proceeds from all of the 1976 games played in both Canada and the United States, using computer-dealt hands, are being donated towards arthritis research, in conjunction with the ACBL's motto for this year, "The cure for arthritis just could be in the cards."

Results are as follows:

North-South, 1st: Bob Baker and Don Betts; 2nd, Ken Warren and Aline Doucet; 3rd, Ray Porter, Mrs. Lauretta Wedge.

Above average: Bunny Wood and Nint Anderson (Newcastle) Mrs. Douglas Shirley and Mrs. Clifford Branch.

East-West, 1st: D. Dickinson and Jim Custer (Newcastle); 2nd, Pat and Theresa Underhill (Newcastle); 3rd, Dave Mitchell and Roger MacKenzie (Newcastle).

Above average: Grace Sturrs and Marg McBride; Peter and June Hare (Newcastle); Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Chiasson.

Attend U. S. Episcopal Conference On Renewal

Canon T. H. Drilles and Mrs. Drilles, Clifton, and the latter's brother and wife, Rev. T. W. and Mrs. Crowther, Moncton, were among the 40 Canadians who attended the National Episcopal Conference on Renewal, held at Louisville, Kentucky, Nov. 10 - 13.

Present as well was bishop H. L. Nutter of Fredericton.

The group of Canadians, 28 of whom were from New Brunswick, were included in the 600 at the conference. The clergymen and their wives and numerous lay people were guests at Galt House where all sessions took place.

Among the special conference speakers were the retired bishop of Coventry, England, Cuthbert Bardsley and Canon Michael Green Oxford, Eng., and the presiding United States Episcopal Bishop, Rev. John Allin.

Daily sessions were held morning, afternoons and evenings with the first commencing with communion at 8 a.m.

Following evening meetings, the delegates met in groups for discussion and assessment sessions with their respective bishops.

Leading daily sessions in singing were the "Father Folk", a music group from a community at Colorado Springs.

This year marked the first time wives of delegates were invited to attend the conference. It will be held at Jacksonville, Florida, in 1977.

Enroute to Louisville travelling by car the Drilles and Crowthers visited and toured several points of interest. Among these were Washington Cathedral and later Daytona Beach, Disneyland and the Cypress Gardens in Florida.

SOCIETE CULTURELLE RECEIVES CHARTER

La Societe Culturelle Regionale Nepisiguit received its official papers and seal which incorporated the group. The presentation of the Charter was made during an executive and board of directors' meeting November 28. From the left are: Zael Saulnier, secretary; Pierre Tremblay, solicitor; Jacques Ouellet, president; and Maryvonne Eddie, vice-president.

Party To Hold Spring Session

The Parti Acadien will call a special convention in the spring to decide the future direction of the party in regard to the separation of French New Brunswick from the rest of Canada.

Dr. Jean Pierre Lantaigne of Bathurst, who was re-elected president at the annual meeting in Robertville Sunday, said the party must choose one of four options to promote the Acadian areas of the province. He said it could seek an alliance with Quebec if that province should become independent, promote formation of a separate French province within New Brunswick, seek independence for French New Brunswick, or continue to act as a party to speak for Acadians within New Brunswick.

It was also decided that the spring convention would review the party's basic policy and decide if it would proceed in future as a socialist party, a nationalist party for New Brunswick Acadians or a combination of both.

Dr. Lantaigne said the party has been "in a period of drift" and has not been actively in the news during the past year.

He said the party executive had tried since the annual meeting in 1975 to research information to find practical policies which reflect the socialist views of its members.

Elected secretary of the party was Andre Blanchard and Bernice Pinet Hache was named treasurer.

Over 1000 Get Swine Flu Shots

Dr. V. Shury, district medical health officer, states that the clinic for vaccination against the swine and regular flu held in Bathurst November 26 was a tremendous success.

Over 300 people were immunized and it is regretted that some people had to be turned away. Dr. Shury states. He noted, however, that another clinic will be held in the city in the near future, at a date to be announced.

Clinics were also held in Caraquet and Chatham on Thursday, November 25 with large turnouts. In the former centre 150 persons reported, and in the latter 275 were treated.

To date over 1000 residents of Health Region 5 have received the vaccine injections.

Minister Will Meet Committee

Natural Resources Minister Roland Beudreau will meet with the Legislature's select committee on renewable resources Thursday to discuss the future of Brunswick Mills.

The committee is concerned with the province's proposal to buy the sawmill operation, and wants information on the proposed purchase price and the cost of necessary renovations to the property.

The select committee passed a resolution about three weeks ago asking the government to delay the purchase until the committee has fully investigated the proposition.

Artist's concept of handicraft-information centre

Plans Announced For Grande-Anse Project

Mayor Edmond E Landry of Grande-Anse, following a special meeting of the Village Council on Monday, November 22, has announced plans for the construction of a handicraft and tourist information centre in 1977

The building, a replica of an old lighthouse, will offer a special character since it is to be built identical to the Acadian Village building style. Construction is to begin immediately in order that the centre be ready for the 1977 tourist season

The council felt that adjacent regions to the Acadian Village, such as Grande-Anse, should be ready to welcome the thousands of tourists expected to visit the area in years to come. Furthermore, it was felt that local handicrafts should be encouraged as there is a high artistic potential in the area. This was evident during the village festival last summer when the fine work of local artists was displayed.

Work has already started to improve the appearance of the village with a few tourist attractions. Among these are a giant lobster trap and a 30 year-old barge which are part of a small park in the centre of the community. The arrangement of the park displays also points to the history of Grande-Anse as a typical fishing village, and some residents today still make their living from the sea.

The lighthouse, while designed to beautify the community, is also meant to be of benefit to the entire Acadian Peninsula. From its position at one of the main entrances to the peninsula, the lighthouse will serve as a guiding light to other tourist attractions in the region.

Mayor Landry stated that improvements to Grande-Anse and to Route 11 in particular, will continue for the benefit of citizens as well as prospective tourists.

we've got to work to stop this drug from having the same enormous effects of cigarettes and alcohol. They cause problems enough, why add to the problem?"

Cowan also said that a national group organized to legalize marijuana is heavily financed by Playboy magazine's publisher, Hugh Hefner, but he said hter were indications that organized crime was also funding the effort, though he said he had no proof of that.

Mrs Georgiana Johnson's mother was a sister of Sir Leonard. Hence Mrs Johnson is a great granddaughter of the crying young mother who landed with the United Empire Loyalists.

After I had read the manuscript of "Life In A Parsonage", Mrs Johnson quotes me as having written: "It is witty, whimsical and interesting and of historic value, and should be published". I repeat that opinion about "Life In a Nursing Home".

Conflict Of Interest Charge Gets Support

A possible conflict of interest brought about by having councillors sit on the Planning Advisory Committee was discussed at length at Monday's City Council meeting.

A motion was made to have three committee members, one of them a councillor, return for additional three-year terms, but Coun. Terry Lenihan wanted to know if it was proper for a councillor to be a committee member.

"This committee is an arm of council", he said. "Their regulations and guidelines are set by council, while council is ruled by the general development and growth of the city. We often overrule the committee because our functions differ radically.

"I don't feel it right for councillors to have to defend themselves. They can't be two persons, and it's a very risky position."

Coun. Robert Hodgins said he was sure that the three persons who were re-nominated had done their work in all sincerity, but stated there were others who are interested in helping with city planning and they should get an opportunity to do so.

A vote on the issue resulted in a 4-4 deadlock. In favour of re-nomination were Couns. Williamson, Lavoie, MacNeil and Soucoup while Couns. Murphy, Lenihan, Hodgins and McLaughlin were against. A ballot against was cast by Mayor John Duffy to break the tie.

Coun. Jim MacLaggan, who is a member of the planning advisory committee, was not present at the meeting.

It was then agreed that councillors would submit names to fill the vacancies at the next meeting, set for Dec. 20.

Council, in response to a request from W. J. Kent and Co. Ltd. that the downtown streets remain open to traffic during Hospitality Days, has decided to consult other downtown merchants to determine how others feel on the question before action is taken.

From the left are: Mary C. Arsenault, co-president student council; Msgr. Godin, Premier Hatfield, Mr. Poulet, Mr. Morrison, and Eleanor Hogan, co-president student council.

Painting An Emotional Outlet For Aspiring Bathurst Artist

"My idea of successful art work is that which touches in some way the person looking at it. People should experience an art work. In some cases, they may identify with the work or its meaning. But as long as they feel something in some way, then I feel I have somehow succeeded."

If this is her definition of success, then Lynn Doucet of Bathurst has already succeeded. Close to 30 of her art creations went on display at Nepisiguit Centennial Library Tuesday, Dec. 7, and will remain there until Dec. 16.

The works, created over the past three years, include pencil and ink, acrylics, water colors, etchings, charcoal and wood carvings, and the display is designed to give the 19-year-old artist some exposure before she enters the Nova Scotia College of Art and Design in Halifax in January.

Lynn became interested in drawing at the age of 13 and continued along this line by taking a course in art at Bathurst High School. She graduated from the college preparatory course, with some business education experience, in 1975 with very high marks, but decided to wait a year before furthering her education.

Since graduation, Lynn has worked in the crown prosecutor's office as a secretary and has been employed part-time for various other lawyers in the city. Lynn feels this year in the working world has matured her in many ways.

A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Doucet, 756 Thornton Avenue, Lynn lists baking, writing, canoeing and snowshoeing as other hobbies.

MEET THE CHIEF

Bathurst's new Police Chief W.D. (Dave) Camp is endeavoring to meet as many citizens as possible by visiting the various business establishments and organizations in the city.

For those who may not be reached in this manner, however, an "open house" period has been arranged in order to become acquainted with as many others as possible.

Accordingly, Police Chief Camp will be in the mayor's office on second floor at City Hall tomorrow, Thursday, December 9, from 2.00 to 4.00 and 7.00 to 9.00 p.m. He will welcome visits from the public and is looking forward to greeting a large percentage of the population.

WORTHY EFFORT

An ambitious public-spirited, inter-community group just formed in the Bathurst area is undoubtedly deserving of support and cooperation from all sources.

Known as the PBM Volunteer Fire Dept., it comprises Ernest Lavigne, Lee Nichol, Jr., Kenneth Gray, Omer David, Sydney Sealy, Norman Paul and Theodore David.

The aim of the committee is to raise funds to organize fire protection for the Pabineau Falls, Big River and Mines Road areas.

Future plans include construction of a fire hall, purchase of a fire truck and necessary fire equipment.

Donations will be greatly appreciated and volunteers are welcome. More information is available from Lee Nicol, Jr., Phone 548-4093.

Takeover In The Offing

The St. John Ambulance will phase out its involvement with ambulance service in May 1978, City Council learned Monday evening.

In a letter from Burton Colter, provincial commissioner of St. John Ambulance in N.B., council was informed that consideration of this matter should be made in time to prevent any interruption in service.

City Manager Pierre Marquis noted that other communities in the area had not wanted a changeover in service from the St. John Ambulance to the hospital, but would have no choice in the matter now. He said the city had earlier expressed satisfaction with the plan, and hoped a scheme would be worked out that was satisfactory to all.

Chamber Raps Lethargy Of Airport Commission

Concern over the inactivity of the Bathurst Airport Commission has prompted a letter to City Council by the local Chamber of Commerce.

In a letter from President John Hazen, the chamber noted the body had been "set up to protect and promote air transportation into the city and we cannot understand why more positive steps had not been taken by this political body during the present air crisis."

Coun. Doug Williamson, a member of the commission, noted officers had been elected, and the commission had held four or five meetings to date. President is Doug Annand while John McAloon is vice-president and Bill Comeau is secretary-treasurer.

While Coun. Jean Paul Lavoie agreed the commission had not accomplished much, he did not agree that it was a political body. "They will have an annual meeting and elect officers. However, the commission does need a public relations officer to let people know what is being done."

He suggested a letter be sent to the chamber explaining the purpose of the commission, proposing a meeting with the chamber if necessary, and correcting the misinterpretation of the commission as a political body.

"After all", said Coun. Lavoie, "such a body had to have its beginnings somewhere. It just happens to have been started by this council."

In other business, the city will arrange a meeting with the manager of Brunswick Mines, John Moerman, and division manager of Consolidated-Bathurst Ltd. (Woodlands), M.R. Cater, to discuss the need for a new road between Bathurst and the mineside.

Local Nursing Group Finds Report Unfair

Two news reports in the provincial daily press December 3 have prompted a statement from the Bathurst Registered Nurses' Staff Association.

One emanating from Fredericton read as follows in part: "The N.B. Nurses Collective Bargaining Council should tell provincial Treasury Board officials why it has rejected a conciliation board report in its entirety, Earl Evans, director of labor relations for the Treasury Board, said."

The other, released in St. Stephen, carried the following lead: "N.B. Health Minister G.W.N. Cockburn said he is disappointed that the nurses in the province have rejected a conciliation board report."

"The nurses voted last week by 77 percent to reject the report. This leaves them two options - strike or agree to binding arbitration, on which a poll will be conducted the week of December 22."

In reply, the local nursing group had the following to say Monday:

"Events wonders and the honorable minister is let down, but the nurses known why.

"The Bathurst Registered Nurses' Staff Assn. wish to make known their reasons for not accepting the Conciliation Board Report.

"In our opinion, L.M. Maclean, president of that Conciliation Board, did not act in good faith in his presentation of his report.

"Firstly, the report is negative from page one and all the way through. There is not a happy note or a pleasant aside on any page.

"Secondly, the report is grossly biased in favor of the employer. It is obvious that Mr. MacLean knows more about politics than he does about nursing.

"Following are some of the issues to which we take exception and for which we could not accept any part of this Conciliation Report.

MATERNITY LEAVE

Offer:

"That the classification and level of the nurse leaving to have a baby is retained for her but not the exact position which she held when she left to have the baby."

Nurses:

"The nurses feel that this is against all human rights and most discriminatory towards a group almost entirely made up of women. It is not a crime but a privilege to have a child and the nurse leaving to have a baby must be returned to her formerly held position after maternity leave."

Sick Leave:

Offer:

"Nurses presently receive 1½ days of earned sick leave per month accumulative to 18 days per year. The Conciliation Board recommends that each time a nurse is ill she should

CN Service On Way Out?

Information regarding the gradual phasing-out of Canadian National Railways services from the City of Bathurst and Gloucester County as a whole will be sought by City Council at the request of Local 598, Canadian Brotherhood of Rail Transport and General Workers.

In a letter from Joseph Corbin, president of the union local, read to council Monday night, concern was expressed for "drastic changes" in service being planned by CN.

Mr. Corbin pointed out that the telecommunications office will close Dec. 31, and told of talk that the Scotian runs from Montreal to Halifax will soon be eliminated. Along with this, the letter said a study is now being conducted by Canadian National towards cutting out the local carload centre and transferring it to Campbellton, meaning a loss of even more jobs.

The moves were described as "a further detriment to improving transportation and improving the unemployment situation", and council was asked for its consideration in the matter.

After being reassured by his fellow councillors that the proposed changes are not "pure speculation", Coun. Bob Hodgins moved that a letter be sent to CN's Atlantic division requesting information on the future of the carload centre and on all other points brought up in the letter.

Also in the field of transportation, the City of Bathurst has added its support to a resolution drafted by the Dalhousie Town Council demanding that immediate action be taken by the Canadian Transport Commission to bring air service back to the northern region of N.B. and to Bathurst.

NURSING SCHOOL OPENS WITH IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY

Using an authentic pair of surgical scissors to cut the traditional ribbon, Premier Richard Hatfield officially opened Ecole Infirmiere de Bathurst School of Nursing here Sunday afternoon.

Natural Resources Minister Roland Boudreau and Eugene McGinley, MLA, were also in attendance and joined the other guests on a tour of the modern, bright and well-appointed premises.

Located in Northeastern Institute of Technology (Community College) campus, the school is housed in a modern fully equipped complex, and has a total of 32 students enrolled in a two-year nursing program.

Introducing the premier to a large group of students, officials and members of the medical profession, Hubert Poulet, chairman of the school's board of directors, told his audience that this was the first non-integrated bilingual school in the province.

Premier Hatfield said the nursing school was unique to Canada. Speaking in the two official languages, he said that the environment allowed the French students to study in the language of their choice while enjoying the opportunity to learn English.

"English students," he said, "can also study in the language they prefer and can still live in a French milieu."

Msgr. Edgar Godin, called upon to bless the school, explained the importance of this ceremony saying "a blessing of a building at this earliest is a social commitment."

He explained that the staff and the students "work for the good of society and for the Kingdom of God."

Director of the school is Gemme Morrison. Ms. Morrison has had many years experience in the nursing profession, holding a degree in nursing science as well as in education.

Further, the establishment of the school has been something she and a number of others in the field of medicine have worked for for a number of years and "it is something Bathurst has needed for a long time," she said.

One of the most essential rooms in the school is the lab. Instructress Norma Poirier explained that much of the equipment was donated by the College de Bathurst before the complex became part of the community college.

The lab contains a series of simulated hospital rooms complete with exact plastic models of the human body.

Before students go into the hospitals to practice on the floors, they must have mastered the techniques they will be doing in the lab.

35 Years With City Fire Dept

Today, Wednesday, December 8, is an interesting milestone in the life of Bathurst Fire Chief Frank Brennan, as well as in the city's history.

This faithful and long term civic employee marks the 35th anniversary of his association with the Fire Department in which he has held his present executive post since 1971.

It was back in 1941, when he was only 19, that Frank first joined his father Leonard Brennan to form a public works team. There was no such thing then as a 40-hour week or overtime pay. They often worked around the clock but were paid only for an 8-hour day.

The Brennans, father and son, performed a multitude of duties too numerous to mention or perhaps even to remember. These included custody of the town hall, manning the fire truck, water and sewerage repairs and installations, etc.

Snow plowing, of course, was a principal part of their duties and they used simple, more or less home-made equipment hauled by a small tractor to keep the streets and sidewalks clear. There was no such thing as a heated cab in those days and they worked open to the weather. Also the workers were more severely and more in greater supply, it is recalled.

It was not unusual in those earlier days when subzero weather prevailed, to be confronted with 20 to 25 downspan.

Business establishments, households and hydrants were attended daily. Throwing mail to the down east boats and for this purpose the town crew and electric power company combined forces.

These are only a few memories Frank Brennan has of an era when overwork and a minimum of staff and equipment were the order of the day.

WINS AWARD FOR LARGEST DEER

Jack Furlotte, representing Labatt's Brewery Ltd., and Club President Harold Imough jointly presented the Schooner Award to member Wayne Malley, 1295 VanTassel St., for the largest deer bagged. It weighed 175 pounds.

The ceremony was one of the highlights of a general meeting of Bathurst Fish and Game Association held Tuesday night at the Grand Falls Lodge.

Minutes of the last general meeting were read by Mrs. Claudine Gauthier, acting recording secretary, and the treasury report was given by Raymond Audet. Sidney Sealy reported a membership of 121.

The lodge activity report was given by Ernest Roy, stating that the lodge and bar are open weekends to the members, and that a New Year's Eve dance and snowmobile party is planned. He also advised that anyone who wishes to sleep overnight at the lodge must bring their own sleeping bags and pillows. A buffet lunch will be served and tickets can be purchased at the lodge for $5.00 per couple.

John Labonneville reported that the Snowmobile Club an auxiliary project, be holding a race this Sunday Dec. 12 at 2:00 p.m. at the lodge site where conditions are perfect. Registration time is 11:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. and an excellent track and great traction is in readiness.

Mr. Labonneville stated that a group from the Edmundston Snowmobile Club will be coming down later this winter and the lodge facilities have been offered for an overnight stay.

He also announced that the Snowmobile Club will be holding a meeting Sunday December 12 at 2:00 p.m. at the lodge. All interested persons are urged to attend.

The Club has been negotiating with the Department of Natural Resources about groomed trails this year and reports the possibilities look good.

A letter was read from the N.B. Wildlife Federation President, expressing his concern about the campsites and pledging his support to this Branch's proposal.

A brief was read by Mr. Imough addressed to camp owners explaining what there is to be concerned about. It was agreed to accept this presentation and prepare a type of petition from it. The membership agreed to sign this document.

In other business, a letter from Consolidated-Bathurst was read explaining the reason for a gate across the power dam. Its contents were accepted and placed on file.

The meeting closed with the motion being accepted that this Branch prepare one resolution for the camp owners and another pertaining to Bill C-51, Gun Control.

Over 5000 Expected For C-B Campout Here

A first-ever Citizens' Band Campout, sponsored by the Bathurst Community Radio Service Club and scheduled for next July 1 to 3, is expected to bring some 5000 visitors to the city.

Coming from all parts of Canada and the United States, the delegates will be accommodated in an area adjacent to Hache's Motel in Nigadoo.

Theme of the program is "10-4 on the North Shore", and in charge of it are Elie Vienneau and Raymond C. Doucet. Associated with them as director of public relations is Kevin Harper, while Mrs. Elie Vienneau fills the post of treasurer.

The Bathurst Community Radio Service Club was formed at a meeting of interested CBS operators back in October 1972. Twelve persons were in attendance on that occasion and the first executive chosen consisted of Gerry Guignard, president, Leonard Chamberlain, vice-president, and Patrick Guignard, secretary-treasurer.

Membership at the moment stands at approximately 60 and the present executive is again headed by Gerry Guignard, with Thomas Babin as vice-president, Annette Boulay, secretary-treasurer, Elie Vienneau, past president, and Kevin Harper, chairman of public relations.

Purpose of the organization is to provide a community service to any person or group where this type of communications might be of help. Members donate their time and use their own radio equipment when needed or called upon. Some of them hold First Aid certificates and are qualified in search and rescue procedures.

Previously lodged by the club are the following organizations: Bathurst Boys and Girls' Club, Boy Scouts, Bass River Adult Workshop, Chaleur Handicapped Club, Red Cross, Bathurst Labor Day Committee, Miramichi Festival Commission, RCMP, City Police Force, Chaleur General Hospital, plus various search and rescue parties.

The club has executed two mobile units, one on Route 8 and the other on Route 11, while a third is located at Bathurst Arena. These units are designed to welcome C-Bers to the city and inform them of the channels mentioned here.

New Club Executive Is Chosen

The Chaleur Handicapped Sport and Recreation club held its annual meeting on December 2 at the Northeast Institute of Technology.

President Clarence Boutcher thanked the executive and all members who helped make 1978 a successful year.

In his annual report, the president mentioned there were the sports team had done in competitive games, with other teams from across the province in spite of the fact that they were without a basketball coach for part of the season. He pointed out swimming is held every month for members, and some were fortunate enough to be chosen to participate in the Olympic Games in Toronto.

He noted improved recreational activities under the able chairmanship of Thomas Chamberlain, including social evenings at the centre located at 100 St. George St., a maple sugar party in Allardville, organization of a bowling team and finalization of the Christmas Party.

Minutes of the meeting were taken by Lucie Roache in the absence of secretary Annie White.

Both annual financial statement, presented by treasurer Elsie Baldwin, showed a substantial balance.

Leonard Bryar, chairman of the nominating committee, then took the chair for the election of a new executive. Re-elected were Clarence Boutcarone, president, John Bullen, vice-president and Elsie Baldwin, treasurer. Lucie Roache was named to her first term as secretary.

Directors are Leonard Bryar, Thomas Chamberlain, Aurele Parker, Corinne Allain, Raymond Mazerolle, Lillian Caul, Rena Aube and Margaret Watson.

Mr Chamberlain was named chairman of recreation. Mr. Bryar will chair membership and Elsie Baldwin returns as chairman of the sick committee for another year.

Nurses:

This seems a case of give with one hand and take back with another. We feel that if a nurse has earned her 7½ days sick leave and has not had the time accumulated such time goes there is no reason to deduct her wages for those days sick. This treatment is only given to nurses and all other hospital employees suffer no such degradation or abuse.

Salary:

For the first four months without a contract, the nurses have been offered a $500 lump sum. This represents a raise of $125 per pay for these four months. 9 pay periods or a difference [illegible] per hour and after taxes about 2 cents per hour.

A two-year contract with the offer of a 9 percent raise on April 1, 1979 to carry nurses to April 1, 1980.

Nurses:

This offer is the most insulting to the nurses after Hon. Mr. Hatfield's statement about how nurses were patient and would be rewarded and restored to their historical position on the salary scale. This is actually ridiculous. A lump sum check of $500 with income tax removed represents a cheque of $400. Hardly a monetary reward or restoration.

The two-year contract also at this time is an insulting one as nurses are not that anxious to settle this dispute and start another. But nurses cannot accept a $500 lump sum cheque or $2,000 a year less than Nova Scotia nurses after the settlement of our present dispute and just 4 percent offered for the whole second year life of the contract. Be realistic, we are mostly women, but not mostly fools.

An aggressive realistic cost-of-living change, an adequate raise for 1979, and an 8 percent offer for April 1, 1980 would perhaps have tempted us but the present offer with three negatives.

That nurses be offered every 4th weekend off but every 3rd if the hospital can manage it.

That nurses be requested to work as many as nine consecutive days.

Nurses:

In the past year and a half the Hospital Services Division of Treasury Board has held workshops on staffing, hiring experts from as far away as California to help hospitals to give as many weekends as possible to all staff. It has been proven at the workshops that, giving staff nurses every second weekend off is not only feasible but also economical. Why then would the Board recommend every fourth and possibly every 3rd if the employer can do it.""

Working great long stretches of time serves only to drain and strain as anyone who has been required to work 7 or more straight days will know. So nursing wonders why the step back to medieval times in recommending that nurses be booked for nine consecutive days of work. Is this safe? Is this wise? How alert can this nurse be on her 8th and 9th day of work?

Statutory Holidays

"No overtime pay for working on statutory holidays but a day off in lieu of this holiday may be taken 30 days after the holiday."

Nurses.

"For more than 20 years it has been common practise in Bathurst and elsewhere that persons required to work on statutory holidays, e.g. Christmas Day, New Year's Day, etc. be compensated on a time and a half per hour basis on those special days. In some companies, Christmas Eve and New Year's Eve are compensated at double time and a half. Nurses are asking that those required to work be paid salary for those days at time and a half pay.

"There are many other points which are particular to hospital working situations in which the report is unfair to the nurses, but the major issues are outlined for Mr. Minister, for Mr. Evans and for the public, by the Bathurst Nurses."

35 YEARS

As arduous and demanding as the schedule may have been, the fire chief still views this hectic, early part of his career as happy, healthy and rewarding. He is looking forward to another 11 years of service until his retirement in what is considered a dream job by many youngsters but serious business as far as he and his colleagues are concerned.

The Northern Light joins many citizens and friends in extending congratulations and best wishes to Fire Chief Frank Brennan on this memorable occasion.

Store Workers Off The Job

Clerical staffs at both Dominion Stores in the city along with their counterparts in most other provincial centres did not report for work this morning.

There was no picketing but the workers sat in cars nearby.

A union spokesman who indicated the strike would be short-lived, said the action was to express dissatisfaction over a retroactive pay clause in a new labor agreement.

as employment is concerned, but Purdy is a school custodian and Melina is an accomplished seamstress, so they manage reasonably well under their own power.

Their newfound fortune is like manna from heaven, as it were, as such a substantial amount of money would be for anyone. It came on the fourth ticket drawn which netted $250,000 for the person holding the lucky number in Series A. They had the same numerals in Series B.

Melina has two brothers and a sister who are well-known residents of Bathurst. They are Paul and Rene Comeau, and Valerie, wife of Carl Dimitroff.

CHANGE OF PACE

Although she retired in September as local Legion secretary, Mrs. Aline Hobbs remained on until a replacement became available. She has now completely severed her connections, with Herman J. Gould Branch No. 18, however, and her duties have been taken over by Mrs. Erica Ward, widow of the Robert E. Ward.

Thus ends 25 years of devoted and dedicated service, often above and beyond the call of duty and Mrs. Hobbs will be greatly missed by the executive and membership of this large, active organization. Also by the other people who from time to time frequented the St. Peter Ave. headquarters.

Although originally from Bathurst, Mrs. Hobbs furthered her education at International Business College in Montreal and worked there for 13 years with the medical section of underwriting at Sun Life Insurance Co.

Returning to Bathurst, Mrs. Hobbs was for 8 years in the law office of the late G.C. Mersereau and following his death in 1952 assumed the post with the Legion she has held until now.

Used as she is to a rigid schedule, Mrs. Hobbs does not plan complete idleness during her retirement. She intends to offer those services common to a justice of the peace and commissioner of oaths for which she is also qualified.

City Bridge Council Topic

Bathurst City Council confused over the province's future plans for Nepisiguit River Bridge No. 1, has decided to request a meeting with the deputy minister of transportation so that he might clarify the situation.

The first communication to be read at Monday night's council meeting concerned the department's efforts to prolong the life of the present bridge, commonly known as the East Bathurst Bridge.

Deputy Minister E.G. Allen stated the bridge will be inspected in the spring and remedial work carried out if necessary. In the meantime, Mr. Allen suggested, council should enforce the "no trucks" regulation placed on the structure when the bypass opened.

Councillor Valmond Saulnier described the city's efforts to have the bridge replaced as a "frustless battle with government" and appealed to the citizens to take up the fight and make their concerns known to Fredericton and to their member of Parliament.

It was suggested that the Police Department be instructed to enforce the rules as requested, but Coun. Robert Hodgins pointed out the police are already doing all that is possible in that regard, stating a policeman had manned the Miramichi Bridge St. intersection for a good part of the summer months.

Councillors decided to make the police department aware of the government request.

However, a draft resolution dealt with later in the meeting concerning Routes 134 and 430 brought the matter to the force once again.

The transportation department had apparently proposed that Routes 134 and 430 (King Avenue-Mines Road) be joined via an extension through the Consolidated-Bathurst Ltd. yard. Council, rather than agree with the proposal which they felt was unsatisfactory, resolved to write a letter requesting further information about the rerouting.

Deputy Mayor Pat McLaughlin felt a letter would do no good. "He (the deputy minister) will send us a fancy map with fancy words, but no real information. Let's get him up here." Mr. McLaughlin then moved an amendment requesting Mr. Allen's presence at the first council meeting of the new year.

Coun. Terry Lenihan, however, felt the deputy minister would not be of much help in the matter "as the proposal is obviously an insane one, and we all know Mr. Allen is not responsible for it as he is not insane."

Coun. Hodgins agreed with the deputy mayor. "First he tells us to restrict traffic on the bridge, then he wants to make it part of a major highway. I think he should explain himself in person."

The draft resolution requesting more information in letter form was defeated, and the amendment was unanimously approved.

City Council Odds And Ends

(items from the Dec. 6 meeting)

-The city will apply for a stimulation grant to go towards the cost of water and sewer installation on Rough Waters Drive from Payne Crescent to the bypass, on Bridge Street from Manor Park to Roy Lane, including Little Brook Subdivision, and to install a water-main loop from St. Anne Street to Vanier Boulevard.

-A one-year program for improvements to provincially designated highways within the city limits will have as priorities the following: resealing of St. Peter Avenue from Tetegouche River to city limits; resealing Bridge Street from Joan of Arc Lane to the end of water and sewer installations; installation of storm drains on King Avenue from Demeresque Street to Basin Street; and traffic study in central business district from Miramichi Avenue to St. Peter Avenue.

-A LIP grant from the Department of Manpower and Immigration in the amount of $24,900, representing 147 man weeks, will be allocated to the maintenance and upkeep of six out-door rinks within the city.

-The city will no longer offer fire protection services to those areas located outside city limits with the present fire-fighting equipment and personnel.

-Design Workshop Ltd. of Montreal will prepare design plans for Coronation Park and Centennial Park at a cost not to exceed $10,000. Both the council and citizens are expected to have input into the plans.

-The City of Bathurst will not participate in the Labor Relations Bureau proposed by the Six Cities of New Brunswick Association, as the bureau will not provide a negotiator for talks with municipal unions.

-The City will purchase approximately 39.05 acres of land in the watershed area from J. Harper Kent for the total sum of $35,000.

-A letter will be sent to Acme Investments Ltd. and to Bathurst Shopping Centre Ltd. requesting the provision of an access lane for fire-fighting equipment and that such lane be kept free of vehicles at all times.

-The council will support supervisory personnel in their efforts to appeal the Anti-Inflation Board rollback of two per cent in salary.

-The section of Burns Drive between St. John St. and Munro will close to vehicular traffic upon commencement of construction of the RHS extension.

-Downtown Merchants Association was complimented on the appearance of streets in the city and on the addition of new decorations year after year.

-The Bathurst Festival Commission will be requested to submit its financial report by Dec. 20 if possible.

-The co-ordinator of Emergency Measures for the city, Lieutenant Col. C.C.L. Gammon will be asked to support a disaster plan to council by the end of December.

Mr. and Mrs. David Green who moved here from Thunder Bay, Ont., now are residing in their recently purchased home located at 610 University Drive. Mr. Green is employed as a mechanic for J. S. Redpath.

Xmas Radio Appeal Sunday Afternoon

The 21st Christmas Radio Appeal sponsored by the Bathurst Lions Club gets underway this Sunday Dec. 12, 1:30 p.m. to 4:00 p.m., according to Lion President James DeWolfe.

Lion DeWolfe said today that the appeal is designed to assist less fortunate persons especially children throughout the year, particularly at Christmas.

Mr. DeWolfe stated that all members of his club as well as many of their friends will be lending a hand on Sunday afternoon to attempt to raise the $5,000 objective. It is also an opportunity for listeners to enjoy the music and songs of Christmas time.

Listeners will be asked to phone in their pledge, dedication and hear their favorite Christmas music or song. An appropriate list of selections is shown elsewhere in today's newspaper.

King Lion DeWolfe appeals to all business and professional people and the general public to respond generously when the Lions take to the air waves on Sunday afternoon.

JAMES DEWOLFE

He also stresses the importance of all pledges being honored on Monday or Tuesday in order to permit effective distributions prior to Christmas. As in past years, the depot will be located in the Lounsbury Furniture Store, main floor on King Ave. from noon Monday, Dec. 13 to Friday, Dec. 17th, 9:00 a.m. daily.

Mr. DeWolfe also urges that house calls not be made as they prove a disappointment to everyone. The Christmas Radio Appeal Committee consists of Lions Eugene McGinley, Gary Dingee, Gary Frye, Phil Picot and Hal Winter, chairman.

Student Bill Hatanaka

SWEET SMELL OF SUCCESS NOW WITHIN SON'S GRASP

All indications are that 22-year old William Harry (Bill) Hatanaka, of the Ottawa Rough Riders, who made a name for himself in the recent Grey Cup Game, has a promising career in pro football.

It is ironic that his dad, William Harry (Bill) McLean, of Bathurst, at the same age had similar ambitions and a bright future in professional boxing. He was fouled by fate, however, and his life was snuffed out in an airplane crash back in 1954.

Hatanaka, a wide receiver from York University, Toronto, was drafted early in the Canadian College Draft. Although some consider him small (5'11 - 172 lbs) for professional football, he runs an honest 4.6 forty, with exceptional hands, speed and ability to run to daylight.

During his college career, Hatanaka drew considerable interest for his work on the kick off and punt return teams which earned him considerable praise in the scouting report. In 1975, he was considered the fastest player in Eastern Canada.

And, turning back the clock by 22 years, or to shortly before Bill the younger was born, the following quoted from The Toronto Star of April 9, 1954:

"Because a New Brunswick middleweight boxer stopped over in Toronto to watch Canadian heavyweight champion Earl Walls train for his forthcoming fight with Tommy Harrison, he died a fiery death over Moosejaw. Harry "Bill" McLean, of Bathurst, N.B., was heading west for Calgary and a crack at the Canadian middleweight crown.

"Billed as the Maritime middleweight champion, he did most of his fighting on the East Coast where he punched out some impressive victories. His professional record was 11 wins and 2 losses. Last week he knocked out Don Trainor at Charlottetown in the second round of a thrill-packed contest, he had been lined up for a championship bout with Canadian middleweight champion Doug Harper in Calgary, April 13.

"About a year ago, Bill McLean had a couple of bouts at Maple Leaf Gardens. He trained locally at the Bagnato Gym. Vic Bagnato thought the 22-year-old youngster had a great chance."

It's all history now and recalls sad memories for the members of the family still residing in Bathurst. They are pinning high hopes, however, on their grandson continuing to make sports page headlines.

Was Former City Resident

The death of Mrs. Basil Colpitts of 50 Park St., Moncton, occurred Dec. 3 at Moncton Hospital after being ill since the spring. She was 79.

Born in Moncton, she was the former Florence M. Gordon, daughter of the late Samuel and Lizzie (Jones) Gordon.

Mrs. Colpitts was the last surviving member of her immediate family. Her husband died in 1965, and a sister, Mrs. Henrietta Drummond, died in 1973.

Mrs. Colpitts resided for a number of years in Bathurst where she assisted her husband, a professional photographer.

A member of the Anglican Church, Mrs. Colpitts also belonged to St. George's Ladies Guild while in Bathurst.

Mrs. Colpitts rested at Cadman's Funeral Home where the funeral was held Sunday at 2:30 p.m. Interment was in Elmwood Cemetery.

Those present from Bathurst included Miss Ada Brown, Mrs. Hubert Good and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Carmichael. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Dodge, were among others who paid their respects at the funeral home on Saturday.

Sobering Thoughts

New Brunswick Federation of Labor head, Paul LePage, says a minimum wage of $4 an hour is only steps away. Those steps of course, may be giant ones, but the fact that a man with Mr. LePage's reputation for responsible thinking can make such a statement at such a time is a bit sobering.

For the province's work force, the idea of a $4-an-hour minimum wage is no doubt exciting. For many who labor in this province, the existing minimum wage is entirely inadequate for the maintenance of even a basic life style.

But that fact does not provide the answer in itself. For while workers need more and have undeniably been hardest hit by inflation, the declaration of a drastically higher minimum wage is not what the province needs to correct this major social imbalance.

What, in fact, this might accomplish would be the forcing to the wall of a number of small businesses, the final blow to the province's faltering tourism industry, and the coup de grace to the government's attempts to lure new enterprises to New Brunswick.

The work force of this province is both the culprit and victim in a rip-off that has been steadily eroding Canada's efficacy as an economic power for more than a decade. Productivity is dangerously low and wages are relatively high.

For many business concerns, the months ahead will mean cutbacks rather than expansion, layoffs rather than hiring.

What we've forgotten about as a nation is how to work, and what we're deliberately ignoring is that no matter what one does, more value must be given than received. Like it or not, that's the whole makeup of free enterprise, and like free enterprise or not, that's what we have.

It continues to provide wonderment that Canadians can witness the chaos in Britain, where wages simply overtook productivity, without realizing a parallel situation here.

Steadily, our concerns have been with more this year than last, and more next year than this. But countering this has not been more output, more dedication to our jobs - simply more for us.

Here in New Brunswick the work force has not necessarily been the most blatant offender; it appears other provinces have a lower level of productivity, at least in some areas. But it is here that economics have traditionally worked against the entire business community, not just the wage earner.

Returns on capital investment in New Brunswick lag behind the national average, and at this point the only big profits are being made by the really big operators.

Let's face it. This province is in debt and its people are in debt. The immediate future is bleak at best, while at worst, our regional fiscal situation could be said to be headed for hell in a handcart.

This is not the time to unilaterally raise all wages, no matter how fair that may seem to one segment of the population.

Given the confused mutterings of the economist and government experts, it's safe to say the Lord only knows what steps New Brunswick should take in the face of our current situation.

But a $4-an-hour minimum wage is most surely not one of the steps that makes much sense.

Uncontrolled Prices

Many of us can recall when a cent-a-quart increase in the price of milk occasioned elaborate hearings and, when granted, resulted in a shocked public outcry. So sacred to good health was milk known to be that its pricing was strictly regulated at several government levels.

Milk in Bathurst has jumped by four cents a quart and the event hardly rated notice. The average buyer can probably not remember what milk costs per quart or what it cost a year ago. He can only identify with the fact that milk is going up in price, has gone up and will continue to escalate like virtually everything else one needs and uses

The consumer of today may appear jaded and indifferent to his lot but, in truth, the condition can simply be defined as "battered." Increase upon increase has left the food buyer bewildered and convinced that life holds little but more price abuse and less for one's dollar.

As for milk, that most important of all food products, there appears no way to keep its price down and, indeed, the province's dairy farmers say their share of the price of milk is barely enough. Wages may be under control, but prices certainly are not, food prices in particular.

Metric Maze

Metric is getting us down.

We are fed up to the gills with hearing everything referred to the metric measurements, and we can't say with any degree of assurance that our feelings will change in the coming months and years.

When we hear a weather forecast, our feelings against metric are reinforced. Perhaps we're lazy, but we like to be able to relate in our mind how much rain or snow is expected, how fast the winds will be blowing or what exactly the next day or so holds.

Arguments advanced in favor of metrification of the country have dwelt on the use of metric in dealing with foreign countries.

How much of an effect on Canada's economy will changing the weather forecasts from the familiar measurments to metric have? How will it affect foreign relations?

We would venture to say, without too much fear of contradiction, that the country wouldn't fold up - at least any more than it seems to be doing at the present time.

The average Canadian is able to equate familiar measurements heard from any source with a visual picture of the resulting conditions. Can you do that with a system that states 2.54 something or others is equal to one inch?

Can you figure out how windy it will be if the forecast calls for gusts up to whatever they measure it in? Hearing that winds would reach 30 miles an hour gave a person a visual image of their severity, since most people are familiar with cars and speeds.

When we purchase gas for the car, we fill the tank. It doesn't make much difference if the tank holds 10 gallons or 12 gallons. the important part in that case is how much it's going to cost us, and the gas pump very accurately lets us know as we feed the nectar into the car. Why should the measurement be changed to litres, or whatever the fluid measurement is?

The Metric Commission seems very anxious to ram metrification down our throats. We were looking at a copy of a publication - some people might even call it a propaganda sheet - called Metric Monitor, which is published by the commission in Ottawa.

The paper is full of news on the switch to metric by various industries and provinces. There is no indication of the circulation, but considering the fact it is a government effort, we would imagine it to be widely distributed.

That paper, as with a number of government publications, is unsolicited. It isn't hard to understand escalating costs for the government, when one stops to think of the amount of paper generated from Ottawa.

Too bad governments at all levels weren't as interested in releasing information on all programs and endeavors as they are in promoting programs that the general public doesn't have a great interest in anyway.

Underground Commentator

Bathurst, N.B.
November 29, 1976

Please allow me a few lines to air a few comments to the public.

A few years back, we had a sulphur problem at the mines. After very much work by our Union and Safety Committee, we got the company to take some measures to build safety bulkheads to smother out the fire.

The company later invited the wives of the underground employees to go down to the mines. The idea being, that their husbands were complaining needlessly. So much for that episode.

Now, we have poor ventilation, dust and exhaust fumes.

Low and behold, they, the company, really reached down deep into the magic bag this time.

They cleaned, dusted, baited and screened and painted, a certain lower level at the mines. Then, they invited a large group of Bathurst doctors to tour that level. No doubt to show how our men are complaining for nothing again.

If one of our husbands goes to the doctor with a sore throat, or chest, etc., from dust or gas fumes, the doctor will then think, "That's funny, I visited the mines last week and I didn't see anything down there. It was as clean down there as a school playground".

Nice going again, Noranda!

Random Thoughts From Shippegan

Shippegan, N.B.
December 7, 1976

The French population of New Brunswick is much concerned with the result of the provincial election in the Province of Quebec. Some days ago all the mayors of towns and villages of Lower-Gloucester in their comments on the political situation even went as far as to advocate the possibilities of an annexation with the Province of Quebec in the event Quebec becomes independent and separates from the rest of the provinces. How this can be done one would wonder and why not as well advocate the annexation with the United States by joining the state of Maine for instance?

Shippegan is to become known as the most important fishing centre of Eastern New Brunswick as asked of the government by the Mayor of Shippegan Jean C. Chiasson. This turn of events is not very well received by La Chambre de Commerce by the members of Caraquet as always under their complex of superiority over the neighboring localities of the region.

It is a matter of fact that Shippegan has long been known as the most important fishing centre of Northeast New Brunswick. There are in Shippegan five companies and fish plants compared with only two or three in Caraquet. Over 90 fishing craft are attached to Shippegan seaport, compared with over 30 in Caraquet.

The port facilities in Shippegan are superior to Caraquet. The former has a natural harbor where vessels of all kinds are in perfect shelter any time against winds and storms and so far no steamer has broken its moorings and gone adrift to the shore.

Shippegan, regardless of what the members of La Chambre de Commerce of Caraquet may think, is and will be the most important fishing centre in the County of Gloucester and in Northeastern New Brunswick.

The Marine Museum is now underway, the town itself seems to be in good financial condition, always progressive according to history. Shippegan was the first incorporated village of the County of Gloucester in 1947, the first incorporated town in Lower Gloucester in 1957.

It was also Shippegan which originated the first fisheries festival in 1962, and also built the first arena in the County of Gloucester.

A Response To Jessica Ryan RN

Bathurst, N.B.
December 6, 1976

First of all, we must say there is nothing wrong with Jessica Ryan, R.N. speaking her mind. On the contrary, if more people today would do so, we might not be in the economic and cultural mess we are in now.

But we must point out right away that we completely disagree with her way of doing it. With All the education and experience she claims to have, we were very surprised to see her degrading some of her co-workers the way she did.

If education for her means stepping on somebody's head in order to improve her own situation, and with that type of attitude in mind, we wonder how she can perform so well all the tasks she described in her letter.

We strongly suggest that she start minding her own business, let the other groups negotiate their own contracts, and start putting as much effort into looking after herself as she has been putting into trying to run everybody else's affairs, and her problem will surely settle itself.

Good Program At Wrong Time

Bathurst, N.B.
December 7, 1976

(Following is a copy of a letter forwarded to CKCW-TV (ATV), Moncton.)

On Monday, December 6, I viewed on the A.T.V. Network, what was probably one of the best children's Christmas shows that has ever been seen on television.

The show, titled "Christmas Fantasy in Disneyland" had everything. There were Disney characters including Mickey Mouse, Goofy, Donald Duck and the Seven Dwarfs to name but a few. There was an enormous choir singing all the beautiful Christmas songs we've all come to know so well. And of course, there was Santa Claus.

Art Carny was great, as was Sandy Duncan, Glen Campbell and the rest of the cast.

But, unfortunately, there was someting missing. Where were all our children while the show was on? In bed, of course, isn't that where children are supposed to be between 10:00 and 11:00 o'clock at night?

This wonderful program should be re-telecast at a time when it can be seen by those who would appreciate it most.

FLASHBACK - SOMEWHERE OCCASION IN 1927

In the days of ornate, horse-drawn hearses, two vehicles were used, black for adults and white for children, and in the winter months hobsleds were substituted for wheels. Elliottes were also in business then as they had been for many years previously. The picture depicts one of their funerals almost 50 years ago. It was that of Austin, 2-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Landry (nee Ida Hall) who died early in their married life, occupied an upstairs apartment at the corner of Main and St. Patrick's. The same building remains intact, with an added section, and is still used for both residential and commercial purposes. Build by John Payne, a prominent businessman early in the century, it was acquired in more recent years by R. Assaff and Son Ltd. The structure is now owned by Mrs. Josephine (Assaff) Albert and is the present location of the Sandbar Restaurant.

Underprivileged Have Right To Basic Needs

While there are still many in our society who lack access to even the most commonly accepted daily needs, the field of social services, both from government and the voluntary sector is of great and ever increasing importance, Social Services Minister Leslie Hull said on a televised provincial affairs program last week.

"The aged, the child, the mentally retarded, the household head who through no fault of his own, cannot provide for his family, these people need our help," said Mr. Hull, "and in a wealthy and civilized society like ours, they have a right to expect it."

The growing complexities of modern society and the rising expectations as to what is right and just for the disadvantaged, has led to an increasing role for government, said the minister, and he outlined the highlights of his department's services.

"The department of social services has put its major emphasis and resources into providing financial assistance to those in need of the basic necessities of life, food, shelter and clothing," he said.

While nursing homes and special care are two of the largest departmental programs, and will continue so for a long time to come, said Mr. Hull, real efforts are being made to develop services for the family and the community.

"The government is not alone in this endeavour," he said, "but gratefully acknowledges and praises the work of voluntary associations."

As typical examples he said, the department supports the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, and has entered into contracts with the Red Cross to provide a friendly visiting service for senior citizens.

"This program encourages independent living in this community," he said. "There is also an experimental program in the Kenneth Spencer Memorial Home in Moncton."

Family and child care services is another priority.

"The department provides financial assistance to low income families like day care, foster care, group homes, residential care centres, such as the William F. Roberts school, and special care homes for handicapped children," said the minister. "In the adoption programs, efforts are made to find homes for older or special needs children."

In the department's efforts to support the family unit and prevent the breakdown of families, a broad range of family supports are provided, single parent programs, homemakers services and family counselling services.

But the provincial economy is in a relatively tight-money period, he said, and the government's first responsibility is to ensure a balanced growth in order to support services to the public.

"This means that investment in social service sector must be restrained for the next five years, until the economy recovers from its period of slow growth," he said.

The many friends of Mrs. W. R. Manning are sorry to learn she is a patient in hospital in Moncton and all extend wishes for a speedy recovery.

Guignolee This Sunday

Over 100 volunteer canvassers will be out in full force in blue and white sashes and red slucking caps Sunday, Dec. 12 as the Bathurst Richelieu Club holds its annual Guignolee.

Chairman of this year's drive for cash donations to finance club activities is Reginald Chiasson. A total of $2,000 was realized at Christmas in 1975, and Mr. Chiasson said the club expects to raise about the same amount this year.

The canvassers, who can be heard approaching thanks to their Christmas bells, and who are easily recognized in their colourful costumes, will cover the city between 12 noon and 6 p.m.

All donations will be greatly appreciated.

Beresford Bees Top Rangers 6-4

Beresford Bees finally ended their four game losing streak by skating to a 6 - 4 win over Dalhousie Rangers Monday night in Beresford.

The Bees led 2 - 1 after the first period on goals by Larry Lavigne and Pierre Aube with Pat Foran scoring for Dalhousie. Marc Gauvreau evened the count at 2 - 2 with the sole goal of the middle period.

Dave McCabe put the Rangers ahead at 5:19 of the final period but Beresford came back with three consecutive goals by Jean-Marc Fournier, Michel DeGrace and Gary O'Neil to take the lead for keeps. Russ Hennessey counted Dalhousie's final goal but Charlie Vienneau countered for the Bees to give Beresford its two-goal margin of victory.

The win was only the fourth for the Bees against six losses and one draw for a total of nine points and fifth place in the North Shore Junior B Hockey League. The third-place Rangers now have a record of five wins, two losses and four ties.

WINNERS OF WARM-UP SPIEL

Elwera Kennah (left) skipped her rink to win the Afternoon Ladies' Warm-up spiel at Bathurst Curling Club last week. Other members of the team are: Cathy Perron, mate; Dot Brown, Second stone; and Yvette Kenny, lead. The runners-up was a rink skipped by Anne Orser.

Alpines Post 3-1 Win

Bathurst Alpines avenged Sunday's 3 - 2 loss to Chatham with a solid 3 - 1 win over the Ironmen here last night. The win moved the Bathurst club into a tie with Campbellton Tigers for first place in the NSHL, although the Tigers have two games in hand.

Donnie Roy's goal at 18:50 of the second period proved the winner as the Alpines bombed their former teammate Bobby Chamberlain in the Chatham net with 56 shots. Chamberlain's outstanding goaltending kept the issue in doubt until late in the third period when Lou Ouellette triggered an insurance goal at the 15:31 mark.

Danny Gill scored Chatham's lone goal in the final minute of the first period and the Ironmen made the tally stand up until Denis Langlais beat Chamberlain with a drive from the point. The Bathurst defenceman, who has been flying of late, converted passes from George Willett and Michel Hamel while the Alpines enjoyed a two-man advantage. Later in the period he assisted on Don Roy's game winner along with Ghislain Tardiff.

Gill was the pick of the Ironmen up front while goaltender Chamberlain was selected as first star of the game. Langlais earned the second star and Gill the third.

Alpines are idle the rest of this week with their next game scheduled here next Tuesday against the Dalhousie Rangers.

Alpines Lose To Ironmen After Edging Rangers 4-3

Chatham Ironmen made new coach Ed MacDermaid's debut a successful one Sunday when they nipped Bathurst Alpines 3 - 2 in North Shore Hockey League action. The loss prevented the second-place Alpines from gaining on the front-running Tigers who were upset Friday night by Dalhousie Rangers.

Sunday in Chatham goals by Paul Findlay and Danny Gill gave Chatham [illegible] first period lead and Danny Martin triggered the winner at 3:02 of the second.

Len Doucet cut the Alpine deficit to 3 - 1 casting a power-play marker with help from Mike Brophy at the 13:18 mark and Denis Langlais brought Bathurst to within a goal of the Ironmen at 19:33 on another powerplay again set up by Brophy.

Alpines were unable to sustain a drive for the equalizer in the final twenty minutes and the contest ended without further scoring.

Bobby Chamberlain of the Ironmen and Bathurst's Glen Seperich each made 29 saves in the game. The win enabled Chatham to stay even with Dalhousie in a tie for third place although the Ironmen have a game in hand.

Edge Rangers

Mike Morton's unassisted goal at 16:03 of the final period gave Bathurst Alpines a 4 - 3 win over the Rangers in Dalhousie last Thursday.

Denis Langlais stepped out of the penalty box just in time to take Len Doucet's pass and drill the puck past Gilles Cloutier in the Ranger net to open the scoring at 18:45 of the opening period. Alpines protected the margin until 17:05 of the middle period when Billy Audfroid of the Rangers evened it up on a powerplay.

Mike Brophy triggered Bathurst's go-ahead goal at 4:42 of the third period but Serge MacLean knotted the count a little over a minute later.

Lou Ouellette converted George Willett's pass at 12:32 to put the Alpines ahead to stay and Morton connected for his game winner at 16:03.

John Harquail brought the Rangers to within one at 18:27 but Glen Seperich in the Bathurst net held the Rangers off the rest of the way.

Tigers Upset

Dalhousie Rangers provided the upset of the young season Friday night in Campbellton when they bombed the league-leading Tigers with six goals in the final period for a 12 - 8 come-from-behind victory.

The win marked the first for Dalhousie's new coach Clem Tremblay whose debut was marred the previous night with the loss to Bathurst.

The Tigers held perood leads of 5 - 3 and 7 - 6 and John Wood made it 8 - 6 Campbellton just two minutes into the final period. The Rangers then went to work and scored six in a row in less than ten minutes to ice the win.

Luc Bonneville led the Rangers with four goals while Bill Audroud, Luc Gendron and John Harquaal each netted a brace. Gaetan Duguay and Bob Freese scored the others. Dave Wisener and Dave Stevenson each scored twice for the Tigers. Brian Forster, George Parker, George Berube and Wood got the others.

Wheelers On Road This Weekend

Bathurst Chaleur Wheelers of the Atlantic Wheelchair Basketball Conference hit the road this weekend when they travel to Saint John for a couple of games against the Rollers.

The going will be rough for the local team as they have lost one player and will also be without the services of Camille McGraw who has gone to Montreal for two to three weeks.

On the other hand, the Saint John team is winless in four starts and will be looking for its first victory over the short-handed Bathurst team.

Flu Vaccinations Continue In Area

The program to vaccinate persons 65 years and over and those 30 to 65 years of age with chronic diseases against the "swine flu" has been progressing very well.

Dr. Vibert Shury, district medical health officer, said that to date, 2200 persons have received the vaccine in Health Region Five. The vaccine is a bivalent influenza virus vaccine consisting of the current strain of influenza virus which is A—Victoria and the "swine flu" strain which is A—New Jersey 1976.

Dr. Shury further stated that the elderly and those with chronic diseases are more susceptible to the "swine flu" therefore it is especially important that these persons be inoculated against this particular type of influenza. The vaccinations are free of charge and can be obtained at Public Health Clinics that are being held throughout Health Region 5. A list of clinics and dates where they will be held is as follows:

Shippegan, Legion Hall, Dec. 8, 1:30 - 6 p.m.
Lameque, Legion Hall, Dec. 13, 1:30 - 6 p.m.
Neguac, church vestry, Dec. 9, 1:30 - 6 p.m.
Pokemouche, church hall, Dec. 17, 1:30 - 6 p.m.
Paquetville, recreation centre, Dec. 14, 1:30 - 5 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m.
Allardville, parish hall, Dec. 16, 1:30 - 5 p.m.
Bathurst, Public Health Office, 254 St. Patrick St., Dec. 16, 1:30 - 7:30 p.m.

Persons eligible for the vaccine are those 65 years of age and over and persons 20 to 65 years with chronic bronchopulmonary diseases, e.g. chronic bronchitis, diabetes and chronic metabolic diseases; heart disease of any origin, chronic renal failure.

For further information, phone the Department of Health in your area or the regional office in Bathurst at 548-8871.

School Concludes Meal Ticket Campaign

Students at Sacred Heart School will enjoy even better extra-curricular activities this year thanks to their own initiative and hard work.

In a little less than a month, the students managed to raise over $4,000 through a drive sponsored by Dixie Lee of Bathurst, Grand Anse beverages (bottlers of Dr. Pepper) and Rich Products. Of this amount, approximately $1,000 will go to the school and will be used to purchase sports equipment and materials for other activities.

Winner of the Dr. Pepper jacket, valued at between $35 and $40, was Donald Doucet, a Grade 6 French student who raised $204 selling 102 tickets. Donald will also receive $25 from the school for his efforts. Second prize of $15 went to Jimmy Chamberlain while David McGinley picked up third prize of $10.

Weekly winners were awarded meal tickets, and any student who won for two consecutive weeks received a toque valued at $5.

Town's Tax Rate To Drop

Ratepayers in the Town of Shippegan are expected to enjoy a drop in the municipal tax rate for 1977 according to figures released Monday.

The new budget, with total expenditures estimated at $446,340 calls for a new local tax rate of 66.8 cents per $100 assessment, a drop of 30.7 cents over the 1976 tax rate of 98.5 cents per $100.

Last year's total expenditures were $406,286.

The reason for the drop in the tax rate was said to be the tremendous growth in the town over the past year. Total assessment figures for Shippegan skyrocketed from $19,856,500 in 1976 to $30,486,600 for 1977.

The net budget for 1977 stands at $367,623 compared to the 1976 figure of $352,719.

Grants from Fredericton in the new budget total $177,815 compared to $155,141 in the 1976 budget, while the tax warrant set at $299,000 rose only slightly above the 1976 figure of $197,578.

A breakdown of approved expenditures for the coming year is as follows: general administration - $74,525; police protection - $27,000; transportation - $82,400; health services - $24,000; town planning - $11,400; recreation - $42,500; financial services - $65,225.

CIM To Promote Public Relations

The New Brunswick Branch of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy (CIM), meeting in annual session December 2 at Danny's Colonial House, authorized the appointment of a permanent public relations committee.

Recognizing the need for more public education and more involvement in the decision-making aspect of government, the meeting discussed various ways of improving relations with those not connected with the industry.

It was suggested a booklet on mining be prepared for display in such public places as schools and libraries. It was further felt that more extensive use be made of television and the news media in promoting public education.

The meeting was conducted by Hermann Derbuch of Bathurst, outgoing chairman. He was succeeded by Wayne Lockhart of Fredericton. Among others elected were Donald Archibald of Heath Steele Mines, Newcastle, vice-chairman and Cass Atkinson of Brunswick Mining, Bathurst, secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Derbuch reported on mine-planned events during the year, which numbered two more than last year. Apart from strictly social events, members participated in a safety night, the annual convention during which many technical papers were presented, four functions at which top rated speakers in the industry were brought in, and the annual general meeting.

In total, more than 1,500 participated in the year's activities, he said.

In other business, the scholarship committee recommended that the annual scholarship be increased from $750 to $1000. It was also recommended that the selection of future scholarship winners be carried out according to a points system.

It was agreed any profits from branch events will be directed to the scholarship fund as well.

Others named at the meeting were Jim Schnarr, Bathurst, councillor and 12 directors including W. Host, N.B. Coal Co., Minto; John Anderie, consultant, Fredericton; Walter Nash, Noranda Explorations, Bathurst; John Tully, Brunswick Tin Mines, St. Stephen; George Proctor, Gardner Denver, Moncton; Jose Nunes, Nigadoo River Mines, Bathurst; Norman Dufresne, Brunswick Mining Bathurst; Stuart McTavish, Brunswick Mining, Bathurst, Steven Tanner, Brunswick Smelting, Belledune; Amby Leberge, Heath Steele, Newcastle; Vern Evans, J. S. Redpath Ltd., Bathurst and Hector Desjardins, Ross Findlay, Newcastle.

Caraquet Acadians Stretch Unbeaten String To Nine

The Caraquet Acadians dropped the Campbellton North Stars 4 - 2 Sunday in Caraquet to stretch their unbeaten streak in the North shore Junior B Hockey League to nine games.

Claude Hache led the way with a pair of goals with Marcel Hache and Mario Dugas netting the others. Pierre Richard and Bill Harvey replied for Campbellton.

The Acadians have a record of seven wins, no losses and two ties in their last nine games after losing their first three games of the season. Sunday's win left Caraquet just one point back of the league-leading Shippegan Merchants.

The Merchants retained their league-lead with a 5-5 draw with the Rangers in Sunday's other game played in Dalhousie. Bert Goupil and Albain Lanteigne each scored twice for Shippegan. Ross Rankin, Ron Cameron, Dave McCabe, Marc Gauvreau and Ross Hennessey scored for the Rangers.

Tie Saturday

Kerry Clair scored at 19:44 of the final period to earn Campbellton North Stars a 7 - 7 draw with Dalhousie Saturday in Campbellton. The North Stars pulled their goalie for an extra attacker and the move paid off.

Albert Legace, Berry Parker, Donnie LeBlanc, Pierre Richard, Alyre Legace and Marc Richard netted the other goals for Campbellton who led 5 - 4 entering the final period.

Dave McCabe was the big gun for the Rangers with three goals while Ross Rankin triggered a pair. The other Ranger goals came from Kenny Tait and Larry Williams.

Wants French-Only District

The president of the Robertville Home and School Association, Rev. Zoel Saulnier, has decided to prepare a brief recommending the establishment of an autonomous French school district to replace the present bilingual system.

At a general meeting of home and school associations from Notre Dame School of Bathurst and the schools of Beresford, Petit Rocher, Pointe Verte and Robertville recently, Fr. Saulnier noted that the majority of students in the No. 4 district are French-speaking. Because of this, he felt the present bilingual system should be rejected and replaced by a French-only district.

A copy of the brief will go to all home and school associations in the district, municipal councils, the Allardville Chamber of Commerce and to Roland Boudreau, minister of natural Resources and MLA for Nigadoo-Chaleur.

LIVE THEATRE AT LOCAL SCHOOLS

The students of Superior School were treated to two plays presented by the Chocolate Cove Players of St. Andrews, N.B., November 30.

The first play, Aurand Harris', "Punch and Judy, was presented to approximately 375 elementary students. This presentation is a famous puppet show in which the puppets become live actors. It includes a hilarious dancing horse and an abandoned puppet theatre with the actors costumed exactly as their puppet counterparts.

The second play, presented to the 200 junior high students, was Leonard Gersho's, "Butterflies are Free". This moving dramatization, edited for teen age audiences, was a two act comedy about a blind boy breaking ties with his mother.

The actors for both plays were Muriel Walters, Margot McCabe, John Brown and Greg McSweeney. The plays were produced by Philip Wentworth for the Chocolate Cove Players, a touring theatrical group. This group is currently touring various areas of the province with the objective of giving the children a chance to appreciate live theatre.

The presentations were made possible by a Student Council subsidy. Each student was asked to pay a minimal price of 25 cents and the Student Council paid the remaining cost.

As part of the Student Council activities for the present school year a number of other projects are planned. Some of these projects include the showing of the Academy Award winning film "Oliver", and the publication of a number of school newspapers to be written and edited by the students. Also planned is a play presently being practised by the drama club and a public speaking club to be organized in the new year.

Chocolate Cove Players also performed for the elementary students at South Bathurst School at a cost of 75 cents per student December 1.

Meeting Hears Report And Talk

A meeting of the Bathurst Chapter Kidney Foundation held Dec. 2 at the Inservice Department of Chaleur General Hospital was chaired by Miss Sheila Burns, president.

Miss Burns, who recently attended the provincial meeting of the Kidney Foundation held in Fredericton, gave a report of what the New Brunswick chapters are trying to achieve in making the public aware of the importance of early detection of kidney diseases.

New pamphlets from the Kidney Foundation entitled "High Blood Pressure" and "Five Warning Signs of Kidney Disease" were made available to public health agencies. It was suggested these pamphlets be distributed to schools for the students to take home to their parents.

A letter of thanks was sent to Mrs. Pat Meahan for the help her group of Rangers gave in making the "Kidney Candy Drive" so successful.

Dr. N.R. Murthy, urologist, presented an interesting and informative talk on kidney transplants and organ donors. Hopefully, this program will be implemented in the future when the legal and technical problems are solved, and provincial legislation passed to institute such a program.

Miss Burns spoke about the success of both blood pressure and urine testing of school children clinics throughout the province. She said more information on these phases will be available at the next meeting of the branch scheduled for Jan. 27 at 7 p.m. The public is cordially invited to attend.

The meeting concluded with the serving of lunch.

Price Is Secondary Item For Most Buyers

Consumer preference appears to be as much a reason as price for buying groceries or at least fresh produce, according to one result from a province-wide survey recently conducted.

The survey was taken by 12 home economists working from the Department of Agriculture and Rural Development in as many provincial centres from Saint John to Edmundston and from Moncton to Shippegan.

In all 240 consumers in 18 food stores were asked their opinion on the nutritional value, preparation, storage, preservation and metric conversion of fresh produce.

While complete results remain to be tabulated, the survey showed that consumers buy produce items out of habit and not necessarily with an eye fixed firmly on the price. One home economist involved suggested that consumers seem reluctant to adopt new eating habits when it comes to produce buying.

The survey is part of a larger campaign among produce wholesalers in the Atlantic provinces designed to promote consumer awareness and purchase of fresh produce. It comes as a direct result of Nutrition Canada's national survey that showed Canadians to be deficient in their consumption of fresh produce. The national body wants to see Canadians eating 300 pounds of fresh produce annually per capita as compared with the current level of under 400 pounds per capita.

The managers of the stores included in the survey are expected to be given a copy of its results, noted a spokesman for the home economics branch.

The following communities were included in the survey (except where noted, one store in each community was included in the survey): Saint John (4), Moncton (3), Bathurst (2), Edmundston, Grand Falls, Fredericton, Newcastle, Chatham, Shippegan, Dalhousie, Campbellton and Tracadie.

Four Persons Left Homeless

A faulty furnace or electrical wiring is believed to be the cause of a fire in Bas Caraquet late Saturday night, December 4, which left four persons homeless.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur St. Pierre and their two children had only time to flee the single-storey dwelling, after being warned by a neighbour, before flames engulfed the doorway. Fire Chief Marcel Theriault said the two-year-old bungalow was leveled, and firefighters were unable to save anything.

The fire broke out shortly before 10 p.m. There was no estimate of loss.

Mrs. Clement Bourdage and son Oscar.

FORMER RESIDENTS VISIT CITY

Friends, relatives and wrestling buddies and fans of Oscar Bourdage were happy to meet with him last week while he was in Bathurst.

Mr. Bourdage visited here with his mother, Mrs. Clement Bourdage and spent the week.

Mrs. Bourdage moved to Vancouver, B.C. some years ago with the late Mr. Bourdage and their family, but still enjoys visiting and meeting with old friends in her home town. While in sunny British Columbia, Mrs. Bourdage looks forward to receiving home town news via The Northern Light and boasts about being a subscriber for the past 60 years.

Oscar, has been living in Calgary, Alberta, since 1950 where he pursued his career as a wrestler under the professional name of Gene LaSalle. He retired from wrestling in 1963 and began his own sheet metal business and was active in that line of work for eleven years.

In 1974, Mr. Bourdage went into a new type of business employing a staff of five. He also operates a games gallery which has approximately 50 coin operated machines.

Oscar is married to Roseline Godin, formerly of LaPlante, N.B., and they have a 2-year-old son, Roger.

Most of the useful gadgets in the world have been invented by people who didn't expect to receive credit for them.

Veterans Adopt New Resolutions

The Northeastern New Brunswick Veterans Association held an information meeting at LeGoulet on November 28.

Chaired by President J. Leo Hachey who was assisted by Romeo J. Theriault, executive director, the meeting on record as fully supporting the association's new constitution.

Eight important resolutions were also adopted, including one requesting that Blue Cross services be extended to include veterans' wives as well.

Because of the large backlog of requests, numbering over 200, waiting to be processed, it was felt more personnel should be made available to the Saint John Pension Advocate Office and the Canadian Pension Commission.

It was resolved that widows of disabled pensioners who have had pensions cut off because their husbands did not receive the required 48 per cent pension should be qualified for all degrees of disability pension. Under existing regulations, a widow whose husband received 48 per cent disability pension continues to receive the pension while the widow whose husband received 47 per cent or less is disqualified and loses the pension.

It was felt that wives of veterans receiving war veterans allowance who earn an salary should not interfere with their husbands' right to a maximum allowable income of $2,250.

The meeting advocated that an incapacitated veteran who cannot work because of his disability should have his war veterans allowance increased by $2,250 - the maximum allowable income.

Veterans felt the Veterans Housing Assistance Program, which was introduced following cancellation by the Department of Veterans Affairs of the Veterans Land Act, does not provide the necessary help for housing. It was pointed out that the income of veterans now receiving war veterans allowance if below the nationally recognized poverty line and can't afford to meet the requirements of the housing program.

The meeting unanimously resolved to make the following requests of the minister of veterans affairs.

- An extension beyond the March 31, 1977, time limit for veterans with Veterans Land Act approval for construction of their homes.

- That the re-opening of the Veterans Land Act benefits for those who served in war time service be considered. Also, that the benefits be re-defined to include all veterans, especially those who may have been forced to accept employment away from their place of birth but who have now returned to their homes and who wish to build homes.

It was decided to request that the federal government replace the War Veterans Allowance Act, with all conditions, ramifications, etc. with a guaranteed annual income on a joint project basis. The meeting felt the project would be beneficial to the pride and dignity of the veteran and would aid him in finding a respectable place in society without limiting income.

Approximately 125 veterans and their wives attended the LeGoulet session, which was arranged by regional director Raduel Arsenault of Shippegan. Members of his committee included Philippe Comeau, secretary; Lawrence Hamel, vice-president; John B. Comeau, second vice-president.

Veterans participating came from LeGoulet, Shippegan, Inkerman, Pokemouche, Four Roads and Evangeline.

YOUR BUSINESS

High Price Of Protectionism

By VINCENT EGAN
Business and Consumer Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

The prices you pay for clothes next year will, in all probability, rise by more than the inflation rate.

The reason, of course, will be the quotas that the federal government has introduced to reduce the share of the Canadian market that has been captured by imports from the Orient.

Trade Minister Jean Chretien predicts that the price increases will be "marginal". Ruth Lotzkar, president of the Canadian Association of Consumers, thinks they will be "substantial".

Whatever the increases turn out to be, they are part of the high price that Canadians pay to protect our industries against foreign competition.

It's one of those dilemmas that go on, year after year, without a solution.

In the case of clothing, the costs of production here are undeniably greater than in most other parts of the world.

Even with the average tariff or tax, to use a simpler word of more than 25 per cent that Canadians must pay on imported clothing, foreign manufacturers can still under-sell their Canadian competitors.

The new quotas won't increase that tariff, but will reduce the volume of imports - thus diminishing competition and ensuring the domestic manufacturers have a bigger share of the market.

CONFLICT OF INTEREST

If you are one of the 200,000 people employed in Canada's textile and clothing industries, the new quotas combined with the established tariffs must seem like a wise and just course of action. Without such techniques, these industries might have withered away many years ago.

On the other hand, people who ultimately buy the products of those industries don't care much for the necessity of paying prices that are higher than they could be.

Quotas and high tariffs are much more acceptable when they are used to help an infant industry to get started, than when they apply to the protection of mature industries.

"The prices that Canadians pay for clothing already entail a large measure of protection to the domestic textile and clothing industries," says Mrs. Lotzkar of the CAC.

"It is unrealistic to expect us to pay still more."

In one month alone, she noted, prices of women's outerwear increased 2.7 per cent, and men's outerwear 1.7 per cent, as a result of the suspension of permits for the importation of such clothing from six countries.

Another result of protectionist restraints, Mrs. Lotzkar added, is that some items such as low-cost outerwear for infants and children is simply no longer available.

TIPPING THE SCALES

The government must weigh its duty toward consumers against its responsibility to established industries.

In most such situations, the industry takes priority over the long-suffering consumer.

But a recently published study by a Hamilton economist says that the tariff system hasn't succeeded in encouraging the growth of secondary manufacturing in Ontario, at least.

According to James R. Williams of McMaster University, the amount of processing and manufacturing in the province is actually below the level that would be possible under free trade.

Although a tariff may protect some enterprises and thus encourage a higher level of production, this is usually accomplished by a loss of output and employment in exporting firms - as well as with increases in the costs of consumer goods.

His study, Resources, Tariffs and Trade-Ontario's Stake, is published by the Ontario Economic Council.

Unemployment Rate In Building Industry Up

Labour and Manpower Minister Rodmon R. Logan, QC announced last week that officials of his department have met with members of the Provincial Building and Construction Trades Council on the issue of unemployment in the construction industry in New Brunswick.

The Trades Council voiced strong concern about the current downturn in activity in the construction industry and the fact that this slow down is expected to continue for some months, said Mr. Logan. Unemployment appears to be rising in the industry with little possibility of easing in the near future.

Specific areas of concern expressed by the Trades Council included the anticipated loss of unemployment insurance benefits by employees in the construction industry due to proposed amendments to the Unemployment Insurance Act which will require 12 weeks of work before a client can establish a claim as well as the lack of alternate employment opportunities for those unemployed in construction.

In addition the Council is also concerned about the off-shore workers employed in occupations where resident labour is unemployed and the trend towards firms undertaking to do their own repair and new construction work instead of contracting these jobs to local construction firms and qualified construction workers.

Officials of labour and manpower allowed to arrange a further meeting between members of the Council, representatives of the department and officials of certain federal departments or agencies including the Unemployment Insur-

POLITICAL SCENE

Clark-Wagner Feud Finished?

By ROBERT METCALFE
Ottawa Bureau
Thomson News Service

So much has been happening around Ottawa in the last week or so that no one really noticed the handshake between Conservative Leader Joe Clark and his official right-hand man, Claude Wagner.

After all, who has time to bother with a mere political reconciliation when we are trying to concentrate on Otto Lang's mess? And there was that inkling little remark by Auditor General J. J. Macdonell that federal spending is sailing out of control. And if that wasn't enough to preoccupy us, we have those ugly rumors of corporate kickbacks by Canadian Crown corporations.

So who is going to pay much attention to the fact that Mr. Clark and Mr. Wagner were pretending to be smiling at each other again?

Well, most Tory MPs are devoting a good deal of attention to it, since the latest rift between the two men has apparently sent shock waves deep into caucus. And while a vast majority of members are solidly on the side of their leader, Mr. Wagner still has supporters who are critical of the way Mr. Clark is handling his affairs.

And it's spats like this that bring out the criticism.

RESOURCES LEADER

For instance, one senior Conservative was talking about the Clark-Wagner feud the other day, and within minutes he was angrily denouncing his leader for blaming the Quebec election results on Prime Minister Trudeau. He argued that the issue was too big and too emotional for partisan politics and, anyway, the question would be answered by the electorate.

But the main point is that the MP would never have heretofore criticized if he wasn't worked up over an extremely unrelated issue. There is probably a tendency to glorious armed confrontation, regardless of the issue, and even as a repeated occupation the damage can be long lasting.

In this case, it appeared to be completely one sided. Mr. Clark apparently thought it would be a gesture of unity to support Quebec MP Roch LaSalle for the presidency of the Provincial Party association, particularly since Mr. LaSalle had worked for Mr. Wagner during his unsuccessful bid for party leadership.

But, as it turned out, Mr. Wagner, who wants to be in control of party fortunes in Quebec, had his own candidate. And when this candidate was defeated, Mr. Wagner let fly at his leader.

The unity of the party has been compromised by the distasteful actions of this leader himself," said the affronted right-hand man.

This is a struggle to decide whether the Quebecois will have their decisions dictated to them by Ottawa."

It reminded a lot like the recent election campaign in Quebec.

Mr. Clark didn't fight back in public, but on gallery floors were seething behind the scenes, until the matter spilled over into caucus for one stormy session. While the Liberals were debating the results of the provincial election, the Tories were trying, once again, to patch the cracks of disunity.

HIGH STAKES

And considering the high profile of Mr. Wagner and the fact there are only three other Quebec Conservatives, the implications of the quarrel go far beyond the future of one man. If indeed, Mr. Wagner's stubborn outburst reflects a serious split in the provincial organization, the results could be devastating.

For the first time since the Diefenbaker years, federal Tories were beginning to see a strong ray of light in darkest Quebec, not from their own efforts but from the apparent revival of the Union Nationale Party. There is an historic alliance between the two parties, after the UN was wiped out in the 1973 provincial election. Conservatives in the province lost many of their riding associations. Only three Tories were elected in Quebec in 1974.

But now, with the decimation of the provincial Liberals, the UN seems to be making a comeback. Leader Rodrigue Biron, only five months on the job, increased his party's popular vote to 18 per cent from five per cent in 1973 and he has an 11 man party in the National Assembly.

Price Of Newsprint Increases

International newsprint producers have gone ahead with a $50 per ton newsprint increase in Canada and the U.S.

And in Nova Scotia, Bowater-Mersey in Liverpool has announced its regular roll price will increase to $51 per ton, effective Jan. 1.

Companies which raised their prices December 2 include Abitibi Paper Co., Toronto Canadian International paper Co., a unit of International Paper Co., New York, Donahue Co., and Domtar Ltd.

Bowater-Mersey said the increase, for 30-pound basis paper, is up $2.80 over its current price.

Spokesmen for the international firms said they have not received any objection to the increase from Canada's anti-inflation board.

The companies must file a request for a price increase to the board 30 days before it takes effect and the government agency has that period to reject the application.

The $50 per ton increase, which brings the price in the U.S. to $365 a ton and in Canada to $370 a ton, matches an increase by Consolidated - Bathurst Ltd. that took effect Nov. 1.

Perfect for holiday get-togethers, office parties, church socials, club meetings or entertaining at home. You can serve 30, 50, 200 or more with Colonel Sanders' "Do-It-Yourself" Buffet. You get 3 pieces of finger lickin' good Kentucky Fried Chicken for everyone, generous helpings of salads, buttered Georgian bread, sparks, plates, serviettes, wet towels, serving spoons, a handsome paper tablecloth, all packed in convenient, disposable cartons. National Pageant Hard Work But Good Experience

GAIL KNOWLES

For anyone out there who is under the impression that taking part in a Miss Canada beauty pageant is easy, Gail Knowles has a few words to the contrary. She fell asleep in the bathtub one morning in the midst of a hectic week of preparations for the pageant telecast from SPTO Studios in Toronto November 16.

Gail met with members of the local news media over the weekend to tell of experiences - both good and bad - gained from participating in this year's national event.

Although she was chosen Miss New Brunswick during Woodstock's Old Home Week earlier this summer, Gail entered the pageant as Miss Bathurst. "The pageant was open to all regional winners from across Canada", explained Gail, "and when I learned Miss Saint John would also take part, I felt it would be better to represent Bathurst. I also wanted to get a plug in for Bathurst as this was the first time a girl from the city had been entered in the pageant."

From her arrival at the Prince Hotel in Toronto on Monday, Nov. 8 right up until the telecast began, Gail and her 26 counterparts put in long hours of hard work.

"From 7 a.m. until 1 the next morning, we were taught how to walk properly, helped with make-up and hair styles, put through countless fittings and made rehearse time and time again," related Gail. "There were times when we found ourselves dozing off on stage during breaks."

The hard work naturally paid off, however, as anyone who watched the performance can testify. The entire program was carried off without a hitch and all of the girls were very professional-looking.

Although Gail saw the organization of the national event as good for the most part, she did say she preferred the manner in which the Miss Bathurst pageant was conducted. "Here at home, we were given our instructions very clearly, and we always knew exactly where we were supposed to be and what we should be doing. In Toronto, everything moved too fast and was consequently more confusing."

The 27 girls met with the five judges just once on an individual basis, and the session consisted of 12 minutes of rapid-fire questions on a variety of topics. Gail was the first girl to be called, and was asked many questions on politics - one subject she is not particularly fond of. The judges, however, thanked her for her honesty and moved on to other topics.

It was during this meeting that Gail learned exactly what kind of Miss Canada they were looking for - "a composite of every girl in the pageant." Emphasis is not on beauty but is turning more and more to talent, intelligence, ambitions education, personality, etc. One aspect with Gail did not agree with was the bathing suit competition, and she hopes to see this segment eliminated entirely in the future.

Despite all of the hard work involved during the week prior to the televised pageant, Miss Bathurst "felt very good" on the big night, and is proud of the way things turned out.

"My most valuable experience was to discover that I could do it. For so long I had been watching others take part in the pageant, and it was good to realize I could do it just as well as the next girl.

"Just taking part in a production of this magnitude is the reward in itself. It gives you a great confidence to work with such professional people as models, choreographers, designers, hair stylists, etc."

Although Gail's mother, Mrs. Gordon Knowles, accompanied her to Toronto to watch the show live, the two were not allowed to see each other at all during the entire week. Each girl had a chaperone, and was not permitted to go anywhere without her. This includes trips to the lobby of the hotel, even a walk to the elevator. The girls were allowed to phone their parents, but nothing more.

"One girl", said Gail, "was in a room right across the hall from her parents. On her way downstairs one day, with her chaperone of course, she attempted to knock on the door and say hello. However, she wasn't permitted to do so. Chaperoning is very strict, but I guess they have their reasons."

According to Gail, the winner, Yvonne Foster, will be a very good representative for Canada. Not being chosen as Miss Canada or as a semi-finalist was not a disappointment for her as she will always value the memories and knowledge gained from the experience.

As was stated on the night of the telecast, each participant will receive a variety of prizes from pageant sponsors amounting to $1,284.35. Included in this is a scholarship for $100, and a trophy for all regional winners.

Gail is at home at present, studying for university examinations which will take place next week. She did miss two weeks of school at St. Thomas University in Fredericton as a result of the pageant, but professors were sympathetic and she is now up-to-date on her courses.

Her next official act as Miss New Brunswick will be on December 18 when she takes part in the Santa Claus parade in Chipman. And with winter carnivals coming up in many N.B. centres, it is expected she will be called upon to attend more functions throughout the winter months.

Meanwhile, Gail would like to thank all who made her trip to Toronto possible, including:

Bathurst Festival Commission, particularly Kumari Sundaram; Mayor John A. RISES HIGH IN THE SKY

Due to deterioration by the march of time, N.B. Electric Power Commission' original two-way radio tower, erected in 1956 on Matty's Hill, so-called, has been removed and replaced. The new installation is superior to the old in order to compete with the growth of service by the area covered - Bathurst to Dalhousie. The 150-ft. high, self-supporting aerial, in a location overlooking the city reservoir, links the Commission's on-the-job vehicles as well as the Fredericton head office. Matty's Hill, incidentally, derives its name from a former owner of the property, Mathias Landry.

Retail Milk Prices Rise

Provincial milk consumers are paying an additional minimum retail price for fluid milk of three cents per quart and four cents per quart for home delivered milk.

The price increases, the first since Oct. 1 last year, were announced Nov. 30 by the New Brunswick Dairy Products Commission and became effective Dec. 1.

The increase of approximately six per cent will be divided between the producers and the processors on the basis of each segment's specific needs, the Commission noted in its announcement.

"Costs to the industry have increased significantly in practically all areas" in the period since the last increase, particularly those for labor, fuel and supplies, said the Commission.

The extra one cent per quart increase in the home delivered price reflects the relatively greater labor and fuel costs to provide this service in contrast to wholesale deliveries, it explained.

The Commission reiterated that the costs of producing, processing, packaging and distributing fluid milk are being continually monitored by itself and the provincial agriculture department from cost figures and indices developed for the purpose by professional consultants in 1973.

Loto System Now Uniform

D. K. Roberts, chairman of the board of directors of the Atlantic Lottery Corporation, has issued the following statement:

In August of this year the ministers responsible for the lottery in the four Atlantic provinces decided that each province would choose its own system for the sale and distribution of tickets in the proposed Atlantic lottery.

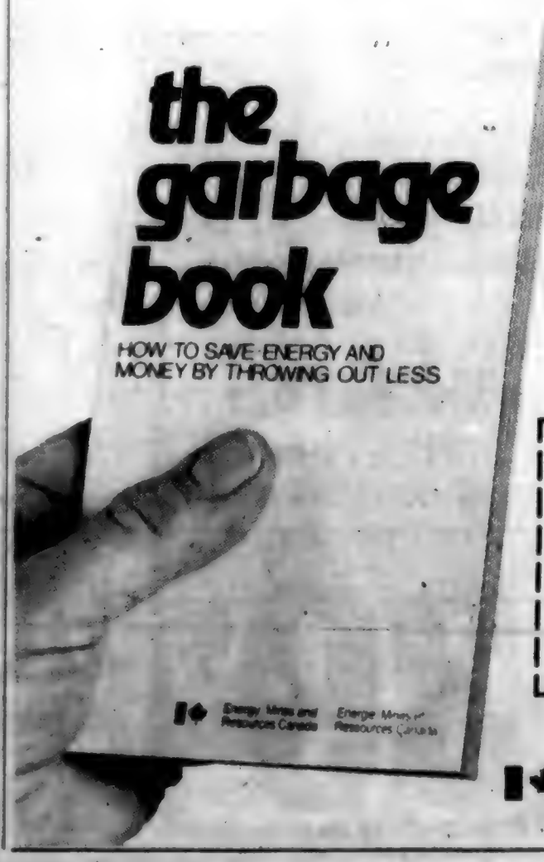
As a result, the provinces of New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland decided on a similar system whereby Atlantic Loto tickets would be distributed to retailers by full-time salesmen of the Atlantic Lottery Corporation.

Nova Scotia, on the other hand, decided that the Nova Scotia Lottery Commission would be responsible for the sales and distribution of the Atlantic Loto tickets in that province.

The Nova Scotia Lottery Commission recently decided that it would be in the best interest of the Atlantic lottery if the distribution system in Nova Scotia would become part of that now in operation in the three other provinces. Consequently, the Nova Scotia Lottery Commission has formally requested that the Atlantic Lottery Corporation assume full responsibility for the distribution system in Nova Scotia and to employ all employees who have been hired by the Nova Scotia Lottery Commission for the purposes of administering the distribution system in that province.

As a result of this request, the Atlantic Lottery Corporation has decided to assume full responsibility for the distribution of Atlantic Loto tickets in Nova Scotia and to employ all present employees of the Nova Scotia Lottery Commission who shall become employees of the Corporation and therefore will be subject to the Corporation's personnel policies and regulations.

How to cut the high cost of garbage



Each one of us discards an average of 4 pounds of garbage a day — 1,500 pounds a year. That's energy we're throwing away!

By avoiding unnecessary products, and reusing and recycling the rest of them, we can save a tremendous amount of energy for Canada. And money for ourselves.

The Garbage Book shows you how to reduce your garbage. It's new and free. Separate chapters deal with packaging, consumer products, food waste, yard waste, composting and setting up a recycling program in your community.

More NB Apples Being Produced

If the present trend toward the production of more and better quality apples by larger numbers of people continues, New Brunswick could be marketing 400,000 bushels annually in four to six years, an increase of 160,000 bushels over the current annual level.

The prediction comes from fruit crop specialists in the provincial agriculture department who report that apple production should no longer be regarded as a declining industry.

A number of reasons are cited to support the argument: 30,000 new trees planted over the last three years, more than 50 per cent of them by new orchardists, fewer older orchards going out of production and an orderly marketing system whose price structure is attracting new producers.

This year along, for example, 20,000 new trees were planted on some 125 acres, the largest number planted in over 10 years.

In addition an incentive grants program offered to new orchard growers by the provincial and federal governments and the development of the so-called "half trees" that provide more production per acre have contributed to the industry's growth and assured it of a more viable future.

Modest Growth Is Predicted

Canada can expect another year of only modest economic growth in 1977, according to the latest issue of the Commercial Letter published by Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce.

The increase in real Gross National Product is unlikely to exceed five per cent and, "even to achieve growth in this range may require some new policy stimulus or the kind of boost to confidence which would be provided by an orderly phasing out of the price and income guidelines," the publication says.

The bank predicts that, while the overall rate of inflation will slow to about eight per cent in 1977 from the nine per cent apparent for this year, the contribution of real economic growth to the GNP will continue to be overshadowed by inflation.

"There can be little doubt that, unless there is a major change in policy emphasis, the restrictions on profits and dividends will prove to be costly in terms of business investment outlays and job creation foregone over the next two years," the Commercial Letter adds.

The economic recovery now underway among Canada's major trading partners is seen as a principal source of strength for the Canadian economy over the next 12 to 18 months, especially the rising market for exports in the U.S.

However, Canada's overall progress will be hampered by the net impact of the Anti-Inflation Program which "will probably dampen both consumer and corporate spending, thereby keeping the rate of domestic economic recovery below that which would otherwise be expected."

Real personal expenditures are forecast as growing by five per cent in 1977, with sales of "big-ticket" consumer durable goods—refrigerators, washers, dryers and so on—moving more briskly. Housing construction is expected to show fewer units started in 1977 than in 1976.

The Commercial Letter finds that the outlook for business investment is "particularly soft" and it forecasts little, if any, increase in outlays on plant and equipment by the private sector in both 1977 and 1978. It adds that weakness will be particularly evident in manufacturing and, in the long term, this will adversely affect Canada's merchandise balance of trade.

"The poor performance in the capital expenditures area is no doubt related to the impact on corporate profits of the Anti-Inflation Program and the uncertainties which this program has generated," the publication asserts. "In fact, business investment is unlikely to gain momentum until there is a clear indication that the controls are being removed and the clouds which still surround the government's plans for the post-control period are dissipated by statements and concrete government action which restore investor confidence in Canada's future."

Without a strengthening of capital investment, Canadians cannot become more productive and thus their standard of living will be endangered, the Commercial Letter concludes.

As of September 30th, FBDB had $97,382,000 outstanding in loans, investments, and guarantees to 3,066 customers in the Atlantic Provinces.

$200,000 Fire Sweeps Motel

Plans are being made to start rebuilding Cedar Lodge at Petit La Nim, following the November 20 fire which completely gutted the main area of the lodge, including the offices, lounge and dining room. The fire, still current $200,000, reports Sandy O'Brien, the wife of owner Sydney and now running figure a member of the management team, along with her parents, Arthur and Bert O'Brien.

It is hoped to start rebuilding within the next two weeks and have the motel ready to go back into business in April, Mr. O'Brien said.

In the fire, which is believed to have started from an electrical panel in the basement, the motel suite escaped serious fire damage although smoke damage was extensive.

The entire motel complex might have been destroyed in the fire except for a firewall which was constructed a month before separating the main lounge area from the remainder of the motel. As a result of the firewall, the 20 units of the motel remain standing.

Town Clarifies Landfill Project

Several Tracadie Town Councillors were left in the dark regarding a landfill project which has been causing somewhat of a controversy within the town during the past few months.

At several council meetings in the past there was heated discussion on the subject of the proposed land development in the centre of the town.

During a regular council session Thursday night, Dec. 3, Councillor Jean Claude Lesuer requested that Mayor Henri Thomas read a letter received from A. M. Murray, contracts administration engineer with the provincial department of municipal affairs.

The letter was dealt with at a Nov. 30 committee-of-the-whole meeting but Mr. Lesuer insisted that the mayor inform the public of its contents.

The letter, addressed to the mayor, advised him that the management committee had granted approval to the awarding of a contract to PFC (Northern) Construction Ltd. in the amount of $82,500 for construction of a storm sewerage extension on Vital Brunk, adjacent to the property of the proposed development.

The letter is quoted as saying "it is understood that the landowner has granted an option to the developer to sell the property concerned for $250,000 and that the developer has verbally agreed to exercise the option.

"Approval of this contract award is therefore conditional upon exercise of the option at the agreed price and undertaking of the development in the 1977-78 fiscal year, and that maximum approved funding for this project is $102,500 including engineering."

ANN LANDERS

Parenthood Is Personal Concern

By ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I are both 27 years of age. We have been agonizing for over a year because we can't make a decision. Should we have a child?

We consulted a physician and a competent counselor. They both said, "It's up to you." We STILL can't make up our minds so we are turning to Ann Landers.

Frankly, neither my husband nor I have a strong desire to be parents. We are involved in challenging careers and our six years of marriage have been great. I must confess I worry at times that we might regret being childless when we are older.

Please don't suggest adoption in later years. I am Jewish and my husband is Italian, a background the agencies frown upon. Will you help us? — Frustrated

DEAR FRUS: When a couple of intelligent 27-year-olds have so little enthusiasm for parenthood that they shop around for advice — and finally end up writing to Ann Landers — I say "No."

Of course you may be sorry in later years, but my mail tells me that many parents are sorry NOW. It's a gamble either way.

Parenthood requires an enormous investment of time and energy, plus a heap of unselfish giving. I don't believe you two are emotionally geared to make the sacrifices.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The exchange in your column pertaining to whether the Sisters were better off when they had to wear the habit will surely generate some heated controversy. I want to register my vote in favor of your answer.

I am a religious Sister who chose to remain in the modified garb. Neither I nor my associates find the decision burdensome or restrictive. We teach and do administrative work in hospitals and nursing homes.

For me, the habit gives witness to the world that I am trying to be what I profess to be. It is a sign that I am religious. As such, I am ever mindful of my influence and the responsibility that it runs.

I am not suggesting that the habit makes the Sister. It does, however, make her easier to recognize and it identifies her as a symbol of what she stands for. — A Mercy In Maine

DEAR MERCY: The mail from the Sisters is running about 50-50 but it's 60-40 in FAVOR of the habit from the readers. Thanks for expressing your views.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I would love to see a composite picture of the average mother-in-law, based on your mail. If you decide to do one, here's my input.

She gives Christmas presents in April because they will be appreciated more then. Her son has a standing invitation to come for dinner — provided he doesn't bring me. (I'm only his wife. She insists all her opinions are correct because her age is automatically given her wisdom and experience which makes her an authority on everything from medicine to home decorating.)

Unfortunately, this overbearing, oppressive woman has never allowed her son to make a decision so he is now undergoing intensive therapy to undo 27 years of her handiwork. — Report From New England

DEAR R. E.: I put together a "composite mother-in-law" based on my correspondence she wouldn't look very good, because most people write to complain. But thanks for the input.

Whenever time to be done best without falling back, free and others from Landers's booklet, "Dating Do's and Don'ts," will help you be more poised and sure of yourself on dates. Send 50 cents in coin along with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, [illegible] 60120.

Church Group Elects Slate

Mrs. Douglas Baker was elected president of the W.E.O. branch of Anglican Church Women at the annual meeting held in St. George's W.E.O. Centre, Nov. 17.

Other officers include: Mrs. Robert Brown, secretary; Mrs. Ed Carroll, treasurer.

The conveners are: Mrs. Kenneth Knowles, social action; Mrs. Byron Bailey, E.C.D. [illegible]; Mrs. Hadley Wood, education; Mrs. Robert Hills, devotions; Mrs. Lloyd Branch, Living Message; Mrs. R. H. Murphy, Girls Auxiliary; Mrs. Everett Harrison, Mrs. Ruth and Lethbridge, Department of Family Life.

The meeting was chaired by the outgoing president, Mrs. Robert Brown. The rector, Archdeacon R. H. Murphy officiated for the election of officers. Ten members were present.

The regular session opened with an invocation read by Mrs. Brown, and a passage of scripture was read by the vice-president Mrs. Baker.

In the absence of the secretary, roll call was taken and the minutes were read by the president. Treasurer Mrs. Ed Carroll reported a balance of close to $200, due in part to the group's successful rummage and rag sale.

During the business period, it was decided to hold a Christmas party in the form of a pot-luck supper on Dec. 13, at a place to be announced. Members were reminded to bring to that event a gift for a patient in the Provincial Hospital at Campbellton.

It was also decided that the branch will send two subscriptions of the Living Message to Chaleur General Hospital, after which the meeting was adjourned.

GUEST SPEAKER

Guest for the evening, the Venerable Archdeacon R. H. Murphy, addressed the gathering on the present state of missions in the Fredericton Diocese and the rest of the Canadian Church.

The rector reminded members of the concept of missions as "sharing", as "interdependence and mutual responsibility".

Archdeacon Murphy illustrated some of his points by referring to his visit to Antigua and Trinidad several years ago when he and Mrs. Murphy were part of a Canadian-American team sharing mission concerns with the people of the Caribbean.

Annual reports were given by the various officers and funds were disbursed as follows: Our Fair Share, $75; Appeal '76, $25; Administration, $5; King's College, $10; Extra-Cent-a-Day $7.50; social action, $10; parochial mission apportionment, $20; Camp Medley, $10; and gift to Isabel Murphy, missionary in Brazil, $25; for a total of $187.50.

CGIT Vesper Service Sunday

Throughout December 1976, Canadian Girls in Training will sing and celebrate the joy of Christmas in churches from coast to coast with a vesper service written by Elizabeth and Peter Moffat of Sanford, Manitoba.

Peter and Elizabeth bring to the service, as they do to their team ministry and marriage, the theme of God's gift of love.

The CGIT Candlelight Vesper Service reminds us this year that wise men still seek Christ, and that God accepts us for what we are, not for what we own.

CGIT's 30,000 girls and leaders extend an invitation to everyone to attend the vesper service, and to re-discover with them the Gift of Christmas — then and now.

The CGIT of First United Church will hold vesper service Sunday, December 5 at 7 p.m. in the church.

Offerings received at vesper services are the only regular source of income for the National CGIT Committee, which provides Bible study, leadership and other resources for CGIT groups and camps from Benavista to Vancouver Island.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN E. MAGUIRE

Maguire-Jennings Nuptials Held At St. George's Church

Vases of natural pink and white everlastings flanked with ornamental greenery adorned the altar of St. George's Anglican Church in Bathurst while daisies and bells and pink ribbons marked the guest pews for the marriage of Patricia Eleanor Jennings and John Reginald Maguire.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Jennings of Bathurst and the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Jean Maguire, Sussex.

The Ven. Archdeacon R. H. Murphy officiated at the double ring ceremony. Organist was Mr. Aubrey Miller and the soloist was Miss Brenda Lee Chapman.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by her friend, Miss Pam Hunter of Moncton as maid of honor.

The groom's attendant was his brother, Paul Maguire as best man. The ushers were Michael Jennings, brother of the bride, and Philip Vessey, Fredericton, a friend of the bride and groom.

For her wedding, the bride chose a floor-length gown of white cotton broccade trimmed with pearl and featuring a cathedral train. The high waistline of her bodice boasted a wide band of pink satin ribbon and a high neckline. She wore a matching picture hat and carried a tiny bouquet of white rosebuds and baby's breath and pink satin streamers attached.

Miss Hunter wore a floor length gown of rose-pink double knit. She carried a tiny bouquet of pink rosebuds and white baby's breath.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Jennings chose a floor-length gown of blue double knit and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

Mrs. Maguire, mother of the groom, was wearing a floor length gown of green double knit with yellow flowers in the design. Her corsage was of yellow carnations.

RECEPTION

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in St. George's Church Hall.

The grace was said by Mr. Donald Mackay. The bridal toast proposed by Archdeacon Murphy was jokingly responded to by the groom.

Congratulatory telegrams from Quebec, Ont., Toronto and Kingston, Ont. were read by the best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Maguire will be residing in Halifax.

A graduate of the University of New Brunswick, Fredericton, with a Bachelor of Nursing degree, the bride is employed as a Community Health Nurse with the Nova Scotia government.

The groom who has his Business Administration degree from UNB, is senior assistant accountant with the Royal Bank of Canada, Fairview Branch in Halifax.

Out-of-town guests attending were from Halifax, Fredericton, Moncton, Sussex, Woodstock, Rothesay, Hampton, Campbellton, Perth-Andover and Montreal.

Xi Deltas Hold Social Evening

A pot-luck supper, the social event for the month, was held in conjunction with the regular semi-monthly meeting Nov. 24 of Xi Delta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, at the home of Bernice Sanderson.

The fine array of delicious food was indicative of the culinary expertise of the members and an equally delectable variety of desserts made even the waistline watchers forget to count calories. It was also a house-warming celebration for the hostess and the many gifts for extraordinary members present and gave the atmosphere an air of festivity.

It was decided that help be extended to the C.N.I.B. in their hour of need, and $25 was pledged towards the up-coming Lions' Christmas Stocking Fund.

Arrangements for the annual Valentine Ball, at which all three chapters will take part, were discussed.

Louise Doucet and Margo Cavanaugh discussed prose and poetry.

Good prose, said Mrs. Doucet, presents its meaning simply and directly, whereas poetry uses other means as indirect statement and suggestion.

The element of good prose include clarity, logic and grammatical appropriateness. Referring to fiction, Mrs. Doucet said it can sometimes function as an escape from reality.

Mrs. Cavanaugh, a poetry enthusiast, delighted the audience with examples from well-known poets such as Abbie Newton, Earle Birney, Jean Vanier, Helen Jacques, Leona Gom and E. J. Pratt.

The following, by Patrick Anderson, sent an eerie feeling through the room:

"The white-gowned doctor holds the charming news, cut down blossoming laugh to a wave of tears.

"Sunshine it blows in the doctor's eyes as he peels off his gloves and coldly goes out of the room.

"Under her mask, the young nurse sighs and the patient rubies on in his two-second dream."

Mrs. Cavanagh was winner of the debate.

BRIDGE CLUB HOLDS CHRISTMAS PARTY

Twenty-six couples participated in the Bathurst Duplicate Bridge Club's annual open pairs Christmas party and social held at Danny's Colonial House Nov. 28, a two-session event. The scrambled Mitchell Movement was used. The winning partnership was Ron and Jill Dunn of the Newcastle Club, with Jim Canter and D. Dickinson, also of Newcastle, as runners-up. Other placings were 3rd, Bob Baker, Mrs. Eleanor Dickie; 4th Dr. K. S. Black, Lauretta Wedge; 5th Nina Anderson, Bunny Woods, Newcastle; 6th, Ed Lamrogne, R. LeBlanc, Newcastle. Above average: Kay Duke, Edgar Hachey; Aline Hobbs and Yvette Kenny; Mr. and Mrs. Ken Warwick; Joan McKeagan, Carol Snyder, St. Margaret's Auxiliary; Mrs. Jim Canter and M. Bryenton, Newcastle; Helen Ferguson and Elsie Hachey. A turkey dinner was served between sessions and a number of guests were present for that part of the function.

Social and Personal

Mr. and Mrs. Jean Guy Marcoux and family, formerly of Chapais, Que., have taken up residence here at 200 Kent Avenue. Mr. Marcoux, a mechanic, is employed with the Redpath company.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Thibodeau and Mr. and Mrs. Mark Duncanson were in Moncton for the weekend and attended the first annual christmas party of R. K. Burrell Ltd. held on Saturday evening.

Mrs. Leonard Roy, Nigadoo, left Monday to visit members of her family in Montreal and Ontario.

Royal Bank Revenue Up

The balance of revenue, after provision for income taxes, of The Royal Bank of Canada for the year ended October 31, 1976, was $157.4 million, 2.7 per cent more than the $153.2 million reported for last year. This represented earnings of $4.30 per share in fiscal 1976, compared with $4.39 on a smaller number of shares last year.

The bank's balance of profits, a figure calculated from the after-tax balance of revenue less the appropriation for losses, was $92.4 million, an increase of 6.5 per cent from $86.7 million last year. This represents $2.53 per share against $2.48 per share (on a smaller number of shares) last year.

W. Earle McLaughlin, chairman and president, noted that "during most of the fiscal year just ended, the operating environment in both the Canadian and international financial markets was more difficult for the bank that the exceptionally favourable conditions prevalent during 1975".

Interest rate spreads, both domestically and internationally, were narrower than achieved the previous year. Business volumes, represented by total average assets, were 14 per cent higher for the year, but net interest revenue and other operating revenues, up by 11 per cent, both registered a lower growth rate than that of business volumes, he added.

Mr. McLaughlin said that the continuing escalation of non-interest operating expenses, which were 19 per cent above the 1975 level, in the face of narrowing interest rate spreads "is a major concern of the management of the bank."

The bank's statement of revenue and expenses disclosed separately the provision for losses on loans based on a five-year average loss experience. "This provision for losses is very tangible evidence that banking is not a risk-free business," Mr. McLaughlin said. "The significant increase in the 1976 provision for losses," he added, "reflects the somewhat difficult economic conditions experienced in the last two years by some of our borrowing customers - both corporate and personal - in Canada and abroad."

Mr. McLaughlin reported to shareholders that during the fiscal year 1976 "we issued $70 million of debentures, increased our accumulated appropriation for losses, a reserve for unforeseen future losses, by $13 million and added $88 million to shareholders' equity. With these additions totalling $171 million, our capital as at October 31 1976 was almost $1.3

Royal Bank

billion."

Total assets of the bank as at October 31st this year were $28.6 billion, up 14.4 per cent from $25.2 billion a year earlier. Total deposits at year-end were $20.2 billion for 1974 compared with $22.9 billion last year, an increase of 15 per cent. "Canadian-dollar deposits represented 66 per cent of the total and foreign currency deposits 34 per cent, a relatively unchanged enrollment on these two major segments of our business," Mr. McLaughlin said.

The 1974 figure for total loans, at $17.6 billion, was up 22.7 per cent from $14.4 billion last year.

The bank's total revenue for the year ended October 31 was $1,457 million, made up of $1,021 million in income from loans, up 22.7 per cent from $1,794 million last year, plus $218 million income from securities and $198 million other operating revenue.

Of $1,270 million, the bank's total expenses were up in the year by 15.7 per cent, from $1,075 million in 1973. Interest on deposits totalled $1,021 million, up 23.9 per cent from $1,237 million last year. Salaries, pension contributions and other staff benefits were up 10.3 per cent at $429 million, compared with last year's $341 million. Property expenses were $33 million and other operating expenses, including provision for losses on loans, were $36 million.

Balance of revenue before income taxes for fiscal 1974 was $347 million, compared with $306 million last year.

Mr. McLaughlin noted that the bank has continued to operate in compliance with the dividend compensation, pricing and profit constraints of the Anti-Inflation Board program and that the fourth quarter dividend of 34½ cents per share was an increase of 2½ cents over that of the third quarter, the maximum increase permitted under the program.

Dividends for the year totalled $67.4 million, or $1.30½ per share, up from 1973's $43.8 million or $1.23 per share.

In the fourth quarter of fiscal 1974, the balance of revenue before income taxes was $94.6 million, unaffected by quarterly after-taxes. Total revenue for the quarter was $350.5 million and total expenses were $256 million.

If you should fall through the ice while skating, don't panic. The Red Cross Water Safety Service offers these tips: Extend your hands and arms onto the ice surface before you. Gently kick your legs and bring you to a level position and slide or squirm forward to safety. DO NOT STAND. Your concentrated weight can cause the ice to break.

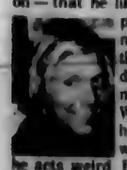
For and about Teenagers

BY PATRICK EDWARD



THIS WEEK'S LETTER: I have a big problem. There is this boy who shows — off and on — that he likes me. But I'm [illegible] puzzled. He tells me to meet him then we go at a different time and miss each other. Whenever I do see him — and I'm with a friend — he acts weird. But when I'm by myself, he acts like he likes me a lot. I'm 14 (8th grade) and he's 16 (11th grade). What should I do?

OUR REPLY: Tell this guy to shape up! Really. Just ask him why he's acting so weird. Make certain he's clear on what you're trying to communicate. Remember, he does like you. And, you like him. What you're both trying to decide is whether you want to be closer friends and spend time with each other. The basic fact remains, you both like each other. And people your age (people all ages, for that matter) act kind of funny sometimes towards their friends. Just tell him the truth about how you feel and what you want to do. If he can't dig it, that's his problem.

Church Services

In The Bathurst District

The following notices of service are printed as a courtesy of The Northern Light from information supplied by the churches concerned.

BIBLE DIGEST: "And said, For this cause shall a man leave father and mother and shall cleave to his wife: and they twain shall be one flesh? Wherefore they are no more twain, but one flesh. What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder." Matthew 19:3,6

Do your utmost to keep your family together. Work at it, pray for it. Be forgiving, considerate, and kind. Give it another try with God in control. With Him you will succeed. In Jesus' name, I pray it will be so.

PET NEWS

Your Pet At Christmas

By Marguerite Sheridan

If you are planning to give someone a puppy for Christmas, now is the time to do so. Christmas Day. With all the hustle and rush on Christmas morning, a puppy could get very overlooked. Too many times the doors are opened and he unable to find his way home. Think about this before you decide to surprise someone with a puppy for Christmas.

Would you buy your pet for Christmas? A cat would have a nice, strong cardboard box big enough to transport. A caring dog wrapped in Christmas paper would also be good, as cats love to bite paper.

A dog will drool over a marrow bone, but he must be taken away before it gets small enough to swallow. Never give your cat or dog turkey bones as they are sure-fire splinterers.

Paint the cord on the Christmas tree lights with a child's thumb-sucking preventative so that your puppy will not chew it. Be sure he does not eat tinsel, artificial icicles, holly berries or mistletoe as all are poisonous to him.

Give your pet a happy, healthy holiday that will last all its life.

MenSentenced In Rape Trial

Seven of eight Miramichi area men charged with the rape of two Bathurst teenagers were handed sentences totalling 40 years Thursday, Dec. 2 by Mr. Justice Daniel H. Hoyt of the New Brunswick Supreme Court.

Carl Savoy, Kevin Rowlett, Brian Hennessy, Clarence Desrosiers, Michel Lemaigre, Wilbur Savoy and Gerald Joseph Leblanc were all found guilty of the rape of a 15-year-old Bathurst girl. The seven-man group, with the exception of Wilbur Savoy, were also found guilty of rape of the 17-year-old teenager.

Savoy and an eight man, Wayne Mallory, were found not guilty of raping the other girl during the incident, which occurred at a hunting camp at Blind Lake, Northumberland County, August 28.

Carl Savoy received an eight year penitentiary sentence, the one consecutively with a two year of six years he is now serving for break and entry.

Seven terms were handed Rowlett and Hennessy and five year sentences were given Le-Blanc, Desrosiers, Lemaigre and Wilbur Savoy.

Lawyer George Clements of Bathurst represented Lemaigre and Hennessy and John Herbert, also of Bathurst, was counsel for Wilbur Savoy and LeBlanc.

Standards For Consumers

During a special presentation on the topic Standards for consumers, held in Winnipeg under the sponsorship of the Standards Council of Canada's Advisory Committee on Standards for Consumers (ACC), Bill Prosser, Chairman of CSA's Committee on Bicycles and Manager of Eaton's Product Research Bureau said:

"Many people think that standards were invented solely for the use of heavy industry like steel, wood and paper. In fact, standards probably originated between the first consumer and the first retailer. Those were the standards of exchange. One sabre-tooth tiger pelt for six brontosaurus steaks. Since that time the relations between retailer and customer have been refined and even more standardized. Now the weights of foods are standardized, money is standardized, the size of stoves is standardized and so on.

"Modern retailing has become even more concerned about standards because of the relatively recent changes in purchasing techniques. The use of mail order catalogues, the use of the telephone and lately, the emergence of closed circuit television for placing orders has made the use of standards even more necessary.

"Since retailers are the first line of customer concern and the last line of defense for the customer from the manufacturer, the use of standards is essential to enable us to survive in the hostile environment. The system could be likened to a railway sandwich, the supplier and customer have all the bread, the merchant is the thin squeezed filling.

"Naturally all electrical goods sold by retailers are CSA approved, not only because it is the law, but also because it is good business. To ensure that CSA standards are good for consumers, we, as experienced technical people, sit on many committees and speak strongly for the consumer. If you find that hard to believe, ask a consumer member on any of the committees.

"In many other areas, we, as retailers, press for standardization. Many of you may remember when stoves and fridges were a great assortment of widths and heights. Now, there are only a few standard outside dimensions. So, big gun here, just our attempt to enable you to move around the country from home to home and be sure your kitchen appliances will go into the counter hold in your new kitchen.

"Standards mean economical prices from retailers for the products they sell. They also mean the same high quality of goods from coast to coast. To retailers, standards are very important for customer satisfaction."

More Women Smoking; Death Rates Doubled

While cigarette commercials congratulate women for "coming a long way", doctors are aware of the sad irony behind these advertisements says the Canadian Cancer Society. Medical surveys are beginning to show that women are catching up to men - in lung cancer incidence.

As more women are smoking, more are developing lung cancer. In the last decade women's death rates have doubled for this type of cancer which previously attacked mostly men. Some researchers say that we are experiencing an "epidemic of lung cancer in women" which has not yet peaked and which will continue to increase if women continue to smoke.

There is concern over the sharp increase in the number of teenage girls who are smoking. More than 15 percent of girls between 12 and 18 years of age smoke-this is just a fraction under the number of boys in the same age group who smoke. Studies have shown that those who start young tend to smoke heavily, thereby running the greatest risk of contracting diseases related to smoking.

Until recently, women have had a false sense of security about the effects of smoking on their health. Studies on smoking showed men as the victims of cigarette-induced cancers. The damage to women has become apparent more slowly since they haven't smoked as long or as heavily as men and since the effects of smoking don't show up for a number of years after a person is "hooked".

But gradually the evidence is coming that women are also susceptible to the effects of smoking. In addition to lung cancer, women who smoke have a greater chance of developing heart disease, emphysema, cancers of the mouth and larynx, and other serious diseases. Women who smoke have also been found to spend more days sick in bed with less serious ailments and to lose many more work days than women who don't smoke.

Studies are also showing that women who smoke may be endangering the health of innocent victims of their habit. The harmful effects of smoking extend to a pregnant woman's unborn child. Nicotine and carbon monoxide from cigarettes can retard the fetus' growth so that the infant is born below normal weight. Small babies frequently have difficulty getting a good start in life, and their physical and emotional development during childhood may be affected.

In addition, women who smoke during pregnancy are more likely to have a stillborn infant or a baby who dies soon after birth.

Smoking is definitely not all the excitement and glamour that cigarette advertisers promote it to be. The negative side is worth careful consideration by those who care about their health and are concerned about the effect their actions may have on others.

For more information on the subject, contact the local unit of the New Brunswick Division of the Canadian Cancer Society.

BILINGUAL SANTA AT ANNUAL ROTARY PARTY

The usual program at Bathurst Rotary Club's regular weekly meeting Monday at Bunny's Colonial House was pre-empted by the club's annual Christmas party for crippled children. There were 43 guests this year to join their genial hosts at luncheon. Highlight of the gathering, of course, was the arrival of a bilingual Santa Claus, who presented individually wrapped gifts along with treats. The essence of happiness is exemplified here by Francine, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alban Hachey, 748 Victoria Dr., Bathurst, one of the first to be favored by Pere Noel. They made a handsome pair, everyone agreed.

Long-Awaited Sawmill Decision Expected Today

The New Brunswick Cabinet is expected to give its approval today (Wednesday) to the purchase of Brunswick Mills Ltd. operations by the provincial government.

Natural Resources Minister Roland Boudreau said this week that results of the final stages of negotiations will be brought to the Wednesday cabinet meeting, and information posted to the approval of the latest proposal.

The minister noted that talks have progressed "a long way" from the original proposal submitted by the company, Clear Lake Ltd. of British Columbia. "We have brought it down to a very comfortable amount of money. If we had jumped into this in August, we would have paid a lot more than what we would be paying now", he said.

Constructed 2½ years ago, the sawmill has experienced financial difficulties as well as problems with wood supply. Although the mill is to close for a period of six months beginning Dec. 23, Mr. Boudreau has expressed confidence that the problems can be overcome when production resumes under new management.

"Negotiations with prospective purchasers have been ongoing for the past six months, but of course we can't sell a mill that doesn't belong to us. We have a firm offer from a potential buyer and we will take this into consideration when the time comes, or we will go to other buyers", the minister said.

According to Mr. Boudreau, the N.B. Forest Authority has been "more or less" running the operation since Clear Lake indicated its intention to close the mill in August. Problems with wood supply have since been eliminated, but plant modifications, at an estimated $1.7 million, will be required.

"A viable operation can definitely be brought about at Brunswick Mills", Mr. Boudreau said, "but the mill, as it exists now, is not equipped to deal with the forest".

The minister said the companies interested in buying the sawmill are not necessarily interested in buying the amount of loss that has been incurred over the past six months. "The company has been telling everyone that it is losing $100,000 a month", he said, "and no company wants to pick up that kind of loss.

"In the past few months, the loss has been less and less. Over the past month, the Forest Authority lost about 45,000 on the operations", the minister concluded.

GOOD ATTENDANCE DESPITE COLD WEATHER

While the severe, cold weather which prevailed did have some effect on the overall attendance, 428 persons turned out last Wednesday and Thursday for the Red Cross blood donor clinics.

Among those in the group pictured here are Mrs. Mary Hansen, RN, and an unidentified laboratory technician, both of Saint John. The two "patients" received the camera are Pte. Danny Glendinning and Sgt. Steve Hann, both of 2nd Bn Royal N.B. Regt. (North Shore).

On Tuesday at the Trade School, 154 students answered the call and on Thursday afternoon 29 students from the Community College did likewise. Through courtesy of Huntly Ferguson transportation was arranged for this latter group and Eddie Mazerolle and Leo Caswell provided this service for the general public during the full two days of the clinic. Many people took advantage of it.

Some of the donors brought their children along for educational purposes and a view to future support for the project.

The total number of donors reached 592 and although the clinic was 268 below quota, both the Red Cross and the clinic's sponsors, the Ladies' Auxiliary to Herman J. Good VC Branch No. 18 Royal Canadian Legion, were well pleased with the results.

SALMON BEACH SCHOOL STUDENTS N. B. WINNERS

Salmon Beach School has brought honour and distinction to District No. 4 by winning two top prizes and another in the seventeenth annual Kindness Club Essay Contest.

Awarded first place, along with a Grade 8 Bathurst student and a Fredericton Junior High student, was John Hornbrook, Grade 5 Salmon Beach School, Bathurst.

Steven Wood, student in the same class at the same school, tied for third place along with students in Grade 5, Bonaventure Park School, Bonfurth; and a Grade 8 student at Harkin's Junior High, Newcastle.

Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hornbrook, Janeville, and Mr. and Mrs. Deward Wood, Stonehaven, and the boys' home room teacher is Ronald Jagoe.

A consolation prize went to Alberta Buttimer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Buttimer Sr., Salmon Beach, and also a student in that community's school. Her teacher is Delphis Bernard.

In the competition students in Grades 5 through 8 in New Brunswick schools were asked to write 300 words or less, in either French or English, on one of the two topics assigned: 1 "Why Pets Are Important To People"; 2. "Our Vanishing Wildlife - How Can We Save It".

Mrs. Hugh John Flemming Kindness Club president, said she was very pleased with the interest shown by the several thousands of essays submitted. She wishes to thank the school superintendents, supervisors, teachers and students who (See Salmon Beach, P. 2, C. 6)

GOOD SHOW

Fully decked out for the Christmas season, the city's main shopping district is appropriately full of brightness and light. Bathurst therefore now plays second fiddle to no other provincial centre in this respect.

The Bathurst Downtown Merchants' Assn., who are responsible for the splendid array of decorations are to be commended and congratulated.

It's certainly an impressive and colorful demonstration of serious effort, good taste and considerable investment.

POOR PLANNING

Government people often do the strangest and unexpected things which do not conform with good planning and management as practised in private business circles.

Why couldn't the renovation and enlargement program at the local federal building have waited another month or so?

The postal services, of course, are those most seriously affected at this congested time of the year. Personnel are handicapped by having to cope with makeshift working conditions far from their regular scene of operations, while the public is inconvenienced by unavoidable delays in the delivery of mail.

MUCH IMPRESSED

Undoubtedly influenced by the intensely cold temperature, the turnout at City Hall to meet Police Chief Dave Camp was not as large as it might have been.

The cross-section of citizens, however, who did make courtesy calls last Thursday were cordially received. They were impressed by the new executive's appearance, personality and outlook.

SAID NOT SO

Rumors are rife as to the location of the new Unemployment Insurance Commission building in the works for Bathurst but there is still no official confirmation of any site being selected.

A report that the entire W. J. Kent and Co. Ltd. complex extending from Main to St. George Sts. has been chosen was denied this week by a company spokesman.

This property was never considered for this purpose, it was further stated, but the firm does have land available elsewhere concerning which government approaches have been made.

TIPS AND TAKES

Tetesaguche Hill property facing Ron's Motel acquired by Wye Electric for future expansion and another piece of land opposite the Kent Motel purchased by James Poirier of the John's Motel clan for tavern purposes. Both Halifax - Montreal Runs To Stay Says CN

Canadian National has no plans to phase out its Scotian passenger trains nor remove all sleeping cars in its Halifax to Montreal run, leaving only coach seats.

That's the word from David Blair, Vice-President of CN's Atlantic region, in a letter written to Victor Rauche, Industrial Commissioner with the Chaleur Regional Industrial Commission in Bathurst.

He was replying to correspondence sent by Mr. Rauche to the railway seeking information on rumors of changes in passenger train and express service as well as a review by the railway of the Bathurst Servocentre.

Mr. Blair said the source of the rumor concerning changes in passenger train operations may be linked to plans of the Canadian Transport Commission to hold public hearings early next year to discuss passenger train service between Atlantic and Central Canada. Similar hearings on the future of rail passenger service were held recently in Western Canada.

"We cannot, of course, forecast the recommendations that will come out of these hearings, but as things now stand, CN is not planning any changes of its Halifax to Montreal service," Mr. Blair pointed out.

On the matter of the Bathurst Servocentre, the CN vice-president said the facility is currently under review to determine if any changes are required in the operation. "It is the same kind of review that we do from time to time with many such installations throughout our system. Whether this particular study brings about any changes in the Bathurst Servocentre, remains to be seen. We cannot pre-judge the results of the study."

Mr. Blair also touched upon the rumor that CN Express is planning a move from Bathurst. He said the report was "untrue" since CN's Express Division has no immediate plans to change its Bathurst operation.

Leadership Said Needed

A meeting of concerned residents of communities between Bathurst and Grand Anse was held in Clifton last week to discuss new policies being prepared for rural areas of New Brunswick.

The gathering, organized by the Northern Regional Development Council, was called at the request of citizens of the downshore area who feel they are losing control of their affairs.

"For example, the downshore rural people look proudly to Bathurst as their city where they do their shopping and all their business", declared a spokesman.

"Now a wedge is being driven between the urban and rural people by the actions of some of the officials of Bathurst City Council. Not only Bathurst but many of the other towns, cities and villages of New Brunswick are expressing their opinion on what should be done to the rural areas."

They are organized to do this."

Recognizing that no such organization exists in the rural areas that could speak for the people as a whole, it was agreed more meetings should be held and a real effort should be made to become organized under good leadership.

Other alternatives could then be presented for proposals being made at present concerning the rural area.

Firm To Study Local Transit

(From the Ottawa Bureau of The Northern Light)

An Oakville, Ont., company has won a $39,500 federal research contract aimed at overcoming Bathurst's transit difficulties.

N.D. Lea and Associates Ltd. will be conducting a shared-ride taxi feasibility and design study to determine the impact that a greater use of cab services could have on efforts to reduce traffic congestion. The contract was awarded on behalf of the Transport Department.

It was among 222 unclassified contracts worth $50,000 or more that were awarded by the Supply and Services Department to Canadian companies during the week ended Nov. 26. Total value of the contracts amounted to $40,421,269.

LOCAL CLUB MAKES SUBSTANTIAL DONATION

LOCAL ATHLETE ACCORDED RECOGNITION

Bill Gamass (left), president Bathurst Aquarena, presented Clarence Blanchette an Honorary Membership Certificate at a recent meeting at Bunny's Club House. Mr. Blanchette is the Bathurst Jaycee's candidate in the F.O.Y.C. (Five Outstanding Young Canadians) nomination. The winner will be named in March 1977 and will receive the Vanier Award. Looking on is Aurele Theriault, chairman of the F.O.Y.C. committee. Mr. Blanchette is also wearing his first Olympic medal received by mail December 8. He attended the Olympics for the physically disabled held in Toronto last August and at that time a javelin record sheet was lost. After the Olympics were over, the Stoke Mandeville Committee decided to give out medals on results attained from the other four events in pentathlon, therefore a Bronze Medal was awarded to him.

Much Interest In Publication

Great interest has been shown in CSA's new Consumer Advisory Panel by many people across Canada.

A typical letter states "I was very interested in the report of the Canadian Standards Association (CSA) Consumer Advisory Panel which appeared in the spring issue of 'The Consumer'.

"As a Consumer Counsellor for Federated Co-operatives Limited in Saskatoon, I am concerned with the development of Standards for consumer products.

"Some mention was made of establishing committees across the country. If plans for a Western Canadian Committee are in the works, I would appreciate consideration as a panel member."

A letter from Vancouver says "I am the grandmother of six children and am extremely interested in the safety and care of persons in regard to youngsters, also toys. I would like to be a member of your Panel."

At the moment, we can only say that we hope to establish Panels in other cities eventually and will contact those who have written should a Panel be organized in their area.

Following is the successful literary effort submitted by John Burnsbrook:

John Burnsbrook:

"Our wildlife is beginning to disappear. The reason is because man is polluting the land and killing the animals for sport and food. For example, the bisons were almost extinct, but with game reserves and great care and hard work, they have survived. Also the whooping crane population is in the fifties but they are being watched closely.

"Russia, Japan and some other countries are destroying the sperm whale for its valuable oil. Many animals are killed because of illegal use of jacklights, airplanes and even airplanes. The laws of Canada allow native people to hunt wildlife for their food. However, they have mistreated this law and over-killed. They hunt in the off-season, spring and summer, and the wildlife cannot reproduce. They kill deer, moose and caribou, and sell it rather than use it for themselves.

"During the winter time when the snow is deep, family pet dogs are known to form packs and kill mother deer.

"On the Chaleur Bay and many other places there are many lobster and salmon poachers. Water fowl and marine animals are lost each year due to oil slicks caused by leakage from oil tankers and oil drilling accidents.

"We can help save our wildlife by not placing our empty insect and weed control containers in rivers or streams as this will pollute the lakes and oceans. Apply pesticides and herbicides with care and in recommended dosages to avoid danger of contaminating run off.

"Our fur bearing animals such as young seals, muskrat and beaver must be protected so they will not become extinct. Stricter fish and game laws should be passed for all people and enough officers hired to see that they are enforced. Game preserves and sanctuaries should be built and protected. Also money should be sent to International and Canadian Wildlife Federation who help in conserving our natural resources."

Fasten Your Belt

'Tis the season to be jolly and one way to keep it that way is to buckle those seat belts.

There are many hardheaded drivers who maintain they can't wear a seat belt. Gives them claustrophobia. But after studying a Province of Quebec evaluation of seat belt use on health care costs, a large percentage are being converted.

The Quebec study was based in part on the results of the experience in Australia where the use of seat belts is compulsory.

The Australian figures, after the first nine months of compulsory seat belt use, are dramatic: 18 percent reduction of fatalities; 14 percent reduction of injuries, and a reduction in hospitalization of motor vehicle users by 24 percent.

The Canada Safety Council says that applied to Quebec, similar results would produce: 193 less fatalities; 10,632 less injuries treated in clinics and hospital emergency facilities; and 2,505 less hospitalizations for short period care.

The use of seat belts obviously saves lives and prevents injuries. But their use also means great economic savings. Quebec officials found that car accidents cost $14,574,276. in hospitalizations and medical fee in 1974. If the use of seat belts had been compulsory, it is estimated the medical savings would have been $6,670,397.

These statistics should convince drivers everywhere that they should fasten their seat belts before taking off in a motor vehicle, be it a short or long drive.

The Cirtex Climax

This will go down in history as the year of industrial failures in New Brunswick and the latest to join the club is Cirtex Knitting Inc. of Caraquet.

Undoubtedly the government of Premier Hatfield must shoulder some of the blame for its unsuccessful efforts to bring stable industries to the province – and keep them here.

However, galloping inflation over a period of years, not only in Canada but in many of the world's industrial countries, has so weakened the economy that such failures are now almost expected.

Some of the industries attracted to New Brunswick collapsed because of insufficient funding and poor market conditions.

Cirtex, however, was a victim for other reasons. The long strike there, coming at a time when the company was just starting to make money, certainly played a key role in its failure.

Then the company's Japanese owners decided to withdraw from the operation when weak textile markets proved a crowning blow.

It seems a shame that the Japanese decision to withdraw also comes at a time when there is renewed hope for the Canadian textile industry. The federal decision to impose restrictions on the import of textile products should strengthen the Canadian industry.

Commerce and Development Minister Lawrence Garvie is confident that a new owner will be found for Cirtex in the near future. The plant has new buildings and modern equipment, a major attraction for prospective buyers, should be some enticement, so let's hope his hopes are realized.

In the meantime, the government must continue its efforts towards creating more jobs to combat the present high level of unemployment which holds little promise of relief in 1977.

Nevertheless, caution must be exercised. Let us have industries which have bright prospects over the long haul. We cannot afford to keep pumping public money into failure after failure.

A letter from the National Historic Sites Branch of the Department of the Interior read at Wednesday's meeting of Town Council requested co-operation in taking care of the monument in memory of Nicolas Denys recently erected in Bathurst. The Town Clerk was instructed to assure the department that the park committee would take the necessary care. Present at the council meeting were Mayor Ryan who presided, and Aldermen Landry, Richard, Foley, Shirley and Chalmers.

As was expected, in view of the attitude of the leaders of the Conservative party in the province to refrain from offering opposition to the election of the Liberal nominee in this country in return for a like concession from the Liberals of St. John County, the nomination papers of Mr. C.T. Richard were the only ones filed with Returning Officer Hector Pourier on Saturday. Immediately after 12 o'clock noon Mr. Pourier declared Mr. Richard elected to the vacancy for the county in the N.B. Legislature.

Guests of Miss Freyda Hutchingraber on the occasion of her birthday on Saturday included Misses Celia Wilson, Marjorie Coffyn, Ursula White, Martha Percival, Elva Edds, Eleanor Ellis, Isabel Palmer, Burton Pike, Gladys Brown, Vera Brown, Dorothy Eaton, Lois Munro, Grace Densmore and Esther Solomon.

EDITOR'S MAIL

Expresses RNA's point Of View

Bathurst, N.B.
December 4, 1976

I am writing this letter in reply to the one recently published in your newspaper from a head nurse at the Chaleur General Hospital. I write this as a Registered Nursing Assistant in New Brunswick with many years experience, and as a member of the "dear public" to whom she has appealed for understanding.

First of all, I feel sorry for this nurse. I am sorry that she is underpaid, and she is, but most of all that she seems to have lost sight of what nursing is all about. Also I am sorry that she feels so free to be critical of those, I expect, she would call her subordinates.

An R.N.A. is by definition, as found in the Registered Nurses Act of Incorporation "a person trained to provided care under the direction of a registered nurse, or a duly qualified medical practitioner, for convalescent, sub-acutely ill and chronically ill patients, and to assist registered nurses in the care of acutely ill patients."

The New Brunswick Association of Registered Nurses controls the admission standards for training schools and the contents of curriculum taught nursing assistants. It follows then that the assignment of patients, which is the responsibility of the registered nurse in charge, is the most important factor in patient care given by R.N.A.

Nursing is more than monitors, medication and teaching. It includes changing the bed of a proud individual who has had an "accident" in such a way as to not make this person feel a disgrace to the human race; it is feeding the elderly, incapacitated person whose assigned nurse forgot because she was busy pouring her meds; it is rubbing an aching back - and so on ad infinitum.

Yes - it is giving baths, taking patients for a walk or to X-Ray, but I take strong exception to the statement made by our esteemed head nurse that the R.N.A. does not know why these things are done. The R.N.A. in New Brunswick is certified safe to practice her-his vocation in the province by successfully writing examinations as prescribed by the R.N. Association and pays a yearly fee to this association to maintain registration.

Some of the more learned members of the nursing profession have become so involved in the "WHY" that they have forgotten the "HOW". Theory which cannot be applied is of little value and may, at times, become a hazard.

In conclusion, may I say that I am trusting Registered Nurses of New Brunswick will receive fair and adequate compensation as they complete negotiations through, and by, the New Brunswick Nurses Union, not their professional association as is commonly assumed. I hope as well that they will remember in the future that "he who diminishes another also diminishes himself."

Jingle tales, jingle tales, jingle all the way;
Oh, what fun it is to drive on one-horse high-ways;
Ambushed in the snow, down one-horse high-way;
Looking for a two and praying for awa-ay;
Ruts on icy roads, making driving tough;
Oh! Please help me councillors, I haven't had enough.

Conditions Of NBHC houses Appalling

Bathurst, N.B.
December 6, 1976

I think it is about time some people spoke up about the condition and management of the New Brunswick Housing Corporation.

In March, our house burned down so we were forced to move into the N.B.H.C. in West Bathurst. The apartment was filthy, the toilet had to be scraped clean and the walls in the living room had holes in them. The floors were full of old paint that had been walked on and the footprints were left on the floor.

For this we were asked to pay $107 a month. I called several times to have something done, at least about the floors, and Mr. Sonier would not speak to me. I refused to pay the rent until something was done, but I was forced to pay as I couldn't afford a lawyer.

Several people have had sewers back up in their basements and have had to live in this for two weeks until they called the Board of Health. Only then was it cleaned. When they asked for replacement or cost of automatic washers and dryers and trunks that were ruined, they would not do anything.

I believe these people should speak up and an investigation should be made concerning these places.

Large New Bridge Said Unnecessary

Fredericton, N.B.
November 30, 1976

The Department of Transportation of New Brunswick is seemingly going ahead with the construction of a four-lane highway bridge in downtown Fredericton. This is supposedly a "modified" version of a plan which was to cost upward of $45 million.

There is no federal money for this scheme and in view of the present financial pinch of most levels of government, a good question is, "Where is the province going to get the money?"

Are your readers aware that to build this enormous structure in Fredericton, the Dept. of Transportation will have to cut back on capital spending in other parts of the province?

Perhaps the people in your area should write to their MP to protest the expending of such a huge sum on one project in one place when a smaller, street bridge is all that is needed in Fredericton.

Want Opinions On Telephone Rates

Fredericton, N.B.
December 9, 1976

Please allow me to address a few words to the residents of your area.

NBTel is seeking its third general rate increase in two years. The New Brunswick Branch of the Consumers' Association of Canada thinks this is asking too much. What do you think?

CAC N.B. is preparing to present its views to the hearings of the Public Utilities Board into the NBTel application. We would like to include the views of consumers from around the Province in our presentation.

If you have any thoughts on NBTel, rates, service, or anything else that concerns you, please drop us a line. Should you like to know more about what CAC is and does, just mention it in your note and we will get back to you.

NEW JOBS FROM COMMUNITY PROJECTS. THINK ABOUT IT.

Canada Works

Young Canada Works

Canada Works is a new job creation program that will be launched in January.

This new year-round program is designed to get needed work done by people not employed in the private sector.

Canada Works will accept applications from groups and organizations including private businesses who wish to develop, sponsor and administer worthwhile community projects. Funds will mainly be allocated to areas of high unemployment and projects will be tailored to special employment needs of your local community.

Canada Works will generate employment for more than 50,000 Canadians who are presently unemployed. Applications will be considered twice a year—in Winter and Summer.

Think about your organization. Early in the new year, your local Canada Manpower Centre will have application forms and a Canada Works "Guide to Applicants" with full details on the program. Canada Works for your community. Make your worthwhile projects work next year!

A second program is for students. Young Canada Works will create jobs for more than 20,000 students next summer. The emphasis will be on projects of solid community value. It has many of the same features as the year-round program, except projects will be limited to 14 weeks during the summer months.

At the same time, Young Canada Works will enable students to gain valuable work experience and test their career aspirations.

Like Canada Works, your Canada Manpower Centre will have application forms and a Young Canada Works "Guide to Applicants" early in the new year.

So, think about what your organization would like to do for students. Young Canada Works for students in your community.

Ladies Curling Club News

By JOYCE CONLEY

Regular curling events have been suspended until after the Christmas season.

Five ladies' rinks competed on a round-robin 'spiel this past weekend to determine Bathurst's representative in the Northeastern zone playoffs scheduled for Jan. 7, 8, 9 in Bathurst.

Anne Orser's rink emerged as winner. Three other teams skipped by Karen McDermid, Judy Rector and Edythe Hatheway tied for runner-up spot.

Marje Wallace and June Coldwell will act again as co-chair-women for the Bayside Chrysler "family bonspiel" scheduled for Monday, Dec. 27.

As usual, the first 40 rinks will be accepted and each will play two four-end games in the day-long event.

Each team must comprise at least three family members. A non-family member may curl as the team's lead.

The annual Bayside Chrysler family 'spiel is a highlight of the holiday season.

Rangers Whip Alpines 5-2

Bathurst Rangers gained a share of third place here last night with a 5 - 2 decision over the Bathurst Alpines in North Shore Hockey League action.

Wayne Cameron and Rick Flann produced great performances in sparking the Rangers to their win. Cameron had a hand in all five Bathurst goals, scoring twice and drawing assists on the others. Flann was outstanding in the Ranger net as he turned aside all but two of 30 Bathurst shots on goal. Dalhousie bested Alpine goalie Glen Seperich with 29 drives.

John Lunn and Jackie Roy were the only Alpines to be at Flann.

Cameron opened the scoring in the first period when he counted on a powerplay at 5:49. John Lunn, who was serving the penalty at the time, returned to action and scored the equalizer at 6:25 on a play with Mike Brophy and Jack Roy. Luc Bonneville and John Harquail scored before the end of the period and the Rangers carried a 3-1 lead into the second frame.

Jackie Roy got the Alpines back in the game at 2:19 of the second but Mike Brown got that one back a little over a minute later. Cameron's second goal at 6:10 of the final period wrapped up the win as Flann turned aside 17 shots to blank the Alpines the rest of the way.

Cameron's five points gave him the NSHL's points lead by a margin of four over Campbellton's Jean-Marie Bouchard.

Wheelers Split With Rollers

Bathurst Chaleur Wheelers split a pair of games with Saint John Rollers in the Port City over the weekend in Atlantic Wheelchair Basketball Conference play.

Wheelers won the first game on Saturday by a score of 52 - 42 after taking a slim 25 - 23 lead at half time.

Clarence Basterache led the winners with 21 points while Roy Brideau added 16 and Leonard Bryar 7. Lucie Bauche netted 6 and Raymond Mazerolle 4. Bob Murray had 22 for the Rollers with Frank Henderson dropping in 16 and Brian Lawrence adding 4.

In Sunday's game, the Saint John team rolled to a 25 - 10 half time lead and went on to top the Wheelers 70 - 52. The Bathurst club had to play most of the second half with only four players as Leonard Bryar fouled out and there was no substitute available to him.

Bob Murray again led the Rollers with 18 points while Frank Henderson scored 9, Brian Mills 7 and Brian Lawrence 6. Clarence Basterache paced the Wheelers with 8 points and Roy Brideau dropped in four. Leonard Bryar and Raymond Mazerolle each added 2.

IN MEMORIAM

BEAUCHAMP — In loving memory of a dear husband John E. Beauchamp who passed away December 18, 1972.

In tears I saw you sinking

I knew you could not stay
But when I saw you sleeping
So peacefully free from pain
I could not wish you back
To suffer that again.
Remembered by wife Lillian (Mickey) and periods of high unemployment. They will consist of three main components: a comprehensive job creation program based on community priorities; youth employment and employability measures to ease the transition from school to work; and selective, preventive measures to reduce the risk of losing work, and hasten a return to employment. "These initiatives", Mr. Cullen noted, "will be geared to creating what our unemployed Canadians most want and need - the dignity and satisfaction provided through real and worthwhile jobs."

Also included in the legislative package before the House are other amendments to the Unemployment Insurance Act relating to training, the appeal system, and the removal of a number of provisions which constitute disincentives to work. In addition, the Commission will be making a regulatory change which will eliminate the treatment of severance pay and other similar payments as earnings for UI benefit purposes.
